d Every way it shall be five and twenty thousand.

30 All the oblation shall be five and twenty thousand: you shall offer this oblation four square for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the cite.

31 And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the cite, out against the five and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward over against the five and twenty thousand toward the West border, over against shall be for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the middle thereof.

32 Moreover, from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the cite, that which is in the midst shall be the prizes: between the border of Judah, and between the border of Benjamin shall be the prizes.

33 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part unto the West part Benjamin shall be a portion.

34 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side unto the West side Simeon a portion.

35 And by the border of Simeon from the East part unto the West part, Issachar a portion.

36 And by the border of Issachar, from the East side unto the West, Zebulun a portion.

37 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part unto the West part, Gad a portion.

38 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward Temah, the border shall be even from Tamar, unto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the river, that runneth into the maine sea.

39 This is the land, which ye shall distribute unto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portion, saith the Lord God.

40 And these are the boundes of the cite, on the North side five hundredth, and four thousand measures.

41 And the gates of the cite shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Ruben, one gate of Judah, and one gate of Levi.

42 And at the East side five hundred & four thousand and three gates, and one gate of Joseph, one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

43 And at the South side, five hundred and four thousand measures, and three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

44 At the West side, five hundred and four thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

45 It was round about eighteen thousand measures, and the name of the cite from that day shall be, The Lord is there.

f Which is here taken for Idmon, g Which was rich in the cite of palm trees.

h Meaning, When that runneth into the Sea, called Mediterranean.

i Eke, Idmon, Idmon.

DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

The great providence of God, and his singular mercy toward his Church, are most lively here set forth, who never leaveth his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giveth them Trophets, and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy spirit, that Daniel above all other had most special revelations of such things as should come to the Church, even from the same that they were in captivity, to the last end of the world, and to the general resurrection, as of the four Monarchies and Empires of the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romans. Also of the certain number of the times even unto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreover he sheweth Christ's office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinners, and to bring everlasting life. And as from the beginning God ever exercised his people under the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leave this exercise in his Church until the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his unto his kingdom in the heavens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captivity of the Babylonian King of Judah, 2 The King of the Chaldeans, 3 They have the King's ordinance appointed, 4 But they all refused.

IN the third yere of the reign of Ichoiakim King of Judah, came Nebuchad-nazzar King of Babel unto Ierusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gave Ichoiakim King of Judah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he carried into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasure.

3 And the King spake unto Ashpenaz the master of his Eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the Children of Israel, of the Kings seed, and of the princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well favoured, and instructed in all wisdom, and well scene in knowledge, and able to vnder knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the Kings palace, and whom they might teach the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the King appointed them provision every day of a portion of the Kings meat, and of the wine, which he drank, so nourishing them in three yeres, that at the end thereof, they might stand before the King.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah.

It is worthy praise, that he esteemed learning, and knew that it was a needful way to govern by. 7 That they might forget their own religion, and contrary fashions, to serve him the better in his purpose, yet it is not to be thought, that Daniel did learn any knowledge that was not goodly: in all points he refused the abuse of things and superstition, inasmuch that he would not eat of the meat which the King appointed him, but was content to learn the knowledge of natural things. 8 That by that good entertainment they might learn to forget the mediocrity of their own people. 9 To the intent that in this time they might both learn the manners of the Chaldeans, and all their tongue. 10 As well in the table, as in other places.

i The King required three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be witty and learned, and that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might do him better service: this he did for his own commodity, because it is not to praise his liberality: yet in this gaue other names: for he called Daniel, Belshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Melchach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not defile himselfe with the portion of the Kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

9 (Nowe God had brought Daniel into fa-uour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eu-nuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches said vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children which are of your sorte, then shall you make me losse mine head vnto the King.

11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah,

12 Prouide thy seruants, I beseech thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs pulse to eat, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy ser-uants.

14 So hee consented to them in this matter, and prouided them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fairer, and in better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the Kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, & vnderstanding in all learning, & wiselome: also hee gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all visions and dreames.

18 Nowe when the time was expired, that the King had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad nezzar.

19 And the King communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the King.

20 And in all matters of wiselome, and vnder-standing that the King enquired of them, hee founde them tenne times better then all the inchanters and astrologians, that were in all his Realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto the first yeece of King Cyrus.

John the question. 16 Daniel is brought into the King and forsooth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the countenances of the King.

And in the second yere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed dreames wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the King commaunded to call the enchanters, and the astrologians and the soothsayers, and the Caldeans for to shewe the King his dreames: so they came and stood before the King.

3 And the King sayde vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit is troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the Aramites language, O King liue for euer: shewe thy seruants the dreame, and wee shall shewe the interpretation.

5 And the King answered & saide to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from mee. If ye will not make mee vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shall bee drawn in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iake.

6 But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receive of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew mee the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayd, Let the King shew his seruants the dreame, and wee will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered, and said, I know certainly that ye shall gaine the time, because yee fee the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt words, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Thus the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayd, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor Prince nor Lord that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the King requir-eth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angry and in great furie, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wiselome to Arioch the Kings chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, hee answered and sayd vnto Arioch the kings captaine, why is the sentence so haile from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the King that he would giue him leave, and that hee would shew the Kings interpretation thereof.

sion of the people,
they were worthy to die.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 12 The commandment of the King vnto Daniel to be seuer, because they could not interpret his dreame. 16 Daniel requested time to ¶ Arioch, captain of the king. 1 Which declared that God would not have his servants work in the company of their soothsayers, and Astrologers, whose arts were vain, and therefore justly ought to die, though the king did it upon a sign and no such. 16 Arioch captain of the king.

* Psal. 113. 8.

k He sheweth that man hath not their wisdom nor knowledge, but very dark blindness & ignorance of himself: for it cometh only of God, that man understand any thing.

l To whom thou madest thy promise, and who lived in thy feare: whereby he excluded all other gods.

m Meaning power to interpret it. n Whereby appeareth that many were blaine, as vers 27. and the rest at Daniels offer were preferred on condition: not that Daniel favoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie because the King proceeded according to his wicked affliction, & not considering if their science were lawfull or no.

o As if to shew that man by reason and art is not able to arrive to the cause of Gods favours, but the understanding only sheweth much cometh of God: whereby he sheweth the king with a certaine feare & reverence of God, that he might be the more apt to receive the true mysteries, that should be revealed to him.

p Because he had said that God only shall reveale the significatio of this dreame, the King might have asked, why Daniel did undertake to interpret it, and therefore he sheweth that he was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had given him to see forth his glory.

q By gold, silver, brasse and yron we meet the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian, and Roman kingdoms, which should successively rule all the world till 17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house, and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heaven for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wife men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reveiled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heaven.

20 And Daniel answered and sayde, * The Name of God be praised for ever and ever: for wisdom and strength are his,

21 And he chargeth the times and seasons: he taketh away Kings: he setteth vp Kings: he giueth widome vnto the wife, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkness, and the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisdom and strength, and hast shewed mee now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the King had ordeined to destroy the wife men of Babel: hee went and said thus vnto him, Destroy not the wife men of Babel, but bring me before the King, and I will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the King in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

26 Then answered the King, and sayde vnto Daniel, whose name was Belshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and said, The secret which the King hath demanded, can neither the wife, the astrologers, the enchanters, nor the fourthayers declare vnto the King.

28 But there is a God in heaven that reveileth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchadnezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O King, when thou wast in thy beridge, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reveileth secrets, telleth thee, what that come.

30 As for mee, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisdom that I haue, more then any other liuing, but only to shewe the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O King, thou sawest, and behold there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine gold, his breast and his armes of silver, his belly and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legges of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldst it till a stone was cut without handes, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the silver and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the former floure, and the winde caried them away, that no place was founde for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and wee will declare before the King the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a King of Kings: for the God of heaven hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the feld, and the foules of the heauen hath hee giuen into thine hande, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art this head of golde.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferior to thee, of silver, and another third kingdome shall be of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall be strong as yron: for as yron brake in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruieth all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and bruieth all.

41 Where as thou sawest the feete and toes, part of pottes clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall be diuided, and there shall be in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And where as thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these Kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for ever.

45 Where as thou sawest, that the stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the silver, and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the King what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the King Nebuchadnezzar fell vpon his face, and bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the King answered vnto Daniel, and to shew, that all the kingdomes of the world are transitory, and that the kingdome of Christ shall only remaine for ever. A Meaning, Christ, who was first of God, and not first by man, whose kingdome at the beginning should be small and without brasse, to mans indignation, but should at length growe and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as vers 35. And this kingdome, which is not only referred to the prison of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof, shall be eternal: for the spirit that is in him, is life eternal. Rom. 8. 2. Though this humbling of the King seemed to desire commendation, yet because he joynted Gods honour with the Prophet, it is to be reproved, and Daniel here is err'd. If he said it: but it is possible that Daniel aimed only at his fault, and did not see it.

Daniel leaues out the Kingdom of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a Monarchie, and generally empire, and also because he would declare the things that were to come to the coming of Christ, the comfort of the church among these wonderful alterations, and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe weak and cruel.

Meaning, the first four, which were not inferior in diginitie, power, & riches, but were worse touching ambition, crueltie, and all kind of vices, shewing that the world should grow worse in the worse, till it was reformed by Christ.

That is, of the Macedonians, the best of brasse, notwithstanding to the best selfe choiced, but to the vilest in respect of silver.

That is, the Roman empire shall subdue all these other empires, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians, and Egyptians.

That is, they shall have civil wars & continual discord among themselves. They shall by marriages, and affinities thinke to make themselves strong: yet shall they neuer be ioynted in hearts.

1 This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this furnace, till the same was appointed, as Noah remained in the Ark till the Lord called him forth. 2 He was moved by the greatness of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not troubled. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to convert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned with out if which they can be no faith. 3 If this heathen King moved by Gods spirit would not be blasphemous vnto him, but set a lawe and set a punishment to such transgressors, much more ought all they that profess religion, take order that such impie religion, not least according to their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment. 4 Meaning, to saue as his dominion extended.

the seruants of the hie God, goe forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came forth of the middles of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counsellors came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coats changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said, o Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the kings commandment, and yielded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, save their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that every people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, shall be drawn in pieces, and their houses shall be made iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, which the hie God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signes, and how mightie are his wonders! His kingdome is an euertlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

34 Therefore I decree, that they suffer double punishment. 4 Meaning, to saue as his dominion extended.

CHAP. IIII

1 Another decree of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declared. 2 The Prophet declared how a certain King had thought to come a haile, 31 After, he confisshes the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

Nebuchad-nezzar, being at a rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a b dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wife men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the enchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but they could not shewe me the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was Belshazzar, according to the name of my king, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

6 O Belshazzar, chiefe of the enchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Then were the visions of mine head in my bed, and behold, I saw a tree in the middles of

1 This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not only to have his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God. 2 Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be numbered among the forerunners, and men whose practices were wicked and contrary to Gods word. 3 By the tree: is signified the dignitie of a King, whose God reedeth to be a defence for all kinds of men, and whose flure is profitable for mankind.

the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the endes of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadowe vnder it for the beastes of the field, and the fowles of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and behold, a watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen,

11 And cryed aloud, and said thus, Hewe downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the fowles from his branches.

12 Neuertheless leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasie *b*inde it among the graffe of the feld, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the graffe of the feld.

13 Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beastes heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 The sentence according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoever he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abieft among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wifemen of my kingdome are not able to shewe me the interpretation: but thou art able: for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 Then Daniel (whose name was Belshazzar) helde his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beastes of the feld dwell, and vpon whose branches the fowles of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O King, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth.

20 Where as the King saw a watchman, and an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and said, Hewe downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasie *b*inde it among the graffe of the feld, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes of the feld, 17 seuen times passe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King,

g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is ever ready to do Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is ever holy: and in that that he commands to cut downe this tree, he knew that it should not be cut downe by man, but by God. h Herely he meaneth that Nebuchad-nezzar should not only for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a bea. i God hath decreed this iudgement, and the whole familie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decrees against all them that lift vp themselves against Gods.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God which he saw decreed against the King: and so the Prophets of the one part pronounce Gods iudgements, like the zale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subject to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pitie.

l Whereby hee meaneth a long space, as seuen years. Some interpret seuen moneths, and others iue years, but it seemeth he meant of years.

23 That they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and feuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou know, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giue it to whom so euer he will.

24 Whereas they sayde, that one should leaue the flumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdom shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule.

25 Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee: and breake off thy finnes by righteousnesse, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: loe, let there be a healing of thine error.

26 All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchad-nezzar.

27 ¶ At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

28 And the King spake, and sayde, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

29 While the word was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdom is departed from thee.

30 And they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and feuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giue it vnto whom so euer he will.

31 The same houre was the thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was driuen from men, and did eate grasse, as the oxen, and his body was wetted with the dewe of heauen, till his haire was grown as eagles feathers, & his nailes like birds clauers.

32 And at the end of these dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto mee, and I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I prayed and honoured him, that liueth for euer, whose power is an euermlasting power, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

33 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will hee worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hande, nor say vnto him, What dost thou?

34 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdom: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto mee, and my counsellours: and my princes fought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdom, and my glory was augmented toward me.

35 Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar praise, and extoll & magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all truth, & his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abate.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babilon hath fresh an harte writing on the wall. 6 The high priest called of the King, cannot expound the writing. 7 Daniel reueth it, and interpreteth it also. 8 The King is afeare. 9 Darius miseth the kingdom.

1 King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar while he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and silver vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wives, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the King and his princes, his wives and his concubines drinke in them.

4 They drunke wine and prayd the gods of golde, and of silver, of bras, of yron, of wood and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hande, which wrote ouer against the candlelike vpon the plaister of the wall of the Kings palace, and the King sawe the palme of the hande that wrote.

6 Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were looser, and his knees smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the King cryed loude, that they should bring the astrologians, the Caldians and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayd to the wise men of Babel, Whosoever can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall bee the thirde ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came all the Kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 ¶ Now the King by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and sayde, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was founde in him: whom the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians, Caldians, and soothsayers.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, & declare hard sentences, and disclosed doubts) were found in him, as in Daniel, whom the King named Belshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake and sayde vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

14 Nowe I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vn-

a Daniel reueth this hystorie of King Belshazzar. Belshazzar was a heathen, to whose gods iudgements against the wicked for the destruction of his Church, and how the prophetic of Ieremias was true, that they should be delivered after seuerall yeres.

b The Kings of the East parts then vied to fit alone commonly, & it seemed that any of them should in their company and now to show his power, & how he had set by his enemy, which then befell Babylon, he made a solemn banquet, & vied to see in their company, which is meant here by drinking, in their company, and negligent when they do. Strudion is a hard word, it means with wine.

c Meaning his grandfather. d In contempt of the true gods, they praised their idols, so that they thought that the gods of silver were gold, but that there was certain veritie, and power in them to do them good, which is also the opinion of idolaters.

e That might the better be seen.

f So he that before contemned God, was moved by this fight to tremble for feare of gods indignation. g That the wicked in their troubles might seeke more meane, who draw them from God, because they see not in him who is the only comfort in all afflictions.

h To wit, his grandfather, Nabuchadnezzar, whose wife which was the age was not before at the feast, but came thither when the feast of these things newer. i Reade Chap. 4. 8, and this declarer, that both this name was called vnto him, and also that hee did not vie the while practising, because hee was not among them when all were called. k For the idolaters thought the Angels to be power as Gods, & therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of Iudgement, and vnderstanding came of him.

15 Now therefore, wise men as astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they should reade this writing, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shewe interpretations, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt bee the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and saide before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto Nabuchad-nazzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that hee gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom he would he set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was depozed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the bestiall, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wetted with the dewe of the heauen, till hee knewe, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointed ouer it, whomsoever he pleased.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things.

23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lorde of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wives and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of silver and golde, and brass, yron, wood & stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hande thy breath is, and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 But then was the palme of the hande sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL, VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbered thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandment of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that hee should be the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the King of the Caldians slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being three score and two yeres olde.

1 Daniel made rule ouer the gouernours. 2 As all against Daniel. 3 He is put into a drene of fyre by the continuance of the King. 4 He is deliuered by fyre in God. 5 The wicked accusers are put vnto the fyre. 6 Darius by a decree maketh the God of Daniel.

1 I pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome a hundredth and twenty gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might accompt vnto them, and the King should haue no damage.

3 Nowe this Daniel was preferred about the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him; and the King thought to set him ouer the whole Realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers and the gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could find none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then said these men, We shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it againe! him concerning the Lawe of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and saide thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirte dayes saueth of thee, O King, he shall be cast into the denne of Lyons.

8 Now, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it bee not changed, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel vnderstood that hee had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber towards Ierusalem, hee kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praised his God, as hee did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, & spake vnto the King concerning the Kings decree, Haft thou not sealed the decree that eny man that shall make a request to any God or man within thirte dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of Lyons? The King answered, and sayde, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and sayde vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the King heard these wordes, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and hee laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and saide vnto the King, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth

c This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familia because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others. Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but strike by all occasions to drice them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedie then to walke uprightly in the feare of God, & to haue a good conscience.

d Herein is commended the wickedness of the King, who would be set vp as a god, and called out what wicked lawes hee proposed for the maintenance of the same.

e Because he would not by his silence shew that hee consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when he prayed both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people when they should pray toward the Temple, and also that others might see, that he would not be ther comfort in heart nor desire for these few dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

m After that God had had long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment. n This word is thine, written for the certaintie of the thing, shewing that God had most surely conuicted, signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable ende shall come on all that will themselves against him. o, meaning, to come his sonne to him, and to see him, this title of honor, although Cy, in this it had for denotation.

7 Meaning, that he was allowed, when he saw these Emperours in such dignity, and pride, and so suddenly altered at the coming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subject to men of other nations.

8 As the three former Monarchies had a note at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth have, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enjoy the promises.

9 Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken upon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of David according to the flesh, as he was afterwards: but appeared then in a figure, and thus in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifold figures of his diuine.

10 To wit, when he ascended into the heauen, and of his diuine maiesty appeared, and all power was given vnto him in respect of that that he was our Meditour.

11 Then I behelde, 7 because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the home spake: I behelde, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 As I beheld in visions by night, beholde, one like the forme of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion was an euertlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 I Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: for he tolde me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

18 And they shall take the kingdome of the Saints of the most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 After this, I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was so unlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of braffe: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his fete.

20 Also to know of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose looke was more frowne then his fellows.

21 I behelde, and the same 10 hornes made battell against the Saints, yea, and prevailed against them.

22 Vntill the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be vnlke to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of the kingdome are tenne Kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlke to the first, and he shall subdue three Kings.

25 And shall speake words against the most

High, and shall confume the Saintes of the most High, and thinke that he may change times and Lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hand, vntill a time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to confume and destroy it vnto the ende.

27 And the kingdome, and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euertlasting kingdome and all powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

but at leas he will affuage the triboules and shorten the time for his elects sake, Math. 24. 12. which is here meant by the diuiding of time. 2 God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and to destroy this little horn, that it shall neuer rise vp againe. 1 He then that herefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might have rest and quietnesse, which though they do not fully enjoy here, yet they haue it in hope and by the preaching of the Gospel enjoy the beginning thereof, which is meant by their words, vnder the heauen and therefore he here speaks of the beginning of Ch. after his kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithful haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head. 1 That is, some of euery sort that beare rule. 2 Though he had many motions in his heart which moued him to see to fetch out the matter carefully: yet he was content with what which God revealed, and kept in his memorie, and wrote it for the use of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell between a ramme and a goat, 30. The understanding of the vision.

IN the third yeere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee when I was in bed, after that which appeared vnto mee at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the province of Elam, and in a vision mine thought I was by the riuier of Vlai.

3 Then I looked vp and sawe, and beholde, there stood before the riuier a ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was 4 hier then another, and the highest came vp 1 ft.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no beasts might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, beholde, a goat came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat had no g horne that appeared betwene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whome I had seene standing by the riuier, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goat waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great 1 horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that p These Emperours that not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octavianus, Tiberias, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.

q God shall settle them that rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time & times, & the diuiding of time.

a After the general tribulation, he cometh to anticipate particular visions as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians, and Macedonians, and the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

b That is, of Persia.

c Which restored the kingdome of the Persians and Medes, which were lost together.

d Meaning Cyrus, which after grew greater in power than Darius his vncke and sonnet in lawe.

e That is, no king or nation.

f Meaning Alexander that came from Grecia with great speed and expedition.

g Though he came in the name of all Grecia, yet he bare the title and dignity of the general capitaine.

h That is, the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne. b Alexander overcame Darius in two sundry battels, and so had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians. 1 Alexander great power was broken: for when he had overcome all the East, he thought to returne from Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so dyed by the way.

1 That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteen years there were fifteen divers sacrifices before this mona-chie was dissolved to these parts, whereof Calistander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antiochus Asia the less and Ptolemaeus Egypt.

1 Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a cruel and burning nature, and where there was order between him and the king during the time, that he was in the world, he was called the little horn, because neither placely condition, nor any other thing, why he should obtain this kingdom.

1 That is, toward Egypt.

1 Whereby he somewhat Ptolemaeus.

1 That is, in India, Ptolemaeus calistander the son of God, and was his precious name under these, which are to call, because they are separated from the world.

1 That is, God, who governeth and maintaineth his Church.

1 He laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore call Gods service out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a little corner from all the rest of the world to have his Name there truly called upon.

1 He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, when he would not suffice utterly to abolish his religion.

1 This horn shall abolish for a time the doctrine, &c. corrupt Gods service. 1 Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whom he calleth a certain one of a secret one, or something else.

1 That is, the Jews sinners, which were cause of this defolation. 2 That is, which foretold Gods religion, and his people. 3 Christ answered more for the comfort of the Church.

1 That is, would for many natural dayes be past, which make five scores three months and so halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple profaned.

1 Which was Christ, who in this manner declared himselfe to the old fathers how he would be God manifested in the flesh.

1 This power to command the Angel, declared that hee was God. 2 The rest of this vision shall not yet appear, but a long time after.

1 Meaning the great rage which Antiochus should have against the Church. 2 That is, Grecia. 3 They shall not have his power as had Alexander.

1 Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruel, and also craving that he should not be deceived. 1 That is, not like Alexander's strength. 2 But that Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Jews, appeared toward the four winds of the heaven. 9 And out of one of them came forth a little home, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.

10 Yea, it grew up vnto the hostes of heaven, and it cast downe some of the hostes, & of the starres to the ground, and trode upon them.

11 And extolled himselfe against the prince of the hostes from whom the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuary was cast downe.

12 And a time shall be given him over the daily sacrifice for the iniquite: and it shall cast downe the truth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and triumph.

13 Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquite of the defolation on to tread both the Sanctuary and the armie vnder foot?

14 And he answered me, Vnto the evening and the morning, two thousand and three hundred: then shall the Sanctuary be cleansed.

15 ¶ Nowe when I Daniel had seene the vision, and fought for the meaning, beholde, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a many voice betweene the banks of Vlai, which called, and sayde, Gabriel, make this man to understand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell vpon my face: but he sayd vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for in the last time shall be the vision.

18 Nowe as he was speaking vnto mee, I being a sleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.

19 And hee sayde, Beholde, I will shewe thee what shall be in the last warth: for in the end of the time appointed is shall come.

20 The ramme which thou sawest, hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the goatie is the King of Grecia, and the great horn that is betweene his eyes, is the first King.

22 And that that is broken, and foure stode vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp for of that nation, but not in his strength.

23 And in the end of their kingdomes, when the rebellious shall be consumed, a King of fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.

24 And his power shall be mightie, but not in his strength: and hee shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mighty, and the holy people.

25 And throughout his policie also, hee shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: hee shall also stand vp against the prince of princes, but hee shall be broken downe without hand.

26 And the vision of the evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was stricken and sicke certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the kings business, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

1 Daniel desired to know that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 2 A true confession. 3 Daniels prayer is heard. 4 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth vnto him the vision of the fourre waters. 5 The coming of Christ. 6 The building againe of Ierusalem. 7 The death of Gog.

1 In the first yeere of Darius the sonne of Ahasuerus, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the realme of the Caldeans.

2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstoode by books the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that hee would accomplish fouente yeeres in the defolation of Ierusalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and I fought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, O Lord God, which are great and fearful, and keepst covenant and mercy towarde them which I loue thee, and towarde them that keep thy commandments.

5 Wee haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For we would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, righteousness belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs open shame, as appeareth this day vnto every man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs open shame, to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiveness is in the Lorde our God, albeit wee haue rebelled against him.

10 For we haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which hee had layde before vs by the ministration of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the Lawe of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which hee spake against vs, and against our iudges that iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities & vnderstand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord [†] made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in al his workes, which he doeth: for we would not heare his voyce.

15 * And nowe; O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renowne, as ^{appeareth} this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy * righteoufnesse, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from this citie Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our finnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lyeth waste for the Lords sake.

18 O My God, incline thine care and heare: open thine eyes, and behold our defolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for we do not present our supplications before thee for our owne * righteoufnesse, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lorde heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord o consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God, 21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel, whome I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched mee about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And hee informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came forth, and I am come to shewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter, and consider the vision.

24 Seuentie * weekes are determined vpon thy people, and vpon thine holy citie, to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the finnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euertlasting righteoufnesse, and to seale vp the vision and prophesie, and to anoynt the most Holy.

25 Knowe therefore and vnderstand, that from the going forth of the commandement to bring againe ^{the people}, and to build Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, shall bee seuen weekes: and * threefoore and two weekes, and the streete shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a * troublesome time.

26 And after threefoore and two * weekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall * haue nothing, and the people of * the prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood: and vnto the end of the battell it shall be destroyed by defolations.

27 And he * shall confirme the conuenant with many for one weeke: and in the middes of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to * cease, and for the ouerspreding of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

28 ^a By the preaching of the Gospel, ^b Christ accomplished this promise, ^c Meaning, that Ierusalem and the Sanctuary should be utterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolatry: or as these read, that the plagues shall be great, that they shall all be accomplished at thine.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linen, 11: Which sheweth him wherefore he is first.

IN the * third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reuelled vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) & the word was true, but the time appointed was * long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in beauenesse for three weekes of daies.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoynt my selfe at all, till three weekes of daies were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the * first moneth, as I was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and behelde, there ^{was} a man * clothed in linen, whose loynes were girded with fine golde of * Vphaz.

6 His body also ^{was} like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete ^{were} like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his wordes ^{was} like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with me, sawe not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for ^{my} strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I flect on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand touched me, which fit me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands.

11 And hee sayde vnto mee, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the wordes that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when hee had sayd this word vnto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then sayd he vnto mee, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest first thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

13 But the prince of the kingdome of Persia with floods mee one and twentie dayes: but loe, Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shew thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the vision is for many dayes.

15 And when he spake these words vnto me, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said vnto him that stood before me, O my Lord, by the vision my sorrowes are returned vpon me, and I haue retained no strength.

17 For how can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord bring such one? for as for me straightway there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came againe and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me.

19 And saide, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: a peace be vnto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto mee, I was strengthened, and said, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said hee, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the Prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

22 And he said, O which declareth that when thou seest the people of Israel, hee doest not immediately lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twice) but by litle and litle. P Meaning that he would not only himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyses, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander the King of Macedonia. Q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

CHAP. XI.

A propheticke of the kingdome, which shall be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 2 Of Greece, 3 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 26 And of the Roman.

Also I shew first yere of Darius of Medes, and

2 And now will I shew thee the truth. Behold, there shall stand vp yet three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches hee shall stirre vp all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a mightie King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and do according to his pleasure.

4 And when he shall stand vp, his kingdome shall be broken, and shall be diuided toward the 8 foure windes of heauen: and not to his posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shall be plucked vp, euen to be for others besides it thofe.

5 And when he shall stand vp, all the East countries to fight against the Grecians: and albeit hee in his arme nine hundred thousand men yet in foure battles he was defeated: & fled a way with shame. T That is, Alexander the great. E For when his estate was most flourishing, hee overcame his life with drinke, and so fell into a discase: or as some write, was poisoned by Callistus. F For his twelve chiefe princes first denided his kingdome among themselves. G After this his Monarchie was denided into foure: for Seleucus into Syria, Antigonos into Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemee into Egypt. H Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and cruelty in causing his posteritie to be murdered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another. I None of these four shall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander. K That is his posteritie having no part thereof.

5 And the King of the South shall be mighty, and one of his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeres they shall be ioyned together: for the Kings daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but hee shall not retain the power of the arme, neither shall hee continue, nor his arme: but shee shall be delivered to death, and they that brought her, and hee that begate her, and he that comforted her in their times.

7 But out of the bud of her rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, which shall come with an arme, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as hee list, and shall preuaile.

8 And shall also cary captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of silver and of gold, and hee shall continue 10 yeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mighty great arme: and one of them shall come, and overflow, and passe through their land: hee shall returne, & be stirred vp in his fortresse.

11 And the king of the South shall be angrie, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the king of the North: for hee shall set forth a great multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be proud, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but hee shall not preuaile.

13 For the king of the North shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeres) with a mighty arme, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall come many fild vp against the King of the South: also the rebellious children of thy people shall exalt themselves to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the king of the North shall come, & cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: & the armes of the South shall not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.

16 But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as hee list, and none shall stand against him: and hee shall stand in the 8 pleasant lande, which by his hand shall be confirmed.

17 Again hee shall set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, & his confederates with him: thus shall hee doe, & hee shall giue him his daughter of women, to destroy her: but

1 Meaning Seleucus and Antiochus the Great, the sonnes of Callistus that were against Ptolemee Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus. P For his eldest brother Seleucus died: or was slain while due warres were preparing. Q That is, Philopater where hee had the Antiochus sought great dowry from him in Syria, and also ready to invade Egypt. R For Antiochus had fought with Seleucus, and therefore thought to overcome him. S After the death of Ptolemee Philopater, who left Ptolemee Epiphanes his heire. T For vncertaine Antiochus came against him, but also Philip king of Macedonia. U These two brought great power with them. V For vnder Onias which falsely alleged that place of the 12 yeres, certaine of the Levites carried with him into Egypte still this propheticke: also the Angel sheweth that all their troubles which in the Church are by the providence and counsel of God. X The Egyptians were not able to resist Seleucus Antiochus captiues. Y The strength was in that not only did the Egyptians, but also the Levites, did enter into their country, where hee abode with them before that they may knowe of all their things come by Gods providence. Z This was the second battle that Antiochus fought against Ptolemee Epiphanes. A To win a hundred talents which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter. B For hee regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the treasure of Egypte.

2 That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes that hee chose mightie: for hee should haue both Asia & Syria.

3 That is, Seleucus the sonne of Ptolemee Philadelphus, shall be giuen in marriage to Antiochus the sonne of Antiochus the king, which in this time that Syria and Egypte should haue a continual peace together.

4 That is, Seleucus the sonne of Antiochus the king, which in this time that Syria and Egypte should haue a continual peace together.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsel: but shall loose her band, as her doting iniquities, and not seek his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the Sea called Mediterranean: for the Iewes called all countries yles which were divided from by Sea.

m For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambassadors to shame in all places, Attilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life and obeying of foolish counsell.

o For feare of the Romanes he shall flee to his holdes.

p For when as vnder the pretence of power he would haue rubb'd the Temple of Iupiter Dedecus, the consuls they men prae his.

q That is, Seleucus shall succede his father Antiochus.

r Wet by fortune enemies, or battell, but by treache.

s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruel and flattering nature, and detested his brothers name of this kingdom, and vilified the kingdom without the content of the people.

t Hee sheweth that great force is powerfull enough to helpe the young force of Seleucus against his vnkle Antiochus, yett shall be overthrown. u Meaning Ptolemee Philometor Ptolemies sonne, who was this childes cousin germane, and is here called the prince of the covenant, because he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct. x For after the battell Philometor and his vnkle Antiochus made a league. y For he came vpon him at vnwares, and when he suspected his vnkle Antiochus coming. z Meaning in Egypt. a He will content himselfe with the first holdes he can get, but not by craft to attaine to the chiefe. b He shall overcome with reason. c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him. d Desiring that his soldiers shall braue out and venture their life to trye and to be the safeguard of their prince. e The vnkle and the nephew shall take truce, and beark together. f In their heart they shall imagine to take one against another. g Signifying that it shalld be in the controule of men to bring things to pass, but in the providence of God who reuleth the King by a secret bridle that they cannot doe what they list themselves. h That he shall take of the Iewes in spoiling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is tolde them before it cometh to passe, knowing that all things are done by Gods providence. i That is the Roman power shall come against him. j Popilius the Ambassador appointed him to depart in the Romanes service, which thing they obeyed, although much grieued, and to reuenge his grieue he came against the people of Iudea for their sake.

k Shee shall not stand on his side, neither bee for him.

l After this shall hee turne his face vnto the Iyles, and shall take many, but a prince shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shall cause his owne shame to light vpon himselfe.

m For he shall turne his face toward the forces of his owne land: but he shall be overthrowen and fall, and be no more found.

n Then shall hee stand in his place in the glorie of the kingdom, one that shall raise taxes: but after fewe dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in wrath, nor in battell.

o And in his place shall stand vp a vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdom: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdom by flatteries.

p And the 7 armes that be overthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the 4 covenant.

q And after the league made with him, hee shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and overcome with a small people.

r He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and hee shall doe that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall diuide among them the praye and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his desires against the strong holdes, euen for a time.

s Altho hee shall stirre vp his power and his courage against y King of the South with a great armie, and the King of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great and mightie armie: but he shall not stand: for they shall forecast and praeise against him.

t Yea, they that feede of the portion of his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie shall overflow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

u And both these Kings hearts shall be to doe mischief, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auail: for yea the ende shall be at the time appointed.

x Then shall hee retorne into his land with great substance: for his heart shall bee against the holy covenant: so shall hee stand and retorne to his owne land.

y At the time appointed he shall retorne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

z For the ships of Chittim shall come against him: therefore hee shall rise and retorne, and fret against the holy covenant: so shall hee doe, he shall then retorne, and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy covenant.

31 And armes shall stand on his part, & they shall pollute the Sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall fret vp the abominable defolation.

32 And such as wickedly breake y covenant, shall hee take to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do know their God, shall preuaile & prosper.

33 And they y vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they that fall by sword, & by flame, by captiuitie & by spoile many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them & faintly.

35 And some of the vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, & to purge, & to make them white, til the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the King shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marvellous things against y God of gods, & shall prosper, til y wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any God: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the God Mautzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not, shall hee honour with gold and with silver, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall he doe in the holdes of Mautzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall deuide y land for gaine.

40 And at the ende of time shall the King of the South push at him, & the King of the North shall come against him like a whirlwinde with charrets, and with horsemen, and with many thips, and he shall enter into the countries, & shall overflow and passe through.

41 He shall enter also into the pleasant land, and many countries shall be overthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom & Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hands also vpon the countries, & the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of silver, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

44 To wit, of them that feare God, & will keepe their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also that the Church must be persecuted, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time therefore we must stay. Because the Angels purpose is to thew the whole course of the persecution of the Iewes vnto the coming of Christ, he now speaketh of the Monarchie of the Romanes which hee noteth by the name of a King, who were without all religion, and contemned the true God.

So long the tyrants shall preuaile as God hath appointed to punish his people but hee weeth that it is but for a time. u The Romanes shall observe no certain forme of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and perfurie themselves to their gods. x Signifying that they should be without all humanity: for the Iewes shall be as beasts or great leas, as Sam. 12. y That is the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods and worship it. z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their cities with the most precious Iewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power and riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, & worshipped them in their temples, left they should haue beene despised in Aethiopia: but this was to increase their fame and riches, and when they gate any contrary, they made others the rulers thereof, that the profane enter came to the Romanes. b This is borne in Egypt, as the Syriac shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be overcome. c The Angel forewarne the Iewes that when they should see the Romanes invade them, and that the wicked should efface their hands, therefore they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods providence, forasmuch as his wrath toward them is so long afore, and therefore he would still persevere them.

k With the Iewes which shall forsake the covenant of the Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iohn the high Priest, and this should come by the Antichrist.

l A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall hold with Antiochus, he is called, because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympus, and so began to corrupt y pure service of God.

m Meaning such as bare the name of Iewes, but in deede were nothing lesse for they sold their souls, and betrayed their brethren for gaine.

n They threatened constant among the people, shall reuenge them by their example, and edifie many in the true religion.

o Whereby hee hath y gods to contemne, although they thought them a thousand times, and though their enemies euerie neuer to longe.

p As God will not, leave his Church destitute, yet will hee not deliver it all at once, but hee will helpe, as they may still be able to fight vnder the cross.

q Hee did in the time of the Maccabees, whereas hee here propheseth.

r That is, there shall be euen of this small number of the Iewes.

s That is, there shall be euen of this small number of the Iewes.

t That is, there shall be euen of this small number of the Iewes.

h That is, there shall be euen of this small number of the Iewes.

1 That is, they shall be without a King & without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel convert, and seeke the Lord their God, and David their King, and shall feare the Lord, and his goodness in the latter dayes.

8 This is meant of Christes kingdome, which was promised vnto Dauid to be eternall, Psal. 72. 17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Israel.

Hear the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth nor mercie nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourn, and euerie one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shall be taken away.

4 Yet let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people as they that rebuke the Priest. 5 Therefore shall thou fall in the day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame. 8 They eate vp the finnes of my people, and lift vp their mounds in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall be like people, like a Priest: for I will visit their wayes vpon them, & reward them their deeds. 10 For they shall eate, and not have enough: they shall commit adulterie, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 Whoredome, and wine, and new wine take away their heart. 12 My people alke counsell at their stocks, and their flatterers: chath them: for the spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone awhoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the tops of the mountains, and burne incense vpon the hills vnder the oaks, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadowe thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not visit your daughters when they are harlots: nor your spouses, when they are whores: for they themselves are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as rottennesse. 16 When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Iudah his wound, then were Ephraim vnto Ashtur, and sent vnto King of Iacob: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

17 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lion I will whelp to the house of Iudah: I will I will poylle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue.

18 I will go, and I will reuerie to my place: till they acknowledge their fault, & I will be merciefull to them: till they will seeke me diligently.

13 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet I forget not Iudah time: come not ye vnto Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to Beth-auen, nor swear, The Lord Iueh.

16 For Israel is rebellious as a vnnuly heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idols: let him alone. 18 Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with flame, Bring ye.

19 The wine hath bound them vp in her wings, & they haue ashamed of their sacrifices. 20 That is, the house of God, Beth-auen that is house of iniquitie because of their abominations let them say, saying that no place is holy where God is not pure by worshippe. 21 God will to depriue them that they shall not remaine in any centre place. 22 They are so impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them. 23 To carie them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. The help of God is in Iudah.

O Ye Priests, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Iudah, and giue ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because you haue bene a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profoud, to decline to laughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

3 I know O Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the mids of them, and they haue not known the Lord.

5 And the pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullocks to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for he hath withdrawn himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children: now shall a month deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blowe ye the trumpet in Gibeath, and the shahme in Ramah: crie out at Bethauen, after thee, O Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to know the truth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that remoued the bound: therefore will I poure out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, & broken in iudgement, because hee willingly walked after the commandment.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Iudah his wound, then were Ephraim vnto Ashtur, and sent vnto King of Iacob: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lion I will whelp to the house of Iudah: I will I will poylle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue.

15 I will go, and I will reuerie to my place: till they acknowledge their fault, & I will be merciefull to them: till they will seeke me diligently.

2 God complaineth that Iudah is infected, & will chuse them to leaue by their example to returne in time.

3 For altho the Lord hath honoured this place in time past by his preference, yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, he would not that his people should reioyce therein.

4 He called Beth-auen that house of iniquitie because of their abominations let them say, saying that no place is holy where God is not pure by worshippe.

5 God will to depriue them that they shall not remaine in any centre place. 6 They are so impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them. 7 To carie them suddenly away.

8 The Priests and Princes caught the people people in their finnes, the founders did the birdain the few like meauens.

9 Notwithstanding they seemed to be given altho they were not to be holines, and to fasten, which heere hee saileth through in countenance.

10 Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.

11 They boyled themselves not only to be idolaters, but also E phraimites, because their King let them offend.

12 Meaning their continuing in all aduisions.

13 That is, their children are degenerate, so y they are in no hope in them.

14 Their default on is not farre off.

15 That is, I will I will poylle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue.

16 I will go, and I will reuerie to my place: till they acknowledge their fault, & I will be merciefull to them: till they will seeke me diligently.

17 I will go, and I will reuerie to my place: till they acknowledge their fault, & I will be merciefull to them: till they will seeke me diligently.

18 I will go, and I will reuerie to my place: till they acknowledge their fault, & I will be merciefull to them: till they will seeke me diligently.

19 I will go, and I will reuerie to my place: till they acknowledge their fault, & I will be merciefull to them: till they will seeke me diligently.

20 I will go, and I will reuerie to my place: till they acknowledge their fault, & I will be merciefull to them: till they will seeke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

Come, and let vs^a returne to the Lord: for he hath spoiled, and he will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will^b he reuiew vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, & in our selues know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, & he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I intreat thee? for your goodnesse is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I^c cut downe by the Prophets: I haue flaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy c^d iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired^d mercy, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they s^e like men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 Gilead is a city of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as they wait for a man, so the companie of Priests murther in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue scene villanie in the house of Israel: there is y^e whoredom of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a^t plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord, that he might call backe his people.

b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.

c You feare to haue a certaine hollesse and repentance, but it is vp^d the sudden, & as a morning cloud.

d I haue still laboured by my prophesies, as it were I haue taught you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meat to feed them, but a sword to slay them.

e My doctrine which I taught them, was most euident.

f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the love of their neighbour with outward sacrificie.

g That is, like light and weake persons. h Which was the place where the Priests dwell, and which should haue bene best instructed in my word, i That is, do imitate this idolatrie, and hath taken grasse of siluy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 11 Of their punishment.

When I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsly: and the thiefe commeth in, and the robber spoileth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the^b King glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, & as a very c^d oven heated by the baker, which ceaseth fro^t raising vp, & from kneading the dough vnill it be leauened.

5 This is the^d day of our King: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: hee stretcheth out his hand to corners.

6 For they haue made readie their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue c^d deuoured their iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath^e mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned,

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and despised them of all good rules. f That is, he counterfeited the religion of the Gentiles: yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other, that is, neither thorow hote, nor thorow cold, but partly a lew, and partly a Gentile.

he knoweth is not: yea, s^e gray haire is here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testified to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a dowe deceived, without heart: they cal to Egypt: they go to Alhur.

12 But when they thall go, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastise them as their i^c congregation thall heare.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shall be vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cried vnto mee with their hearts, when they howled vpon their beds: they assembled themselves for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue binde^d & strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischiefe against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most hie: they are like a deceitfull bow: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

strength, and possit not what they speake against me and my seruants, Psalm. 73.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

Set the trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an eagle against the House of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, & trespassed against my Law.

2 Israel shall^c cry vnto mee, My God, wee know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemies shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a King, but not by mee: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their golde haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without^d innocencie!

6 For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore is it not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they haue s^e fowen the winde, and they shall reape the whirlwinde: it hath no stalk: the bud shall bring forth no meale: if it be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is denoued, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Alhur: they are as a wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorrow a little, for the^b burden of the King and the Princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a^t strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eat it: but the^b Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visit their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt, to kinde their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions. h That is, without all indignation, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleane only to God, or to seke the helpe of man.

i According to my curies made in the whole congregation of Israel. k That is, diuine remedies redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.

l When they were in affliction & cried out for paine, they sought vnto me for helpe.

m They only seke their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for me their God.

n Because they boast of their strength.

a God encourageth the Prophet to signifye y^e coming of the enemy against Israel, which will once the people of God.

b They shall en like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as children declare.

c That is, I remember an by whom they fought their owne libertie, and mine will.

d That is, without iudgement and goodly life.

e Meaning, the calfe was inuentioned by themselves, and of their fathers in the wilderness.

f Showing y^e shall religion hath but a show, and in it selfe is but vanitie.

g They were inuentioned but run to and fro to seke helpe.

h That is, for the tribute which the King and the princes shall lay vpon them: it which means the Lord, which to bring it to repentance.

i That the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions. k Saying that they offer it to I^c Lord, but he accepteth it for sinne, which he himselfe hath outspoyled.

a Meaning, that there was no one made of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open.

b They clemere their wicked King Ierobom about God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him.

c He comparh the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heareth still till his dough be leauened and raised.

d They did all riot and exercise in their feasts and solemnities, where by their King was ouercome with surfeit, & brought into disorde, & deliued in fastidie.

e By their occasion God hath despised them of all good rules.

f That is, he counterfeited the religion of the Gentiles: yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other, that is, neither thorow hote, nor thorow cold, but partly a lew, and partly a Gentile.

15 So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednesse : in a morning shall the King of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

2 The benefits of the Lord toward Israel, 3 Their ingratitude against him.

When Israel ^a was a childe, then I loved him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they ^b went thus from them : they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I ledde Ephraim also, ^c as one should heare them in his armes : but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cordes ^c of a man, ^d curts with bandes of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh of the yoke from their iawes, and I layd the meate vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt : but Ashur shall be his ^d King, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counfeils.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me : though ^e they called them to the most high, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim ? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel ? how shall I make thee, as ^f Admah ? how shall I see thee, as Zeboim ? mine heart is turned within me : ^h my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath : I will not returne to destroy Ephraim : for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not ⁱ enter into the cite.

10 They shall walke after the Lord : hee shall roare like a lyon : when he shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 They shall feare as a sparow out of Egypt, and as a dooe of the land of Ashur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth me about with lies, & the house of Israel with deceit : but Iudah yet ruleth with I God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

^k The Egyptians shall be afraid when the Lord maintaineth his people. ^l Gomer hath his flate according to Gods word, and doeth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

1 Hee admonishes by Isaaks example to trust in God, and not in man.

Ephraim is fed ^a with the wild, and followeth after the East winde : he increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Ashur, and ^b oyle is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with ^c Iudah, and will visite Laabok, according to his wayes : according to his workes, will hee recompense him.

3 Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength he had ^d power with God,

4 And had ^e power ouer the Angel, and persecuted : he wept and prayed vnto him : ^f he found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

^g Reade Genes. 32. 25. ^h God founde Iaakob as hee lay sleeping in Bethel. Genes. 28. 12. and so spake with him there, that the fruite of that speech appoynted to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

5 Yea, the Lorde God of hostes, the Lorde is himselfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thee to thy God : keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 He is ^g Canaan : the balances of deceit are in his hand : he louth to oppresse.

8 And Ephraim saide, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in al my labours : they shall finde none iniquitie in mee, ^h that were wickednesse.

9 Though I am the Lorde thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet wil I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in ⁱ the dayes of the solemne feast.

10 I haue also spoken by the Prophetes, and I haue multiplied visions, and vied similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets.

11 Is there iniquitie in Gilead ? surely they are vanitie : they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, & their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept ^j sheepe.

13 And by a ^k Prophet the Lorde brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was hee reuered.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with his places : therefore shall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord reward him. all their religion was but vanitie. 1 If you boast of your riches and nobilitie, ye seeme to reproch your father who was a poore ignorant and seruant. In Manna, whereby appeareth, that whatsoever they haue, it cometh of Gods free goodnesse.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 2 and the cause of their destruction.

When Ephraim spake, there was a trembling : he ^b exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, ^c and is dead.

2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their filtur, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding : they were all the worke of the craftsmen : they say one to an other whiles they sacrifice a ^d man, Let them kisse the calves.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God ^e from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me : for there is no Saviour beside me.

5 I did know thee in the wilderness, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled : they were filled, and their heart was exalted : therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will be vnto them as a very lion, and as a leopard in the way of Ashur.

8 I will meet them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lion : the wilde beast shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one ^f hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 As I am : where is thy King, that shoulde helpe thee in all thy cities ? and thy iudges, of whom thou saidst, Give me a King, and princes.

11 I gaue thee a King in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

^g As for Ephraim hee knoweth not the wicked Canaanites then godly Abraham or Iaakob.

^h Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by out ward prosperitie, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reprove their doings.

ⁱ Seeing that wil not acknowledge my benefits, I will bring thee againe to dwell in tents in the fruite of the Tabernacles, which then doeth none content.

^k The people thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet sayeth that they shall be as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

^l Hee thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet sayeth that they shall be as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

^m The Ephraimites were not free from defilement, and haue lost their authority.

ⁿ The false prophets persecuted the idolaters to set for their children after the example of Abraham, and he sheweth how they would vnto the same, and in kisse and worship these calves which were their idoles.

^o He calleth them to repentance and reprove their ingratitude.

^p The destruction is certaine, and my benefits toward thee declare that it cometh not of me : therefore thou shalt know mine malice, idolatrie, and vaine confidence in man, must needs be thine curse should.

^q I am almighty I am Isp.

^a Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt and did not provoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.

^b They rebelled and went a contrary way, when the Prophetes called them to repentance.

^c That is, friendly : not out as beaues or liones.

^d Seeing they contemne all this kinde of things, they shall be led captiue into Assyria.

^e To waight Prophetes.

^f God considereth with himselfe, and that with a certaine griefe howe to punish them.

^g Which were two of the cities that were destroyed with Sodom.

^h Destr. 19. 32.

a. The destruction of Samaria. b. How desirable shall it be to turne to God, who requirerh prayer and fasting.

1 Amaria shall be desolate: for the hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword:
their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shall be ript.

2 O Israel, a returne vnto the Lord thy God:
for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you words, & turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, Take away all iniquitie, and receiue us graciously: so will we render the cultes of our lips.

4 Allbur that is not true vs neither will we ride vpon horses, neither will we fly any more to the worke of our hands, for we are our gods: for in thee

IOEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

The Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of Pestis, remaine still obstinate. Secondly he threatneth greater plagues, because they grow dayly to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhor-teth them to repentance, shewing that it must be perierf, and proceede from the heart because they had grossely offended God. And so doth, he promisseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his covenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

a. A prophesie against the town, as hee exhorts the people to prayer, and fasting for the miserie that was at hand.

1 He word of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O Elders, & hearken ye all inhabitants of the land, whether such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of y palmer worme hath the grasshopper eaten, & the residue of y grasshopper hath the canker worne eaten, and the residue of the canker worne hath the carterpiller eaten.

5 Awake ye drunkards, and wepe, & howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine:
for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, a nation cometh vpon my land, mightie, & without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and hee hath the iawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, & pulleth out the bark of my figge tree, he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: y branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgin girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth.

9 The meate offering, & the drinke offering is cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth for the corne is destroyed: the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husbandmen, howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheate, & for the barley, because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree & the palme tree, and the apple tree, asuen all the trees of the fields are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 Gird your selues and lament, ye Priests howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God:
for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast, call a solemn assembly: gather the Elders, & all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord: your God, and crie vnto the Lord.

15 Alas for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and it cometh as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not y meane cut off before our eyes? and ioy and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The flocks are scornd vnder their clouds:
the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne! the herds of cartell pine away: because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, thou wilt I pray: for the first fruits decayed

g. All cometh to nothing, for man is as vanity, as a shadow.

h. He sheweth that the new wine is dried up, and the oyle is decayed.

i. We see by this great plague that the day of the Lord is at hand.

k. The flocks are scornd clouds: the garners are destroyed:

the barnes are broken downe, for the corne

a That idol which you esteemed as your king, and carved bow, as you did Chanaan, the which images you thought that there was a certaine diuinitie.

a The Prophet denounceth the wealthie, which regarded no Gods plagues nor moneys of his Prophets. b These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing beforetime they did nothing while there were here borne, why should they looke that they should faue you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions? c He is a base de floreyd with excellent tunes in three diuers languages, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistines, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater strenght, then you yet are, thinke you to be better or to reuenge? d Ye that continue full of yet without wisdom: & thinke that Gods plagues are not as lead but glue your feloes to all idleness, wantonnesse, and riot.

e As hee caused diuers kindes of instruments to be made to serue Gods glory, so these did content to ioynt as may to serue their wanton affections and lusts. f They pitied not their brethren, whereof now many were faire and caried away captiue.

g Some made the joy of them that stretch themselves, shall depart, b Great, i.e., none. i That is, the riches & pompe. k The destruction shall be so great, that none shall almost be left to burie the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to cary out the worst ashes with more ease. l That is, to some neighbour, that dwelleth round about. m They shall be so afflicted at this destruction, that they shall boast no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall be dumme when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate. n He conuinceth them to barren rocks whetupon it is in vaine to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benefices can haue no place among them. o Verse Chap. 5. 7. p That is, power and glory. q From one corner of the country to another.

26 But you haue borne a Seidun your King, and Chinn your images, and the farrre of your gods, which ye made to your selues.

27 Therefore will I caule you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lorde, whose Name is the God of hostes.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Iuda which be in Iherusalem.

W O to them that are at ease in Zion and trust in y mountaines of Sairon, which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistines: abe they better then these kingdomes? or the borders of their land greater then your border.

3 Ye that put farre away the euill day, and approach to the feate of iniquitie.

4 They lie vpon beds of yuorie, and stretch themselves vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall.

5 They ling to the found of the viole: they ingent to themselves instruments of musike like c Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and annoynt themselves with the chiefe ointments, but no man is forsic for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they go captiue with the first that go captiue, and s the sorrow of them that stretch themselves, is at hand.

8 The Lord God hath sworn by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre the excellencie of Iacob, & hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the cite with all that therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vnicle shall take him vp & burne him to cary out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, m Hold thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will finite the great house with breches, and the little house with clefis.

12 Shall hornes runne vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite of righteousness into wormewood.

13 Yee reioyce in a thing of nought: yee say, Haue not wee gotten vs thornes by our owne strength?

14 But behold, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lorde God of hostes: and they shall afflict you from the entering in of Hamath vnto the niuer of the wilderness.

1 This hath the Lorde God shewed vnto mee, and beholde, hee formed grasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter growth, and loe, it was in the latter growth after the Kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the grasse of the land, then I sayd, O Lorde God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iacob? for he is small.

3 So the Lorde repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lorde.

4 Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and beholde, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.

5 Then said I, O Lorde God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iacob? for he is small.

6 So the Lorde repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lorde God.

7 Thus againe he shewed me, and beholde, the Lorde flood vpon a wall made by king c, with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lorde sayd vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lorde, Beholde, I will set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the hie places of Ihek shall be defoliate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ Then Amaziah y Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his wordes.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also s Amaziah said vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chapel, and it is the Kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, & said to Amaziah, I was no Prophet, neither was I a prophets sonne, but I was an herdsman, & a gatherer of wilde figs.

15 And the Lorde tooke mee as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Goe, prophesie vnto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lorde. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Ihek, and speake nothing against the house of Israel.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, I thy wife shall be an harlot in the cite, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be diuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captiuitie forth of his land.

as this day be doeth against them that persecute the ministers

CHAP. VII.

Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

1 Thus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto mee, and beholde, a basket of sommer fruite.

2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A basket of sommer fruite. Then said the Lorde vnto mee, The ende is come vpon my people of Irael, I will passe by them no more.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lorde God: many dead bodies

a To denounce the land, and hee alledgeth to y invading of the enemies. b After the publick commendement for mowing was giuen: or at some reape, when the kings therewe were shorne. c That is, stayed this plague at my prayre.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed: against the stubbornnesse of this people. e Signifying, that this should be the last mowing of the people, & thus he would destroy his ingenerate longer.

f That is, when Amos had prophesied that the king should be destroyed, for this mield Peril more for: heured hee to the Priest, that he should shew for some toward the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemn him, when as none other could take place.

g When this instrument of Sams was not able to compass his purpose by the King hee stayed by another practice: was to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, & not see proofe their idleness: & so hee openly & soundly his profit. h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinary vocacion, y God had giuen him a charge which hee could not recuse.

i Thus God wiled to approve the authority of his Prophets by his plagues & iudgements against them, which were malicious enemies, here, 18. 13. and 24. 1. 5. of his Gospell.

God forsooth certain nations, whereby hee signifies his distress. 20 The false accusation of Amaziah. 21 His cruell complaint.

CHAP. VII.

1 Thus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto mee, and beholde, a basket of sommer fruite.

1 There shall be advised to mourne for them.

2 By laying the law of food and necessity things which you have gotten into your own hands, and to cause the poore to feed quickly that he that they have, and as length for necessity to become your flour.

bitants of the land

5 In the middes of their prosperitity, they will feed great affliction.

6 Whereby he sheweth that they shall not only perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word, which is the food thereof.

7 For the idolaters did die to sway by their ists yet doe.

10 The relieving of the Church.

11 I sawe the Lorde standing vpon the water, and he said, Smit the lintell of the doore, that the poies may shake:
and cut them in pieces, then the heads of them all, and I will lay the last of them with the sword: he that seeth of them, shall not see away:
and he that escape of them, shall not be deliuered.

12 Though they digge into the hell, thence shall mine hand take them: though they clyme vp to heauen, thence will I bring them
downe.

13 And though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence:
and though they
be hid from my sight in the bot-tome of the sea, thence will I command the serpent, and he shall bite them.

14 And though they goe into captivity before their enemies, thence will I command the sword, and it shall slay them:
and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill,
and not for good.

15 And the Lord
God of hostes shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all thardye therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholy like a flood, and shall be drowned aby the flood of Egypt.

16 He buildeth his spheres in the heauen, and hath laide the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee callethe the waters of the sea, and powereth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

17 Ar ye not as the Ethiopians vnto me, O children of Israel, saith the Lorde? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the
I haistime from Capthor, & Aram
from Kir?

18 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon
the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it vpon the top of the earth.
Neuertheless
I will not utterly destroy the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord.

19 For loe, I will command and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the least stone fall
vpon the earth.

20 But all the summers of my people shall dye
by the sword, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs.

21 In that day will I raise vp the tabernacle of David, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I will raise vp his ruines, and I will build it as in the dayes of olde.

22 That they may possesse the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, sayeth the Lord, that doth this.

23 Behold, the
dayes come, saith the Lord, that the plowman shall touch the mower, and the treeder of grapes him that soweth seede:
and the moun-taine shall drop sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt.

24 And I will bring againe
the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall build the waste cities, and in-habite them, & they shall plant vineyards, and drinke the wine thereof:
they shall also make gardens, and eate the frutes of them.

25 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more be pulled vp again: out of their land, which I haue giuen them, saith the Lord thy God.

26 As for Christ, when they are planted in his Church, they can neuer be pulled, after they are once grafted therein.

bodies shall be in euery place:
they shall cast them forth with silence.

4 Heare this. O ye that swallowe vp the poore, that ye may make the needy of the land to faile.

5 Saying, When will the newe moeth bee gone, that wee may sell corne?
and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheate, and make s the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needy for shoes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate.

7 The Lorde
hath sworne
by the excellence of Iaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein?
and it shall rise vp wholy
as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, sayth the Lord God, I will cause the sunne to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation:
and I will bring blacke cloth vpon all loines, and baldnesse vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mounting of an onely sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day.

11 Beholde, the dayes come, sayth
the Lorde
God, that I will send a famine in the lande, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst of water, but of hearing the word of the Lorde.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East, shall they run, and shallow seeke the word of the Lorde, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the faire virgines, and the young men perish for thirst.

14 They that swear by the sinne of Somaria, and that say, Thy God,
O Dart, lieth, and the master of Beersheba lieth, quen
they shall fall, and neuer
rise vp againe.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Hee denieth which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not only vex them continually with sundry kindes of crueltie, but also slew others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their adversaries, which did so vex and oppress them, and to send them backe as should deliuer them, and set up the kingdome of Iuda, which he had promised.

a God hath certainly moulted to his Prophets that he will raise vp the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is now published, Ier. 49. 12.
 b Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.
 c Which despised all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet are but an handful in comparison of others, & are that vp among the hills as leopards from the rest of the world.

d God will fo destroy them that he without none, though these when they come, take but till they have yongh and they that gather grapes, ever leave some behind them. Ier. 49. 9.
 e They in whom thou diddest trust, for to have helpe and friendship of them, shall be thine enemies and destroy thee.
 f Thus is thy familiar friends and thy secret practices destroyed thee.

g This sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so thoroughly punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whose bowels he comforteth by punishing their enemies. h When Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou yowdest with him, and hadst part of the spoyle, and so didst receive when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldst have pitied and helpen thy brother.

He vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lorde God against Edom, We have heard a rumour fro the Lorde, & an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battell.

3 Behold, I have made thee small among the heathen: thou art viterly despised.

4 The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocks, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?

5 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lorde.

6 Came thecues to thee or robbers by night? howe wast thou brought to filence? would they not haue stolen, till they had yongh? if the grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes?

7 Howe are the things of Esau fought vp, and his treasures searched?

8 All the men of thy confederacie have driuen thee to y borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceived thee, & prevailed against thee: they that ease thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

9 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lorde, euen destroy the wife men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

10 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall bee afraide, because euery one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter.

11 For thy crucitie against thy brother Iacob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

12 When thou stoodst on the other side, in the day that strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

13 But thou shouldst not haue beholden the time, to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whose bowels he comforteth by punishing their enemies. h When Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou yowdest with him, and hadst part of the spoyle, and so didst receive when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldst have pitied and helpen thy brother.

day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a stranger, neither shouldst thou haue reioycied ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldst not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldst not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their destruction, neither shouldst thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layde hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldst thou haue stood in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldst thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as yet haue I drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shall bee as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shalbe deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iacob shall possesse their possessions,

18 And the house of Iacob shalbe a fire, and the house of Joseph a flame, and the house of Esau shall be stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lorde hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistines: and they shall possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Benjamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdom shalbe the Lorde.

the time, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whome the Prophet callith here the Lord and head of this kingdom.

i When the Lord deprived them of their former dignitie, and gave them to be carried into captiuitie.

k When he will summon all the heathen, and send them to destroy thee.

l That is, reioycied and triumphed.

m The Edomites shalbe viterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will reuerse my Church and restore it.

IONAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Iona had long prophesied in Israel and had little profited, God gave him express charge to goe, and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe cite of the Assyrians, because he had appoynted, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching that Israel might see how horribly they had punished Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Iosh, and Ierobeam, at 3. Kings 14. 35.

CHAP. I.

3 Iona first when he was sent to preach, & attempred wish, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

THE word of the Lord came also vnto Iona the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to Nineueh, that a great cite, and crye against it: for their wickednes is come vp before me.

3 But Iona rose vp to 4 flee into Tarsih in the presence of the Lorde, and went downe to 5 Iapho: and hee found a ship going to Tarsih: so hee payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that hee might goe with them vnto Tarsih, from the presence of the Lorde.

4 But the Lorde sent out a great winde into see there, seeing hee had done so small good among his owne people. Chap. 2. 2. Which was the reason and cause to take shipping thither, called also Ioppa. f From that vocacion whereunto God had called him, and whereto he would haue attuned him.

d Whereby he declared his weakness, that would not promptly follow the Lorde calling but gave place to his owne reason, which perverted him that he should nothing at all pro-

see there, seeing hee had done so small good among his owne people. Chap. 2. 2. Which was the reason and cause to take shipping thither, called also Ioppa. f From that vocacion whereunto God had called him, and whereto he would haue attuned him.

After that he had preached a long time in Israel, and so Ezechiel, after that for a time he had prophesied in Iuda, he had visions in Babylon. Ezek. 1. 1. b For seeing the great delusion of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles that they might awake them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe cite of the Assyrians, c For as our writers write, it contained in circuit more eight and forty milles, and had a thousand and four hundred towers, and in the midst of them were a hundred and twenty thousand children therein. Chap. 4. 1.

the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the shippe was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cryed every man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of them: but Iona was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleep.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and sayde vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perill not.

7 And they sayde every one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs cast lottes, that we may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lottes, and the lot fell vpon Iona.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? What is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Ebrewe, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraide, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had tolde them)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall wee doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast mee into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for y^e sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Iona, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vows.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Iona: and Iona was in the belly of the fish three dayes, and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Iona is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 3 He is deliuered.

Then Iona prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly,

3 And said, I cried in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou haddest cast me into the bottome in the midst of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I saide, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weeds were wrapt about mine head.

6 I laboured because hope and despaire, considering the neglect of my vocacion and Gods indignation for the same: but yet in the end I shal get the victorie.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembered the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying vanities, forsake their owne mercie.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thanksgiving, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Iona vpon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

1 Iona is first againe to Ninueh. 2 The repentance of the King of Ninueh.

And the word of the Lord came vnto Iona the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Ninueh that great city, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Iona arose and went to Ninueh according to the word of the Lord: now Ninueh was a great & excellent citie of three dayes journey.

4 And Iona began to enter into the citie a dayes 3 journey, and he cried, and said, Y^e forty dayes, and Ninueh shall be overthrowen.

5 So the people of Ninueh beleneed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For worde came vnto the King of Ninueh, and he arose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed & said through Ninueh, (by the counsell of the king & his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor beast, bullock nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and be mightily vnto God: yea, let every man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their workes that they turned from their euill wayes: and God repented of the euill that hee had said that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

8 For partly by threatening of the Prophet, and partly by the meane of his owne conscience, he doubted whether God would show them mercie. But in the fruites of their repentance, which did proceede of faith which God had planted by the ministration of his Prophet. 1 Reade Ierem. 8.3.

CHAP. II.

The great goodness of God toward his creatures.

Therefore it displeased Iona exceedingly, and he was angrie.

3 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? therefore I presented it to thee vnto Tarshish: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, & merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.

4 Then sayde the Lord, Doest thou well to forsake thy life to be blasphemed, as though hee saw his Prophet should be so much against his indignation in reuenge.

4 Thus had deliuered me from the belly of the fish, and all this danger. 5 They that depend vpon any thing but on God alone. 6 They refuse their owne tell, citie, and that goodness which they should els receive of God.

a This is a great declaration of Gods mercie, that he receiue him againe and restore him forth as his Prophet, which had before shewed to great infamie.

b Reade chap. 1. 2. c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was converted.

d For he declared that he was a Prophet that to them from God to denounce his indignation against them.

e Not that the dumbest beastes had sense of could repent, but that by their example they might be instructed that for his sake the anger of God might ouer all creatures.

f He will that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercie.

g Thus he propo- of of great kindnes, and repentest thee of the euill.

h Reade Chap. 1. 2.

i Thus he propo- of of great kindnes, and repentest thee of the euill.

j Thus he propo- of of great kindnes, and repentest thee of the euill.

d Wilt thou be judge when I do things for my glory, and I do not?

e For he doubted ar yet whether God would shew them merie or no: and therefore after foure dayes he departed out of the cite, looking what issue God would send. f Which was a further meane, to cover him from the heat of the sunne, as he remained in his booth.

5 So Ionah went out of the cite and late on the East side of the cite, and there made him a booth, and late vnder it in the shadowe: e till he might see what should be done in the cite.

6 And the Lord God prepared a f gourd, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a shadowe ouer his head and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rofe the next day, and it smote the gourd, that it withered.

8 And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, and he fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for me to die then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Ionah, Doeft thou well to bee angry for the gourd? And he sayd, I doe well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pitie on the gourd for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night, would reframe God to shewe his compassion to so many thousands people. i Meaning, that they were children and infants.

11 And shouldest thou spare Nineuch that great citie, wherein are fixe score thousand persons, that i cannot discern betweene their right hand, and their left hand, and also much cattell?

g This declareth the great incommensurancie wherein Gods seruants do fall when they give place to their own affections, and doe not in all things willingly submit themselves to God.

h Thus God mercifully requieth him, which would pricke himselfe, and this gourd, and yet thousands people.

MICAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah serued in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and Israel as the least thirte yeres: at what time Isaiah prophesied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdom, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickedness, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this end he noteth the wickedness of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permission of the false prophets, & the delighting in them. Then he saith forth the coming of Christ, his kingdom, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab, and all his false prophets, at 1. King. 22. 8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatrie.

He word of the Lord that came vnto Micah the ^a Morastite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which he saw concerning Samaria, and Ierusalem.

2 Heare, e all ye people: hearken thou, O eath, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witness against you, ^f when the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For beholde, the Lord cometh out of his place, and will come downe, and tread vpon the high places of the eath.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleyes cleaue) as waxe before the fire, and as y waters that are powred downward.

5 For the wickednes of Iacobok ^a all this, and for the finnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednes of Iacobok? Is not ^a Samaria? & which are the high places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heap of the fildes, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the graven images thereof shall be broken, and all the ^a gifts thereof shall be burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 And I will say, as they that labour had enriched them therewith for their finnes: what was the gain that came by their idoles, shall be consumed as a thing of vanity: for the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, as they are vaily and freely spent.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the ^a enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

10 Declare ye it not at ^a Gath, neither weepe ye: for the house of ^a Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at ^a Shaphir, go together naked with shame: for they that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come forth in y mourning of Beth-ezel: the ^a enemy shall receive of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the gate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, hide the charret to the ^a heales of price: for it is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Mooredeth ^a Gath: the houses of Achizib shall be as a lyet to the Kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an ^a enemy vnto thee, O inhabitant of Maroth, hee shall come vnto Adullam, the glorie of Israel.

16 Make thee balde: and shawe thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

17 For she first to that cite, and remained therein, when she saw her captiuitie against Ierusalem. O Thou first receiuedst the idolatrie of Ierusalem, and so diddest infect Ierusalem. P Thou shalt bribe the Philistines thy neighbours, but they shall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ierusalem. q The propheth is against his owne cite, and because it signified an heritage, hee saith that God would it made an heritage to possess it. r For so they thought themselves for the strength of their cite.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the wanton and delicate people, & they would reach the Prophets to prophesie.

WO vnto them that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickednesse vpon their beddes: when the morning is light they practise it because their hand ^a hath power.

2 And

h Left the Philistines, that are enemies reioyce at our destruction.

i Which was to the neere to Ierusalem, Iudah, & they were called Ophrah & Shaphir.

j These were cities, wherby the enemy should passe as he came to Iudah.

k These were cities, wherby the enemy should passe as he came to Iudah.

l He shall not depart before he hath ouercome you, and so you shall pay for his tarying.

m For Rabboth had that vp Ierusalem, that they could not find favour therein.

n To free warre for Canaan is laid siege first to that cite, and remained therein, when she saw her captiuitie against Ierusalem.

o The first receiuedst the idolatrie of Ierusalem, and so diddest infect Ierusalem.

p Thou shalt bribe the Philistines thy neighbours, but they shall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ierusalem.

q The propheth is against his owne cite, and because it signified an heritage, hee saith that God would it made an heritage to possess it.

r For so they thought themselves for the strength of their cite.

s Affoone as they rise, they exercise their wicked desire of the night, and according to their power have done.

t And

h Thus the Iewes lament say that there is no hope of redemption, ife. ing their professions are divided among the enim. c. e. Yet I haue no more lands to divide; yet I haue times paid, and as you need to measure them in the tubbe.

d Thus the people vaine p. prophets that they speake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatenings. e God saith that they shall not prophesie, nor receive no more of their rebukes nor taunts. f Are these your works according to his Lawe?

g Do not the gods find my wordes as for a lie? h Thus, alfo. i. The poore can haue no commodity by them, but they spoile them, as though they were enemies.

k Thus, their fault and lying, which is Gods blessing, and it were part of his glory. l Ierusalem shall not be your iudgement, but the cause of your destruction. m Thus, it sheweth kind to be a Prophet.

n He sheweth what Prophets they desire in that is in flatterers, which tell them pleasure tales, and speake of their commodities. o To destroy thee.

p The enimie shall breake their gates and waller, and leade thee into Caldea. q To diuine them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

2 And they couet fieldes; and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: they oppresse a man and his house, as a man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, against this family haue I devised a plague, whereout ye shall not plucke your peeces, and yet shall not go proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, b We be utterly walled: hee hath changed the portion of my people: how hath hee taken it away to restore it vnto me? hee hath diuided our fieldes.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall call a corde by lot in e the congregation of the Lord.

6 They that prophesied, prophesie yee not. e They shall not prophesie to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named of the house of Iacob, is the Spirit of the Lord thortened? e Are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him & his workes? waken thou wiprightly?

8 But hee that was yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enimie: they spoyle the beautiful garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, & from their children haue ye taken away k my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a force destruction.

11 If a man will walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, n I will prophesie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, hee shall euen be the prophet of his people.

12 I will surely gather e thee wholly, O Iacob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the mids of their folde: the cruets shall be full of brute of the men.

13 The breaker vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, & passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their King shall goe before them, and the Lord shall e vpon their heads.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the iyrannie of present and false prophets. And I said, Hearre, I pray you, O heads of Iacob, and ye princes of the house of Israel: should not ye know a iudgement?

2 But they knew the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skinned from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the b flesh of my people, and flay off their skinned from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in peeces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then e shall they drie vnto the Lord, but he will not heare them: he will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the people. c That is, when I shall visit their wickedness: for though they grie the godly before they drie, Iu. 64. 24. yet I will not heare their though they drie, Iu. 11. 15. and Ezck. 18. Iu. 11. 15. 1 pet. 3. 12.

phets that deceiue my people, and bite them with their teeth, and drie peace, but if a man put not into their mouths, they prepare warre against him.

6 Therefore e night shall be vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shall be vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shall be darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer f their lips, for they haue none answer of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding I am full g of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iacob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Hearre this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iacob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equite.

10 They build vp Zion with a blood, and Ierusalem with iniquite.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Priests thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they i leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be h plowed a field, & Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hie places of the forest.

seth him self alone against all the wicked, shewing how God hath giue him gifts, skill, and knowledge, to discerne between good and euill, and also compassioe to reponne the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them. b They builde ciuill houses by bribes, which he calleth blood and iniquite. i They will say, that they are the people of God, and asuite his Name as a present to cloke their hypocrite. k Reade Ierem. 23. 18.

1 Of the kingdomes of Christ, and successors of his Church.

But in the e last dayes it shall come to passe, what the mountaine of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the toppe of the mountains, and it shall be exalted aboue the b hilles, and people shall floure vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come & say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the Mountaine of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Iacob, and he will e teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: for the Law shall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

3 And he shall iudge among many people, and rebuke mightie nations as farre off, and they shall breake their swordes into mattocks, and their speares into e sheeths: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they f leane to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hosts hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke g euery one in the name of his god, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, saith the Lord, e will I gather her that haltereth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that haltereth, a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in 4 Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruantes, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

He ^a burden of Nineueh. ^b The booke of the viſion of Nahum the ^c Elkeſhite.

^d God ^e is ^f ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord ^g of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduerſaries, and he reſerueth wrath for his enemies.

^h The Lord is ſlow to anger, but he is great in power, and he will not ſurely cleare the wicked: the Lord ⁱ hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the ſtorme, and the cloudes ^j are the duſt of his feete.

^k He rebuketh the ſea, and dryeth it, and hee dryeth vp all the riuers: Baſhan is waſted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is waſted.

^l The mountaine tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his ſight, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

^m Who can ſtand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fierceneſſe of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

ⁿ The Lord is good ^o and as a ſtrong holde in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that truſt in him.

^p But paſſing ouer ^q as with a flood, he will vtterly deſtroy the place thereof, and darkeneſſe ſhall purſue his enemies.

^r What doe ye ^s imagine againſt the Lord? he will make a vtter deſtruction: affliction ſhall not riſe vp the ſecond time.

^t For he ^u ſhall come as vnto ^v thornes ſolden one in another, and as vnto drunkardes in their drunkenneſſe: they ſhall be deuoured as ſtubble fully dryed.

^w There ^x commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill againſt the Lorde, ^y euen a wicked counſellour.

^z Thus ſaith the Lorde, Though they bee ^a quiet, and ſo many, yet thus ſhall they be cut off when hee ſhall paſſe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

^b For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burſt thy bonds in ſunder.

^c And the Lord hath giuen a commaundement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be ^d ſown: out of the houſe of thy gods will I cut off the grauen, and the molten image: I will make it thy game for thee, for thou art vile.

^e Beholde vpon the mountaine the feete of him that declareth, and publiſheth ^f peace: O Iudah, keepe thy ſolemne feaſtes, perſeuer thy vowes: for the wicked ſhall no more paſſe thorow thee: he is vtterly cut off.

^g Beholde vpon the mountaine the feete of him that declareth, and publiſheth ^h peace: O Iudah, keepe thy ſolemne feaſtes, perſeuer thy vowes: for the wicked ſhall no more paſſe thorow thee: he is vtterly cut off.

ⁱ He ſhall remember his ſtrong men: they ſhall ſtumble as they goe: they ſhall nake haſte to the wallies thereof, and the defence ſhall be prepared.

^j The gates of the riuers ſhall be opened, and the place ſhall melt.

^k And Huzzab the ^l Queene ſhall be led away captive, and her maidens ſhall leade her as with the voyce of doves, ſmiting vpon their breasts.

^m But Nineueh is ⁿ of old like a poole of water: yet they ſhall flee away. Stand, ſtand, ^o ſhall they cry: but none ſhall looke backe.

^q Shee is emptye and voyde and waſte, and the heart melteth, and the knees ſmite together, and forow is in all loynes, and the faces ^r of them all gather blackeneſſe.

^s Where is the ^t dwelling of the Lyons, and the paſture of the Lyons whelpes? where the Lyon, and the Lyonette walked, and the Lyons whelp, and none made them afraid.

^u The Lyon did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and wrought for his Lyonette, and filled his holes with praye, and his denmes with ſpoyle.

^v Beholde, I ^w come vnto thee, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, and I will burne her charres in ^x ſmoke, and the ſword ſhall deuoure thy yong Lyons, and I will cut off thy ſpoyle from the earth, and the voyce of thy ^y meſſengers ſhall no more be heard.

HABAKKUK.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none end. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Chaldeans should come & take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbornnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the godly should despair, seeing this horrible confusion, he comforteth them by this, that God will punish the Chaldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelty shall be as heighe: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, whereunto they should comfort themselves.

HE burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.

O Lord, how long shall I cry, and thou wilt not heare? I will cry out vnto thee for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

Why do'st thou shewe mee iniquitie, and cause me to beholde sorowful for spoyling and violence are before me: and there is no raise vp for iustice and contention.

Therefore the Law is dissolved, and iudgement doth neuer goe forth: for the wicked doeth compass about the righteous therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth.

Beholde among the heathen, and regarde, and wonder, and maruaile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: & yet will not beleue it, though it be tolde you.

For loe, I raise vp the Chaldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the land to possesse the dwelling places that are to be tolde you.

They are terrible & fearful: their iudgement & their dignitie shall proceed of themselves.

They themselves shall be your iudges in this cause, and none shall haue authoritie ouer them to controul them.

Their horses also are swifter then the Leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the evening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meate.

They come all to spoyle: before their faces shall be an Eastwinde, and they shall gather the captiuitie, & as the fand.

And they shall mocke the kings, and the princes shall be a skorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather dust and take it.

Then shall they take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing thus their power vnto their god.

Art thou not of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall not die: O Lord, thou hast ordained them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euil: thou canst not beholde wickednesse: wherefore dost thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man that is more righteous then he?

And makest men as the fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them.

Where required such a sharpe rod. So that the great deuiours (the king) and the Chaldeans destroy all the world.

24. 25.

For the Lord hath feared this world, because it hath tried their faith.

They shall be as men in number. They shall cast vp mountains against it.

The Prophet denounceth the iudgement that God will doo destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victorie and become proud and insolent, attributing the praise for euer to their deities.

He sheweth the godly of Gods power, shewing that the wicked can doe no more then God hath appointed, and so that their ignorances.

1 O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraide: O Lord, reuiue thy q worke in the mids of the people, in the mids of the yeeres make it known: in wrath remember mercie.

2 God cometh from r Teman, & the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise,

3 And he b brightnesse was as the light: e hee had homes coming out of his handes, and there was the hiding of his power.

4 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coles went forth before his feete.

5 He stooode and measured the earth: he beheld, and dislodged the nations, and the euerlast-ing mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bowe: his f wayes are euerlasting.

6 For h his iniquitie I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtains of the lande of Midian did tremble.

7 Was the Lord angry against the h rulers?
or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride i vpon thine hoises? thy charters brought saluation.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he denounceth the great iudgements of God vpon Iudah as at hand, shewing that their sinnes should be utterly destroyed, and they carried away captiues by the Babylonians. For the comfort of the faithfull he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistines, Moabites, Assyrians, & others, so assure them that God had continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their former sad transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to wait vnto the fruit of Gods free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatry.

E He word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah, the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of Iosiah, the sonne of Amon King of Iudah.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shall be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, & vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, & I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, & the name of the Chemarims with the Priests.

5 And then that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, & sweare by Malcham.

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not fought the Loude, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, & hath sanctified his guests.

8 And it shalbe in the day of I Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes & the Kings children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparel.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceite.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noyse, and a crie from the fishgate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hills.

11 Howe theye inhabitants of the towne place: for the companie of the wicked is destroyed, all they that beare filthie load.

12 And at that time I will search Ierusalem with highes, and they which are are follen in their dreges, and they which are hid vnder their beaues. The Lord will neither be mercifull nor doe euill.

13 Therefore the goods shall be spoiled, and their houses waste: they shall all build houses, but not inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyardes, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is nere, & hee will be seene, and hee will be heard greatly, even the voyce of the day of the Lord: the strong man shall crie there bitterly.

15 That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of cloudes and blackenesse.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towres.

17 And I will bring distress vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be poured out as dust, and their flesh as the downe.

18 Neither their silver nor their gold shalbe able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the whole land shalbe deuoured by the fire of his iudgement: for hee shall make euen a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

He moueth to returne to God, & promyseth that he will against the Philistines, Moabites, and others.

After you haue, euen gather you, O Iudah: nor worthy to be loosed.

2 Before the decree come forth, and ye be as into the helmes, and gather themselves to gether, till they be consumed like stubble.

signifying that all the comers of the citie of Ierusalem should be full of trouble, and distress. This is saying of the blood of the merchants which was lower then the rent of the place.

So they shall escape none. I by then they shall cry, and in their wisdom.

They that were in their strength, and command the Philistines of God.

They that were in their strength, and command the Philistines of God.

They that were in their strength, and command the Philistines of God.

They that were in their strength, and command the Philistines of God.

They that were in their strength, and command the Philistines of God.

They that were in their strength, and command the Philistines of God.

They that were in their strength, and command the Philistines of God.

They that were in their strength, and command the Philistines of God.

CHAP. III.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the expiation thereof.

And the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked me, as a man that is rayised out of his sleepe,

And said vnto me, What seest thou? And I sayd, I haue looked, and behold, a candlestick all of golde with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lamps therein, and seuen pipes to the lamps which were vpon the top thereof.

And two olive trees out it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with mee, saying, What are these, my Lord?

Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an armie nor strength, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, and he shall bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

The hands of Zerubbabel have layed the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and I shew that he knoweth that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

For who hath despised the day of the small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of I tinné in the hand of Zerubbabel: the seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which keepe thorow the whole world.

Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two olive trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

And I spake moreover, and said vnto him, What be these two olive branches, which throwe the two golden pipes emptic themselves into the golde?

And he answered mee, and sayd, I knowest thou not what they bee? And I sayde, No, my Lord.

Then said he, These are two olive branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

a Which was euer in the midst of the Temple, signifying that the euery of Gods spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.
b Which conveyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lamp, so that the light should not be quenched, and this vision was to confirm the faithfull that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his grace, as to being his promises to passe, though he had no helpe of man.
c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members.
d He sheweth that Gods power only is sufficient to preserve his Church, though he be not assisted by them.
e He compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Jewes nothing in respect of them, and would have shakend Zerubbabel who represented Christ, who then comes daily labour to let in the building of his spiritual Temple, but all in vaine.
f Though this enemies think to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and being it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that hee would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.
g Meaning the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building & perfection of my spiritual temple.
h Signifying, that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple.
i Whereby he signifieth the plummet and line, that is, Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should goe forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his foe a while be discouraged, because they see not things prevalent to the eye.
k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continual presence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his works, Clasp. 3. 1 Which were euer green and full of oyle, so that still they poured forth oyle into the lamps: signifying, that God will continually maintain and preserve his Church, and indue it with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

The vision of the flying book, signifying the curse of sinners and such as abuse the Name of God. By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudaea & Jerusalem into Babylon.

Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and beholde, a flying booke.

And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke the length thereof a twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that breaketh, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that: and euery one that sweareth, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that.

I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

Then the Angel that talked with mee, went forth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

And I sayde, What is it? And hee sayde, This is an Ephah that goeth forth. Hee sayde moreover, This is the sight of them through all the earth.

And beholde, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the middes of the Ephah.

And he said, This is wickednes, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and he cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a stork) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

Then said I to the Angel that talked with mee, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

And he said vnto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

as in the next verse. i Signifying, that Satan should not have such power against the Jewes to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shew his iudgements by the means of weeke and infirme meanes. I To remove the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it firmer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the four chariots he describeth the four Monarchies.

Again I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came foure chariots out from betweene two mountaines, and the mountains were mountaines of brasie.

In the first chariot were red horses, and in the second chariot blacke horses.

In the third chariot white horses, and in the fourth chariot, horses of diuers colours, and reddith.

Then I answered, and sayde vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What are these? my Lord?

And the Angel answered, and sayde vnto mee, These are the foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

That with the blacke horse went forth in alter. c Which signified the great crueltie and persecutions that the Church endured vnder diuers enemies. d Signifying that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians. e These represented their flane vnder the Persians which reformed them no liberitie. f Which signified that God would comfort his Church with, and powere his playmen vpon their enemies, as hee did in destroying Ninue and Babylon, and other their enemies. g Meaning all the sinners and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his inchangeable counsaile canst to appeare through all the world.

a Because the Jewes had promised Gods plague, by contemning his word and calling off all iudgement and equitie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light vpon them, and that their fathers, nor now if they would repent, God would sende the same among the Caldeans, and their former enemies.
b That is, with a by inuirtue toward his neighbour.
c Meaning, wherefore hee is in the world.
d He that cutteth the stone, and setteth not Gods right, but abasheth Gods Name.
e Which was a measure in this things containing about tenne peeres.
f That is, all the wickednes of the world is in Gods light, which hee hereth in a measure, and canst it or open it at his pleasure.
g To cover the measure.
h Which representeth iniquitie.

i Signifying, that Satan should not have such power against the Jewes to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shew his iudgements by the means of weeke and infirme meanes. I To remove the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it firmer in Babylon.

as in the next verse. i Signifying, that Satan should not have such power against the Jewes to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shew his iudgements by the means of weeke and infirme meanes. I To remove the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it firmer in Babylon.

a By chariots, as by horses often, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will.
b By the brazen mountains he meaneth the spiritual kingdoms and preeminence of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.

o So that their persons shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and the prosperitie shall be sure and stable.

I Let neither respect of your priuate commoditie, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which encourage you thereto.

g For God caried you weake, so that neither snare nor battail had power of their labours.

h Reade Ezek. 38. 32.

i Which declares that man can not come to God, will he change mans heart by the Spirit, and begin to do well, which is to sanctify his finnes and to give him his graces.

k Which fast was appointed when the cite was besieged, and was the fast fast of these four: and here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Jewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shall haue no more occasion of fast, or to shew signes of heauines: for God will make the fast day and glad day. l He declares that the great woe that God should give the Gentiles to enuie to his church and to ioyce with the Jewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdom of Christ.

n Whereby he meaneth Syria. o Gods anger shall abide upon their chiefe citie, and so on upon so much sinners. p When the Jewes shall convert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies. q That is, by Damascus: meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be under the same rod and yoke.

8 And I will bring them, & they shall dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, & they shall be my people, and I will bee their God in truth, and in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Let your hands bee strong, yee that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the House of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for a man nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out: or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not increase the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruit, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O House of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuey you, and ye shall be a blessing: Feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers provoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these daies to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall do. Speake ye euery man the truth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly & vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and I loue no false othe: for all these are the things I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, & the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah ioy & gladnesse & prosperous hie feastes: therefore loue the truth & peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall go to another, saying, Vp let vs goe & pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will go also.

22 Yea, great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, We will goe with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 The chastening of the Gentiles. 2 The coming of Christ.

THE burthen of the word of the Lord in the land of Hadram, and Damascus shall be this: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel, shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border: & thereby:

3 When the Jewes shall convert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies. 4 That is, by Damascus: meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be under the same rod and yoke.

Tyrus, and Zidon, though they be a very wife. 3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong holde, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and gold as the myrre of the Itreets.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoyle her, and he will smite her power in the sea, and she shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very forsworn, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be alhamed, and the king shall perih from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not bee inhabited.

6 And the s stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his breeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and he shall be as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall be as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now I haue I scene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy: O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King cometh vnto thee: he is iust, and faued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the chariots from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bow of the battell shall be broken, & he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, & his dominion shall be from sea vnto sea, & from the Riuier to the end of the land.

11 Thou also shalt bee saved, through the blood of thy covenant. I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the strong holde, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render thee double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I y bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shall beate ouer them, and his arrowe shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blowe the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlewinds of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, & subdue them, with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as thorrowine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuey them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they man or creature shall be able to let this kingdom of Christ, and he shall peacably gouerne them by his word. p That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syriacum: and by these places which the Jewes knew, he meant an infinite space and compass over the whole world. q That is, from Ephraim, & meaning Ierusalem or the Church, which is fued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the covenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the love that he bare vnto them. f God sheweth that he will deliuey his Church out of all dangers, from their enemies great. g That is, into the holy land, where the cite and the temple are, where God will defend you. h Meaning the factious which come to be in danger of their enemies on every side, & yet loued in hope that God would relieve them to liberty. i That is, double benefices & prosperitie in respect of that which your fathers inioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie. j I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which heere meaneth by the Grecians. k He prometheth that the Jewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance, and extesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are now more than in comparison, but to be true, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberality.

l He sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they decreed all euen by their craft and subtiltie, which they cloaked with this name of wisdom. m Though they of Tyrus thought themselves invincible by reason of the sea, that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements. n Meaning, that all should be destroyed since a very few, that should remaine as strangers. h He prometheth to deliuey the Jewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies, for their cruelty & wrongs done to them. i As the Iebusites had bin destroyed, so should Ekron & all the Philistims. k He sheweth that Gods power only shall be sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersities: be they neuer so cruel, or terrible their power neuer so often. l That is, God hath now issued the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue bene afflicted by their enemies. m That is, hee hath righteousness, and salvation in himselfe for the vice and commoditie of his Church. n Which declares that they should not looke for such a King as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuey him, and this is meant of Christ, as Math. 23. 5.

a The vanity of Iudah. b The Lord promiseth to visit and comfort the house of Israel.

A Ske you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lord make white cloudes, and give you showers of raine, and to every one graffe in the field.

2 Surely b the idoles have spoken vanitie, and the fourthayers have sene a lie, and the dreamers have tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine:
therefore c they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visite the d goates: but the Lord of hostes wil visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as e his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out of him shall the corner come forth:
out of him the nail, out of him the bowe of bar-rell, and out of him every f appoiner of tribute also.

5 And they shall be as the mightie men, which trade downe their enemies in the myre of the freeties in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord g is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preface the house h of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pities them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and wil heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant:
and their heart shall reioyce as through wine yea, their children shall feele it, and be glad: i and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will j hiffe for them, and gather them: for I have redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they have increased.

9 And I will k bow them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countries: l and they shall liue with their children and m turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, n and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place o shall not be found for them.

11 And he p shall goe into the sea with afflic-tion, and shall smite the waves in the sea, and all the depthes of the river shall dry vp: and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

is committed to Christ. c A grievous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Houe, a the firs trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: houe ye,
O oaks of Basith, for ye defended forest is cut downe.

3 There, b the voyce of the howling of the shepheards: for their c glorie is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of Lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of d slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them e and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, f Blessed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but Ioe h I will deli-uer the men euery one into his neighbour hand, and into the hand of his i king: and they shall smite the land, & out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me k two flaues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 l Three shepheards also I cut off in one mo-neth, and my soule loathed m them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feede you: that dieth, let it die: and that that perissheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it: that I might disauil my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, gule n my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the pottor: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the pottor in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen Bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhood be-twene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord sayd vnto me, Take to thee yet o the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For lo, I will raise vp a shepheard in p land, which shall not look for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that q is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp: but he shall eate
the flesh of the fat, & reare their clawes in pieces.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the worde of the Lorde vpon ^a Israel, faith the Lorde, which fired the heavens, and laide the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

^a Behold, I will make Ierusalem ^a cuppe of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he be, in y^e siege against Ierusalem.

³ And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be tome, though all the people of the earth bee gathered together against it.

⁵ And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The ^c inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lorde of hostes their God.

⁸ In that day shall the Lorde defend the inha-^bbitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lorde before them.

¹⁰ And I wil powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of ^e grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue ^f peared, and they shall lament for ^g him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and bee sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne.

¹² And the ⁱ Land shall bewaile eury familie apart, the familie of the ^j house of Dauid apart, and their viues apart: the familie of the house of Nathan apart, and their viues apart:

¹³ The familie of the house of Leui apart, and their viues apart: the familie of ^k Shemei apart, and their viues apart:

¹⁴ All the families that ^l remaine, eury fa-^milie apart, and their viues apart.

¹⁵ All the families that ^m remaine, eury fa-^milie apart, and their viues apart.

¹⁶ Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine, Chap. 3. 2. 3. ⁿ That in, in all places where the ^o word shall remaine. ^p Signifying that this mourning or penitence should not be a vaine ceremony: but eury man mourned with his owne griefe that he

^q Vnder these carcase families he gouerneth all the tribes: and though that both the Kings and the Priests had by their finnes pierced Christ, a Cal-^rled sile Simon. ^s To wit, which were siled by grace, and preferred from the

¹ Night day there ^a shall be a fountain opened ^b to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vnclennesse.

² And in that day, faith the Lorde of hostes, I will cut off the ^c names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will cause the ^d prophets, and the vnclene spirit to depart out of the land.

⁴ And in that day shall the prophets ^g bee as-^hhamed eury one of his vision, when hee hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to decieue.

⁵ But hee shall say, I am no ⁱ Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to bee an heardman from my youth vp.

⁶ And one shall say vnto him, What are these ^j wounds in thine hands? Then hee shall answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

⁸ And in all the land, sayth the Lorde, ^m two partes therein shall bee cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein.

⁹ And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, & will fine them as the siluer is fined, and will tryt as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lorde ⁿ is my God.

¹⁰ Their doctrine seeme more holy. ^o They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing. ^p Merely hee sheweth that though their parents and friends dealt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would punish their children: that became false prophets, that the markes and signes should remaine for euer. ^q The Prophet saith the fewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, these should bee as horrible destruction among the people: for their gouernours and rulers should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Empe-^rrell applieth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pallours, Matt. 26. 21. ^r The greatest part shall haue no portion of their blessings, and yet they that shall enioy them shall be tryed with great afflictions, so that it shall be known that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preterse them.

CHAP. XIII.

¹ Of the doctrine that shall proceed out of the Church, and of the restoration thereof.

Behold, the day of the Lorde commeth, and ^a they spoyle shall be ^b diuided in the middes of thee.

² For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battel, and the cite shall be taken, and the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the cite shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not bee cut off from the cite.

³ Then shall the Lorde goe fourth, and fight against those nations, as when ^c he fought in the day of battel.

neer his Church, and how he will as it were by miracle doe it. ^e So that out of all the parts of the world they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountain: and this hee meaneth of the spiritual Ierusalem the Church.

^a That the word: when shall the faine of their ap-^bpearance, to wit, remission of sinnes, by the blood of Christ, which shall be a continual running fountaine, and purge them from all vnclennesse.

^c Hee prometh that God will al-^dso purge them from all superstition, and that their religion shall be pure.

^e Meaning, the false prophets and teachers, who are the corruptors of all religion, whom the Prophet here saith shall be cut off.

^f That is, when they shall prophesie lies, and make God, who is the author of truth, a cloke thereunto.

^g Hee sheweth what shall the godly shall haue vnder the king-^hdom of Christ, Deut. 19. 16.

ⁱ God shall make them ashamed of their errors and lies, and bring them to repentance, and they shall no more weare Prophets apparell to make

^j their doctrine seeme more holy. ^k Merely hee sheweth that though their parents and friends dealt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would punish their children: that became false prophets, that the markes and signes should remaine for euer.

^l The Prophet saith the fewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, these should bee as horrible destruction among the people: for their gouernours and rulers should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Empe-^mrell applieth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pallours, Matt. 26. 21.

ⁿ The greatest part shall haue no portion of their blessings, and yet they that shall enioy them shall be tryed with great afflictions, so that it shall be known that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preterse them.

^o He armeth the godly against the great tearations that should come, before they enioyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ: thus when their dangers should come, they might knowe y^e they were war-^pned of their slou-^qch.

^r At your fathers, and you haue had experience both at the red sea, and at all other times.

^t So that out of all the parts of the world they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountain: and this hee meaneth of the spiritual Ierusalem the Church.

^u He armeth the godly against the great tearations that should come, before they enioyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ: thus when their dangers should come, they might knowe y^e they were war-^vned of their slou-^wch.

^x At your fathers, and you haue had experience both at the red sea, and at all other times.

^y By this manner of speech the Prophet beweth Gods power and care ouer his Church.

^z So that out of all the parts of the world they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountain: and this hee meaneth of the spiritual Ierusalem the Church.

^{aa} He armeth the godly against the great tearations that should come, before they enioyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ: thus when their dangers should come, they might knowe y^e they were war-^{ab}ned of their slou-^{ac}ch.

e He speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods presence, but should see into all places, where they might hide themselves among the mountains.

f Read Amos 2. 1. 5 Rememb' they did an anathema. The Prophets words be search to God, and comforteth himself in that they knew that these things should come, and faith, Thom. O God, with our Angels will come to performe their great thing. h Signifying, that there should be great troubles in the Church, & that the time hereof is in y^e Lords hands, yet at length (which is here meant) by the evening God would send comfort.

i That is the spiritual graces of God, which should ever continue in most abundance. k All idolatry & superstition shall be abolished, and there shall be one God, one faith and one religion.

l This new Ierusalem shall be seen through all the world, and shall excell the first in excellencie, wealth and greatness.

of the mountain shall remove toward the North, and halfe of the mountain toward the South.

5 And ye shall flee vnto the valley of the mountains: for the valley of the mountains shall reach vnto Azaz: yea, yee shall flee like as yee fled from the earthquake in y^e dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord s my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day shall there bee no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there shall be a day (it is knowne to the Lord) neither day nor night, but about the evening time it shall be light.

8 And in that day shall there i waters of life go out from Ierusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the vttermoſt sea, and shall be both in sommer and winter.

9 And the Lord shall be King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there be one Lord, and his Name shall be one.

10 All the land shall be turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the towre of Hanaan, vnto the Kings winepresses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Ierusalem it shall be safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague, wherewith the Lord will smite all people, that have fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

13 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Ierusalem it shall be safely inhabited.

13 But in that day shall be a great tumult of y^e Lord shall be among them, and every one shall take a the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered round about, with golde and silver, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel and of the asse and of all the beasts that be in these tents as this plague.

16 But it shall come to passe that every one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall go vp from yeere to yeere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raine.

18 And if the familie of y^e Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there be written vpon the bristles of the horses. The holiness vnto the Lord, and the spurs in the Lords house shall bee like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, every pot in Ierusalem and Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hostes: and all that they sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and feede therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the House of the Lord of hostes.

n God will not only smite y^e wicked with his sword, but also will make them to be a curse to all that see them. o The manner is rich, and therefore shall not come for a praye, but to destroy, and that blood.

p As the men should be destroyed, of verse 22.

q By the Egyptians, which were great enemies to the religion: he meaneth all the Gentiles.

r Signifying, that to what seruice they were put now (whether to labour, or to warre) they were now holy, because the Lord had sanctified them. s As prescient that one who when he sawe they shall be justified.

t As all shall be pure, and cleane, and there shall not be any more that be hypocrites, nor any that shall corrupt the doctrine of God.

MALACHI.

THE ARGUMENT.

This Prophet was one of the three, which God raised up for the comfort of his Church after the captivity, and after him there was no more untill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was onely a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more seruent desire looke for the coming of Messiah. Hee confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly hee reprehendeth the Priests for their countenances, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his word. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wives, murmuring against God, impatience, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promise made vnto their fathers, that he would send Christ his messenger, in whom the covenant should be accomplished, whose coming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and joy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against the Priests, and chiefly the High Priest.

He burden of the worde of the Lord to Israel by the ministerie of Malachi.

1 I haue loued you, saith the Lord: yet ye say, Wherein haue thou loued vs? Was not Eliaz Iakobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loued Iakob.

2 And I hated Esau, and made his mountains waste, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, We are impow'ered, but we will returne and build the desolate places, yet saith the Lord of hostes, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednes, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry for euer.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and yee shall say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Israel.

6 A fonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hostes vnto you, O Priests, that despise my Name? and ye say, Wherein haue we despised thy Name?

which would not be their fault, but most impudently covered them, and so

a Read 1sa 1. 2. b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loan which was so euident, in that he chose Abraham from out of all the world, & next chose Iakob

the younger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the Elder. c For besides that the signes of mine hatred appeared euen when hee was made seruant vnto his younger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterward in that hee was put from his birthright, yet euen now before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that his country lieth waste, and hee hath neuer returned to inhabit it, whereas yet my people, whom the mercie hated more then them, are by my grace and love toward you diuined, reads Rom 9. 13.

d Besides the rest of the people he condemneth the Priests chiefly, because they should haue reprocured others for their hypocrisy, and obſtinacy against God, and not haue hardened them by their example in greater wickednes.

e His words thinke goodly hypocrites.

f Ye raise all maist offerings for your owne priedies, and I do not examine whether they be according to my Law or no.
g Nor that they said thus, but by their deings they declared no leffe.
h Ye make it no fault: whereby he considereth them, that thinke it in-fidelie to serve God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans tradition, & to come not to that pure-
tie of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch he the worsh them that a mortal sin would not be content to be so served.

i I view deride
the Priests who have the people in hand that they payed for them, and this was the occasion, that these males came upon the people.

k Will God consider your office and state, seeing you are so coun-sumed and wicked?
l Because the Le-uites, who kept the statutes, did not know whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe. God witheth that they would rather that the doores, then to receive such as were not puffed.

m God sheweth their ingratitude, and neglect of his true service shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: & here the Prophet that was under the law framed his wordes to the capacite of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice he meaneth the spiritual service of God, which should be vnder the Gospell, wherein an ende should be made to all these legall ceremonies by Christes onely service. n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they pulled not what they offered: for they thought that God was as we continue with the lease as with the fate, but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and countervailing. o The Priests and people were both wearie with serving God, and pulled not what matter of sacrifice and service they gave to God for now which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord. p That is, hath ability to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will serve him according to his covetous minde.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priests, being instructors of the people.

And now, O ye ^a Priests, this commandment is for you.

3 If yee will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to give glory ^b vnto my Name, saith the Lord of hostes, I will censure a curse vpon you, and will curse your ^c blessings: yea, I have curfed them already, because ye do not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt ^d your seede, and cast down vpon your faces, even the ^e dawning of your solemne feastes, and you shall be like vnto it.

4 And yee shall knowe, that I have ^f sent this commandment vnto you, that my covenant, which I made with Leui, might stand, saith the

q We speake vnto them chiefly,
but vnder them
we censure the people also.

r To serve me according to my word.

s That is, the abundance of Gods benefites.

t Your deeds whereby shall come to no profit.

u You shall of your holinesse, sacrifices and feasts,
but they shall turne to your shame, and be as vile as dogges.

v The Priests offered against the Prophet that he could not reprove them, but he must speake against the Priests who and the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth, that the office is no long flattered when these vaines and dogges are called by their owne names.

Lord of hostes.

5 My ^a covenant was with him of life and peace, and I ^b gaue him feare, and hee feared me, and was afraid before ^c my Name.

6 The law ^d of ^e truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lips: hee walked with me in peace and equitie, and did urne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests ^f lippest should prefere knowledge, and they should seeke the Law at his mouth: for hee is the ^g messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: ye have caused many to fall by the Lawe: ye have broken the covenant of Leui, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore have I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but have bene partiall in the Lawe.

10 Have we not all one ^a father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the covenant of ^b our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Irael and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lorde, which he loued, and hath married the ^c daughter of a strange God.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the malter and the sennet out of the Tabernacle of Iacob, and him that ^d offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this have yee done againe, and ^e coue-red the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet yee say, ^f Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witness betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgre-sed: yet is shee thy ^g companion, and the wife of thy ^h covenant.

15 And did not ^a he make one? yet had hee y abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because he sought a godly ^b feede: therefore keepe your selues in your ^c spirit, & let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, put her away, saith the Lord God of Irael, yet be courteous: ^d the iniurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Yee have ^e wearied the Lorde with your wordes: yet ye say, Wherein have we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that ^f doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and hee delighteth in them. Or where is the God of ^g iudgement?

because that God doth not regard their sacrifices, so that they forme so sacrifice in vaine. f This is another fault, whereof hee speaketh them, so is that they breake the lawes of marriage. i At the one halfe of this felle, a God that was ioynt to thee by a soleme covenant, and by the innocency of Gods name. x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many y By his power and vertue hee could haue made many women for one man.

z Such as should be borne in lawfull and moderate marriage, wherein is no excess of lust. a Couaine your selues within your bounde, and bee lo-ber in minde, and bridle your affections. b Not that hee doth allowe di-uorcement, but of the two fautes hee sheweth, which is the lesse. c Hee thinke it sufficient to keepe his wife still, altho hee take others, and so as it were courteous his fault. d Yee censure against God, because hee haue not you as Ioues as ye should. e In thinking that God knoweth the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serve him. f Thus they blaspheme God in condemning his power and lustice, because hee iudgeth not according to their fantasies.

g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the covenant made with the tribe of Leui:
Gods part, that he would giue them long life and felici-tie, and on their part that they should faithfully serve him according to his words.

h I preferred
Leui a ceremoniall lawe to serue me, for hee serued me for foure hundred year with his miltice and submission.

k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lord.

l He is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their ne-cessitie, and not to refuse it for his felle.

m Shewing that whosoever doth not declare Gods will, is not his messenger, and Priest.

n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes towards the Lorde and man:
for they were loving that were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people,

o Whether they had bound themselves to God to be an holy people.

p They haue ioped and themselves in ioyning with them that are of another religion.

q That is, the Priests.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord, Iohn Baptist, and of Christes office.

BEhold, I will send my ^a messenger, and he shall prepare the way before mee: and ^b the Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedily come to his Temple: euen the ^c messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: behold, he shall come, saith the Lord of hostes.

³ But who ^d may abide the day of his coming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

⁵ And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witness against the foolish swearers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirlings wages, and vex the widow, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hostes.

⁸ Will a ^h man spoile his gods? yet haue yee spoiled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoiled thee? In ⁱ tithes, and offerings.

⁹ Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoiled me, euen this whole nation.

¹⁰ Bring ye all the tithes into the store-house that there may be meat in mine house, and proue me now herewith, saith the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing ^k without measure.

¹² And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hostes.

¹³ Your words haue bene stout ^m against me, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?

¹⁴ Ye haue sayd, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

¹⁶ ^o Then spake they that feared the Lord, eury one to his neighbor, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

¹⁷ And they shall be to me, saith the Lord of hostes, in that day that I shall doe ^p this, for a stocke, and I will ^q spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

¹⁸ Then shall you returne, and discern betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

The day of the Lord, before the which Iacob should come.

FOR behold, the day cometh that shall burne as an ouen, and all the proud, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall be stubble, and the day that cometh, shall burne them vp, saith the Lord of hostes, and shall leaue them neither root nor branch.

² But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the ^b sunne of righteousness arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and ye shall ^c go forth, and grow vp as fat calves.

⁵ Beholde, I will send you ^e Elijah the Prophet before the coming of the great and ^f feared full day of the Lord.

⁶ And he shall ^g turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come ^h & smite the earth with cursing.

¶ The end of the Prophets.

The first of the new year is a day of great rejoicing and festivity. The people are all dressed in their best and are out in the streets, dancing and singing. The children are playing in the parks and the old people are sitting on the benches, watching the young people. The air is filled with the sound of music and the smell of flowers. It is a day of happiness and joy for all.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

THese books that follow in order after the Prophets unto the New Testament, are called Apocrypha, that is, books, which were not received by a common consent to be read and expounded publicly in the Church, neither yet served to prove any point of Christian religion, inasmuch as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonical to confirm the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as books proceeding from godly men, were received to be read for the advancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, & for the instruction of godly manners: which books declare that as all times God had an especial care of his Church, and left them not utterly destitute of teachers and means to confirm them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witness that these calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both so threatened by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

CHAP. I.

1. Iudas appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Passouer. 2. Of service for the Priests and the people. 3. The order of the Levites. 4. The upright life of Iudas. 5. His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 6. Iudas appointed King. 7. The destruction of Ierusalem.

8. King 22. 21. 22. 23. 24.

And Iudas kept the *Passouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passouer in the fourteenth day of the first month,

2 And appointed the Priests according to their daily courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And hee spake to the Levites the holy Ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lorde, to set the holy Arke of the Lorde in the House, which Salomon the sonne of King Dauid had built,

4 And saide, Ye shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid King of Israel, and according to the Maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Levites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passouer, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passouer after the Lords commandement given to Moyses.

7 And Iudas gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambs and kids with three thousand calves.

8 These were given of the Kings possessions according to the promise to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias, and || Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Passouer two thousand six hundred sheepe, and three hundred calves.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and || Sabias and || Chelchus, and || Ioram captaines, gaue to the Levites for the Passouer five thousand sheepe, and seven hundred calves.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Levites stood in order, having vnteaueued bread according to the tribes.

11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the books of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Passouer with fire as *appertained, and they fodde their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselves: and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the sacrifice vnto the Fueling, and the Levites did make ready for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and || Edin, which was of the kings appointment.

16 And the porters were at every gate, to the

it was not lawfull, that any should passe his ordinance watch: for their brethren the Eſcutes made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Leode, were accomplished, that they might offer the Pascheouer.

18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the comendement of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time kept the Pascheouer, and the feast of unleavened bread seven dayes.

20 And these was not such a Pascheouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the Kings of Israel did not offer such a Pascheouer, as did Iosias, and the Priests, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosias was this Pascheouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpright before his Lord with a heart full of godlinesse.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, so wit of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, about euery nation and kingdome, and grieved him with il sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

25 ¶ Nowe after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe, that when Pharaoh King of Egypt came to moue warre against Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O King of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and nowe the Lord is with me, and the Lord halfteneth me forward: depart from me, and bee not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megiddo, and the Princes came downe to King Iosias.

30 And the King saide to his seruants, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gat vp on his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kindred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the Kings of Iudea, and euery one of the acts that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the Law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things nowe rehearsed, are registred in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke Ioaſchaz, the sonne of Iosias, and made him King in steede of his father Iosias, when hee was three and twentie yere olde.

35 And hee reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem three moneths: for the King of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He taxed also the people of an hundred talents of silver, and one talent of gold.

37 And the King of Egypt made Ioaſchaz his brother King of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And he bound Ioaſchaz, and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zaracaz his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and foue yere olde was Ioaſchaz, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, who when hee had bound him with a chaine of brasie, lead him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, and set them in his Temple at Babylon.

42 But all his acts, and his prophonation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings.

43 And Ioaſchaz his sonne reigned for him: and when hee was made King, hee was eightene yere olde.

44 And he reigned three moneths and tenne dayes in Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And hee made Sedecias King of Iuden and Ierusalem, when hee was one and twentie yere olde, and he reigned eleuen yeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord: neither did hee feare the words spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that he was sworn to King Nabuchodonosor, he forswore himselfe by the Name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuer thelesse the God of their fathers sent his messengers to call them backe, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that he, being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednesse, commanded the Kings of the Caldians to iuuade them.

53 These killed their young men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare young man, nor mayden, neither olde man, nor childe among them.

54 But hee deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and caried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the House of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus came hane to the Jewes to returne, 10 He sent the holy vessels, 12 The names of them that returned, 16 There are verses did let their building, and the Kings letters for the same.

¶ 1. 1. 1. 1.

IN * the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus King of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lorde by the mouth of Jeremias,

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus King of the Persians, & he made proclamation through out all his kingdom, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most high Lord, hath made me King ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord be with him, and let him goe vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and builde the house of the Lord of Israel: hee is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and silver,

7 With gifts, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shall be brought according to the vovves into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the Families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the Priests and Leuites, and all whose minde the Lorde had mooued to go vp, and build an house to the Lord in Ierusalem,

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with silver and gold, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vovves of many whose mindes were stirred vp.

10 Also King Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had carried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the temple of his idoles.

11 Nowe when Cyrus King of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whom they were giuen to ¶ Abaslar the gouernour of Iudea.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand silver cups, basins of silver for the sacrifices nine and twentie, vioules of gold thirty, and of silver two thousand, foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of gold and silver, which they carryed away, were five thousand, foure hundred, three score and nine.

15 They were brought by Sarabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ But * in the time of Artaxerxes King of the Persians, ¶ Belemus, and Mithridates, and Tabelius, and Rathumus, and Beelcthrus, and ¶ Semellius the secretearie, & others which were ioyued to those, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them, that dwelt in Iudea & Ierusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD,

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretearie, and the rest of thy counsell, and the iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice, 18 Be it now therefore knowne to our Lord the King, that the Jewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and builde the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, and the walles be finished, they will not onely not indure to pay tribute, but will also resist Kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, go forward, we thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our Lorde the King, that if it bee thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookees of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt knowe that this citie did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both Kings and cities,

23 And that the Jewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lorde the King, we declare it, that if this citie bee built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, & to Beelcthrus, and to Semellius the secretearie, and to the rest of those that were ioyued with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which you sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this citie hath alwayes practised against Kings.

27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and howe that angharie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice.

28 Nowe therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, and that it be taken heed that no more be done,

29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the king, go not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretearie and the rest, which were ioyued with them, had read the things, which king Artaxerxes had written, they moued their tents with speed to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray.

31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius King of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The fall of Darius, 10 The death with Semellius

NOWE when Darius reigned, hee made a great feast to all his subiects and to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernours and capitaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto

Ethiopia of an hundred and threuen and twencie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were fatished, they departed, & King Darius went into his chamber, & slept, till he wakened againe.

4 In the meane time three yong men of the gard, keepers of the Kings body, said one to another,

5 Let every one of vs speake a sentence, & he that shall ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the King shall giue him great giftes, and great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare apparel, & to drinke in gold, & to sleepe in gold, & a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tyre of fine linnen, & a chaine about his necke,

7 And hee shall sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shalbe called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of King Darius.

9 And said, when the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the King and the three Princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victorie bee giuen as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The King is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but truth ouercometh all things.

13 And when the King rose, they tooke the writings, and gaue them to him, and he read them.

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls,

15 And sate him downe in the counsell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And said on this manner, O yee men, howe strong is wine! it deceiueh all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bonde man and of the free man, of the poore man, and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorowe, nor det.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither King nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by talents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no mind to loue either friends or brethren, and a litle after they draw out swordes.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O yee men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and he helde his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 15 Of the strength of women. 24 Of the strength of truth, which sentence is approved. 47 And his prission granted.

Then the seconde which had spoken of the strength of the King, began to say,

2 O yee men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the King is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they do all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if he send them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaines, and wallies, and towres.

5 They kill, and are killed, and doe not passe the commaundement of the King: if they ouercome, they bring all to the King, as well the spoiles as all other things.

6 And those also which goe not to warre & battell, but til the earth: for when they haue sowed it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the King, and compell one another to pay tribute to the King.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeh.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne businesse, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O yee men, howe should not the King bee strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed! So he helde his tongue.

13 Then the third which had spoken of women and of the truth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O yee men, neither the mightie King, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the King, and all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments, & make men honourable, neither can men be without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together golde and silver, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Doe they not leaue all those things and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gape, and gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then golde, or silver, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueh his owne father, which hath nourished him, and his owne cuntry, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he jeopardeth his life, & neither remembreth father nor mother nor cuntry.

22 Therefore by this ye may knowe that the women beare rule ouer you: do ye not labour and traucell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword & goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he feedeth a Lion, and goeth in darkenesse, and when he hath stolen, rauished, and spoyled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Nowe therefore doe you not beleue me? is not the King great in his power? do not al regions feare to touch him?

29 Yes I saw him and Apame, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bactarus, sitting on the right hand of the King.

30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if he laughed at him, hee laughed: and if she were angrie with him, hee did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.

32 Howe then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they do thus?

33 ¶ Then the King, and the Princes looked one vpon another, and hee beganne to speake of the truth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, & the heauen is he, and the sunne is swift in his course: for he turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the truth is greater and stronger then al.

36 All the earth calleth for truth, and the heauen blesteth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no truth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But truth doeth abide, & is strong for euer, and lieth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but shee doeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vnjust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgment, and she is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed bee the God of truth.

41 So he ceased to speake, and then al the people cried and said, Truth is great and strong.

42 Then the King sayde vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art founde the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by mee, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then hee saide to the King, remember the vow that thou hast vowed to builde Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome, 44 And to sende againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set a part when hee made a vow to cut off Babylon and vowed to send them hither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Caldeans.

46 And now, O lord the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 Then King Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards & lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, & they should bring on the way with him, and all that were with him, which went vp to builde Ierusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria and Phinice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the citie with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no Prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that al the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let go the villages of the Iewes which they held,

51 And that euery yere there should bee giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntill it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commaundment to offer seuentene) other ten talents euery yere.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to builde the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priestes that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges and the Priestes garments, wherein they should minister.

55 And hee wrote that they should giue the Leuitics their charges vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoever Cyrus had commaunded to doe, hee also commaunded to do it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, hee lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the King of heauen.

59 Saying, Of thee is the victorie, and of thee is wisdom, and of thee is glory, and I am thy servant.

60 Blessed bee thou which hast giuen mee wisdom: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So hee tooke the letters and went out and came to Babylon, and telled all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because hee had giuen them freedome and libertie.

63 To goe vp and to builde Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renowned, and they reioiced with instruments of musick and ioy, seven dayes.

CHAP. V.

1 The number of them that returned from the captivity. 43 Their houses and sacrifices. 52 The Temple is begunne to be build, 64 Their enemies would craftily reioice with them.

After these things, the chiefe of the houses of their fathers were chosen after their tribes, and their wiues, & their sonnes, & their daughters, and their seruantes, and their maydes, and their cattell.

2 And Darius sent with them a thousand horsemen, til they were restored to Ierusalem in safetie, and with musickall instruments, with tabrets and flutes.

3 And all their brethren played: thus hee caused them to goe vp together with them.

4 ¶ And these are the names of the men that went vp after their families, by their tribes, and after the order of their dignitie.

5 The Priests. The sonnes of Phinees, the sonne of Aaron, Iesus sonne of Ioseph, sonne of Saraias, & Ioachim sonne of Zorobabel, the sonne of Salathiel

32 The sonnes of ¶ Meeda, the sonnes of Coutha, the sonnes of ¶ Corea, the sonnes of ¶ Charcus, the sonnes of Aferar, the sonnes of ¶ Thomo, the sonnes of ¶ Nafith the sonnes of Atpba.

33 The sonnes of the seruants of Salomon. The sonnes of ¶ Asphion, the sonnes of ¶ Pharia, the sonnes of ¶ Iceti, the sonnes of Lozon, the sonnes of Ildael, the sonnes of ¶ Sapheth.

34 The sonnes of Agia, the sonnes of ¶ Phacheth, the sonnes of Sabie, the sonnes of ¶ Sarothie, the sonnes of Masias, the sonnes of Gar, the sonnes of ¶ Addus, the sonnes of ¶ Subas, the sonnes of Apherra, the sonnes of Barodis, the sonnes of Sabat, the sonnes of Allom.

35 All the ministers of the Temple, and the sonnes of the seruants of Salomon, were three hundred, seuentie and two.

36 These came vp from ¶ Themeleth and Thelarias: Carath: It and Aalar leading them.

37 Neither could they shewe their families, nor their stocke howe they were of Israel, the sonnes of ¶ Ladan the sonne of ¶ Ban, the sonnes of ¶ Necodan, fixe hundred fiftie and two.

38 And of the Priests those which exercised the office of Priests, and were not found, the sonnes of ¶ Obdia, the sonnes of ¶ Accos, the sonnes of Addus, which had taken for wife Augia, one of the daughters of Berzelaius.

39 And was called after his name: and when the description of the kindred of these men had bene fought in the register, and could not be found, they were set apart from the office of Priests.

40 For ¶ Necemias and Atharias said to them, that they should not be partakers of the holy things, till there arose an high Priest clothed with doctrine and truth.

41 So all they of Israel from them of twelue were olde and litle children, were ¶ fourtie thousand besides men seruants and women seruants, two thousand, three hundred and fixtie.

42 Their seruants and handraides were seuen thousand, three hundred, fourtie and seuen: the singing men and women, two hundred, fourtie and fife.

43 Camels, foure hundred thirtie and fife: and horses, seuen hundred, thirtie and fixe: mules, two hundred, fourtie and five: || Beastes that bare the yoke, five thousand, five hundred, twentie and five.

44 And there were of the gouernours after their families, which when they were come to the Temple in Ierusalem, vowed to build the house in his owne place according to their power.

10. 150. 12.
10. 150. 12.
10. 150. 12.

45 And to giue to the treasure of the works, || a thousand pound in gold, and five thousand pound in siluer, and an hundred Priestly garments.

46 And the Priestes and the Leuites and the people dwelt in Ierusalem, and in the country, and the holy villages and the porters and all Israel in their villages.

10. 150. 12.
10. 150. 12.

47 ¶ But when the seventh month was nere, and when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Iesus the sonne of Ioseph and his brethren the Priestes, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made readie the altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moyses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they dressed the altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies & vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lorde, morning and evening.

10. 150. 12.

51 They kept also the feast of Tabernacles, as it is ordered in the Lawe, and offered sacrifices euery day, as was requirde.

52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbath, and of the new moeths and of all holy feastes.

10. 150. 12.

53 ¶ And all they which had made any vowe to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seventh month, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workemen, and meate and drinke with gladnesse.

55 And thare to the Sidonians and to those of Tyne to bring cedar wood out of Libanus, which should be brought by shotes to the haven of Ioppe according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus King of Persia.

56 And in the second yere and second month came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Ioseph, and their brethren, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Ierusalem.

10. 150. 12.

57 And laid the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second month of the second yere after their returne into Iudea and Ierusalem.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yere old ouer the works of the Lord, and Iesus and his sonne, and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Iuda, the sonne of Heliadon, with their sonnes, and brethren, euery all the Leuites with one accord did followe after the worke, calling vpon the workers in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priestes hooded clothed with their long garments with musickall instruments & trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Alaph with cymbals, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord according to the ordinance of David King of Israel.

61 And they sing with loude voyce songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and glorie is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with a loud voyce, praying the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priestes and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had scene the former house.

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets, and ioy cryed with loud voyce.

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Benjamin heard that they came to know what noyse of trumpets it was,

67 And they knewe that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they cominge to Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families, said vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obey your Lord, as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of Abiathreth King of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel said to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an house to the Lord our God.

71 For we alone will build it to the Lord God of Israel, as it becommeth vs, and as Cyrus the King of the Persians haue vs.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Iudea, and letted them to build the worke, and by their enuylments and seditions and confusions hindered the building of the building.

73 All the time of king Cyrys life: so that they were let from the building two yere, vntill the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. vi.

1. Of Aggeus and Zacharias: 2. The building of the Temple. 3. The building of the Temple. 4. The building of the Temple.

¶ In the second yere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophets prophecied to the Iewes, euery vnto them that were in Iudea and Ierusalem, in the name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called vpon.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Ioseph stood vp, and beganne to build the house of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sisinnes the gouernor of Syria, and Phenice, & Sathrabouanes with his companions came vnto them.

4 And said vnto them, By whose commandement build you this house and this building, and enterprise all these other things? and who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the Ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord, after that he had visited the captiuitie.

6 That they were not letted to build, vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was receiued.

7 ¶ The copie of the Epistle, which hee did write and send to Darius: S I S I N N E S gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute King Darius.

8 It may please the King our master plainly to vnderstand, that when we came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the citie of Ierusalem, wee found in the citie of Ierusalem the Ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie.

9 Building an house to the Lord, great and newe, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber alreadie laid vpon the walles.

10 And these works are done with great speed, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their handes, so that it will bee haulted with all glorie and diligence.

11 Then we asked their Ancients, saying, By whose commandement build you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notifie them so thee, and to write so thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, We are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

14 And this house was built vp many yeeres agoe by a King of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers promoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen, he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans.

16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caryed the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, King Cyrus wrote that this house should be build vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold and of silver, which Nabuchodonosor had caryed out of the house at Ierusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the King tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were given to Zorobabel, and to Sanabassar ruler.

19 And a commandement was given vnto him, that he should carrie away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Ierusalem, and that this Temple of the Lords should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassar, being come hither, laid the foundations of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Now therefore if it please the King, let it be sought vp in the Kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it bee found that the building of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem hath bene done by the consent of King Cyrus, and if it seeme good to our lord the King, let him make vs answer concerning these things.

23 Then King Darius commanded to search in the Kings libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were laid vp for memorie.

24 In the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded the house of the Lord at Ierusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continual fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites with three rowes of hewen stones, and one rowe of newe wood of that countrey, and that the costes should be payde out of the house of King Cyrus.

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, aswell those of gold as of silver, which Nabuchodonosor had caryed out of the house in Ierusalem, and brought into Babylon, should be restored to the house, which is in Ierusalem, and set in the place where they were asore.

27 Also hee commanded that Sisinnus, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and those which were constitute captaines in Syria and Phenice, should take heed to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to build it cleane vp againe, & that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished.

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice, should be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambs.

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oyle continually euery yeere without faile, as the Priests, which are in Ierusalem, shall testifie to bee spent euery day.

31 That offerings may bee made to the high God for the King, and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded that whosoever should transgresse any thing asore spoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and he be hanged thereon, and that his goods should bee the Kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose Name is there called vpon, destroy euery King and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or doe quill to that House of the Lords, which is in Ierusalem.

34 ¶ I Darius the King haue ordeined that it should bee diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

Sisinnus and his companions followeth the Kings commandment, and helpe the Iewes to build the Temple, & the time that it was built. 10 They keepe the Passouer.

¶ Then Sisinnus the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, obeying King Darius commandements,

1 Assisted diligently the holy workes working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuarie.

2 And the holy workes prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophesied.

3 So they finished all things by the commandment dement of the Lorde God of Israel, and with the content of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes Kings of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy House was finished in the three and twentieth day of the month Adar in the sixt yeere of Darius King of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priestes and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyfes.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lorde, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambes,

8 And twelue goates for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priestes, and the Leuites stood according to their kinreds clothed with long robes in the works of the Lorde God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyfes, & also the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered the Pascheouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first month, after that the Priestes and Leuites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie, were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Pascheouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priestes, and for themselves.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did care, euen all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vnleavened bread seven daies, reioycing before the Lord, 15 Because hee had named the counsell of the King of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their hands in the works of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Eldras cometh from Babylon to Ierusalem. 2 The copie of the commission, giuen by Artaxerxes. 3 Eldras giueth thanks to the Lorde. 4 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 5 His prayer and confession.

And after these things, when Artaxerxes King of the Persians reigned, Eldras the sonne of Issarais, the sonne of Ezerias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salum,

¶ The sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitab, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Ezias, the sonne of Micmeroth, the sonne of Zazarias, the sonne of Sanius, the sonne of Boccas, the sonne of Abilum, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleasar, the sonne of Aaron was the high Priest.

3 This Eldras went out of Babylon, and was a Scribe well taught in the lawe of Moyfes, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the King gaue him great honour, and he found grace in his sight in all his requestes.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priestes and Leuites, and of the holy fingers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem.

6 In the seventh yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the fifth moneth: this was the seventh yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speede in their iourney)

8 For Eldras had gotten great knowledge, so that he would let nothing passe that was in the lawe of the Lorde, and in the commandements, and hee taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the commission written by King Artaxerxes was giuen Eldras the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Eldras the Priest, and reader of the Lawe of the Lord, Salutation.

11 Forasmuch as I consider things with picie, I haue commaunded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priestes and Leuites which are in our kingdome, should goe with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my seuen friends the counsellers.

13 That they may visite the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is contein'd in the Lawe of the Lord.

14 And cary the gifts to the Lorde of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friendes haue vowed: also all the gold and siluer, which shall bee found in the country of Babylon apperteyning to the Lord in Ierusalem.

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lorde their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, as well siluer as golde, for bulles, and rammes, and lambes, and things thereunto pertaining.

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lorde vpon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren will doe with the golde or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lorde, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things soeuer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the Kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerxes haue commaunded the treasurers of Syria and Phoenicia, that whatsoever Eldras the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the highest God, shall sende thee, thou should giue it him with all speede, euen to the summe of an hundred talents of siluer, 21 And likewise vnto an hundred cores of corne, and an hundred pieces of wine and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things bee done, to the highest God according to the Lawe of God, with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the King and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commaunded, that of none of the Priestes or Leuites, or holy fingers, or porters or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor taxe be taken, nor that any haue power to taxe them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Eldras, according to the wisdom of God, ordeine Iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Lawe of God and the King, be diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the scribe said, Blessed be the only Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honoured me before the King and the counsellors, and all his friends and gourdours.

28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe vp with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with mee out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the King.

30 Of the sonnes of Phinees, Gersom, of the sonnes of Ithamar, Gamael, of the sonnes of Dauid, ¶ Leui.

31. Of the sonnes of Sechenias, of the sonnes of Phares, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundredth and fiftie men.

32. Of the sonnes of ¶ Salomon, Abeliacnis the sonne of Zacharias, and with him two hundredth men.

33. Of the sonnes of Zathoe, Sechenias the sonne of ¶ Iezobias, and with him three hundredth men: of the sonnes of Adin, ¶ Obeth sonne of Ionathas, and with him two hundredth and fiftie men.

34. Of the sonnes of Elam, ¶ Iefias sonne of Getholias, and with him seutient men.

35. Of the sonnes of Saphatias, Zarias sonne of ¶ Machael, and with him seutient men.

36. Of the sonnes of Ioab, ¶ Badias sonne of Iezelus, and with him two hundredth and twelue men.

37. Of the sonnes of ¶ Barid, Aslamoth sonne of Iosaphias, and with him an hundredth, and thre score men.

38. Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Beba, and with him twentie and eight men.

39. Of the sonnes of ¶ Aflath, Iohannes sonne of Acatan, and with him an hundredth and ten.

40. Of the sonnes of Adoniam the last: and these are the names of them, Elphalet, ¶ Ieouel and ¶ Maia, and with him seutient men: of the sonnes of ¶ Bagouthi sonne of Iliconius, and with him seutient men.

41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called ¶ Therax, and pitched our tentes there three dayes, and thus began.

42 But when we had sounded there none of the Priests nor Leuites.

43 I sent to Eleazar, and beholde, there came ¶ Maasfen, and Alnachan, and Samaias, and ¶ Iorion, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zachariam, and Mosolam the chiefe, and best learned.

44 And I bade them to go to Daddens the captaine, which was in the place of the treasure, 45 With charge to bid Daddens and his brethren and the treasures that were there, to sende to vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hande of our Lorde, learned men of the sonnes of Moth, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ¶ Cileobran and his sonnes and his brethren beinge seutene.

47 And Aftibin, and ¶ Annon, and Ofaian his brethren of the sonnes of Cananius with their sonnes, twentie persons.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundredth and twentie, of whome all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And there I proclaimed a faste for the young men before the Lorde to alike of him a good journey both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the King foote-men, or horse-men, or conduct for safegarde against our enemies.

51 Because we had faile to the King, that the power of our Lorde should be with them that fought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lorde againe, according to these things, who we found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priestes, twelue men, to wit, ¶ Efebrius and Aslanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the siluer and the gold, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lorde, which the King and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them, fixe hundred and fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundredth talents, and an hundredth talents of golde, 56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of brasie, of fine brasie (thing like golde).

57 And I saide to them, You are also holy to the Lorde, and the vessels are holy, and the golde, and the siluer is a vow to the Lorde of our Fathers.

58 Watch & keepe them, till that you giue them to the heades of the families of the Priestes and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priestes and Leuites tooke the siluer and the golde, and the vessels, and caried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lorde.

60 And wee departed from the good Thera, in the twelfth day of the first month, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lorde with vs: and the Lorde deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the gold was deliuered in the House of our Lorde to ¶ Maxmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri.

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iosabab the sonne of Iesue, and ¶ Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lorde God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes foure-score and sixtene.

65 Lambes thre-score and twelue, twelue goates for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lorde.

66 And they presented the commandements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria & Phinice who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernour came to me, saying, The people Israel, the Princes and the Priestes, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites & Chetites, and Pheresites, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seede is mixed minged with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soon as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and off my bread, and fate me downe sorrowfull and very sad.

71 Then also they that were moued with the word of the Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I fate very sad till the evening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our finnes are increased about our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers wee are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our finnes therefore, and our fathers, we with our brethen, with our Kings and Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, & for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercie bene, O Lord, that there should be left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldst reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meat in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meat, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, & giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shall we say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandments, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

82 * Because the land, which ye go to inherit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthines,

83 Therefore now yee shall not ioine their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may be made strong, and eat the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked works, and for our great finnes: yet, Lord, thou hast forborne our finnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but wee againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe vs with the vncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldst neither leaue vs root nor feed nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Beholde, we are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we indure before thee for these things.

90 ¶ And * as Efdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem, of men and women, and yong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Iechonias the sonne of ¶ Iecl of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, said, O Efdras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: wee haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wiuces, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, & to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it apperteyne, and wee are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Efdras arose, and made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests & Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would do this: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

¶ After Efdras had read the Law for the strange wiuces, so they promised to put them away.

¶ Then * Efdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Iouanan the sonne of Eliafih,

2 And being lodged there, he did eat no bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem,

4 And that all they which should not meet there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which haue rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and be cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda and Benjamin, came together within three dayes into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude fate in the broad place of the Temple shanking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Efdras arose and said to them, Ye haue sinned: for yee haue married strange wiuces, so that ye haue augmented the finnes of Israel.

8 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selves from the people of the land, and from the strange wiuces.

10 Then all the multitude cried out and said with a loud voice, We will do as thou hast said,

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we cannot stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wiuces of our families, tary:

13 And let the Priests and Iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

14 Then Ionathas Alsels sonne, and ¶ Ercius sonne of ¶ Ithean were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam and Sabbatens did helpe them.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Eſdras the Prieſt alſo choſe him certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name : and they ſate together in the firſt day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an end of the things pertaining to them that had married ſtrange wiues in the firſt day of the firſt moneth.

18 And there were found of the Prieſts, which had married ſtrange wiues,

19 Of the ſonnes of Ieſus, the ſonne of Ioſedec, and of his brethren, || Mathelas, and Eleazar, and Ioribus, and || Ionadan, 20 Who alſo gaue their hands to caſt out their wiues, and offered a ramme for their reconciliation in their purgation.

21 And of the ſonnes of Emmer, || Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Canes, and Sameius, and Hieruel, and Azarias.

22 And of the ſonnes of || Phaſiu, Ellionas, Maſias, Elmacus, and Nathanael, and || Ocidelus, and Talſas.

23 And of the Leuites, || Iorabadus, and Semis, and Colius, who was called || Calitas, and Padueus, and Oudas, and Ionas.

24 Of the holy fingers, || Eliazurus, Bacchurus.

25 Of the Porters, || Sallumus, and Tolbanes.

26 Of them of Iſrael, of the ſonnes of Phorus, || Hiernas, and Eddias, and Melchias, and Maclis, and Eleazar, and Aſbias, and || Banaias.

27 Of the ſonnes of || Ela, Mathanias, Zacharias, and || Hierielas, and || Hieremoth, and Aedias.

28 And of the ſonnes of || Zamoth, Eliadas, Eliſimus, Othonias, Iarimoth, and || Sabatus, and Sarcus.

29 Of the ſonnes of || Behai, Ioannes, and Ananias, and || Ioſabad, and Ematheas.

30 Of the ſonnes of || Mani, Olamus, Mamuchus, Iedaſias, Iaſubus, Iaſael, and Ieremoth.

31 And of the ſonnes of || Addi, Naathus, Moofias, Lacumpus, and Naidus, and Mathanias, and || Seſchel, and Balnius, and Manafieas.

32 And of the ſonnes of Annas, Elionas, and Aſeas, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon a Chomaſite.

33 And of the ſonnes of || Aſom, Altaneus, and || Matthias, and Bannaſas, Eliphalaſ, and Manafas, and Semei.

34 And of the ſonnes of || Maani, Ieremias, Mondis, Omaius, Inel, Mamai, and Paclias, and Amos, Carabaſion and Euſiſubus, and Mamminatanaius, Eliſiaſis, Vamus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanas, and of the ſonnes of Ozoras, Seſis, Eſfil, Azaius, Samatas, Sambis, Ioſiphus.

35 And of the ſonnes of Ethna, Nazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Inel, Ranaſas.

36 All theſe married ſtrange wiues, & put them away with their children.

37 And the Prieſts and the Leuites dwelt in Ieruſalem, and in the country, the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth, and the children of Iſrael in their owne houſes.

38 ¶ * Then all the multitude aſſembled together with one conſent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the Eaſt, 39 And ſpake to Eſdras the Prieſt, and reader, that he ſhould bring the Law of Moſyes, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

40 Then brought Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt, the Law to all the multitude, both man and woman, and to all the Prieſts, that they might heare the Law the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth.

41 And hee read in the firſt broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to mid-day, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the law.

42 So Eſdras the Prieſt and reader of the Law, ſtood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there ſtood by him || Mattheias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Ouiras, Eſecias, Balafanus at his right hand,

45 Then Eſdras tooke the booke of the Law before the multitude (for hee ſate honourably before them all)

46 And they all ſtood vpright when he expounded the Law, and Eſdras bleſſed the Lord the moſt high God, the moſt mightie God of hoſts.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

48 Then Ieſus and || Anus, and Sarabias, and Adirus, and Iacobus, Sabataſias, Autarias, Maianias, and Calitas, Azarias, and Ioan abduſus, and Ananias, and Biatas the Leuites liſt vp their hands, & fell downe on the ground, & worſhipped the Lord, 49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and ſtood alſo earneſtly vpon the reading.

50 Then ſaid || Achatharates to Eſdras the chiefe Prieſt and Reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

51 Goe therefore and eate the ſat meates, and drinke the ſweet drinks, and ſend praſents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and benot ſorie : for the Lord God will gloriſie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all theſe things to the people, ſaying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not ſad.

54 Then they departed all to eate, and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue preſents to them that had not, and to make good theare.

55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherewith they were inſtructed, when they were aſſembled together.

4 * And ¶ word of ¶ Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

5 Goe

5 Goe, and shewe my people their finnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed againt mee, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the finnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offred vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, & despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all cuill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are rebellious people.

9 How long shall I forbear them, vnto whom I haue done so much good?

10 * Many Kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharao with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: * I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countreys Tyrys and Sydon, & haue slaine all their enemies.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord,

13 * I haue led you thorow the Sea, and haue giuen you a sure way, since the beginning: * I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

14 * I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, & great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, The qualles * were a token vnto you: I gaue you tentes for safeguard, wherein ye murmured:

16 And ye triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmur still.

17 Where are the benefites that I haue done for you? when ye were hungrie in the wilderness, * did ye not crie vnto me?

18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wilderness, to kill vs? It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to dye in the wilderness.

19 I had pitie vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eat: * so ye did eat Angels food.

20 * When ye were thirstie, did not I cleaue the stone, and waters did flowe out to satisfie you? from the hear I couered you with the leaues of the trees,

21 And I gaue you fat countreys: I cast out the Canaanites, the Pherezites, & Philistims before you:

22 * what shall I doe more for you, saith the Lord? 23 Thus saith the Almighty Lorde, * When ye were in the wilderness at the bitter waters, being a thirst, and blaspheming my Name, 24 I gaue you not hire for the blasphemies, but cast a tree into the water, and made the water sweet.

25 What shall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob? thou * Iuda wouldst not obey: I will turne me to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my Lawes.

26 Seeing ye haue forsaken mee, I will also forsake you: when ye aske mercie of mee, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

27 * When ye call vpon me, I will not heare you: for ye haue defiled your hands with blood, and your feete are swift to commit murder.

28 Although ye haue not forsaken me, but your owne selues, saith the Lord.

29 Thus saith the Almighty Lorde, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her young babes, 29 That yee would be my people, as I am your God, and that yee would bee my children, as I am your Father?

30 * I gathered you together as a henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now we shall I do vnto you? I will cast you out fro my sight.

31 * When you bring gifts vnto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feast dayes, your newe moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Propheters, whom ye haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will reuenge, saith the Lord.

33 Thus saith the Almighty Lorde, Your house shall be desolate: I will cast you out as the wind doth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commandments, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleue me though they heare mee not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall do the things that I command them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, beholde what great glory, and see the people that come from the East.

39 Vnto whom I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Joel, Abdias, Ionas.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorow and heavinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.

9 Whose land is mixed with cloudes of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I do vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto Eſdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ierusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get me glorie by them, and giue them the euermolting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life, smelling of oymment: they shall neither labour nor be wearie.

13 Go ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue known my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esay and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers frutes, 19 And as many fountaines flowing with milke and honie, and seven mightie mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blinde come into the light of my cleerenesse.

22 Keepe the olde and the yong that are within thy walles.

* 76. l. 17, 18, 19.

23 * Whereforesoeuer thou findest the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nourse: stablish their feete.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perishe: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Bee not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse cometh, other shall weepe and be sorrowfull, but thou shalt bee merry and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shall doe nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shewe mercie vnto them: For I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, until I come and shew mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne out, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Eſdras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I shoulde goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast mee off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O ye shepherds, that heare and vnderstand, Waite for your shepheard, who shall giue you euermolting rest: for hee is neere at hand, that shall come in the ende of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdome: for the euermolting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadowe of this worlde: receiue the ioy of your glory: I testifie my Sauour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thanks vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise, and stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord.

39 Which are departed from the shadowe of the worlde, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: befech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 * I Eſdras saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all prayed the Lord with songs.

43 And in the middes of them there was a yong man higher in stature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heads he set crownes, & was higher then the others, which I much marvelled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and sayd, Who are these, my Lord?

45 Who answered, and sayd vnto me, These be they, that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then sayd I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered and sayd vnto me, It is the Some of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had stood so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel sayd vnto me, Go thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene:

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderful works, which God did for the people, are recited.
5 Eſdras maruaileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule over his people, which yet are famous as of old.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vnto my heart,

6 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

7 So my spirit was fore moued, so that I began to speake fearfull words to the most High, and sayd,

8 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gaucst commandement vnto the people,

9 * And a bodie vnto Adam, without soule, who

who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast created in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee.

6 And leadest him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted out of euer the earth [brought forth].

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way : but he transgressed it, and immediately thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people and kindreds out of number.

8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commandments.

9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them.

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them which came by death vnto Adam,

11 Yet thou ledest one, euē * Noe, which his houtholde, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiply, and the number of the children, people, and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, *thou diddest chuse thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham,

14 Whom thou loudest, and vnto whom onely thou shewdest thy will,

15 And maddest an euertlasting couenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seed.

16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Jacob and Esau, * and diddest chuse Jacob, and cast off Esau, and so Jacob became a great multitude.

17 And when thou leddest his seed out of Egypt, * thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina,

18 And encinctst the heauens and bowedst downe the earth, and diddest moue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and diddest astonish the world.

19 And thy glorie went thorow foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Jacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently observe.

20 Yet tokest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that the Law might bring forth fruit in them.

21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was overcome and vanquished ; and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weaknesse ioyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote : so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeres were brought to an end, * till thou diddest raise thee vp a servant called David,

24 * Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee,

26 Following the wayes of Adam & all his generation : for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies :

28 But dost they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and saw their wicked deeds without number (for this is the thirtieth yere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, howe thou sufferest them that sinne, and sparest the wicked doers, where as thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and persecuted thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I can not perceiue how this cometh to passe. Are the deeds of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath beleued thy testimonies, as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, & their labour hath no fruit : for I haue gone heere and there thorowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandments.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednesse now in the ballance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found bit in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight : or what people hath kept thy commandments?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. III.

1 The Angel is appointed, Israhel as heaue has promised, to see into the prebowed indignities of Gode.

And the Angel that was sent vnto mee, whose name was Yiel, answered 2 And sayd, Thine heart hath asked too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the Highest.

3 Then sayd I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and sayd, I am sent to shew thee three wayes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee.

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way ; that thou desirest to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I sayd, Tell on, my Lord. Then sayd hee vnto me, Go thy way : weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winde, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and sayd, What man is borne, that can do that, which thou requirest mee, concerning these things?

7 And he sayd vnto mee, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the middes of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto mee, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee bit of fire and winde, & of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answer of them.

10 Hee sayd moreover vnto mee, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know?

11 Howe should thy vessel then be a le to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, and moue ourwardly in the corner world, to vnderstand the corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that we should liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And he answered me, and sayd, * I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees held a counsell,

14 And sayd, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that wee may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell, and sayd, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrey for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sand flood vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betwene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered, & said, Verely it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, & the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he mee, and sayd, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, & the sea for his floods, so * they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are about the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and sayd, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thing he things, but of such as wee dayly meddle withall, namely, wherefore Istaël is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, & why the Law of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why wee are tossed to and fro thorow the world, as the grasshoppers; and our life is a verie feare, and we are not thought worthie to obtayne mercie.

25 But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he me, and sayd, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt maruell: for the world hasteth fast to passe away.

27 And cannot comprehend the things, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vniuersal couensence and weaknesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowne, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is sowne, be not turned upside downe, and if the place where the euill is sowne, passe not away, then cannot the thing come that is sowne with good.

30 For the come of euill seed hath bene sowne in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath hee brought vp vnto this time? and how much shall he bring forth vntil the harvest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruit of wickednesse the come of euill seed bringeth forth.

32 And when the flakkes shall be cut downe, which are without number, how great an harvest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and sayd, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Hast not to be about the most High: for thou labourst in vaine to be about him, though thou in deuour neuer so much.

35 Did not the foules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when commeth the fruit of my barme and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and sayd, When the number of the seeds is filled in you: for he hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be moued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake peraduenture the harvest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me, and sayd, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when shee hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keep the birth any longer within her.

41 Then sayd I, No, Lord, she can not. And he sayd vnto me, In the graue the places of foules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessities of the travell, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall be shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and sayd, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meet therefore,

45 Shew mee whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stoode and beholde, a hote burning oven passed before mee: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beholde, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before mee a watric cloud, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the droppes came after.

50 Then sayd hee vnto mee, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the droppes, and as fire exceedeth the smoake, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the droppes, and the smoake were much.

51 Then I prayed, and said, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 Hee answered me, and sayd, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I do not know it.

3 And * iniquitie shall be increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past.

4 And it shall come to passe, that one shall set in foot, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

5 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, and the moone three times a day.

6 Blood shall drop out of y wood, & the sloop shall giue his voice, & the people shall be moued.

7 And he shall rule, of whome they hope not, that dwell vpon earth, and the fowles shall change place.

8 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall heare the voyce thereof.

9 There shall be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and monstrous women shall beare monsters.

10 And salt waters shall be found in the sweete, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chamber.

11 It shall be fought of many, and yet not bee found: then shall vniuersitinesse and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

12 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone through thee? And it shall say, No.

13 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

14 To shewe thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weepe as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

15 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearfulness went thorow all my body, and my n inde was feeble and fainted.

16 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held mee, comforted mee, and set me vp vpon my seate.

17 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

18 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie.

19 Vp then and care, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueh his flocke in the hands of the cruell wolves.

20 Then said I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not neare me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

21 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning & weeping, as Vriel the Angel had commanded me.

22 And after seuen dayes the thoughtes of mine heart were very grievous vnto me againe.

23 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe.

24 And said, O Lord, Lord: of euery forest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

25 And of all lands of the world thou hast chosen thee one vine, and of all the flowers of the ground, thou hast chosen thee one lillie.

26 And of all the depthes of the sea thou hast filled thee one iurer, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

27 And of all the soules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, & of all the cattel that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

28 And among all the multitude of people thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people, whom thou louedst, thou gauest a Lawe that is proued of all.

29 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this, one people ouer vnto many, and vpon one roote thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

30 They treade them downe, which haue without thy promises, & beleaue not thy testimonties.

31 And if thou diddest so much hate thy people, they shoulde haue bene punished with thine owne handes.

32 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angel that came to mee the night afore, was sent vnto me.

33 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

34 And I said, Speake on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better, then hee doth that made them?

35 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorrow haue I spoken for my reines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of this iudgement.

36 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I sayd, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Jacob, and the griefe of the flocke of Israel.

37 And he layd vnto me, Number vnto me the things that are not yet come, or rather mee the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

38 Open me the places that are closed, & bring mee forth the windes, that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing that thou askest and labourst to know.

39 And I sayd, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but he that hath not hindwelling with men?

40 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things, whereof thou askest me?

41 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefit, that I haue promised vnto my people.

42 Then I said, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue bene before mee, or what shall be now, or they that shall come after vs?

43 And hee sayd vnto me, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so there is no slacknesse of the first.

44 Then I answered, and sayd, Couldst thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are now, & those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

45 Then

44 Then answered hee, The creature, said he, cannot prevent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy servant, that thou which givest strength to all, hast given life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also containe all men at once.

46 And he said vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth tennue at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said hee vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seede is sown vpon it.

49 For as a yong childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I talked againe, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceed to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast told me is yong, draweth thee neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that travaileth, and shee will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whom thou hast now brought forth) like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And shee shall answer thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe faileth.

54 Consider now why thisse, howe that ye are lesse of stature, then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then ye, as the stature which now begetteth to be olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy servant by whome doest thou gouerne thy workmanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foretold all things in his secret counsell, and is without shadow, and hath created them for his children. 15 The first day of the age is come.

And he said vnto mee, In the beginning when the round world was made, and before the borders of the world were set, and before the winds blew one against another.

1 Before the boyes of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were layde.

2 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moouable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered.

3 Before the Heights of the aire were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimpes in Sion were hore.

4 Before the present yeres were fought out, and before the afflictions of them that now linne, were timed away, and they that haue layde vp the treasure of faith, were sealed.

5 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by mee alone, and by none other: by me also they shall be ended, and by none other.

6 Then answered I, and said, What shall be the duration of times? or when shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

7 And he sayde vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Iacob and Esau were borne of him, * Iacobs hand held fast the heele of Esau.

8 For Esau is the end of this world, and Iacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

9 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other things, Ecdas, aske thou not.

10 ¶ I answered then, and said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 11 I beseeche thee, make an ende to shewe thy servant thy tokens, whereof thou shewdest mee part the last night.

12 So he answered mee and said, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mightie sounding voyce.

13 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be mooued.

14 And therefore when hee speaketh, be not afraid: for of the ende shall be the word, and of the foundation of the earth shall it be understood.

15 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is mooued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the ende.

16 And when I had heard it, I stoode vp vpon my feete, and hearkened, and beholde, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters.

17 And it sayd, Beholde, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth,

18 And when I beginne to inquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others, & when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled,

19 And the world, that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the books shall be opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

20 And the children of a yere olde shall speake with their voices: the women with child shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall lue that are raised vp.

21 Then suddenly shall the fowen places appeare as the vnfowen, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found emptye.

22 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

23 At that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies, and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

24 Whosoever remaineth from all these things that I haue tolde thee, shall be saved, and see my saluation, and the end of our world.

25 And the men that are receaved, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall be changed, and turned to another meaning.

26 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shall be quenched.

27 But frith shall flourish: corruption shall be overcome, and the truth which hath bene so long without fruit, shall come forth.

28 ¶ And when he talked with me, beholde, I looked a litle vpon him before whom I stood.

29 And these words said he vnto me, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

30 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seven dayes more, I will tell thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

31 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest: surely the mighty hath seene thy righteous dealing: hee hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shewe thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Bee of good comfort, and feare not.

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe and fasted seuen dayes in like maner, that I might fulfill the three weekes, which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse,

38 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen and the earth should be made, and the worke followed thy word.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darkness was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heavenly ayre, and commandedst it, that going betwene, it should make a diuision betwene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commandedst, that the waters should be gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: fixe partes diddest thou drie, & kept them to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, being sowed of God and tilled.

43 Alasone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediately great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, and floures of vchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.

45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the starres.

46 And gauest them a charge, to doe * seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saidest vnto the seventh part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beastes, as foules and fishes: and it was so.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life brought forth liuing things at the commandment of God, that the nations might praise thy wonderous workes.

49 Then didst thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou callest || Behemoth, and the other thou callest Leviathan,

50 And diddest separate the one from the other: for the seventh part, where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dryed vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Leviathan thou gauest the seventh part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the fixe day thou gauest commandment vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beastes, cattell and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whom thou madest lord ouer all the workes, which thou hast created, of him come we all, and the people also whome thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a droppe that falleth from a vessell.

57 And now, O Lorde, behold these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the only begotten, and thy seruent loue) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then be created for our sakes, why haue we not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 25 God aduersify all in iustice. 28 The coming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement. 33 After the which all corruption shall cease. 38 All fall in Adam. 39 The true life. 42 The mercies and goodness of God.

And when I had made an end of these wordes, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had benel ent downe to me the nights afore.

2 And he said vnto me, Vp, Eldras, and heare the wordis that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I said, Speake on, my God. Then sayde he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrowe, and like the riuers.

5 Who could go into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it, if he went not thorow the narrowe, howe could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrowe and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left.

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwene the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorow the perill before it, howe could he receive his inheritance?

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrow, full of sorrowe and trauaile: they are but fewe, and cull, and full of perils, and very painfull.

13 For the entrances of the fore world were wide and fire, and brought immortal fruite.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these straites, and brittle things, they can not attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

* Dan. 3.

17 Then said I O Lord, Lord, * seeing thou hast ordered in thy Law, that the righteous should inherit these things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he said vnto me, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue, to a voyd punishment.

22 Neuertheless, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselves by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Lawe, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his workes.

25 And therefore, Eldras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Beholde, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and she shall come fourth, and be seene that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoever shall escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundred yeres.

29 After these same yeres, shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the olde silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an ende.

34 Iustice onely shall continue: the trueth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed: the good deedes shall be of force, and vnrigheteousnesse shall beare no more rule.

36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomiters, and * Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wilderness, 37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz, and Samuel,

38 And * Dauid for the destruction, and * Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuary,

39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, & for the dead that he might liue, 40 * And Ezechias for the people in the time Sennacherib, and diuers others for many.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, & wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered me, and said, This present life is not the end: oft times honour is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weak.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortality to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shall be cut off: righteousnesse shall grow vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppress him that hath gotten the victorie.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee should not haue sinned.

47 For what profite is it for men in this present life to be in heauinesse, and after death to fare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * For in that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee.

49 For what profite is it vnto vs, if there bee promised an immortall life, when we do the workes that bring death?

50 And that an euertlasting hope should be promised vs, seeing that we betyde our selues to deadly vanitie?

51 And that there should bee appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glorie of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternal Paradise should be shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if we will not enter into it?

54 (For we haue bene conuersat in vnpleasant places)

55 And there the faces of them, which haue abstained, should shine more then starres, if our faces be blacker then darkenesse?

56 For while we liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighteously, that we should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the manner of the battell, which man, that is borne in the earth, shall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he should suffer as thou hast said: but if he get the victorie, he should receive the thing that I said.

59 For this is the life, whereof Moyses spake vnto the people, while he liued, saying, * Chuse thee life, that thou mayest liue.

60 Neuertheles, they beleueed him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauinesse should not so be to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whome saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered then, and said, I knowe, Lorde, that the most High is called mercifull, in that hee hath mercie vpon them, which are not yet come to that world.

63 And that he hath pitie on those that walke in his Lawe,

64 And that: he is patient: for he long suffereth those that haue sinned as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberal: for he will giue as much as needeth.

66 And that he is of great mercy: for hee ouercommeth in mercy those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the worlde could not continue, nor they that haue the possesion thereof.

68 Hee pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they that haue done euill, might bee relished from their wickednesse, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine aloue.

69 And if he, being iudge, forgaueth not those that be healed with his worde, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peradventure be very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the gaily is small. 6 The workers of God are excellent. 20 Efdras prayeth for him and for his people. 29 The promise of saluation to the iust. 53 The destruction of the vniuersal.

And he answered mee, saying, The most High made this worlde for many, but the worlde to come for fewe.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, O Efdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pottes, but little dust that golde cometh of, so is it with the worke of this world.

3 * There be many created, but few shalbe saved.

4 Then answered I, and saide, Then swallowe vp the wit, O my soule, and deuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, & thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou sufferest not thy seruant, that we may intreate thee, that thou mayest giue seede vnto our heart, & prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set himselfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, and wee all are the workmanship of thine handes, as thou hast said.

8 For when the body is fashioned nowe in the wombe, and thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preferred by fire and water, and the worke created by thee, doth suffer nine moneths the creature, which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that containeth, and that which is contained, shall both be preferred, and when time is come, the wombe, being preferred, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commanded the members, cuen the breasts, to giue milke vnto the fruite appointed to the breasts, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nourished for a time, til thou disposest it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousness, nourishest it in thy lawe, and reformest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou stayest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy commandement, that the thing also which is made, might be preferred.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in general thou shalt rather prouide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am sorry, 16 And for thine inheritance for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whom I am wofull, and for Jacob, for whose sake I am grieved.

17 For them will I pray before thee, as well for my selfe, as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the sudden coming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, and vnderstande my wordes which I will speake before thee. The beginning of the wordes of Efdras, before hee was taken vp.

20 O Lord, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whose throne is indimable, and his glory incomprehensible, before whom the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fire, whose word is true, & sayings stedfast: whose commandement is strong, and gouernment terrible,

23 Whose looke drieth vp the depeths, & wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witness.

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruants, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will auer.

26 Look not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked faintly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not be thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Lawe.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beastes, but loue them that alway put their trust in thy righteousness and glory.

31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sicknesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towards vs which haue no workes of righteousness.

33 For the righteous, which haue layde vp many good workes, let them receiue the rewarde of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so grieved towards it?

35 * For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but hee hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousness and thy goodnesse shall be praised, if thou bee mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good workes.

37 ¶ Then answered hee mee, and sayde, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy wordes it shall be.

38 For I will not verely consider the workes of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But * I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation and the rewarde that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken nowe, so shall it come to passe.

* King 8. 46.
2. Cor. 8. 39.

* Gen. 44.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sowed, cometh not vp in time, neither yet doth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saved.

42 I answered then and sayde, If I haue founde grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raie in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raie:

44 So perishest man, which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his paterne, because hee is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lorde, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered hee me, and saide, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off that thou shouldest loue my creature about mee: but I haue oft times drawn nere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art maruailous before the Highest:

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousness made ready: the citie is builded, and rest is prepared, perfect goodnes and absolute wisdom.

53 The roote of euill is sealed vp from you: the weaknesse and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, and in the ende is shewed the treasure of immortallitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his lawe and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreover, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 *Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die.

59 For as the thing I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish:

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the Name of him I made them, and are vnthankfull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Beholde now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou hast determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this world haue a beginning and an ende, &c. Psal.

10 For the wicked after this sort. 11 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 12 The living ingratefull. 13 Therefore they perish. 14 The wisdom of a woman learning.

HE answered mee then, and sayde, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand that it is the time wherein the most High will beginne to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall seene an * earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people,

4 Then shalt thou vnderstande that the most High spake of those things from the daies that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For all that is made in the worlde, hath a beginning and an ende, and the ende is manifest.

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders, and signes, and ende in effect and miracles.

7 And euerie one that shall escape safe, and shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleued,

8 Shall be preferred from the said perils, and shall see my saluation in my lande, & within my borders: for I haue kept me holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue picie of themselves, which nowe haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefites, and haue not knowne me,

11 But haue abhorred my lawe, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leysure of amendment, and would not vnderstande but despised it,

12 They must bee taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore bee thou no more carefull to knowe how the vngodly shall bee punished, but inquire howe the righteous shall be saved, and whose the world is, for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I and said,

15 I haue afore said that which I say now & will speake it hereafter, that there be many moe of them which perish, then of them that shall be * saved,

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workman is such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euerie one obeyed, but now the manners of them that are created in this worlde, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seede, and by a Lawe, whereout they cannot ridde themselves.

20 So I considered the deuil, and behold, there was perill, because of the deuils, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I sawe it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept mee one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape bee kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Nevertheless, if thou wilt cease seuen daies moe, but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire fildes, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the flowers men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weak.

23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the strong hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauines, and put away the multitude of sorowes, that the Almightie may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and mused what it might be.

26 And behold immediately she cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and beholde, the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cryed with a loud voyce, and said,

28 Where is Vriel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for he hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these wordes, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnder-standing was altered, and he tooke me by the right hand and comforted me, and set me vpon my feete, and said vnto me,

31 What ayleth thee? and why is thine vnder-standing vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorie?

32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, &
I haue done * according vnto thy wordes: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and for sake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knowe not, and heare that I doe not knowe.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doth my minde being hauncie, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare mee, and I will informe thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most High hath reuelled many secret things vnto thee.

39 He hath seene thy good purpose that thou art sory continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a litle while ago.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganest to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likenesse of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas she tolde thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, she is Sion:
and whereas she tolde thee (euen thee which thou seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that she sayde vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that there was euen thirtie yeeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon build the citie, & offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas she tolde thee, she nourished him w labours, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem.

48 But whereas she tolde thee that her sonne, as his chance was, dyed when she came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Ierusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganest to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced thee are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the most High seeth, that thou art sory in thy minde, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the cleare-nesse of her glory, & the fairness of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was builded.

52 For I knew that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building cannot stand in that place where the city of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but go in, and see the beautie and greatnesse of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed among many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morow at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night: and another day he had commanded me.

CHAP. XL.

The vision of an Eagle coming forth of the desert after his labours. 27. Of a lion coming out of the forest.

Then sawe I a dream, and beholde, there came vp from the sea an Eagle, which had twelue feathered wings, and thret heads.

1 And I sawe and beholde, the spred her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blew on her, and gathered them in.

2 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became litle feathers and small.

3 But her heads remained still, and the head in the middes was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

4 Moreouer, I sawe that the Eagle flew with his feathers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

5 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

6 I sawe also that the Eagle stood vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

7 Watch not all together: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

8 But let the heads be preiured for the last.

9 Neuertheles, I saw that the voyce went out of her heads, but from the middes of her body.

10 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

15 And I looked, and behelde when the right side thereof arose feathers, and reigned ouer all the earth.

16 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp, & reigned: it continued a long time.

17 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

18 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and sayde, 19 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more.

20 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

21 Then arose the third and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

22 So came it to all foules one after another, so that every one reigned, & then appeared no more.

23 Then I looked, and behelde, in proceesse of time, the feathers followed stood vp on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

24 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not. 25 After this I looked, and behelde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

26 And there was no more vpon the eagles body, but two heads that rested, and fixe wings.

27 Then saw I also that two wings diuided themselves from the fixe, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the fixe continued in their place.

28 So I looked, and behelde, the vnderwings thought to set vp themselves, and to haue the rule.

29 Then there was one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

30 And the second were sooner gone theny first.

31 Then I behelde, and loe, the two that remained thought also in themselves to reigne.

32 And when they so thought, behelde, there awoke one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the middle: for that was greater then the two.

33 And then I saw, that the two heades were joynted therewith.

34 And behold, the head was turned with them that were with it, and did cate vp the two vnderwings that would haue reigned.

35 But this head put the whole earth in feare & bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world more then all the wings that had bene.

36 After this I looked, and beheld, the head that was in the middle suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

37 But the two heades remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

38 And I beheld, and loe the head vpon the right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

39 Then I heard a voyce which said vnto me, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

40 So I saw, and behelde, as it were a lyon that roareth, running hastily out of the wood, and I saw that hee first, out a great voyce vnto the eagle, and spake, and said,

41 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee, 42 Art not thou that that of the foure beastes remainest, whome I made to reigne in my worlde, shew by them the ende of times might come.

43 And the fourth is come, and hath overcome all the beastes that were with it, and hath pouered ouer the world with great feares, and ouer the whole compass of the earth with wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deede.

44 For thou hast not denied that earth's truth.

45 Seeing thou hast troubled the mecke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loured lyars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought fourth fruit, and hast set downe the males of such as did thee no harme.

46 Therefore is thy wrong full deuling come vp vnto the most High, & the pride vnto the highity.

47 The most High also hath looked vpon thee: provide times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

48 Therefore appeere no more, thou eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked claws, nor all thy vaine body.

49 That all the earth may be refreshed, & come againe as one deliuered from thy violence, and that they may hope for the iudgement and mercy of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

And when the lyon spake these wordes to the eagle, I saw,

1 And behelde, the head that had the upper hand, appeared no more, neither did it foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselves to reigne, whose kingdomes was final and full of vices.

2 And I saw, and behelde, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the eagle was burnt so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and said vnto my spirit,

3 Loe, this hast thou done vnto me: in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

4 Loe, yet am I weary in my minde, and very weake in my spirit, and like strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

5 Therefore now I will beseech the most High that he will comfort me vnto the end.

6 And I sayde, O Lord, Lords, if I haue founde great before thy sight, & if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deede bee come vp before thy face, 7 Comfort mee, and shewe mee thy seruise the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule.

8 Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthy to shewe me the last times.

9 Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision.

10 The eagle, whome thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the kingdome which was scene in the vision of thy brother Daniel.

11 But it was not expounded vnto him therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

12 Behelde, the dates come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall beare aboue all kingdomes that were there.

13 In it shall rise kingdome after another.

14 Whereof the fourth shall beginne to reigne, and shall haue more time then the rest.

15 And this do the twelve wings signifie which thou sawest.

19 For for that die which thou hast said speak, and that thou shalt not come out from the head, but from the middle of the body thereof, this is the interpretation.

20 That after the time of that kingdome there shall arise great feild, and it shall be in danger to fall, but it shall not be able to fall, but shall be reared againe to his beginning.

21 Concerning the eight vnder-wings, which thou shalt hang vnder his wings, this is the interpretation.

22 In him shall arise eight Kings, whose time shall be but short, and their yokes swift, and two of them shall perish.

23 But when the mid time cometh, there shall be four kepe a time, whilst his time beginneth to come to the end, may be ended; but two shall be kept vnto the end.

24 And where as thou shalt see three heads neglecting, this is the interpretation.

25 In his last dayes that the most High rayle vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things in olden times, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth.

26 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe about all those that were before them: there are they called the heads of the egles.

27 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last ende.

28 And whereas thou shalt see that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

29 For the two that remained, the sworde shall deuoure them.

30 For the sword of y one, that deuoure y other: but at the last he shall fall by the sword himselfe.

31 And whereas thou shalt see two vnder-wings, that went off towards the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation.

32 These are they whome the most High hath preferred for their ende, whose kingdome is litle, and full of trouble as thou shalt see.

33 And the lyon whome thou shalt see rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the egles, and rebuking her for her vngodlinesse with all the wordes that thou hast heard.

34 This is the winde which the most High hath kept for them; and for their wickednesse vnto the ende, and hee shall reprove them, and cast before them their spoyles.

35 For he shall see them alie in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

36 For he will deliver the residue of my people by affliction, which are preferred vpon y borders; and he shall aske them in y iudgement, the coming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

37 This is the charitie that thou shalt see, and these are the interpretations.

38 Thou shalt see here many things, which thou shalt see the most High.

39 Therefore were all these things that thou shalt see in a booke and hid them, and kept them secret.

40 And thus thou shalt see the people, whose hearts are darkened, and they cannot see, and keep these secrets.

41 But vnto the daye of the end, it may be shewed thee, and thou shalt see the most High to declare vnto thee, and with that hee went his way.

42 And when all the people had seen these things, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto mter, and spake vnto me, saying.

43 What haue we dreamed thee? or what hath beene done against thee, that thou shouldst be thus, and lifted in this place?

44 For of all the people thou only art left vnto a grape of the vine, and a candle in a dark place, and as an hauen of ship persecuted from the tempest.

45 Are not the cuils which are come vnto vs, sufficient vnto vs?

46 If thou then forsake vs, we much better had it, if thou hadst beene with vs, as thou wast.

47 I answered them, and said, that they should not say thus, and they wept with a loud voyce.

48 Then I turned I them, and said, that they should not be of good comfort, of Israel, and be not here, vnto the house of iacob.

49 For the most High hath you in a stumbling block, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

50 As for mee, I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed fro you, but am come into this place to pray for the defolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercie for the low estate of your sanctuary.

51 And now goe your way home every man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

52 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them.

53 But I remained still in the sighte seven dayes, as he had commanded me, and did eat only of the flowers of the field, and had my meat of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a white coming forth of the sea, which declared a vision, y the prophecies and power against him, and the declaration of the vision.

And after the seven dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde from the sea, and it mooued all the waves thereof.

3 And I looked, and beholde, there was a mighty man with the thousand of heauen, and when he named his countenance to look, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth smelt when it feelde the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and beholde; there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure winde of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and beholde, he graced himselfe a great mountain, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I saw after these things, and beholde, all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Nevertheless, when hee saw the multitude of the multitude that came, hee lifted his voice, and said, for hee helde no worde nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely, as I saw, he sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his eye the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he sent out fire.

12 And thou shalt see all rise together, as the blast of fire, the wind of the same, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon the multitude which was prepared to fight. And thou shalt see vpon the face of the multitude as many as there was nothing fierce, but only dust and smell of smoke.
13 How sayest thou I was ashy.

14 Afterward I saw I the same man come downe from the mountain, and calling vnto him, another peacable multitude.

15 And there came many vnto him, saying, wash thy loins with water, and some with fire: for of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered; and I saw I like through your face, and smiled, and said.

16 Thou hast shewed thy face to the wonders from the beginning; and hast counted me woorthy to recite my prayer.

17 Show me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

18 For thus I understood in mine vnderstanding, vnto me that shall be left in those dayes, and much more vnto them that are not left be-hinde.

19 For they that were not left, were in heu-renlie.

20 Now understand I the things that are layed vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behinde.

21 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

22 Yet is it easier, that hee that is in danger, should fall into that, & force the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloud out of the world.

23 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shew thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

24 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation.

25 He that shall beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue works and faith toward the most High.

26 Know therefore, that they which be left be-hinde, are more blessed then they that be dead.

27 These are the meanings of the vision. Where as thou sawest a man coming vp from the midst of the sea,

28 This is hee whom the most High hath kept a great feabie, who by his owne felie shall de-pise his creature, and he shall order them that are left behinde.

29 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came a blast with fire and storme,

30 And that he neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse he destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation.

31 Before the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth.

32 And he shall assaile the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth.

33 And thou shalt see people to fight against another, cite against cite, and place against place, nation against nation, and realme against realme.

34 ¶ When this cometh to passe, then shall the heavens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my Sonne be reuiued, whom thou hast seen.

35 And when all the people haue his voice, a man shall in their owne land, leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

36 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that be willing in voice, and to fight against him.

37 But he shall stand vpon the topp of mount Sion.

38 And sign shall come, and shall be shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grassen forth without any hands.

39 And this my Sonne shall reuiue the picked multitude of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest.

40 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shall be tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them, even by the Law, which is compared into the fire.

41 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered another peacable people vnto him,

42 These are the ten tribes, which were caried away captiues out of their owne land, in the time of Sennacherib the King, whom Salmanazar the King of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and caried them beyond the river: so were they brought into another land.

43 But they tooke this counsell to themselves, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further country, where they might dwell in quietnes.

44 That they might thus keep their flatteries, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

45 And they entered in at the narrow passage of the river Euphrates.

46 For the most High then shewed them signes, and stayed the spring of the flood till they were passed ouer.

47 For the now the country there was a great journey, euen of a yeere and an halfe, and the same regions is called Assirithi.

48 Then dwell they there until the latter time, and when they come forth againe.

49 The most High shall holde ful the springs of the river againe that they may goe thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peacable.

50 But they that be left behinde of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

51 Now when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defend the people that remaine.

52 And then shall he shew great wonders vnto them.

53 Then sayd I, O Lord, Lord, shew me this, wherefore haue I seene the man coming vp from the middes of the sea.

54 And he sayd vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth for my Sonne, or those that be with him, but in the time of that day.

55 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and whereby thou only art lightened.

56 For thou hast forsaken thine owne Law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.

57 Thy life hath thou ordered in wisdom, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

58 Therefore haue I shewed thee that reward which the most High hath after thou hast done with me. I will reuiue other things vnto thee, and will re-clare

there vnto thee great and woonderous things.

77 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praising the most High for the wonders which he did in time.

78 Which he governeth, & such things as come in their seasons: and there I fate three dayes.

CHAP. XIII

3 How God appeared to Mofes in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 22 The ingratitude of Iſrael. 25 The reſurrexion and iudgement.

Vpon the third day I fate vnder an Oke, and beholde, there came forth a voyce vnto me out of the bush, and sayd, Efdras, Efdras.

2 And I sayd, Here am I, Lord, and stood vpon my feet.

3 Then sayd he vnto me, * In the bush I reuicled my selfe, and spake vnto Mofes, when my people senced in Egypt:

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai; and I held him with me a long season,

5 And I tolde him many wonders, and shewed him the secrets of the times and the end, and commanded him, saying,

6 These words shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.

7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed; and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, & thou shalt remaine henceforth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.

9 For the world hath lost his youth, and the times begin to waxe olde.

10 For the world is diuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, & put off now the weake nature,

14 And set aside thy most grieuous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater euils then those which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the euils be increased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and sayd before thee,

19 Beholde, O Lord, I will go as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall be borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Law is burne, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that thou hast done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into me, and I will write all that hath bene done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy Law, that men may finde the truth, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Go, and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fortie dayes, 24 But prepare thee many boxe tables, and take with thee these five, Sarcas, Dabrias, Selemb, Ebanas and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly.

25 And come hidier, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out: till the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfite men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morrow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and sayd,

28 Heare these words, O Iſrael,

29 * Our fathers at the beginning were strangers Esd. 3. 4.*

in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered, Id. 3. 5.*

30 And receined the Law of life, * which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after the.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrighteously, & haue not kept the wayes which the most High commanded you.

32 And forsomuch as he is a righteous Iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that you will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shall be kept alive, and after death shall ye obtaine merie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when we shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, and the works of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fortie dayes.

37 So I tooke the five men, as he commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, beholde, a voyce called me, saying, Efdras, * open thy mouth, and drinke that Esd. 3. 6.*

I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, he reached me a sil cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and drank, and when I had drinke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisdom grew in my brest: for my spirit was strengthened in memorie.

41 And my mouth was opened, & shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the five men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fortie dayes they wrote two hundred and foure books.

45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the woordie and ynoworthie may reade it.

46 But keepe the seuentie last, that thou mayest giue them to the wife among thy people.

47 For in them is the vine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisedome, and the river of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

The prophesie of Iſaiah is certain, 5. The emle that ſhall come on the world, 9. The Lord will avenge the innocent blood, 12. Egypt ſhall lamer, 16. ſedition, 20. And punishment vpon the King of the earth, 24. Carſell are they that ſinke, 28. Tremble, and mourne vpon the whole earth, 33. God is the reuenger of his ſhelt.

Behold, ſpeake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophesie, which I will put in thy mouth, ſaith the Lord:

2 And cauſe them to be written in a letter for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations againſt thee: lee not the vnfaithfulneſſe of the ſpeakers trouble thee, that ſpeake againſt thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull ſhall die in his vnfaithfulneſſe.

5 Beholde, ſaith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the ſword, famine, death, and deſtruction:

6 Becauſe that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, ſaith the Lord, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickedneſſe, (they doe vngodly) neither will I ſuffer them in the thinges that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold, the innocent and righteous blood cryeth vnto me, and the ſoules of the iuſt crie continually.

9 I will ſurely avenge them, ſaith the Lord, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Beholde, my people is led as a ſtcke to the ſlaughter: I will not ſuffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt.

11 But I will bring them out with a mightie hand, and a ſtretched out arme, and ſmite it with plagues, as afore, & wil deſtroy al the land thereof.

12 Egypt ſhall mourne, and the foundations thereof ſhall be ſmitten with the plague and puniſhment, that God ſhall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, ſhall mourne: for their feedes ſhall faile through the blaſting and haile, and by an horrible ſtarre.

14 Woe to the worlde, and to them that dwell therein,

15 For the ſword, and their deſtruction draweth neere, and one people ſhal ſtand vp to fight againſt another with ſword in their hands.

16 For there ſhall bee ſedition among men, and one ſhall inuade another: they ſhall not reſpect their King, and the princes ſhall meaſure their doings by their power.

17 A man ſhal deſire to go into a citie, and ſhal not be able.

18 Becauſe of their pride the cities ſhall be troubled, the houſes ſhall be afraid, men ſhall feare.

19 A man ſhall haue no pitee vpon his neighbour, but ſhall deſtroy their houſes with the ſword, and their goods ſhall be ſpoyled for lacke of bread, and becauſe of great trouble.

20 Behold, ſaith God, I call together al the kings of the earth to reuerſe mee, which are from the Eaſt, and from the South, from the Eaſt, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them, and to repay the thinges that they haue done to them.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my choſen, ſo will I doe alſo, and recompenſe them in their boſome: thus ſaith the Lord God.

22 My right hand ſhal not ſpare the ſinners, neither ſhall the ſword ceaſe from them, that ſhall innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath conſumed the foundations of the earth, & the ſinners like the ſtraw, that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that ſinne, and keepe not my commandments, ſaith the Lord.

25 I will not ſpare them: depart, O children, from the power: deſile not my Sanctuary.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that ſinne againſt him, and therefore deliuereth het them vnto death and deſtruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, and yet ſhall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, becauſe ye haue ſinned againſt him.

28 Beholde, an horrible viſion cometh from the Eaſt,

29 Where generations of Dragons of Arabia ſhall come out with many charres, and the multitude of them ſhall be caried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in winch, ſhall go forth as the boares of the foreſt, and ſhall come with great power, and ſtand againſt them in battell, and ſhall deſtroy a portion of the land of the Aſſyrians.

31 But after this ſhall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and ſhall turne about, and conſpire to conſume them with a great power.

32 Then theſe ſhall be troubled, and keepe ſilence by their power, and ſhall ſee.

33 From the land of the Aſſyrians ſhall the enemy beſiege them, & conſume ſome of them, and in their hoſte ſhall be feare and dread, and triſt among their kings.

34 Beholde clouds from the Eaſt, and from the North vnto the South, & they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and ſtorme.

35 They ſhall ſmite one vpon another: and they ſhall ſmite downe a great multitude of ſtates vpon the earth, euen their owne ſtarre, & the blood ſhall be from the ſword vnto the belly,

36 And the douring of man vnto the camels litter.

37 And there ſhall be great fearefulneſſe & trembling vpon earth, and they that ſee the wrath, ſhall be afraid, and a trembling ſhall come vpon them.

38 And then there ſhall come great ſtormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the Weſt.

39 And from the Eaſt ſhal windes ariſe and ſhal open it with the cloud, which he raiſed vp in wrath, and the ſtarre, raiſed to feare the Eaſt and Weſt winde, ſhall be deſtroyed.

40 And the great and mightie clouds ſhall be liſt vp full of wrath, and the ſtarre, that they may make all the earth afraid, & them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery high place, and liſted vp, an horrible conſtellation.

41 As fire and haile, and ſhying ſwords, and many waters, that all fields may be full, and all riſers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they ſhall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the graſſe of the meadowes, and their come.

43 And they ſhall go with a ſtraight courſe vnto Babylo, and make it afraid.

44 They

44. They shall come to her, and besiege her, and shall powre forth the constellation, and all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45. And they that remaine vnder her, shall doe seruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

46. And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person,

47. Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48. Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her works, and in her inventions: therefore saith God,

49. I will send plagues vpon thee, widowhood, pouertie, and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to walte thine houses with destruction and death.

50. And the glorie of thy power shall be dried vp, as a flower when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51. Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mightie and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.

52. Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53. If thou hadst not alway flaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine handes, and saide ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54. Set fourth the beautie of thy countenance?

55. The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy holome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56. As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57. And thy children shall die for hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58. And they that be in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eate their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread, and thirst of water.

59. And thou, as Rahabie, shalt come thorow the sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60. In the passage they shall cast down the flaine cite, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61. When thou shalt bee cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, & they shall be to thee as fire,

62. And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods, and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63. Thy children shall they cary away captiue, and shall spoyle thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

C H A P. XVI.

Against Babylon, Asia, and Egypt, and Syria, 18. 98 of the earth that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to gouerne themselves in affliction. 54. To acknowledge their sinnes, and to remember their sinnes, as the Lord, 55. Whose might, his prouidence and iudice is to be remembered.

Woe to thee, Babylon and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

1. Gird your selues with sacke and hairecloth, and moume your children, and bee sorow: for your destruction is at hand.

2. A sword is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a life is sent among you, and who will quench it?

3. Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can drive them away?

4. May any man drive away an hungry lyon in the wode? or quench the fire in the stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrowe, that is shot of a strong archer?

5. The mightie Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can drive them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

6. Hee shall cast lightning, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be affraid?

7. The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not vnto be broken in pieces: at his presence the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waves from the deepe, & the waves thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof before the Lord, and the glory of his power.

8. For strong is his right hande, that bendeth the bowe: his arrowes that he shooteth are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the endes of the world.

9. Beholde, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

10. The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

11. As an arrow which is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

12. Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

13. The beginning of sorowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feele the beginning of euils, & all shall tremble. What shall I do in these things, when the plagues come?

14. Beholde, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for an euill.

15. But for all these things they will not turne from their wickedness, nor be alway in default of the scourges.

16. Beholde, vnto the good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselves to be in good case: but then shall the euils be forth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine and great confusion.

17. For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

18. And the dead shall cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, & the cities shall be cast downe.

19. There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

20. The grapes shall be ripe, but who shall tread the? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

21. For of one cite there shall be tenne left, and two of the field, which shall hide themselves in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

22. As when there remaine three or foure olives in the place where olives grow, or among other trees,

23. Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

24. So in those dayes there shall be three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

25. And the earth shall be left waste, and the fields thereof.

thereof shall waxe olde, and her wayes and all her pathes shall growe full of thornes, because no man shall trauell there thorow.

27 The virgins shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, & their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, yee seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Beholde the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whom the Lord speaketh: beholde, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a traouailing woman which in the ninth month bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore y paines come vpon her bodie, and when the childe cometh to the birth, they tariet not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorrowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he that sleeth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as hee that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein:

36 He that soweth, as one that shall not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marrie, as they that shall get no children: and they that marrie not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore, they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruits, and spoile their goods, and ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more will I be angrie against them for their finnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieh an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when he shall come that shall bridle the author of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like therunto, nor to the works thereof: for or eue it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousness shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which faith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glorie.

46 Beholde, the Lord * knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts.

47 * For assoone as hee sayd, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them.

49 Hee searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 Hee hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his word hath he banded the earth vpon the waters.

51 Hee spreadeth out the heauens like a vawt: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the toppes of the mountaines, to poure out flouds from the high rocks to water the earth.

53 He made man, and put his heart in the mids of the body, and gaue him breath, life and vnderstanding.

54 And the Spirit of the almightie God, which made all things, & hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and whar yee imagine in your heart when yee sinne and would hide your finnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lorde searched and sought out all your works, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your finnes are brought forth before men, ye shall be confounded, and your owne finnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, or how will ye hide your finnes before God and his Angels?

59 Beholde, God himselfe is the iudge: feare him: cease from your finnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For beholde, the heart of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meate to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision and in reproch, and troden vnder foot.

62 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoile, and waste such as they feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoyle their goods, and calt them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the trial of my chosen appeare, as the golde is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord: beholde, the dayes of trouble are at hand; but I will deliuer you from them: be not ye afrajd: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandments and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your finnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift them: thus vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their finnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, and the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

TOBIT.

CHAP. I.

2 Tobias parents, 3 His goals, 4 His requite, 5 His char-riss and prosperitie, 23 His death, and his goods are confis-ed, and after referred.

Tobias being captive among the Assyrians, did not leave way of truth.

He booke of the words of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananied, the sonne of Adiel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seed of Afael, and of the tribe of Nephthalin,

*20r, Salmanafer,
2. King. 17. 3.*

Tobias was mercifull.

3 Who in the time of || Enemeffar King of the Assyrians was * led away captiue out of Thilbe, which is at the right hand of that citic, which is called properly Nephthalin, in Gal-lee about Afer.

3 I Tobias haue walked all my life long in the way of truth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with me to Ninieue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne country in the land of Israel, being but yoong, all the tribe of Nephthalin my father fell from the house of Ieru-salem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated and built vp for all ages.

2. King. 13. 30.

5 * Now all the tribes which fell from yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

*He fled from idolles.
2. And. 12. 29.
dem. 12. 6.*

6 But I (as it was ordained to all Israel by an eueralsting decree) went alone often to Ierusalem, at the feasts * bringing the first fruits, and the tenth of beasts, with that which was first thorne, and offered them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

7 The third tenth part I gaue to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Ierusalem:
the other tenth part I solde, and came and bewored it euery yere at Ierusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to who it was meet, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupill.

*He marrieth to wife Anna, which beareth him Tobias.
2. Num. 34. 7.*

9 ¶ Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of * mine owne kindred, and of her I begate Tobias.

2. Gen. 43. 32.

10 ¶ But when I was led captiue to Ninieue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kindred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

He found grace in the sight of Salmanafer.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating.

*20r, Anne,
20r, in Regis a cine of Media.*

12 Because I remembered God with all mine heart.

13 Therefore the most high gaue me grace and fauour before Enemefar, so that I was purueier.

*20r, Salmanafer.
The charitie of Tobias.*

14 ¶ And I went into Media, & I deliuered ten talents of silver to Gabael the || brother of Gabrias
|| in the land of Media.

15 But when Enemefar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troublous, I could not goe into Media.

2. Eccl. 48. 13, 14.
2. Machab. 7. 41.
2. Machab. 8. 35.*

16 ¶ But in the time of || Enemefar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry,

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my kindred dead, or cast about the walles of Ninieue I buried him.

them priuily (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the King.

19 Therefore when a certein Ninieuite had accused me to the King, because I did burie them, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

20 Then all my goods were spoyle, neither was there any thing left me besides my wife Anna and my sonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheless * within fise and fiftie dayes, two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Arrarath, & Sarchedorus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed out his fathers accounts and ouer all his domestical affaires Achiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for me, I came againe to Ninieue: now Achiacha-rus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouersaw the accounts: so Sarchedorus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

CHAP. II.

2 Tobias calleth the highball to his table, 3 He leaueh the flesh to burie the dead, 10 How he becometh honest, 12 His wife laboreth for her halie, 13 She reproacheth him liueryly.

NOW when I was come home againe, & my wife
Anna was restored vnto mee with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seuen weeks, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate downe to eate.

2 And when I saw aundance of meat, I sayd to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man so euer thou shalt finde of our brethren which doth remember God, and loe, I will tarie for thee.

3 But he came againe, and sayd, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meat, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the sunne.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meat in heauinesse.

6 Remembering that prophesie of * Amos, which had sayd, Your solemne feastes shall be turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wailing.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the sunne I went and made a graue and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked mee, and sayd, Doth he not feare, to die for this cause, who * fled away, and yet, loe, he buriethe the dead againe?

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house because I was polluted, and hauing my face vncouered,

10 And I knew not that sparrows were in the wall, and as mine eyes were open, the sparrows cast downe warme dung into mine eyes, and a whitenesse came in mine eyes, and I went to the Physicians, but they helped me not. Moreo-uer Achiacharus did nourish me, vntill I went into Helinais.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens works to doe.

12 And when shee had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gaue a kid.

13 Which when it was at mine house, & began to bleate, I said vnto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stolen? render it to the owners: * for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stolen.

14 But shee sayde, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleue, and bade her to render it to the owners, and I did bluish, because of her. Furthermore shee said, * Where are thine almes, and thy righteousnesse? behold, they all now appeare in thee.

CHAP. III.

The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguel daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 18 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angel Raphael.

Then I being forowfull, did weepe, and in my forow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy works, and all thy wayes are mercie & trueth, and thou iudget truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my finnes or mine ignorances or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commaundments: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs * for a spoile, and vnto captiuitie, & to death, & for a prober of a reproch to al them among whom we are disperfed, and now thou hast many & iust causes.

5 To doe with me according to my finnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy commaundments, neither haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Nowe therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, and command my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reprochs, and am very forowfull: commaund therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the everlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day that in Ecabane a cite of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her Ethers maydes,

8 Because she had bene married to seven husbands, whom Almoseus the euill spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not know, said they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had now seven husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doest thou liue vs for them? if they be dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When shee heard these things, there was very forowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And shee said, I am the onely daughter of my father, and I doe this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with forow.

11 Then she prayed towards the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lorde my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: for all thy workes praise thee for euer.

12 And now, O Lorde, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee.

13 And shee take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lorde, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the lande of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath hee any manchild to be his heire, neither any neere kinsman or childe borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seven husbands are now dead, and why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, commaund to looke on and to pittie me that I doe no more heare reproch.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, to take away the whiteness of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Almoseus the euill spirit, because shee belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

IN that day Tobit remembered * the filius, which hee had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a cite of Media,

2 And saide with himselfe, I haue withed for death: wherefore do I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And wher he had called him, he said, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury mee, and despie not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and do that which shall please her, & anger her not.

4 Remember, my sonne, how many dangers shee susteined when thou wast in her wombe,

5 And when shee dieth, bury her by me in the same graue.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to sinne or to transgresse the commandments of God. Doe vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrighteousnesse: for if thou deale truely, thy doings shall prosperously succed to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 * Giue almes according to thy substance if thou haue but a litle, be not afraid to giue a litle almes.

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessitie, 10 * Because that almes doth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darkenesse.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which vse it.

12 Beware of all * whoredome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seed of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife which is not of thy fathers stocke: for we are the children of the Prophets. Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seed shall inherite the land.

13 Now therefore, my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despie not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble: and in fierceneesse is lecherie, and great poeuerie: for [fierceneesse is the mother of fornication].

14 Let not the * wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tary w thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be wel instructed in all thy conuersation.

15 * Do that to no man which thou hast drunk not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drink

17 || Powe: out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but give nothing to the wicked.

18 Alke counsell alway of the wife, and despise not any counsell that is profitable.

19 Bless thy Lord God alway, and desire of him that thy wayes may be made streight, and that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for euery nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will: nowe therefore, my sonne, remember my commandements, neither let them at any time be put out of thy minde.

20 * Furthermore I signify this to thee, that I deliuered ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

21 And feare not, my sonne, forasmuch as wee are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all sinne, and do that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. VI.

Tobias sent to Rages, 4 He meeth with the Angel Raphael which did conduct him.

Tobias then answered, and said, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But howe can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 * Then he gaue him the hand writing, and said vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and goe and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knewe not, and said vnto him, May I go with thee into the land of Media? and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel said, I will go with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tarry for me, till I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Go, and tarry not: so he went in, and saide to his father, Beholde, I haue found one, which will goe with me. Then he saide, Call him vnto me, that I may knowe of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobie sayde vnto him, Brother, shewe me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doe st thou seeke a stocke or family, or an hired man to goe with thy sonne? Then Tobie saide vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then he saide, I am of the kindred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobie sayde, || Thou art welcome, brother: he not now angry with me, because I haue enquired to knowe thy kindred, and thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I knowe Ananias and Ionathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for wee went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenthes of the fruites, and they were not decieued with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tell mee, What wages shall I giue thee?

will thou a greater day and things necessary, as to mine owne comfote?

15 Yea, moreover if yee returne safe, I will adde some thing to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the journey, and go you on Gods Name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the journey, his father said, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your journey, & the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both and departed, and the dogge of the yong man with them.

17 But * Anna his mother wept, and saide to Tobie, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is hee not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

18 Would to God we had not layed money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobie, Be not carefull, my sister: he shall returne in safetie, and thine eye shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doeth keepe him company, and his journey shall be prosperous, and hee shall returne safe.

22 Then he made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias delivered from the fish, 7 Raphael sheweth him certain medicines, 10 He counselleth him toward Sarra.

And as they went on their journey, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.

2 And when the yong man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man took the fish, & drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel sayd, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

5 So the yong man did, as the Angel commanded him: and when they had roasted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the yong man sayd to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he sayd vnto him, Touching the heart, and the liuer, if a deuill or ad euil spirit trouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and he shall be no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoint a man that hath white-nesse in his eyes, and he shall be healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come nere to Rages,

10 The Angel said to the yong man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: he also hath one only daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that she may be giue thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doth * the right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred,

12 And the mayd is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, & I will speake to her father, that we may make the marriage when we are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel can not marrie her to another according to the law of Moyses: els he should deserve death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angell, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this mayd hath bene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the marriage chamber.

Tobias goeth forth, the Angel keeping him company. His mother weepeth. * Chap. vii.

* Gen. 27. 9.

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid, lest I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which hurteth no body but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare lest I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of me to the graue with sorowe: for they haue no other sonne to busie them.

15 Then the Angel sayd vnto him, Doeſt thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldst marrie a wife of thine owne kinned? wherefore heare me, O my brother: for the ſhalbe thy wife, neither ſhalt thou carefull of the euill ſpirit: for this ſame night ſhall ſhee be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou ſhalt goe into the marriage chamber, thou ſhalt take of the hore coles for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fiſh.

17 Which if the ſpirit do ſmel, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou ſhalt come to her, riſe vp both of you, and pray to God which is merciful, who will haue pittie on you, and ſaue you: feare not, for ſhe is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou ſhalt keepe her, and ſhe ſhall goe with thee: Moreouer I ſuppoſe that ſhee ſhall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard the things, hee loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

And when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the houſe of Raguel: and Sarra met them, and after they had ſaluted one another, ſhee brought them into the houſe.

2 Then ſaid Raguel to Edna his wife, Howe like is this young man to Tobit my couſin?

3 And Raguel aſked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they ſaid that they were of the tribe of Nephtalim, & of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Then he ſaid to them, Doe ye knowe Tobit our kinfman? And they ſaid, We know him. Then ſaid he, Is he in good health?

5 And they ſaid, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias ſaid, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, & kiſſed him, & wept, 7 And bleſſed him, and ſaid vnto him, Thou art the ſonne of an honeſt and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was ſorowfull and wept.

8 And likewiſe Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer they recciued them with a ready minde, & after that they had killed a ram of the flocke, they ſet much meate on the table. Then ſaid Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth thoſe things whereof thou ſpakeſt in the way, that this buſineſſe may be diſpatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel ſaid to Tobias, Eate, and drinke, and make merrie.

10 For it is meete that thou ſhouldeſt marrie my daughter: neuertheleſſe, I will declare vnto thee the truth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage, to ſeuuen men, who dyed that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheleſſe, be thou of a good courage and merrie. But Tobias ſaid, I will eate nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and betrothe her to me.

12 Raguel ſaid theſe, Marrie her then according to the cuſtome: for thou art her couſin, and ſhee is thine. God which is merciful, make this proſperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and ſhee came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, ſaying, Beholde, take her after the * law of Moyleſes, and leade her away to thy father: and he bleſſed them,

14 And called his wife Edna, and hee tooke a booke and wrote a contract, and ſealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and ſaid vnto her, Siſter, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when he had done, as he had bidden her, he brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares.

18 And ſaid vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy ſorowe: be of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias drieth away the euill ſpirit. 4. He prayeth to God with his wife. 11. Raguel prepared a gown for his ſonne in law, Raguel bleſſeth the Lord.

And when they had ſupped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as he went, he remembered the wordes of Raphael, and tooke coles for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fiſh thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which ſmell when the euill ſpirit had ſmelled, he fled into the ſmolt parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

4 And after that they were both ſlept in, Tobias roſe out of the bed, and ſaid, Siſter, ariſe and let vs pray, that God would haue pittie on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to ſay, Bleſſed art thou, O God of our fathers, and bleſſed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens bleſſe thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou maideſt Adam, and gaueſt him * Eua his wife for an helpe and flay: of them came mankinde: thou haſt ſaid, It is not good that man ſhould be alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto himſelfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my ſiſter for fornication, but vprightly: therefore graunt me mercie, that we may become aged together.

8 And he ſaid with him, Amen.

9 So they ſlept both that night, and Raguel a-roſe, and went and made a gowne,

10 ſaying, Is not he dead alſo?

11 But when Raguel was come into his houſe,

12 He ſaid to his wife Edna, Send one of the maidens, and let them ſee whether he be aliue: if not, that I may burie him, and none know it.

13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and found them both aſleepe.

14 And came forth, & told them ſhe was aliue.

15 Then Raguel praifed God, and ſaid, O God, thou art worthy to bee praifed with all pure and holy praife: therefore let thy Saintes praife thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praife thee for euer.

16 Thou art to be praifed, O Lord: for thou haſt made me ioyfull, and that is not come to mee which I ſuſpected: but thou haſt dealt with vs according to great mercie.

18 Then Raguel had his seruants to fil y^e graue.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an othe, that he should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the marriage were expired.

21 And then he should take the halfe of his goods and returne in ffectie to his father, & should cause the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael taketh Gabael to Tobias marriage.

Then Tobias called Raphael, and sayd vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the dayes : and if I tarry long, he will be very forie.

5 So Raphael went out & came to Gabael, & gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were scaled vp, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth, both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

Tobit and his wife tarry long for their sonne, 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

Now Tobit his father counted every day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, are they not mocked ? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money ?

3 Therefore he was very forie.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarryeth : and she began to bewaile him, and said,

5 Nowe I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace : be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Hold thy peace, & deceiue me not : my sonne is dead : & he went out every day by the way, which they went, neither did she eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nightes in bewailing her sonne Tobias, vntill the fourteene dayes of y^e wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that he should tary there. Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me goe : for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in lawe said vnto him, Tarry with mee, and I will fend to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me goe to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father, and thy mother in lawe which are nowe thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee : and hee kised them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen bestow thee, my deare brother, and graunt that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold nowe, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge : doe not entreat her cuill.

CHAP. XI.

The returne of Tobias to his father, 9 How he was reclaimed, 10 His father hath his sight restored, and praiseth the Lord.

After these things Tobias went his way, praying God that he had giuen him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, how thou diddest leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haile before thy wife, and prepare the house.

4 And take in thine hand the gill of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

5 Now Anna saie in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whome when she saw comming, she said to his father, Behold, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rubbe and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke hold of his fathers eyes, saying, Bee of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, hee fell vpon his necke,

14 And he wept and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pittie on me : for behold, I see my sonne Tobias : and his sonne, being glad, went in, and tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in law, reioycing and praising God to the gate of Nineue : and they which saw him goe, maruelled, because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pittie on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in lawe, he blessed her, saying, thou art welcome, daughter : God be blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father : and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achicharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

Then

Then Tobit called his sonne Tobias, & said vnto him, Provide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, & thou must giue him more.

2 And he sayde vnto him, O father, it shall not grieue mee to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, & hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the olde man sayd, It is due vnto him.

5 So hee called the Angel, and sayde vnto him, Take halfe of all that yee haue brought, and goe away in safetie.

6 But he tooke them both apart, and sayde vnto them, Praye God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the things which hee hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shew forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honorable to reuel the workes of God: do that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteoufnesse. A litle with righteoufnesse is better then much with vnrighteousnes: it is better to giue almes, then to lay vp golde.

9 For almes doth deliuer from death, and doeth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes & righteoufnesse, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I haide it was good to keepe close the secret of a king, but that it was honourable to reuel the workes of God.

12 Nowe therefore when thou diddest pray, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe, I did bring to memory your prayer before the Holy one: and when thou diddest bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieved to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deede was not hid from me: But I was with thee.

14 And nowe God hath sent mee to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe.

15 I am Raphael one of the seuen holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he saide vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good wil of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

19 * At these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eat nor drinke, but I ou saw it in vision.

20 Nowe therefore giue God thanks: for I go vp to him that sent mee: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderful workes of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiving of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.
Then Tobit wrote a prayer of reioicing, and said, Blessed bee God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his Kingdome.

2 * For hee doeth scourge, and hath pitee: hee leadeth to hel, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoyde his hand.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatness, and extoll him before all the liuing: for hee is our Lord, & our God, and our father for euer.

5 Hee hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and wil haue mercy againe, and wil gather vs out of all nations, among whom we are feattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, & deale vprightly before him, then wil hee turne vnto you, and wil not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what he wil doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, & praise the Lord of righteoufnes, & extoll the euerlasting King. I wil confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and wil declare his power and greatness to a sinful nation. O ye sinners, turne and do iustice before him: who can tel if he wil receive you to mercy, and haue pitee on you?

7 I wil extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the king of heauen, & shal reioyce in his greatness.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteoufnesse.

9 O Ierusalem the holy cite, he wil scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but hee wil haue pitee againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue praise to the Lorde duely, and praise the euerlasting King, that his tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyful there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lorde God, with gifts in their hands, euen gifts to the King of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are al they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and bee glad for the children of the iust: for they shal be gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shal reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorowfull for all thy scourges: for they shal reioyce for thee, when they shal see all thy glory, and shal reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Ierusalem shal be build vp with sapphires, and emerauds, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towers, and thy bulwarkes with pure gold.

17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shall be paved with beryl, and carbuncle, and stones of Ophir.

18 And her streetes shall say, Halleluiah, and they shall praise him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled him for euer.

Lesson of Tobit to his sonne. 4. He prophesieth the destruction of Ninus, 5. And the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple, 13. The death of Tobit and his wife. 14. Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an end of praying God.

2 And hee was eight and fifty yeere old, when hee lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and he gaue almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when hee was very aged, hee called his sonne, & fixe of his sonnes sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life).

4 Go into Media, my sonne: for I surely beleue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shalbe destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from that good land, & Ierusalem shall bee desolate, and the House of God in it shall be burned, and shalbe desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and build vp Ierusalem gloriously, & the House of God shall bee built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truly, and shall bury their idols.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lorde, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lorde in truth and iustice, shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercie to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Lawe, and the commandements, and shewe thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And burie me honestly, and thy mother with me: but tarie no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, howe Aman handled Achitacharus: he brought him vp, how out of light he brought him into darknes, and how he rewarded him againe: yet Achitacharus was saved, but the other had his rewarde: for he went downe into darknes. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteouse the doeth deliuer. When hee had sayde these things, he gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundredth and eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honourably.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in lawe.

13 Where he became olde with honour, and he buried his father & mother in law honourably, and he inherited their substance and Tobis his father.

14 And hee died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundredth and seuen and twentie yeere old.

15 But before hee died, hee heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death hee reioyced for Nineue.

IV D E T H.

CHAP. I.

2 The building of Ecbatane. 3 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and overcame him. 12 Hee threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the selfe yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the wals round about, of heuen stone, three cubites broad, and six cubites long, and made the height of the wals seuentie cubits, and the bredth thereof fiftie cubits,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it of an hundredth cubites, and the bredth thereof in the foundation threecore cubits,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on hie, seuentie cubits, and the bredth of them forty cubits, for going forth of his mighty armies, & for the setting in aray of his footemen)

5 Euen in those dayes, King Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris and Hydaspes, and the country of Arioch the King of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselves to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor for King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galad, and the hieer Galilee, and the great field of Efdrelam,

9 And to all, that were in Samaria, and the cities thereof, & beyond Iordē vnto Ierusalem, & Betane, and Chelhus and Cades, and the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Rameffe, and all the land of Gesem,

10 Vnto one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and to one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this country did not passe for the comendement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this country, and was by his throne and kingdome that he would surely be auenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudes, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then hee marched in battell aray with his power against King Arphaxad, in the fouenteenth yere, & he preuailed in his battell: for hee ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horsemen, and all his chariots.

14 And he wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towers, and spoyled the streetes thereof, and turned the beautie thereof into shame.

15 Hee tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him through with his dardes, and destroyed him vterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Nineue, both he and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there he passed the time, and banqueted, both hee, and his armie an hundredth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people shoulde be brought in (saber Glim, 6 And to destroy those that despised him. 15 The preparation of Oloftrars armie. 17 The conquest of his enemies.

And

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two and twentieth day of the first month, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should avenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all the officers and al his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt go forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footemen, an hundred and twentie thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand.

6 And thou shalt go against all the West country, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will go forth in my wrath against them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoile vnto them.

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, and their riuers, and the flood shall ouerflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the utmost partes of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their country: and if they yeild vnto thee, thou shalt reuerse them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoyle them whereouer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, & the power of my kingdome, whatsoever I haue spoken, I will I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commandements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Assur.

15 And he mustred the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundred and twentie thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And he set them in aray according to the manner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And he tooke camels and asses for their burdens a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their prouision.

18 And vitaille for euery man of the armie, and very much gold and siluer out of the Kings house.

19 Then he went forth and his power, to goe before in the viage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charets, and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grasshoppers, and lik the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three dayes journey toward the country of Beelith, and pitched from Beelith nere the mountaine which is as the left hand of the upper Cilicia.

22 Then he tooke all his armie, his footemen and horsemen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines.

23 And he destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Raftes, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wilderness at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then hee went ouer Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the cities that were vpon the riuer of Arborea, vntill one came to the sea.

25 And he tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South and ouer against Arabia.

26 He compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the country of Damascus, in the time of wheat harvest, and burnt vp all their fieldes, and destroyed their flockes and the herds: he robbed their cities, and spoiled their country, and smote all their yong men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling came vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast, which were in Sidon & Tyrus, and them that dwell in Sur and O-cina, and all that dwell in Ierman: and they that dwell in Azous, and Afcalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes, & he destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might easily be worshipped.

1 ¶ They sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great king: we lie downe before thee: vnto vs as thou shalt command in thy sight.

3 Behold, we haue sold all our places, and all our fieldes of wheate, and our flockes, and our herds, and all our lodges and tabernacles lye before thee: vnto thee as it pleaseth thee.

4 Behold, even our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this manner.

6 Then came he downe to ward the sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garisons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the country round about received them, with wines, with daunces, and with timbells.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, & our down their woods: for it was ioynted him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor onely, & that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also he came against Edreton, nere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great situate of Iudea.

10 And he pitched betwene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, & there he taried a month, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Iudaues were affraid and desolated their country, & they came the Priest vnto the Iudaues, that they should forsake them: but they sayd to the Lord, and humbled themselves before him.

1 ¶ Now the children of Israel that dwell in Iudea, heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and howe he had spoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoro, and Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Efora, and to the valley of Salen,

5 And tooke all the toppes of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vittalles for the prouision of warre: for their fieldes were of late reaped.

6 Also Ioachim the hie Priest which was in those daies in Ierusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Efraclon toward y open countrey neere to Dathaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entrie into Iudea, and it was easie to let them that would come vp, because the passage was straiter for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Ioachim the hie Priest had commanded them with the Ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Ierusalem.

9 Then cryed every man of Israel to God with great feruency, & their soules with great affliction.

10 Both they, and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and euery stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar,

12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution & reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many daies in all Iudea and Ierusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Ioachim the high Priest, and all the Priests that stood before the Lord, & ministred vnto the Lord had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offered the continual burnt offering, with prayers and the free gifts of the people,

15 And had alhes on their mytres, and cried vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Iherusalem.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the toppes of the hie hills, and had laid impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith he was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he said vnto them, Shewe me, O ye sonnes of Chanaan, who is this people that dwelled in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabit? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength & their power? and what King or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 ¶ Then said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare y word of the mouth of his seruant, & I will declare vnto thee the truth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not followe the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many daies.

9 Then their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with very much cattell.

10 But when a famine couered all the lande of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so y one could not number their lineage.

11 ¶ Therefore the King of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them lowe with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues.

12 Then they cryed vnto their God, and he smote al the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

13 And God dried the red sea in their presence,

14 And brought them into mount Sina and Cades barne, and cast forth all that dwell in the wilderness.

15 So they dwelt in the lande of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esébon, and passing ouer Iordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Phereites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sicheu, and all the Gergeites, and they dwelt in that countrey many daies.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie was with them,

18 But when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull fort, and were led captiues into a land that was not theirs: & the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, & haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, & dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Nowe therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there there bee any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and wee shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, least their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and wee become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, we feare not to meeete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O lord Olofernes, and they shall be meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes his heart is God whom Achior confesseth. 14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

And when the tumult of the men that were about the councill, was ceased, Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, said vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight,* because their God will defend them: and who is God but Nabucho-donosor?

3 Hee will send his power, and wil destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants wil destroy them as one man: for they are not able to susteine the power of our horses.

4 For we will tread them vnder fete with them, and their mountaines shall bee drunken with their blood, and their fields shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footesteps shall not bee able to stand before vs: but they shall vterly perish.

5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth, hath sayde, euen hee hath sayde, None of my wordes shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntil I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue mee, passe through thy sides, & thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carry thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou bee destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy minde, that they shall not bee taken, let not thy countenance fill: I haue spoken it, and none of my wordes shall be in vaine.

10 Then commaunded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middelt of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the city saw them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the city vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, & kept them from coming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their Iord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie,

15 Which were in those dayes Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, & Chabris the sonne of Gothoniell, and Charis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ranne together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the middelt of al their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And hee answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the mids of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercy on the basenesse of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and prayed him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

Olofernes death by figne Bethulia. 2 The counsell of the Iudaeans and others against the Iherosolites. 22 The Bethulians were moued against their gouernours for lacke of waite.

The next day, Olofernes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoue their camps against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streites of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their camps in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundred thousand and seuentie footemen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were afote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spred abroade towards Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdræelom.

4 Nowe the children of Israel, when they sawe the multitude, were greatly troubled, and said euery one to his neighbour, Now wil they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines nor the valleys, nor the hills are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the seconde day, Olofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia.

7 And viewed the passages vp to their city, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them and set garions of men of warre ouer them, and remoued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him al the chiefe of the children of Esau, & al the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, & said, 9 Let our captaine now heare a worde, least an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Nowe therefore my lorde, fight not against them in battell array, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perih.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe al the men of thine armie, and let the men keepe still the water of the cuntry, that commeth forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For al the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and we and our people will goe vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children shalbe consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall bee ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these words pleased Olofernes & all his souldiers, & he appointed to do as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fure thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, & the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, & camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of them felues toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuier Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the field, and couered the whole lande: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderful great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lord their God, because their heart fayled: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Israel remained about them, both their footemen, chariots and horsemen foure and thirtie dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water ynough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wiues and yong men failed for thirst, & fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias; and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, and said before all the Elders,

24 The^r Lorde iudge betwene vs and you; for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue not required peace of the children of Assur.

25 For nowe we haue no helpe: but God hath sold vs into their hands, that (he should be throwen downe before them with thirst & great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, & deliuer the whole citie for a spoyle to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to bee made a spoyle vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will be his seruants that wee may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 Wee take to witnesse against you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lorde of our fathers, which punisheth vs, according to our finnes and the finnes of our fathers, that hee lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great cry of all with one consent in the middelt of the assembly, and they cryed vnto the Lord God with a loude voyce.

30 Then saide Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet fure dayes, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he wil not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come no helpe vnto vs, I wil doe according to your worde.

32 So hee separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towers of their citie, and sent their wiues and their children into their houses, and they were very low brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parturage, life, and conuersation of Iudith. 1. She releaseth the Remains of the gouernours. 2. She sheweth what she should see, and what she should see. 3. Her enterprise against the enemies.

Nowe at that time, Iudith heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Oer, the sonne of Ioseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acio, the sonne of Elia, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samuel, the sonne of Salafadai, the sonne of Israhel.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke and kindred, who dyed in the barley harvest.

3 For as hee was diligent ouer them that bound sheaves in the field, the beate came vpon his head, and hee fell vpon his bel, and diel in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betwene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Iudith was in her house a widowe three yeres and foure moneths.

5 And shee made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackcloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparel.

6 And shee fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, eue the day before the Sabbath & the Sabbaths, and the day before the newe moones, and in the feasts and solemne dayes of the house of Israhel.

7 She was also of a goodly countenance and very beautifull to beholde: and her husband Manasses had left her golde and siluer, and men seruants, and mayde seruants, and cattell, and possessions, where she remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for she feared God greatly.

9 Nowe when she heard the euill wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they failed for for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard alle the words that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had * sworn them to defend the cite vnto the Assyrians within fise dayes)

10 Then (hee sent her mayd, that had the gouernement of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charnis the Ancients of the cite.

11 And they came vnto her, and she sayd vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the Inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that ye haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which yee made and pronounced betwene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the cite to the enemies, vntesse within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, & set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now you seeke the Lord almightie, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can yee perceiue the things that he thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he will not helpe vs within these fise dayes, he hath power to defend vs while he will, euen every day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: For God is not as man that he may be threatened, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for saluation of him & call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these daies, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor city among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath bene aforesaid.

19 For * the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoyle, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust y he wil not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we shalbe taken, shal Iudeth be so famous: for our Sanctuarie shalbe spoiled, & he wil require the prophation therof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the country, and the desolation of our inheritance wil be turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, wherefoeuer we shalbe in bondage, and we shalbe an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our fertilitie shal not be directed by fauor, but the Lord our God shal turn it to dishonor.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuarie, and the House, and the altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreover, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things hee did to * Abraham, and how he tried Isaac, and all that hee did to * Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria: when he kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

27 For he hath not tried vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts: neither doeth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then said Ozias vnto her, All that thou hast spoken, hath thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is knowne, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowne thy wisdom: for the deuote of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirsty, & compelled vs to doe vnto them, as we haue spoken, & haue brought vs to an oth which we may not transgress.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may faime no more.

32 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will do a thing, which shalbe declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You that stand this night in the gate, & I will go forth with mine handmaid: & within the dayes that yee haue promised to deliuer the cite to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine ad: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things be finished that I doe.

35 Then sayd Ozias and the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth boundeth her selfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayer for the deliuerance of her people. 2 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 3 God is the helpe of the humble.

Then Iudeth fell vpon her face, and put althes vpon her head, & put off the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that evening was offered in Ierusalem in the house of the Lord, Iudeth cried with a loud voyce, and sayd:

2 O Lord God of my father * Simon, to whom thou gapest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the maid, and defiled her, and discoloured the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou haddest commanded that it should not so be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gapest their princes to the slaughter, for they were decuded, and washed their beds with blood) and hast stricken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray & their daughters to be captiues, and all their spoiles for a bootie to the childre that thou louest: which were moued with thy reule, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayd, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Beholde, we are heere: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknown.

7 Beholde, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselves with hories and horsemen: they glory in the strength of their footmen: they trust in shield, speare and bow, and sling, and do not know that thou art the Lord that breakst the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Break thou their strength by thy power, and breaketh their force by thy wrath: for they haue pur-posed to defile thy Sanctuary, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, & to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Beholde their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceiued.

uant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

54. and 55.

11 * For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weak, and the protectour of them that are forsaken, and the Saviour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer,

13 And grant me words and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprise cruell things against thy countenace, and against thine holy House, and against the top of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew evidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art the God of all power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudith decketh her self and walketh forth of the citie. 21 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians and brought to Olofernes.

NOW after she had ceased to cry vnto the God of Israel, & had made an end of all these words, 2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her mayd, and went downe into the house, in the which shee abode in the Sabbath dayes and in the feast dayes.

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherewith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, she washed her body with water, and anoynted it with much oymment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith she was clad during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feet, and put on bracelets, and steeues, and rings, and eareings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her mayd a bottell of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with floure, and with dry figges, and with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together, and layd them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there Oxiar, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charnis.

7 And when they saw her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they maruelled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and sayd vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fa-uour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glorie of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Command the gates of the citie to be opened vnto me, that I may goe forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they commanded the yong men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudith went out, she and her mayd with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill she was gone downe the mountaine, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went straight forth in the valleyes and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she sayd, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am bidden from them: for they shalbe giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shew before him the way whereby hee shall go and winne all the mountaines, without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they woondred greatly at her beautie, and sayd vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our lord:
now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he will intreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundred men, and prepared a charet for her and her mayd, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to & fro, thorowout the campe: for her coming was bruted among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for the stood without the tent of Olofernes vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.
19 And they maruelled at her beautie & woond-red at the children of Israel because of her, and euery one sayd vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes gard went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emerauds, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, & he came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they caried lamps of silver before him.

23 And when Iudith was come before him and his seruants, they all maruelled at the beautie of her countenance, and theee fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Olofernes comforteth Iudith, 2 and setteth the cause of her coming. 3 She decketh him by her faire words.

THEN sayd Olofernes vnto her, Woman, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the King of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwellesh in the mountaines, had not despised me, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselves.

4 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safeguard: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from

from this night and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they do the seruants of King Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth said vnto him, Receiue the wordes of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaide to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lye to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the wordes of thine handmaide, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not only men shall be made subiect to him by thee, but also the beasts of the fields, and the cattell, and the fowles of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For we haue heard of thy wisdom and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou only art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderful knowledge, and in feates of warre maruailous.

9 Nowe * as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy councill, we haue heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, reiect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sword preuaile against them, except they sinne against thy God.

11 Now therefore, least my lord should be frustrate, and voyde of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not becoming,

12 (For because their vitayles fayle, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his Lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheat, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserved and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their handes.

14 Moreover, they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to bee destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmayde, knowing all this, am fled from thy presence, and God hath sent mee to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoever shall heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and nowe let me remaine with thee, my lorde, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may requiele vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes,

18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will leade thee through the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no shepherd, and a dogge shall not baite with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto mee, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they maruelled at her wisdom, and sayde, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisdom of wordes.

22 Likewise Olofernes said vnto her, God hath done this, to sende thee before the people, that strength might bee in our handes, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy wordes: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall bee my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt bee renowned throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meat of the Gentiles: 5 shee watcheth her request that first might goe out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes counsaileth her to come to the banquet.

Then he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were layd, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that shee should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth sayd, * I may not eat of them, lest there should be an offence; but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

3 Then Olofernes sayd vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile; how should wee giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then sayd Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmayd shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mind hand the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thine handmayd may goe forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commanded his garde that they should not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at evening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants only, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then sayd he to Bagoas the eunuch who had charge ouer all that he had, Goe and perswade this Hebrew woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs, and eate and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should see such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we do not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and sayd, Let not this thing for, hath done well.

Gen. 22. 27. Gen. 22. 28.

faire mayd make difficultie to goe in to my lorde, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to be entreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Iudeth vnto him, Whome am I now, that I should gainesay my lord? Surely whatsoever please him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So she arose & trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, & her maid went, and spread forth her skinned on the ground ouer against Olofernes, which she had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vse, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Nowe when Iudeth came and satte downe, Olofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was moued, and he desired greatly her companie: for he had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had seene her.

17 Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be merrie with vs.

18 So Iudeth said, I drinke nowe, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then she tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things, that her maide had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then he had drunken at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ Iudeth preys for strength, & she smiteth of Olofernes necke, so she returneth to Bethulia and reserueth her people.

NOW when the evening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lorde, and they went to their beddes: for they were all worrie, because the feast had bene long.

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with * wine.

3 ¶ Now Iudeth had commanded her maide to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her coming forth as she did daily: for she said, she would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas, according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth of her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, sayde in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine handes for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For nowe is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approached to the bed, and tooke holde of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel this day.

8 And she smote twise vpon his necke, with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body downe from the bedde, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, and gaue Olofernes head to her mayde,

10 And she put it in her scrippe of meate: so they twaine went together according to their cu-

stome vnto praiser, and preassing through the tentes, went about by that valley, and went vnto the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then said Iudeth afaire off to the watchmen at the gates, Open nowe the gate: God, euen our God is with vs: to shewe his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as hee hath euen done this day.

12 Nowe when the men of her cite heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their cite, and they called the Elders of the cite.

13 And they ranne all together both small, and great: for it was aboute their expectation, that she should come. So they opened the gate, and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, & stood round about them twaine.

14 Then shee saide to them with a loude voyce, Prayse God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine handes this night.

15 So she tooke the head out of the scrippe and shewed it, and sayd vnto them, Beholde the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein hee did lie in his drunkenesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord Iudeth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and he hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God aboute all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heuens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpeniall praise, and visit thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holden our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIIII.

¶ Iudeth carrieth in away vnto the head of Olofernes, to shew her strength to the people of God. 21 The Iudians got out against the Assyrians.

THEN said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also, my brethren, and * take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your walles.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare and the sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the city, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field, toward the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: their feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall see before your face.

4 So you & all that inhabit the coasts of Israel, shall pursue them, and ouerthrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call mee Achior the Ammonite, that he may see, and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come and saw the head of Olofernes in a certene mans hand in the assemblie of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, he fell at Iudeths feet, and reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name, shalbe astonished.

8 Now therefore tel me all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that he had done from the day that he went forth, vntill that houre she spake vnto them.

9 And when she had left off speaking, the people reioycied with a great voyce, and made a noyse of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleueed in God vncinectly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶ Alsone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straits of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent also, sayd to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the vsages haue bene bolde to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Begos, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, hee opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voyce, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty cry, and rent his garments.

17 After he went into the tent of Iudeth where she vied to remaine, and found her not: then hee leaped out to the people and cried,

18 These slaues haue committed wickednesse: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for beholde, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a crie and a very great noyse thorowout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraid and flee. 2 The Iudethes are bold. 3 Iudeth the Priestess commeth to Bethulia, and doth and to praise God for her.

And when they that were in the tents, heard they were astonished as the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the fight of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warrior among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also that came from Ierusalem and from all the mountaines: for men had tolde them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, & they that were in Galad & in Galile chased them with a great slaughter vntill they came to Dairafcus and to the coasts thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoyled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Ioachim the hie Priest, and the Ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefits that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and sayd vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people sayd, So be it.

11 And the people spoyled the campe the space of thirtie dayes, and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and the tooke it and laid it on her mules, and made ready her charers, and layd them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, & blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and she tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with olives, and her that was with her, and the went before the people in the dance, leading all the women and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouths.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth praiseh God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lord Olofernes head. 22 Her goodnesse, life and death. 23 All Israel laudeth her.

Then Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voyce.

2 And Iudeth sayd, Beginne vnto my God withymbels: sing to my Lord withymbels: tune vnto him a psalme: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the middes of the people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecutors.

* Chap. 2. 17, 18.

4 Affur came from the mountaines forth of the North: hee came with thousandes in his armie, * whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemen haue couered the valleys.

5 He sayd that hee would burne vp my borders and kill my yong men with the sword, and dail the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoyle.

6 But the almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mighty did not fall by the yong men, neither did the sonne of Titan smite him, nor the high giants invade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfit him by the beaute of her countenance.

8 For shee put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound vp her haire in a coiffe, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beaute tooke his minde prisoner, and the fauchin passed thorow his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnes, and the Medes were troubled with her hardinesse.

11 But ming afflied reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voyce and turned backe.

12 The children of mayds pierced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the bartell of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lord a song and prayse, O Lord, thou art great & glorious, marueilous and inuincible in power.

* Gen. 1. 24.
p. 1. 33. 9.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirit, and he made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

15 For the mountains leape vp from their foundations, with the waters: the rocks melt at thy presence like water: yet thou art merciful to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too litle for a sweet sauour, and all the far is too litle for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kindred: the Lord almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire & wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feele them and weepe for euer.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and alsoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Iudeth also offred all the stiffe of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopie which he had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuarie, for the space of three moneths, and Iudeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the country.

22 And many desired her, but none had her companie all the dayes of her life after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to his people.

p. 1. 33. 9.

23 But she increased more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her husbands house, being an hundred and fife yeere olde, and made her nayd free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seuen dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were neere of kindred to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neere of her kindred.

* Gen. 1. 24.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the dayes of Iudeth, nor a long time after her death.

ESTHER.

Certeine portions of the storie of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations.

Which follow the tenth Chapter.

Hen Mardocheus sayd, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a drame, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther whom the King married, and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cried to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all these euils, and God hath wrought signes, and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lottes, one for the people of God, & another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lottes came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembered his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shall be vnto them in the moneth Adar the fourteenth, and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an asseemble and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemeus & Cleopatra, Dositheus, who said he was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolemeus his sonne, and brought the former letters of Phurrai, which they said Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolemeus, which was at Ierusalem, interpreted.

p. 1. 33. 9.

2 In the second yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mardocheus the sonne of Iarus, the sonne of Semai, the sonne sonne of Cis of y^e tribe of Benjamin had a dreame, 3 A Jewe dwelling in the cite of Susis, a noble man, that bare office in the Kings court.

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Na-buchodonosor the King of Babylon brought from Ierusalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Beholde a noyse of a tempest with thunders, and earthquakes, and vp-roare in the land.

6 Behold two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their cry was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And while they were crying, y^e little wel grew into a great river, & flowed out with great waters.

9 For then y^e righteous, fearing their afflictions were amaid, & being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, y^e little wel grew into a great river, & flowed out with great waters.

11 The light and the sunne rose vp, & the lowly were exalted, and denoued the glorious.

12 Nowe when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, he awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and so he desired to knowe all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the Kings court with Bagathas, and Thara, the Kings eunuchs and keepers of the palace.

2 * But when he heard their purpose, and their imaginings, he perceived that they went about to lay their hands vpon the King Artaxerxes, and so he certified the King thereof.

3 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuchs with torments, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to be put in the Chronicles. Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the King commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the court, and for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Aga-gite, which was in great honour & reputation with the King, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuchs of the King that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 3 The prayer of Mardocheus.

THE copie of the letters was this, The great King Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him, from India vnto Ethiopia, in an hundredth, and seuen and twentie provinces.

2 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my self by the reason of my power, but purposed wth equitie alway and gentlenesse to gouerne my subiects, & wholly to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillity, y^e men might safely go thorow on every side, & to reque peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Nowe when I asked my counsellors how these things might be brought to passe, one that was con-suerant with vs, of excellent wisdom, and constant in good wil, and shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelity, which had the second place in the kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway defied the commandmentes of Kings, and so that this generall empire, that we haue begunne, cannot be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing how wee perceiue, that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vning strange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euil opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdome shoulde not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue we commaunded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Artan (which is ordeined ouer y^e affaires, & is as our second father) shal all with their wiues and children be destroyed & rooted out wth the sword of their enemies without all mercy, & that none be spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yere;

7 That they which of olde, and now also haue euer bene rebellious, may in one day with violence bee thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and wel gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpoⁿ all the works and of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him,

9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King almighty (for all things are in thy power) & if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man y^e can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest,
Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proud Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good will for the saluation of Israel, to haue kist the sole of his feet.

14 But I did it, because I would not preferre the honour of a man at ouer the glory of God, & would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God and King, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance, y^e hath bin thine fro^m the beginning.

16 Despise not the portion, which thou hast de-liuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Hear me prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorow into ioy, that we may live, O Lord, & praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like maner cried most earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

QUEENE Esther also, being in danger of death,
resorted vnto the Lord,

2 And laid away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious oymment, she scattered ashes, and downd vpon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled the with the haire that she plucked off.

3 And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou onely art our King: helpe me deliuer womē, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

8 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kindred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookeſt Iſrael firſt among all people, & our fathers from their predeceſſors for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou haſt performed that which thou diddeſt promiſe them.

9 Now Lord, we haue ſinned before thee: therefore haſt thou giue vs into y hands of our enemies.

7 Becauſe we worſhipped theſe gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheleſſe, it ſatiſfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue ſtroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they will aboliſh the thing that thou with thy mouth haſt ordeined, and deſtroy thine inheritance, to ſhut vp the mouth of them that praife thee, and to quench the glorie of thy Temple, and of thine altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praife the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a ſeſhly king for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy ſcepter vnto them y be nothing, left they laugh vs to ſcome in our miſery: but turne their deſiſe vpon theſe lues, & make him an example, that hath begonne the ſame againſt vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and ſhew thy ſelfe vnto vs in the time of our diſtreſſe, and ſtrengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Ghu me an eloquent ſpeech in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemy, to deſtroy him, and all ſuch as conſent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs w thine hand, & helpe me that am ſolitarie, which haue no defence but only thee.

15 Thou knoweſt all things, O Lord: thou knoweſt, that I hate the glorie of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vnſcircumciſed, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knoweſt my neceſſitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I muſt ſhew my ſelfe, and that I abhorre it as a menſtruous clothe, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my ſelfe.

17 And y I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, & that I haue had no pleaſure in the Kings fraſt, nor drunke y wine of y drinke offerings,

18 And that I thine handmayde haue no ioye ſince the day that I was broughte hither, vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mighty God aboute al, heare the voice of them y haue none other hope, & deliuer vs out of the hand of y wicked, & deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

3 Mardocheus ſaith vnto eſther in the King, and make in-terceſſion for the people, &c. And ſhe perſwade him to do ſo.

Mardocheus alſo badde Eſther to go in vnto the King, & pray for her people, & for her country.

2 Remember, ſaith hee, the dayes of thy lowe eſtate, how thou waſt nourished vnder mine hande: for Aman which is next vnto the King hath giuen ſentence of death againſt vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, & ſpeake for vs vnto the King, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when ſhe had ended her prayer, ſhe layde away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And deckt her ſelfe goodly, after that ſhe had called vpon God, which is the beholder and ſaſour of all things, and tooke two handmaidens with her,

6 Vpon the one ſhe leaneſt her ſelfe, as one that waſtender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her veſture.

8 The ſhine of her beautie made her face roſe coloured: and her face was cheerefull and amiable, but her heart was ſorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then ſhee went in thorow all the doores, and ſtood before the King, and the King ſate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with golde and precious ſtones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then he liſt vp his face, that ſhone with maiſtie, and looked ſierely vpon her: therefore the Queene fel downe, and was pale & faint, and leaneſt herſelfe vpon the head of the maid that went w her.

11 Neuertheleſſe, God turned the Kings minde that he was gentle, who being careful, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till ſhee came to her ſelfe againe: and comforted her with louing wordes, and ſayd,

12 Eſther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare, 13 Thou ſhalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come neere.

14 And ſo hee helde vp his golden ſcepter, and layde it vpon her necke, 15 And kiſſed her, and ſaid, Talke with me.

16 Then ſayd ſhe, I ſaw thee, O lord, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiſtie.

17 For wonderful art thou, O Lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as ſhe was thus ſpeaking vnto him, ſhee fell downe againe for faintneſſe.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his ſer-uants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby he remembreth thoſe which he firſt ſent forth.

THE great king Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred and ſeuen and twentie prouinces, ſendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodneſſe of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And in deuour not onely to hurt our ſubiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe alſo imagine deſtruction againſt thoſe that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all chaſtefullneſſe away from men, but in pride & preſumption, as they that be vnmindfull of benefites, they thinke to eſcape the vengeance of God, that ſeeeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oft times many which be ſet in office, and vnto whom their friends cauſes are committed, by vaine ſentiſements doe wrap them in calamities, that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood.

6 And deceitfully abuſe the ſimpliciſtie, and gentleneſſe of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not onely by olde hiſto-ries, but alſo by thoſe things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of ſuch peſtilences, as are not worthy to beare ryle.

8 Therefore we muſt take heed hereafter, that we may make the kingdome peaceable for al men, whate chance ſo euer ſhall come,

9 And diſcerne the things that are before our eyes, to wiſh and them with gentleneſſe.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the ſonne of Ama-dathus,

16. 17. 18. 19.

datus, being indeede a stranger from the Persians blood, & far from our goodnes, was reuiced of vs, 11 And hath procured the friendshippe that we beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the King.

12 But he could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to depriue vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifold deceit also hath he desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent either the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we finde that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man,) they might be destroyed are no euil doers, but vse most iust lawes.

16 And that they be the children of the most High and Almighty & euerliuing God, by whom the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitors in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall doe well, if ye doe not put in execution those letters, that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For he that intended them, hungered at Iust before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deservings.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copy of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne Lawes.

20 And ye shall ayde them, that vpon the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged of them; which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy y day wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne dayes ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse.

23 That both now and in time to come this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs, and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be fediuous vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly be destroyed with sworde and fire, and shall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beastes and foule for euer.

THE WISEDOME OF SALOMON.

CHAP. I.

1 How we ought to search and enquire after God. 2 Who he is that ruleth him. 3 The holy Ghost. 4 We ought to sit from backbiting and murmuring. 5 Whereof death cometh. 6 Righteousness and vngodlyness.

LOVE *righteousnesse, ye that be Iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

2 *For he will be found of them that reuerent him not, and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and by choice when it is tryed, reprooche the vniuers.

4 Because wisdom cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the bodie: it is subiect vnto sinne.

5 For the holy *Spirke of discipline steeth from deceit, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wicked men commeth.

6 For the Spirit of Wisdom *is louing, and will not abhorre him that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a mercie of his crimes, and a true beholder of his heart, and a bearer of his tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the *Lorde filleth all the world: and the same day maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore he that speaketh vngodious things, can not be hid: neither shall the iudgement of reprocite let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall be made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the found of his wordes shall come vnto God for the correctio of his iniquities.

10 For the care of ielousie beareth all things, and the noyse of the grudging shall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, and reframe your tongue from slander: for there is no worde so feerer, that shall goe for naught; and the mouth that speaketh lies, slayeth the soule.

12 Seeke not death in the error of your life: *destroy not your selues thorow the workes of your owne hands.

13 *For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.

14 For hee created all things, that they might haue their being: & the generations of the world are preserued, & there is no portion of destruction in them, & the kingdom of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousness is immortall, but vngodlyness bringeth destruction.

16 And the vngodly call *it vnto them both with hands and words: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to naught: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

1 The imaginations and desires of the flesh, and they counted against the faithful.

FOR the vngodly say, as they fully imagine with their clauies: *Our life is short, & tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recovery, neither was any knownen that hath returned from y graue.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and wee shall be hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for the breath is a smoke in our nostrils, and the wordes as a smoke raised out of our heare.

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the Spirit vaneth as the fast ayre.

4 Our life shall passe away as the race of a cloud, and come to naught, as the miste that is diuined away with the beames of the sunne, and cast downe with the heat thereof. Our name also shall be forgotten in time, and not man shall haue our workes in remembrance.

5 For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man can escape it.

* 1/10.1.17.
and 1/10.1.18.
1/10.1.19.38.

6 * Come therefore, and let vs enjoy the pleasures, that are present, and let vs cheerfully vie the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our felues with costly wine, & ointments, and let not the flowre of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our felues with rose buds, as for they will be withered.

9 Let vs all bepartakers of our wantonnesse: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place: for that is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppress the poore that is righteous: let vs not spare the widow, nor reuerence the white haire of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our strength be the Lawe of vnrighteousnesse: for the thing that is feeble, is reprooued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraud the righteous: for he is not for our profite, and he is contrary to our doings: hee checketh vs for offending against the Law, and blameth vs as transgressors of discipline.

13 He maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God: & he calleth himselfe sonne of the Lord.

14 He is made to * reprooue our thoughts.

15 It grieveth vs also to looke * vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.

16 Hee counsell vs as bastards, and hee withdraweth himselfe from our wayes as from filthinesse: he commendeth greatly the latter ende of the iust, and boasteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs see shew if his wordes be true: let vs proue then what end he shall haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the * sonne of God, hee will helpe him, and deliuer him from the handes of his enemies.

19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes and torments that wee may knowe his meekenesse, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shameful death: for he shall be preferred as he himselfe saith.

21 Such things do they imagine, and go astray: for their owne wickednesse hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousness, nor can discern the honour of the soules that are faultlesse.

23 For God created man without corruption, & made him after the image of his own likenesse.

24 * Neuertheless, thorow enuie of the deuill came death into the world: and they that hold of his side, proue it.

CHAP. IIL

1 The conuersion and assurance of the righteous. 7 The reward of the faithful. 11 Who are miserable.

But the * soules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.

2 * In the sight of the vnwise they appeared to die, and their end was thought grieuous.

3 And their departing from vs, destruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they suffer paine before men, yet is * their hope full of immortalitye.

5 They are punished, but in fewe things, yet in many things shall they be wel rewarded: * For God proueth them, & findeth them meete for himselfe.

6 Hee tryeth them as the gold in the furnace, and receiueth them as a perfect fruite offering.

7 * And in the time of their vision they shall shine, and runne thorow as the sparkes among the stubble.

8 * They shall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lord shall reigne for euer.

9 They that trust in him shall vnderstand the truth, and the faithfull shall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercy is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 But * the vngodly shall be punished according to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisdom and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their works vnprofitable.

12 Their wiues are vndiscreet, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinfull bed: * she shall haue fruit in the visitation of the soules.

14 And the eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall be giuen the speciall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

16 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the root of wisdom shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shall not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shall be rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall be without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of trial.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIIL

Of the lawe and the commendation thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the commendation of the vnjust.

Butter is barrenness with vertue: for the memoriall thereof is immortal: for it is known with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe root, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, yet they shall be shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shall be rooted out.

5 For the vnperish branches shall be broken, and their fruit shall be vnprofitable and sower to eat, and meet for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witness of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous be prevented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisdom is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the olde age.

10 * He pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas he liued among sinners, he translated him.

11 He was taken away, lest wickednesse should alter alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his minde.

13 For wickednes by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, & the vntedfastnesse of conscience peruertereth the simple minde.

13 Though he was soone dead, yet fulfilled hee much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hastned he to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their heartes, howe that grace and mercy is vpon his Saintes, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: and the youth that is soone brought to an ende, the long life of the vnrigheteous.

17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preferred him in safetie.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lorde will laugh them to scorne.

19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voice shall he burst them and cast them downe, & shake them from the foundations, so that they shall be vtterly waisted, and they shall be in sorow, and their memoriall shall perish.

20 So they being afraide, shall remember their finnes, and their owne wickednes shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

13 The constancie of the righteous before their persecutors, 14 The hope of the vntedfast of vsour, 15 The blessedness of the Saints and godly.

THEN shall the righteous stande in great boldenes before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shall bee vexed with horrible feare, and shall be amazed for his wonderfull deliuerance.

3 And shall change their minds, & sigh for griefe of mind, & say within themselves, this is he whom we sometime had in derision & in a parable of reproch.

4 * Wee fooles thought his life madnesse, and his ende without honour.

5 Howe is hee counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore wee haue erred from the way of truth, & the light of righteousnes hath not shined vnto vs, & the sun of vnderstanding rose not vpo vs.

7 Wee haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and wee haue gone through dangerous waies: but we haue not known the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profite hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All those things are * passed away like a shadow, and as a post that passeth by:

10 As a ship that passeth ouer the wanes of the water, when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in y^e floodes:

11 Or as a * birde that flieth thorow the ayre, and no man can see any token of her passage, but only heare the noyse of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the ayre through the vehemencie of her going, and flieth on (shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found.)

12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a mark, it parteth the aire, which immediately cometh together againe, so y^e man cannot know where it was thorow.

13 Euen so we, as soone as we were borne, we began to draw to our end, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our own wickednes.

14 For the hope of the vngodly is like the dust that is blown away with the winde, & like a thynne fume that is scattered abroad wth the storme, & as the smoke which is dispersed with the winde, and as the remembrance of him passeth, y^e tareth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lorde, and the most High hath care of them:

16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shall he couer them, and with his arme shall he defend them.

17 He shall take his ielousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousness for a blesplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He will take holines for an inuincible shield.

20 He will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against y^e vnwise.

21 Then shall the thunder-bolts go freight out of the lightnings, and shall flie to the marke as out of the bent bowe of the cloudes, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile bee cast, and the water of the sea shall wrack against them, and the floods shall mightily overflowe.

22 And a mighty wind shall stand vp against them, and like a storme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shall bring all the earth to a wildernes, and wickednes shall overthrow y^e thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and Judges, which are also exhorted to search wisdom.

HEARE therefore, O yee Kings, and vnderstande: hearme, ye y^e iudges of the endes of the earth.

2 Giue care, yee that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of people.

3 For the rule * is giuen you of the Lorde, and power by the most High, which will try y^e works, and search out your imaginations.

4 Because that ye being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the wil of God,

5 Horribly & suddenly will he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue y^e beare rule.

6 For hee that is most low is worthy mercy, but the mightie shall be mightily tormented.

7 For he that is Lord ouer all, will spare no person, neither shall he feare any greatnes: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

8 But for the mightie abideth the sore trial.

9 Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, doe I speake, that ye may learne wisdom, and not goe amisse.

10 For they y^e keepe holines holily, shall be holy, and they that are learned there, shall finde a defence.

11 Wherefore set your desire vpon my wordes, and desire them, and ye shall be instructed.

12 Wisdom shined and neuer faded away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, and founde of such as seeke her,

13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew herself vnto them.

14 Who so waketh vnto her bedtimes, shall haue no great trouble: for he shall finde her sitting in his doores.

15 To thinke vpo her th^e is perfect vnderstanding, & who so watcheth for her, shall be soone wth care.

16 For the gooth about seeking such as are meete and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Morouer by her I shall obtaine immortallie, and leaue an euertlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people; and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mightie in battell.

16 When I come home, I shall rest with her: for my company hath no bitterness, and her fellowship hath no tediousnesse, but mirth and ioy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdom is immortallitie,

18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudence, and glory by communing with her, I went about seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a witlic childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, father being good, I came to an vnde-fleibed body.

21 Neuertheles, when I perceived that I could not enioy her except God gaue her, (and that was a point of wisdom also, to know whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Solomon to obtaine wisdom.

O God of Fathers, and Lord of mercie, which hast made all things with thy word,

1 And ordained man through thy wisdom, that he should haue dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made;

2 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousness, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

3 Glue me that wisdom, which sitteth by thy throne, & put me not out fro among thy children.

4 For I thy seruant, and sonne of thine hand-maid, am a feeble person; & of a short time, & yet lesse in vnderstanding of iudgement, & the lawes.

5 And though a man be neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdom bee not with him, he shall be nothing regarded.

6 Thou hast chosen me to be a King of thy people, & the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.

7 Thou hast commanded me to build a temple vpon thine holy Mount, & an altar in thy city, wherein thou dwellest, & likenes of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

8 And thy wisdom with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandments.

9 Send her out of thine holy heauens, & send her from the throne of thy Maiestie, that shee may be with mee, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

10 For shee knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and she shall lead me soberly in my workes, and preferre me by her glory.

11 So shall my workes be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and bee meete for my fathers throne.

12 For what man shall know the counsel of God, or who can thinke what the wil of God is?

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are fearefull, and our foresces are vncertaine.

15 Because a corruptible body is heauy vnto the soule, and the earthly manfou sekepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can we discern the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen?

17 Who can know thy counsell, except thou giue him wisdom, and send thine holy spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preferred through wisdom.

CHAP. X.

The inheritance of the righteous, and destruction of the sinners commeth through wisdom.

He preferred the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his office,

1 And gaue him power to rule all things,

2 But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.

3 For whose cause the earth was overflowed, but wisdom preferred it againe, gouerning the iust man by a little wood.

4 Morouer, when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, she knew the righteous, & preferred him faultles vnto God, & kept him sure, because she loued him tenderly as a sonne.

5 She preferred the righteous, when the vn-godly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the sinners.

6 Of whose wickednes the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimony, and the trees that beare fruite thauener commeth to ripeness: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

7 For all such as regarded not wisdom, had not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behind them, vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnes, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they can not lie hid.

8 But wisdom deliuered them that serued her.

9 When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

10 Against the couetousnesse of such as defaunded him, she stood by him, and made him rich.

11 She saved him from the enemies, & defended him from them that lay in wait, and she gaue him the price in a mightie battell, that he might know that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

12 When the righteous was sold, she forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: she went downe with him into the dungeons.

13 And sayled him not in the hands, till she had brought him the scepter of the realme, and power against those that oppressed him; and then that had accused him, she declared to be liars, and gaue him perpetual glorie.

14 She deliuered the righteous people & faultlesse from the rancours that oppressed them.

15 She entered into the fonsle of the seruant of the Lord, and stood by him in wonders & signes.

against the terrible King.

17 She gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them forth a maruelous way: on the day time she was a shadowe vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 * She brought them thorow the red sea, and caryed them through the great water.

19 But she drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoiles of the vngodly, * and praied thine holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hand with one accord.

21 For wisdom openeth the mouth of the dombe, & maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XL

1 The miracles done for Israel. 12 The vengeance of sinners. 13 The great power and mercy of God.

He prospered their works in the hands of thine Holy Prophet.

2 * They went through the wilderness that was not inhabited, and pitched their tentes in places where there lay no way.

3 * They stood against their enemies, & were auenged of their aduersaries.

4 * When they were thirstie, they called vpon thee, & water was given them out of the hic rock, & their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their need.

6 For in the stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to reuke the commendement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnto looked for.

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time * how thou haddest punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercie, they knew howe the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these haile thou exhorted as a father, and proued them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous King, when thou didst examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, & the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceiued through their tormentes good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondred at him, whome afore they had cast out, denyed and decided: for they had an other thirst then the iust.

13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednes wherewith they were decieued, and worshipped * serpents, that had not the vife of reason, and vile beastes, thou sendest a multitude of vnreasonable beastes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

14 For vnto thine almighty hand, that made the world of * naught, it was not vnpossible to send among them a multitude of * beares or fierce Lyons, 15 Or furious beasts newly created, and vnknown, which should breathe out blastes of fire and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not only destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yet, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength & might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme!

19 For as the small thing that the balance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dew, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, & makest as though thou sawest not the finnes of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, & hastest none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing if thou hadst hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if we were not thy will? or howe could any thing be preferred, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of soules.

CHAP. XIL

1 The merit of God toward sinners. 12 The works of God are vnsearchable. 13 God punisheth his enemies.

For thine incorruptible spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that go wrong, and warrest them by putting them in remembrance of the things, wherein they haue offended, that leaving wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 * As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou diddest hate them.

4 For they committed abominable workes, as forceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying of their own children wout mercy, & eating of bowels of mans flesh in bakinge, where the raging Priestes shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the soules destitute of all helpe, whome thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest aboute all other, might be a meete dwelling for the children of God.

8 * Neither these, thou sparest them also as men, and sendest the fore-runners of thine hoste, euen hornets to destroy them by lile and litle.

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by lile and lile, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well, that it was an vnrighteous nation and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seed from the beginning: yett hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, * What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men?

13 For there is none other God but thou, * that carest for all things, that our mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright.

14 There dare neither King nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them whome thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserved to be punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfite power, thou declarest thy power, and reproveest the boldnesse of the wile.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgeth with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes nowe haile thou taught thy people, that a man should bee iust and louing, and haile made thy children to bee of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death & so great consideration, & requesting vnto them, giuing them time & place that they might change from their wickednes.

21 With howe great circumspection wilt thou punish thine own children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sware and made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when wee iudge, wee should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when wee are iudged, wee should hope for mercy.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked & haile liued a disoluate life by their own imaginacions.

24 *For they went astray very farre in the wayes of error, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies desired, for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore haile thou sent this punishment that they should be in derision as childre without reason.

26 But they that will not bee reformed by those scornfull rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disdaind: but in these whome they counted godly, when they sawe themselves punished by them, they all acknowledge the true God whome afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

* All things be vaine, except the knowledge of God, so Idolaters and Idols are workes.

¶ Vrely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God: * and could not knowe him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes, the worke-maister.

2 * But they thought the fire, or the winde or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lightes of heauen to bee gouernours of the world, and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beaustie that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowne, how much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first author of beaustie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marvelled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceived more by, how much hee made these things, it mighte.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beaustie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, & seeke God and would finde him, yet peraduensure doe erre.

7 For they goe about by his workes, to seeke him, and are perauaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can knowe so much, that they can discern the workes, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens handes, golde, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beastes, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 * Or as when a carpenter curtheth downe a tree meete for the worcke, & pareth off all the bark thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the vse of life.

12 And the things that are cutt off fro his worcke, he belloseth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe.

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobles) he carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fulsomnesse in affecting the similitude of a man.

14 Or maketh it like some vile beaust, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth quere spote that is in it.

15 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron.

16 Prouiding so for it, least it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath neede of helpe.

17 Then hee prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: hee requirerth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his journey, him that is not able to go, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires he requirerth furtherance of him, that hath no manner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The destruction and consumption of images, 2 A curse of them, and of them that make them, 3. Of their idolaters practices, 4. What each of them should do.

A Gaine, another man purposing to faile, and intending to passe thorow the raging waues, caleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the shippe that carrieth him.

2 For as for it, conuictness of money hath found it out, & the craftsmen made it by cunning.

3 But thy providence, O Father, gouerneth it: For thou hast made a way, quen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues.

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without means.

5 Neuertheless thou wouldest not, that the workes of thy wisdom should be vaine, & therefore doe men comit their liues to a final piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormy sea in a ship, & are saued.

6 For in the olde time also when the proude giants perished, the hope of the worlde went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left seed of generation vnto the worlde.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteous cometh.

8 But that is cursed, & made with hands, * both it, and he that made it, because he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

9 For the vngodly, and his vngodlinesse are both both like hured of God, to tynke the worke and he that made it shal be punished together.

1 Ier. 10. 8.
habak. 2. 18.

10 Therefore shall there bee a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become a confusion: and stumbling blockes vnto the foules of men, and a snare for the feet of the vniuers.

11 For the inuention of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning; neither shall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned pitifully for his sonne that was taken away suddenly; hee made an image for him that was once dead, whome now hee worshippeth as a god, and ordeined to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by proces of time this wicked custome prevailed, and was kept as a lawe; and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeite the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a King, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had bene present.

17 Again the ambition of the craftiest men thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For hee peraduenture willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so thorow the beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, and so tooke him now for a God, which a litle afore was but honored as a man.

20 And thus was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in seruitude, through calamitie and tyrannie ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreover, this was not ynough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they liued in great warrtes of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

2 Dnt. 18. 10.
serm. 7. q. and

22 For either they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or vied secret ceremonies, or raging dissoluteness by strange rites.

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or els vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and slaughter, theft and deceite, corruption, vnfaithfulness, tumults, perurie.

25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulness, defiling of fontles, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adulterie and vncleanness.

26 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause and the ende of all euill.

27 For either they were seduced when they be merie, or propheticall lies, or lye vngodly, or els lightly forswore themselves.

28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes that they iustly bee punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, adding themselves vnto idoles, and because they sweare vniuently to decelue, and despite holines.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that saine, which punisheth alwayes the offense of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The worship of the faithful, praising the merits of God, by whose grace they first are saved.

But thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercy.

2 Though wee sinne, yet are wee thine: for wee know thy power: but wee sinne not, knowing that wee are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfect righteousness, and to know thy power is the roote of immortallitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that hee counterfeite the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things are worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

7 The potter also remembereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessel with labour to our vse: but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels, that serue to cleane vses, and the contrary likewise: but whereto euery vessel serueth, the potter is the iudge.

* Rom. 9. 21.

8 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a vaine God of the same clay: euen hee, which a litle afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a litle while after goeth thither againe whence hee was taken, * whe he shal make account for the lone of his life.

* Luy. 12. 20.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour he taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striveth with the goldsmithes, and siluer smithes, and counterfeitheth the copper smithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiueable things.

10 His heart is alhes, & his hope is more vile then earth, & his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, & gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to bee but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Now he that of earth maketh fraile vessels & images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboue all other.

14 Al the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subiection, are most vniuers, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge al the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eyesight to see, nor noyses to heare, nor cares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and hee that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a God like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but morall that he maketh with vnrighteous hands, hee himselfe is better then they whom he worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beastes also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beautie to bee desired in respect of other beastes: for they are destitute of Gods grace, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of the wicked, & the treasure that shall be theirs.

Therefore

that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intolerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometimes they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for came vpon them.

15 And thus, whoſo ever ſel downe, he was kept and ſhut in priſon, but without chaines.

16 For whether he was an husbandman; or a ſhepherd, or one that waſet to worke alone, if he were taken, he muſt ſuffer this neceſſitie, that hee could not auoyd:

17 (For with one chaine of darknes were they all bound) whether it were an hiſſing winde or a ſweet ſong of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemenſie of haſtie running water,

18 Or a great noyſe of the falling downe of ſtones, or the running of ſkipping beaſtes, that could not be ſcene, or the noyſe of cruell beaſtes, that roared, or the ſound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: theſe fearefull things made them to ſwoone.

19 For all the world ſhined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fell an heauy night, an image of that darkeneſſe that was to come vpon them; they were vnto themſelues more grieuous then darkeneſſe.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The ſcriptures what the Hieruſalites had in Egypt. 2 The diſſurance of the Iuſhites, to The Lord ſince the Egyptians. 3 The ſiue of the people in the wilderneſſe. 4 Aaron ſpake beſore the living and the dead with his croſſer.

1 Verily Saints had a very great *light, whoſe broyce, becauſe they heard, and ſaw not the figure of them, they thought them bleſſed, becauſe they alſo had not ſuffered the like.

2 And becauſe they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

3 Therefore thou gauſt them a burning pillar of fire to leade them in the vnknown way, and madeſt the ſunne that it hurted not them in their Honourable Iourney.

4 But they were woorthie to be deſtroyed of the light, and to be kept in darkeneſſe, which had kept thy children ſhut vp, by whom the vncompt light of the Law ſhould be giuen to the world.

5 Whereas they thought to ſlay the babes of the Saints, by one child that was caſt out; and preſumed to reprooue them, thou haſt taken away the multitude of their children, and deſtroyed them all together in the mightie water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuen credit, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus thy *people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were deſtroyed.

8 For as thou haſt puniſhed the enemies, ſo haſt thou glorified vs whom thou haſt called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered ſecretly, and made a Law of righteouſneſſe by one conſent, that the Saints ſhould receiue good and euill in like maner, and that the fathers ſhould ſit ſing praifes.

10 But a diſagreeing crie was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noiſe for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the *maſter, and the ſervant were puniſhed with like puniſhment, and the common people ſuffered alike with the King.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the living ſufficient to burie them: for in the twinkling of an eye the nobleſt offspring of them was deſtroyed.

13 So they that could beleue nothing, becauſe of the enchantments, confeſſed this people to be the children of God, in the deſtruction of the firſt borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet ſilence, and the night was in the miſſet of her ſwift courſe,

15 Thine Almighty word leapt downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a ſierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was deſtroyed, 16 And brought thine vnſeined commandment as a ſharpe ſword, and flood vp and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the ſight of the fearful dreames vexed them ſuddenly, & fearfullneſſe came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and ſhewed the cauſe of his death.

19 For the viſions that vexed them, ſhewed them theſe things afore: ſo that they were not ignorant, wherefore they periſhed.

20 Now temptation of death touched the righteous alſo, and * among the multitude in the wilderneſſe there was a plague, but the wrath indured not long.

21 For the blameleſſe man made haſte, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his miniſtration, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perſume, and ſet himſelf againſt the wrath, and ſo brought the miſerie to an end, declaring that hee was thy ſervant.

22 For he ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he ſubdued him that puniſhed, alleging the othes and covenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heaps one vpon another, he ſtood in the middes, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from coming to the living.

24 * For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the fourerowes of the ſtones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiſtie in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto theſe the deſtroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them: for it was ſufficient, that they had taſted the wrath.

1 As for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the end: for hee knew what ſhould come vnto them.

2 That they (when they had conſented to let them goe, and had ſent them out with diligence) would repent, and purſue them.

3 For while yet ſorrow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuſed another fooliſhneſſe, ſo that they perſecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had caſt afore with prayer.

4 For the deſtiny, whereof they were woorthie, brought them to this end, and cauſed them to forget forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments.

5 Both that thy people might trie a marvellous passage, and that these might find a strange death.

6 For every creature in his kinde was facioned of newe, and serued in their owne offices inioyned them, that thy childre might be kept without hurt.

7 For the cloud ouerladowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended in thine hand, seeing thy wondrous maruelles.

9 For they lyneyed like hories, and leaped like lambes, praying thee, O Lord, which haddest deliuered them.

10 For they were yet mindefull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought forth flies, in stead of cattell, and how the river frauled with the multitude of frogges in stead of fishes.

11 * But at the last they saw a new generation of birdes, when they were intised with lust, and desired delicate meates.

12 * For the quailles came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundring: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers.

13 For the one sort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things some would not suffer, that any regard should be had of them: for they handled the strangers despitfully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banquetting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of the righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darknesse, sought the entrance of his doore.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musike, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceived by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were charged into things of the water, & the thing that did swimme went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne virtue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Again, the flames did not hurt flesh of the corruptible beast, that walked therein, neither melted they which seemed to be yce, and was of a nature that would melt, & yet was an immortal meat.

21 For in all things, O Lorde, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

THE WISDOME OF IESVS THE SONNE OF SIRACH, called Ecclesiasticus.

¶ This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

This Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and bee liued in the latter times: after the people had bene ledde away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Nowe his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdom among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men, that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdom. So the first Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who rooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISDOMES, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfather: thinking by this title of Wisdom to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, such of men that were approued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreover, what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plague he had beaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was as little famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeed.

The Prologue of the Wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

Whereas many, and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisdom, where they the readers ought not only to become learned themselves, but also may be able by the diligent studie thereof to be profitable vnto strangers both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other books of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write something pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselves to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it as good woorth, though we seeme to some in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expressed: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselves then when they are translated into another tongue, and not only these things but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other books haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt, vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copie full of great learning, & I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence, and traualle to interprete this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply them selues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Lawe.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisdomes counsell of God. 21 A praise of the feare of God.
29 For mercies to come by wisdomes.

1. King 3. 9. and 439.
 That which is marked with these two markes [] is read in the Latine copies, and not in the Greeke.

Wisdom 1 counsell of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him,] and is with him for euer.

2 Who can number the sand of the sea, and the drops of the raine, and the dayes of the world? [who can measure] the height of the heauen, the bredth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisdom [of God which hath bene before all things?]

4 Wisdom hath bene created before all things, & the vnderstanding of prudence fro euertlasting.

5 [The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisdom, and the euertlasting commandments are the entrance vnto her.]

6 Vnto whom hath the root of wisdom bene declared? or who hath knowen her wise counsell?

7 [Vnto whom hath the doctrine of wisdom bene discovered and shewed? and who hath vnderstood the manifold entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wise, [euen the most high Creator of all things, the Almighty, the King of power] and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 He is the Lord, that hath created her [throw the holy Ghost:] he hath seene her, numbered her, [and measured her.]

10 He hath poured her out vpon all his works, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and heuer abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory, and gladnes, and reioicing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a merie heart, and giueth gladnesse and ioy, and long life.

13 Who lo feareth the Lord, it shal go wel with him at the last, and he shal finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wisdom, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great workes thereof.]

15 *The feare of the Lorde is the beginning of wisdom, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [shee goeth with the chosen women, and is knowen with the righteous and faithfull.]

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy knowledge. 17 Holines shall preserue, and iustise the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnesse.

18 Who lo feareth the Lorde, shall prosper, and in the day of his ende, he shal be blessed.]

19 [Shee hath built her euertlasting foundations with men, and is giuen to be with their seede.]

20 To feare God is the fulnesse of wisdom, and filleth men with her fruites.

21 She filleth their whole house with [all] things desirable, and the gamers with the things, that she bringeth forth, and both twaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lorde is the crowne of wisdom, and giueth peace and perfect health: he hath seene her, and numbered her.

23 [Shee raineth downe knowledge, and vnderstanding of wisdom, and hath brought vnto honour, them that possessed her.]

24 The feare of the Lorde is the roote of wis-dome, and her branches are long life.

25 [In the treasures of wisdom is vnderstanding, and holy knowledge, but wisdom is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord driueth our sinne: and when he is present, she driueth away anger.

27 ¶ For wicked anger cannot bee iustified: for his rashnesse in his anger [shall be his destruction.]

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 He will hide his wordes for a time, and many mens lips shall speake of his wisdom.

30 In the treasures of wisdom are the secrets of knowledge, but [sinners abhorreth] worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisdom, keepe the commandments, and the Lord shal giue her vnto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdom and discipline: he hath pleasure in faith, and mekenesse.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 ¶ Bee not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heed what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thy selfe, least thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, & cast thee downe in the middes of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deccie.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the fragrant of God to righteousness, law, vnderstanding, and patience. 21 To trust in the Lord. 23 A curse vpon them that are simple hearted and ingenuit.

MY sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God, [stand fast in righteounesse and feare, and] prepare thy soule to reutation.

2 Settle thine heart, and bee patient: [howe downe thine care, and recieue the words of vnderstanding,] and shrinke not away, when thou art assailed, [but waite vpon God patiently.]

3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayest be encreased at thy last end.

4 Whatsoeuer cometh vnto thee, recieue it patiently, & be patient in the change of thine affliction.

5 *For as gold [& siluer are] tried in [] fire, euen so are men acceptable in the furnace of aduersitie.

6 Beleeue in God, and he will helpe thee: order thy way right, and trust in him: [hold fast his feare, and grow old therein.]

7 Ye that feare the Lord, wait for his mercie: shrinke not away from him that ye fall not.

8 Ye that feare the Lord, beleeue him, & your reward shall not faile.

9 O ye that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the euertlasting ioy and mercie.

10 [Ye that feare the Lord, loue him, and your hearts shal be lightened.]

11 Consider the olde generations [of men, yee children,] and marke them well: * was there euer any confounded, that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, & was forsaken? or whom did he euer despise, that called vpon him?

12 For God is gracious & mercifull, and forgiueth sinnes, & saueh in the time of trouble, [and is a defender of all them that seeke him in the truth.]

13 Woe vnto them that haue a [] fearful heart, [and to the wicked hps] and to the faint hands, and

CHAP. III.

As to our father and mother taught us to give double honour, as of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. As man ought not curiously to search out the secret of God.

[The children of wisdom are the Church of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and do thereto, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his finnes shall be forgiven him, [and he shall absteine from them, and shall haue his dayly desires.]

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, & when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 Hee that honoureth his father, shall haue a long life, and hee that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 Hee that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, & doth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

*Ecc. 30. 12.

dem. 1. 18. mat. 15.

15. apoc. 1. 2. 3.

For the blessing of men.

9 * Honour thy father and mother, in deed and in word [& in all patience] that thou mayest haue Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

12 Seeing that mans glorie commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children, 13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despite him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a fortresse for thee against finnes, [and for thy mothers offence, thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be found for thee in righteousness.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy finnes also shall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and he that angrieth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 ¶ My sonne, performe thy duties with meeknesse, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approved.

19 The * greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things,] and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord.

*Psal. 139.

20 Many are excellent and of renowne: but the secrets are reuelled vnto the meeke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

22 * Seeke not the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things rashly which are too mighty for thee.

23 [But] what [God] hath commanded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his works:] for it is not needfull for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee about the capacitee of men.

25 The meddling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceeled their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not see without discomforthe: not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubborne heart shall fare euill at the last: and he that loneth danger, shall perill therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and he that is froward of heart, shall humble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorrowe: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proud is without remedie, and his steepest shall be pickt vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken root in him, [and he shall not be effeemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentive eare is the desire of a wise man.

CHAP. IIIII.

1. Almes must be done with gladheart. 2. The fruit of wisdom and her fruit. 3. A rebuke to a sinner, and to do good.

MY sonne, desist not the * power of his living, and make not the needy eyes to waite long.

*Dem. 15. 5.

2 Make not an hungry soule sorrowfull, neither vex a man in his beggerie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieved, and deferre not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore.

*Ier. 1. 1.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in } bitterness of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the companion [of poore, and humble thy soule sorrowfull, and bowe downe thine head to a man of worship.]

8 Let it not grieue thee to howe downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy debt,] and giue him a friendly answer.

9 ¶ Deliber him that saileth wrong, from the hand of the oppressour, and be not faint hearted when thou iudget.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the forme of the most High: & he shall loue thee more then thy mother doth.

11 Wisdome exalteth her children, and reeiueth them that seeke her, [and will go before them in the way of righteousness.]

12 He that loueth her, loatheth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioy.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherit glory: for vnto whom she entreateth him, the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the Holy one, and them that loue her, the Lord doth loue.

15 Who so giueth care vnto her, shall iudge the nations, & he that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 He that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first she will walke with him by crooked waies, and bring him vnto feare, and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill she haue tried his soule, and haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will she reurne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him secrettes, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousness.]

19 But if he go wrong, she will forsake him, and giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.

20 [My sonne,] make much of time, and seuer the thing that is euill.

21 And be not ashamed, [to say the truth] for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and laour.

22 Accept no perion against thine owne conscience, that thou be not condemned to thine owne decay, [and forbear not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may do good, neither hide thy wisdom when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdom knowne, and learning by the words of the tongue, [and counsell, wisdom & learning by the talking of the wife, and steadfastness in the works of righteousness.]

25 In no wise speake against the word of truth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine own ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to, confesse thy sinnes, and resist not the course of the river.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mightie.

28 Serue for the trieth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not hasty in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy works.

30 Be not as a Lion in thine owne house, neither beate thy seruants forth fantasie, [nor oppress them that are vnder thee.]

31 Let not thine hand be stretched out to receive, and shrink when thou shouldst giue.

11 All so 35.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may we not put any confidence, for the compasses of our sight be so short, and our hope may not be deceived.

2 Trust not vnto thy riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

3 Follow not thine owne minde, & thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart.

3 Neither say thou, [How haue I had strength] or who will bring me vnder for my works? for God the almighty will reurne the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, & what euill hath come vnto me? for the Almighty is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee vnpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: he will forgive my manifold sinnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation cometh downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy securitie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in day of punishment [and vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with euery winde, and go not into euery way: for so doth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding, [and in the way and knowledge of the Lord] and haue but one manner of word, [and follow the word of peace and righteousness.]

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answer with wisdom.

12 Be swift to heare good things, & let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answer.

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answer thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [lest thou be trapped in an vndiscreet word, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the thiefe, & an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued [but he that is a backbiter, shall be hated, enuied and confounded.]

16 Do not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the property of a sinner to be euill tongued, & of friends ship. 23 Defence to be taught.

1 Be not of a friend [thy neighbours] enemy: for such shall haue an euill name, shame & reproch, and hee shall be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Be not proud in the deuce of thine owne minde, lest thy foulerent thee as a bull,

3 And eat vp thy leaues, and destroy thy fruit, & so thou be left as a drie tree [in the wilderness.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweet talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Holde friendship with many, neuertheless haue but one counsellor of a thousand.

7 If thou gettest a friend, prouide him first, and be not hasty to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enemie, and taketh part against thee, & in contention he will declare thy shame.

¹⁰ Chap. 37. 4. 5.

10 Againe some * friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperitie he will be as thou thy selfe, and will vñc liberate ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought lower, he will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of gold & silver] is not to be compared to the goodnes [of his faith.]

16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life, and immortalitie, and they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lorde, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou finde wisdomē [which shall endure] till thine olde age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and wayt for her good fruites: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke: but thou shalt eate of her fruites right soone.

20 Howe exceeding sharpe is thee to the vnlearned: he that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one thee is as a fine touchstone, and he callest her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisdomē, but there be but fewe that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that know her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue care, my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bowe downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not wearie of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and searce her, and she shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt find rest in her, and that shall turne to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] and her chaines a glorious rayment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bandes are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee, as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt be taught, and if thou wilt apply thy mind, thou shalt be witty.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the Elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

³⁶ Chap. 38. 3.

36 ¶ Desire to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou see a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy foote weare the steps of his doores.

38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinances of the Lorde, and bee continually * occupied in his commandments: so shall hee habilitate thine heart, and giue thee wisdomē at thine owne desire.

³⁹ Chap. 39. 1. 2.

CHAP. VII.

¹ ¶ We must forsake euill, and yet not forsake our friends, as the behaviour of the wife to her husband, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

Doe no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sowe not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnesse, lest that thou reape them seuen fold.

6 Seeke not to be made a Iudge, lest thou be not able to take away iniquitie, & lest thou, fearing the person of the mightie, shouldst commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offende not against the multitude of a cite, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

⁸ Chap. 39. 1.

8 ¶ Binde not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, & when I offer to the most high God, he will accept it.

10 Be not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in puing of almes.

We must take heed with whom we haue to doe.

Trust not with a mighty man, lest thou fall into his hands.

2 * Make not variance with a rich man, lest he on the other side weigh downe thy weight: * for golde [and siluer] hath destroyed many, and hath subuerted the hearts of Kings.

3 Strive not with a man that is full of wordes, and lay no stickes vpon his fire.

4 Play not with a man that is vntaught, lest thy kinned be dishonoured.

5 * Despise not a man that turneth himselfe away from sinne, nor cast him not in the teeth with all, but remember that we are all worthy blame.

6 * Dishonour not a man in his old age: for they were as we which are not olde.

7 Be not glad of the death of thine enemy, but remember if we must die all, [& so enter into ioy.]

8 * Despise not the exhortation of the [Elders] that be wise, but acquaint thy selfe with their wise sentences: for of them thou shalt learne wisdom, [and the doctrine of vnderstanding,] and how to serue great men [without complaint.]

9 Goe not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, and of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, and to make answer in the time of neede.

10 Kindle not the coles of sinners, [when thou rebukest them,] lest thou bee burne in the fierie flames [of their finnes.]

11 Rise not vp against him that doeth wrong, that he lay not waite as a spy for thy mouth.

10 Many woodndring at the beaurie of a strange woman, haue bene cast out: for her words burne as a fire.]

11 Sit not at all with another mans wife [neither lie with her vpon the bed,] nor banquet with her, lest thine heart incline vnto her, and so through thy desire fall into destruction.

12 ¶ Forsake not an olde friend: for the new shall not be like him: a new friend is as new wine: when it is olde, thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

13 * Desire not the honour [and riches] of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shall be his end.

14 Delight not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, but remember that they shall not be found iust vnto their graine.

15 Keep thee from the man that hath power to slay: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, lest he take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the middes of snares, and that thou walkest vpon the towers of the citie.

16 Trie thy neighbour as neere as thou canst, and aske counsell of the wise.

17 * Let thy talke be with the wise, and all thy communication in the Law of the most High.

18 Let iust men eate & drinke with thee, and let thy reioycing be in the feare of the Lord.

19 In [the] handes of the craftsmen, shall the works be commended, and the wise prince of the people by his word, [and the word by the wisdom of the Elders.]

20 A man full of words is dangerous in his ckie, and he that is rash in his talking shall be hated.

CHAP. X.

Of Kings and Judges. 1. A Prince and counsellor are to be abhorred. 18. Let no man be proud.

A wise Iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

3 As the iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his officers, and what manner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are they that dwell therein.

* 1. King. 12. 5.
13. 14.

3 An vnwise King destroyeth his people, but where they that be in authoritie, are men of vnderstanding, there the citie prospereth.

4 The gouernment of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he will set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the scribles will he lay his honour.

* Leuit. 19. 17.

6 Be not angry for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by inuious praesises.

7 Pride is hateful before God and man, and by both dooeth one commit iniquitie.

* Ierem. 17. 6.
18. 4. 14.

8 Because of vnrighteous dealing & wrongs, and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdom is translated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proud, O earth and ashes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money] for such one would euen sel his soule, and for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his own bowels.

10 [All tyrannie is of small endurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grievous to the physician.]

11 The physician cutteth off the sore disease, and he that is to day a King, to morrow is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proude, seeing that when a man dieth, he is the heire of serpents, beasts and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the original of sinne, and he that hath it, shall poure out abomination, till at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the perswasions [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the end.

* Luke 1. 31.
and 14. 11.
and 14. 29.
1. Cor. 7. 3.

15 The Lord hath cast downe the thrones of the [proud] princes, and set vp the meek in their stead.

16 The Lorde plucketh vp the rootes of the [proud] nations, and planteth the lowly with glorie among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the landes of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: he causeth them to wither away, and destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to cease out of the earth.

18 [God destroyeth] memoriall of the proud, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither with in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man which is an honourable seed: the honourable seed are they that feare the Lord: there is a seed of man, which is without honour: and the seed without honour, are they that transgresse the commandements of the Lorde: it is a seed that remaineth which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a seed without honour, that despise the Law, & a deceptible seed, that breaketh the commandements.

21 He that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lorde in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lord quieteth that the kingdome saileth not, but the kingdom is lost by crueltye and pride.

23 The feare of the Lorde is the glorie as well of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meet to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it comendable to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge and the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater, then he that feareth the Lord.

* Pro. 27. 1. 5.
2. Sam. 13. 3.

26 Vnto the seruant that is wise, [that they that are free doe seruice:] he that hath knowledge, will not grudge when he is reformed, [and the ignorant shall not cometo honour.]

27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldst doe thy worke, neither be ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

* Pro. 12. 9. 12.

28 Better is he that laboureth and hath plentifulnesse of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 My sonne, get thy selfe praise by meeknesse, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deservest.

30 Who wil count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him, that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 He that is honourable in pouertie, howe much more shall he be when he is rich? and hee that is vn honest being rich, how much more will he be so when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought we not to iudge. 3 Of rash iudgements. 4 All things come of God. 5 All men are not to be brought into trust but his.

Wise dome * listeth vp the head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men.

* Gen. 41. 40.
1. Sam. 9. 1.

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, neither despise a man in his viter appearance.

3 The Bee is but small among the fowles: yet doeth her fruite passe in sweetnesse.

4 Bee not proude of clothing and rayment, * and exalt not thy selfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lord are wonderfull, [and glorious,] secreete, [and vnknowne] are his workes among men.

* All. 12. 21. 23

5 Many tyrants haue sit downe vpon the earth, * and the vnlikely hath worne the crowne.

* 1. Sam. 19. 18.
1. Sam. 26. 10.

6 Many mightie men haue bene brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue bene defected into other mens hands.

7 * Blame [no man] before thou hast inquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then reforme [righteously.]

and 17. 14.
1. Sam. 7. 23.

8 * Giue no sentence, before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the mids of their tales.

* Pro. 18. 13.

9 Strive not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the iudgement of another.

10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not be blamelesse, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.

* Matt. 19. 12.
1. Tim. 6. 9.

11 * There is some man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he hath, the more he wanteth.

* Pro. 10. 3.

12 Again there is some that is slothfull, and

* Job. 41. 10.

* hath neede of helpe : for he wanteth strength, and hath great pouertie, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his lowe estate.

13 And he lieth vp his head: so that many men maruell at him, [and giue honour vnto God.]

* Job. 1. 21.
41. 18. 4.

14 * Prosperitie and aduersitie, life and death, pouertie and riches come of the Lord.

15 Wisedome and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lorde: loue and good workes come of him.

16 Error and darknesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselves in euill, waxe olde in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and nigardship, and this is the portion of his wages,

* Luke 12. 15.

19 In that he saith, * I haue gotten rest, and nowe will I eate continually of my goods, yet hee considereth not, that the time draweth neere, that he must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Mauiel not at the works of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lorde is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profite and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shall I haue hereafter?

24 Again say not, I haue enough, and possesse many things, and what euill can come to mee hereafter?

* Chap. 11. 14.

25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to reward a man according to his ways.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his workes are discovered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shall be known by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like stomaches that belch stinckingly.]

30 As a partrich is taken vnder a baskett, [and the hind is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in waite and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy praise hee will finde some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sinfull man layeth waite for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and he will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, & driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

1 ¶ Unto whom we ought to doe good, 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

When thou wilt doe good, know to whome thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefices.

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High.

* Gal. 6. 10.

3 He cannot haue good that cōtinueth in euill, & giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercie vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: holde backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, least he ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, & will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend can not be known in prosperitie, neither can an enemy be vnknown in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans verie friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemy: for like as a yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as he that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, least hee destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, least hee seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and be pricked with my sayings.

* Chap. 11. 14.

14 * Binde not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be vnpunished.

15 Who will haue pitie on the charmer, that is stinging of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the beasts? so is it with him that keepeth companie with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he taryeth not.

* 10. 13. 4.

17 * An enemy is sweet in his lips: he can make many good words, and speake many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth how to throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, he will not be satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersity come vpon thee, thou shalt find him there first, and though he pretend to helpe thee, yet shall hee vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clappe his hands, and will make many wordes, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companie of the proude and of the rich are to be shunned, 15 The lost of God. 17 Like doe companie with their like.

HE * that toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it; and he that is familiar with the proude, shall be like vnto him.

* 10. 13. 4.

2 Burthen not thy selfe about thy power, whilst thou liuest, and companie not with one that is mightier, & richer then thy selfe: for howe agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, and threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreat: if the rich haue done wrong, hee must

He that feareth the Lord, will doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keepe it sure.

2. Asan [honourable] mother shall thee meete him, and she, as his wife married of a virgine, will recuse him.

* Jobn 4. 10.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderstanding shall thee feede him, and give him the * water of [wholefome] wisdom to drinke.

4 He shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not be moued, and shall holde himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.

5 She shall exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the middes of the congregation shall thee open his mouth: [with the spirit of wisdom, and vnderstanding shall thee fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 Shee shall cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladnes, and an euerslasting name.

7 But foolish men will not take holde vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding, will meete her:] the sinners shall not see her.

8 For she is farre from pride [and deceite,] and men that lye, can not remember her: [but men of truth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisdom, [and be plenteous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lord wil prosper it.

11 Say not thou, it is through the Lorde that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to do the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, He hath caused me to erre: for he hath no neede of the sinners will.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of error:] and they that feare God, loue it not.

* Gen. 1. 27.

14 * Hee made man from the beginning, & left him in the hande of his counsell, [and gaue him his commandments and precepts.]

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandments, and testifie thy good will.

16 He hath fet water & fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

* Levi. 11. 8.

17 * Before man is life and death, [good and euil,] what him liketh shall be giuen him.

18 For the wisdom of the Lorde is great, and he is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

* Psal. 33. 15, 16.
Heb. 4. 13.

19 * And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, & he knoweth all the works of man.

20 He hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath he giuen any man licence to sinne: [for he desireth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.]

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of vnprofitable and wicked children. 17 No man can hide himselfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiving of instruction.

Desire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they bee many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For out that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the cite bee inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shall be wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 * In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire bee kindled, and among vnfaithfull people shall the wrath be set on fire.

* Isa. 31. 9, 10.

7 * Hee spared not the olde gyants, which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength,

* Gen. 6. 4.

8 * Neither spared he where as Lot dwelt, those whom he abhorred for their pride.

* Gen. 19. 11, 12.

9 Hee had no pittie vpon the people that were destroyed, and puffed vp in their finnes.

10 * And so hee preferred the sixe hundredth thousand footemen, that were gathered in the hardnesse of their heart, in afflicting them and pitying them, in smiting them and healing them, with mercy, and with chastisement.

* Num. 14. 16.
16. 10. & 26. 11.

11 Therefore if there be one stiffnecked among the people, it is matuise if hee escape unpunished: for mercy and wrath are with him: he is mighty to forgieue and to poure out displeasure.

12 * As his mercy is great, so is his punishment: also: he iudgeth a man according to his works.

* Eccl. 9. 4.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoile, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 He wil giue place to all good doers, and euery one shall finde according to his works, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lorde hardened Pharaos, that he should not know him, & that his works should be known vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercy is known to all creatures: he hath separate his light from the darkenes & an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my selfe from the Lorde: for who wil thinke vpon me from aboue? I shal not be known in so great an heape of people: for what is my soule among such an infinite number of creatures?

18 Beholde, the heauen, and the heauen of heauens, which are for God, the depth, and the earth and all that therein is, shall be moued when he shall visite.

* Psal. 136.
136. 8, 9, 10.
Eccl. 1. 10.

19 All the world which is created and made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lorde looketh vpon them.

20 These things doth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but he vnderstandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the storme that no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousness? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is farre off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, wil consider these things: but an vnwise and erroneous man catcheth his minde vpon foolish things.

24 My sonne, hearken vnto me, & learne knowledge, and marke my words with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee waichtige doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath hee finished from the other when he first made them.

27 Hee hath garnished his workes for euery, and their beginnings so long as they shall endure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindreth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his wordes.

29 After this the Lord looked vpon the earth and filled it with his good things.
30 With all manner of liuing beasts hath he couered the face thereof, & they returne into it againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The creation of man, and the goodness that God hath done vnto him. 20 Of sinners, 21 Repentance.

THe * Lord hath created man of the earth, and tuned him vnto it againe.

2 He gaue him the number of dayes, and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

3 He clothed them with strength, as they had neede, and made them according to his image.

4 He made all flesh to feare him, so that hee had the dominion ouer the beastes and fowles.

5 [* He created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe,] and gaue them discretion and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and sixtly he gaue them a spirit, and scuently he gaue them speech to declare his workes.

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euill.

7 He set his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble workes.

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they should prudently declare his workes, and that the elect should praise his holy Name together.

9 Besides this, he gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the Lawe of life for an heritage, that they might now know that they were mortall.

10 He made an euermlasting couenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes saw the maiestie of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voyce.

12 And he said vnto them, Beware of al vnrighteous things. * He gaue euery man also a commandement concerning his neighbour.

13 Their wayes are euery before him, and are not hid from his eye.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their stonke hearts can not become flesh.

15 Hee appointed a ruler vpon euery people, when he diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 * And he did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whome he nourisheth with discipline as his first borne, and giueth him most louing light, and doeth not forsake him.

17 All their workes are as the sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hid from him, but all their finnes are before the Lord.

19 And as hee is mercifull, and knoweth his worke, he doeth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

20 * Thealmes of a man, is as a thing sealed vp before him, and he keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their sonnes and daughters.

21 * At the last shall he arise, and reward them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads.

22 * But vnto them that will repent, he giueth them grace to returne, and exhorteth such as faile, with patience, [and sendeth them the portion of the veritie.]

23 * Returne them vnto the Lord, and forsake thy finnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence.

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he will bring thee from darkenesse to whole some light: forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Know the righteousnes and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most High God, and goe in the parts of the holy worlde with such as be liuing and confesse God.]

26 * Who can praise the most High in the hell, as doe all they that liue and confesse him?

27 [Abide not thou in the error of the vngodly, but praye the Lord before death.]

28 Thankfulnesse perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing, and hee that is found of heart, prayeth the Lorde, [and reioyceth in his mercy.]

29 How great is the louing kindnes of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For all things cannot be in men, because the forme of man is not immortal, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.]

31 What is more cleare then the sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euill, [shall be reproued.]

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The maruailous workes of God, 6. 7 The miserie and wretchednesse of man. 9 Against God ought we not to complaine. 22 The performing of voyces.

HE that liueth for euery, * made all things together: the Lorde who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and hee remaineth a victorious King for euery.]

2 He ordereth the worlde with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath hee giuen power to expresse his workes? who will seeke out the ground of his noble acts?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatest? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercy?

5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lorde, there may nothing be taken from them, neither can any thing be put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, he must beginne againe, and when hee thinketh to come to an ende, he must goe againe to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man? whereto serueth hee? what good or euill can hee doe?

8 ¶ If the number of a mans dayes bee an hundred yeere, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sande, so are * a thousand yeeres to the dayes euermlasting.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and powreth out his mercy vpon them.

11 He sawe and perceiued, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euill: therefore heaped hee vp his mercie vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteounesse.]

12 The mercie that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercie of the Lorde is vpon all flesh : he chaſteth, and nutureth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a ſhepherd his flocke.

13 He hath mercie of them that receiue diſcipline, & that diligently ſeek after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My ſonne, when thou doſt good, reproc not : and whatſoeuer thou gueſt, vie no diſcomfortable wordes.

15 Shall not the dew alluige the heate ? ſo is a word better then a gift.

16 Loe, is not a word better then a good gift ? but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproche churliſhly, and a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousneſſe before thou come to iudgement :] learne before thou ſpeake, and vie phyſicke or cuer thou be ſicke.

19 ¶ Examine thy ſelfe, before thou be iudged, and in the day of the viſitation thou ſhalt finde mercie.

20 Humble thy ſelfe before thou be ſicke, and whileſt thou mayſt yet ſinne, ſhew thy conuerſion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vow in time, and deſerre not vnto death to be reformed : [for the reuand of God endureth for cuer.]

22 Before thou prayeſt, prepare thy ſelfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the * wrath, that ſhal be at the ende, and the houre of vengeance, when he ſhall turne away his face.

24 * When thou haſt enough, remember the time of hunger : and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouertie and neede.

25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all ſuch things are done before the Lord.

26 A wiſe man feareth in all things, and in the day of tranſgreſſion he keepeth himſelfe from ſinne : but the foole doeth not obſerue the time.

27 ¶ Euery wiſe man knoweth wiſedome, and knowledge, and praifeſh him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderſtanding, deale wiſely in wordes : [they vnderſtand the truth and righteousneſſe,] and pouere out with modeſtie graue ſentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authoritie of ſpeaking is of the Lord alone : for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

30 ¶ * Followe not thy luſtes, but turne thee from thine owne appetites.

31 For if thou gueſt thy ſoule her deſires, it ſhall make thine enemies that enuie thee, to laugh thee to ſcoome.

32 Take not thy pleaſure in great voluptuouſneſſe, and intangle not thy ſelfe with ſuch company.

33 Become not a begger by making bankets of that that thou haſt borrowed, and ſo leaue nothing in thy purſe : elſe thou ſhouldeſt ſlanderouſly lye in waite for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Wine and whoredome bring men to pouertie. 2 In thy wordes diſpoſition. 3 The difference of the wiſedome of God and man. 4 Whereby thou mayeſt know what is in man.

A Labouring man that is giuen to drunkenneſſe, ſhall not be rich : and he that contemneth ſmall things, ſhall fall by litle and litle.

2 * Wine and women lead wiſe men out of the way, [and put men of vnderſtanding to reproofe.]

3 And he that companieth adulterers, ſhal become impudent : rottenneſſe & wormes ſhal haue him to heritage, and he that is too bolde, ſhall be taken away, and be made a publicke example.

4 * He that is haſtie to giue credite, is light minded, and he that erreth, ſinneth againſt his owne ſoule.

5 Who ſo reioyceth in wickedneſſe, ſhal be puniſhed : [he that hateth to be reforme, his life ſhal be ſhortened, and he that abhorreth babbling of wordes, quenched wickedneſſe :] but he that reſiſteth pleaſures, crowneth his owne ſoule.

6 He that reſtraineth his tongue, may lue with a troubleſome man, and he that hateth babbling, ſhall haue leſſe euill.

7 Rehearſe not to another, that which is tolde vnto thee : ſo thou ſhalt not be hindered.

8 Declare not other mens manners, neither to friend nor foe : and if the ſinne appertaine not vnto thee, reuile it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, hee will hate thee.

10 * If thou haſt heard a worde [againſt thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and beſure, it will not burſt thee.

11 A foole traueleth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is in labour to bring forth a childe.

12 As an arrowe that ſticketh in ones thigh, ſo is a word in a fooles heart.

13 * Reproue a friend leaſt he doe euill, and if he haue done it, that he doe it no more.

14 Reproue a friend that he may keepe his tongue : and if he haue ſpoken, that he ſay it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault : for oft times a ſlander is raiſed, and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man ſalleth with his tongue, but not with his will : * and who is he, that hath not offended in his tongue ?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the moſt High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the firſt degree to be receiued of him, and wiſedome obtaieth his looe.

19 The knowledge of the commandmentes of the Lord is the doctrine of liſe, and they that obey him, ſhall receiue the fruite of immortalitie.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wiſedome, and the perſeuering of the Law is perfect wiſedome, and the knowledge of his almightie power.

21 If a ſeruant ſay vnto his maſter, I will not do as it pleaſeth thee, though afterwarde he doe it, hee ſhall diſpleaſe him that nouritheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickedneſſe is not wiſedome, neither is there prudence whereas the counſell of ſinners is : but it is euen execrable malice : and the ſoule is voyde of wiſedome.

23 He that hath ſmall vnderſtanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wiſedome, and tranſgreſſeth the Law of the moſt High.

24 There is a certaine ſubtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous : and there is that wreſteth the open and maniſeſt Lawe : yet there is that is wiſe and iudgeth righteouſly.

25 There is ſome that being about wicked purpoſes, doe bow downe themſelues, and are ſadde, whoſe inward partes burne altogether with deceit : he looketh downe with his face, and ſaineth himſelfe deafe : yet before thou perceiue, he will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be so weake that he can doe thee no harme, yet when hee may finde opportunitie, he wil doe euill.

27 ¶ A man may bee knowne by his looke, and one that hath vnderstanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

* Chap. 31. 20, 23. 28 * A mans garment, and his excessiue laughter, and going declare what person he is.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To feare and keepe silence in sinne. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thief and the murderer. 28 Ghosts vnder the eyes of the wise.

THERE is some rebuke that is not comely: to gaine, some man holdeth his tongue, and hee is wise.

2 It is much better to reprove, then to heare euill wil: and hee that acknowledged his fault, shall be preferred from hurt.

* Chap. 30. 10. 3 As * when a gelded man through lust would defile a mayd, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reprovved, to shewe repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilful sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answer: and some keepeth silence, waiting a convenient * time.

* Eccl. 3. 7.

* Chap. 32. 4.

7 * A wife man will holde his tongue till hee see opportunitie: but a trifler and a foole wil regard no time.

8 Hee that vseth many wordes, shall bee abhorred, and hee that taketh authoritie to himselfe, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and sometimes a thing that is founde, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, & there is some gift, whose reward is double.

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humblenesse listeth vp the head.

12 Some man byeth much for a litle price: for the which he payeth seven times more.

* Chap. 4. 3.

13 * A wife man with his wordes maketh himselfe to be loued, but the merry tales of fooles shall be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for hee looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth little, and hee vprydeheth much: hee openeth his mouth like a towne cryer: to day he lendeth, to morrow asketh hee againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole sayeth, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eate my bread, speake euill of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shal he be laughed to scorn? for hee comprehendeth not by night iudgement that which hee hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pavement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft tolde by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence looeth grace when it cometh out of a fooles mouth: for hee speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieved when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons, looeth it.

22 Some man promisseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemy of him for naught.

23 * A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it * Chap. 25. 1. oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A thiefe is better then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of lyers are vn honest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honour with his wordes, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 * He that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape: [he that worketh righteousness, shall bee exalted,] and he that pleaseh great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

* Psal. 128. 1, 2. and 32. 10.

28 * Rewards and gifts blinde the eyes of the wife, and make them dumme, that they can not reprove faultes.

* Eccl. 32. 8. and 36. 3.

29 Wisdome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profit is in them both?

30 Better is he that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisdome.

31 The necessarie patience of him that followeth the Lord, is better then he that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXJ.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of a sinner afflicted. 8 To hate to be reprovved. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the sinner.

MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, * but pray for the sore sinnes [that they may be forgiven thee.]

* Chap. 5. 9. psal. 41. 4. and 15. 22.

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou comest too neere it, it wil bite thee: & teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lyon, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sworde, the woundes whereof can not be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries wasteth riches: so the house of the proude shall be desolate.

5 * The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, cometh vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently.

* Eccl. 5. 2. and 32. 3.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lorde, conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowne a farre off: but he that is wise, perceiueh when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 * The congregation of the wicked is like towne wrapped together: their ende is a flame of fire to destroy them.

* Chap. 14. 4.

10 The way of sinners is made plain with stones, but at the ende thereof is hell, [darkness and paynes.]

11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord, [re-] Or, keepeth the vnderstanding uerifieth his owne affections thereby: and the increase of wisdome is the ende of the feare of God.

Or, keepeth the vnderstanding reuerf.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wite that increaseth bitterness.

13 The knowledge of the wife shall abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

14 * The inner partes of a foole are like a brook.

* Chap. 31. 6.

ken vessel: he can keepe no knowledge whiles hee liueth.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wife word, he will commend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he will disallow it, and cast it behind his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comeliness in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wife man in the congregation, & they shall ponder his wordes in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisdom vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as wordes without order.

19 Doctrine vnto foolles is as fetters on the feete, and like manacles vpon the right hand.

* Chap. 19. 27. 28.

20 * A foole listeth vp his voyce with laughter, but a wife man doeth scarce smile secretly.

21 Learning is vnto a wife man a iewel of gold, and like a braceles vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foote is soone in [his neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but hee that is well nourished, will stande without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for hee that is wise, will bee grieved with such dishonour.

25 The lips of talkers will be telling such things as pertaine not vnto them, but the wordes of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.

26 The heart of foolles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wife is in their heart.

27 When the vngodly curseth Satan, he curseth his owne soule.

* Chap. 28. 13.

28 * A backebiter defileth his owne soule, and is hated wherefoeuer he is: [but hee that keepeth his tongue, and is discrete, shall come to honour.]

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the Suggard. 2 Not to shake much to aske. 3 A good conscience is as a tree.

A Slouthfull man is like a filthy stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to bee compared to the dongue of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euil nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wife daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but hee that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 She that is bold, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, [and is not inferior to the vngodly:] but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisdom knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that gleweth a posthead together, and as he that waketh one that sleepe, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, & haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proude, with hautesse and foolishnes, they desile the nobilitie of their kindred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisdom, is as a man, which speake to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

11 * Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.

12 Seuen dayes doe men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole, and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no vnderstanding: * beware of him, least it turne thee to paine, and least thou be defiled when hee shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue sorrow by his foolishnes.

* Chap. 22. 12.

14 What is heavier then leade? and what other name should a foole haue?

15 * Sande and salt, and a lump of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly man.]

* Prov. 27. 3.

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building can not bee loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discrete wisdom, is as a faire playstring on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on hie, cannot abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 Hee that hurteth the eye, bringeth fourth teares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birdes, frayeth them away: and he that vpraydeth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sword at thy friend, yet departe not: for there may bee a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation: so that vpraydng or pride or disclosing of secrets or a traitorous wound doe not let: for by these things euery friend wil depart.

23 Bee faithful vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest bee heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to bee contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

14 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill wordes [rebukes and threatnings] goe before blood-shedding.

25 I will not bee ashamed to defende a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should doe mee harme: who soeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

26 Who shall set a watch before my mouth, and a scale of wisdom vpon my lips, that I shal not suddenly by them, & that my tongue destroy me not?

* Psal. 141. 3.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 2 Of others, that shew him, and vnto his communication. 3 Of others kindred of him. 4 Many times proceed of adulterie. 5 Of the floure of Gold.

O Lord, Father and gouernour of all my whole life, leave me not to their counsell, and let me not fall by them.

[Or, my lips.]

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdom in mine heart, that they may not spare mee in mine ignorance, neither let [their faults passe?]

[That is, of the tongue and lips.]

3 Least mine ignorances increase, and my finnes abound about to my destruction, and left I fall before mine adultery, and mine enemies reioyce ouer me, whose hope is false from thy mercy.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, [I leue me not in their imagination] neither giue mee a proud looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stout minde.

5 Take from me vaine hope, & concupiscence, and reiect him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedines of the bellie, nor lust of the flesh holde me, and giue not methy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 ¶ Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake truth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish thorow his lips, [nor be hurt by wicked works.]

8 The finner shall be taken by his owne lippes: for the cull [speaker and the proud doe offend by them.]

9 *Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the Holy one: [for thou shalt not be unpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, can not be without some feare, so he that sweareth, & nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednesse, and the plague shall neuer from his house: when he shall offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence, and if he sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a word which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Vse not thy mouth to ignorant rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 ¶ Remember thy father & thy mother when thou art sit among great men, lest thou be forgotten in their sight, [and so through thy custome become a foole, and with that thou haddest not bene borne, and curse the day of thy natiuitie.]

15 *The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a mind hot as fire, that cannot be quenched till it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 [All bread is sweet to a whoremonger: hee will not leaue off till he perish]

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, *Who seeth me? I am compassed about with darkness: the wallies couer me: no body seeth mee: whom need I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the wayes of men, [& the ground of the deepe] and considereth the most secret parts.

20 He knew all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.

21 *The same man shall be punished in the furies of the citie, [and shall be chasted like a yong horse foole,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of every man, because he would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus [that] he go also with euery wife, that leueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 *For first [shee hath disobeyed the Law of the most High, and secondly, shee hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, shee hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.]

24 Shee shall be brought out into the congregation, and examination shall be made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take root, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull report shall [thus] leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall know that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glorie to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXXIII

1 A psalm of wisdom prescinding fourth of the mouth of God, & other words and places where they shall be, as they shall be to the children of God.

Wisdome shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the midst of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 [In the middes of her people shall she be exalted, and woopdred at in the holy assemblie.]

4 In the multitude of the chosen [shee shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, she shall be praised, and shall say,]

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.]

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen, [and covered the earth as a cloud.]

7 My dwelling is about in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compass of heauen, and haue walked in the bottoome of the depth.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nations, [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, both high and low.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, and sayd, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and root thy selfe among my chosen.

12 *He created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: * In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I established in Sion.

13 *In the wellbeloued city gaue he me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke root in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on he like a cedar in Lebanon, & as a cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree [about the banks, and as a rose plant in Iericho, as a faire

31 Hee maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not known her perfectly, no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdom [haue cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuer I runne into Paradise as a water conduit.

35 I sayd, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood: and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will peace throw all the lower parts of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet poure out doctrine, as prophesie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

39 * Beholde, that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisdom.

CHAP. XXXV.

Of those things which please God, and of those which heareth. 7. Of nine things that be not to be sought. 14. Of the malice of a woman.

Three things reioyce mee, and by them am I beautified before God and men: * the vnicie of brethren, the loue of neighbors, a man and wife that agree together.

* Gen. 13. 14.

2 Three sortes of men my soule hateth, and I viterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proude: a rich man that is a liar, and an old adulterer that doth.

3 ¶ If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 ¶ Oh, howe pleasant a thing is it, when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely is wisdom vnto the aged men, and vnderstanding and prudency vnto men of honour!

6 The crowne of old men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glorie.

7 ¶ There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happie, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fal of his enemies.

8 ¶ Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not sowed such as are vnworthie of him.

* Eccl. 12. 1. and 19. 1. and 26. 1.

9 Well is him that findeth prudencie, & he that speaketh in the cares of them that will heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is he that findeth wisdom! yet is there none about him, that feareth * Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is graunted to haue the feare of God,] vnto whom shall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, & faith is * beginning to be ioined vnto him.

14 ¶ [The greatest beaunefesse is the beaunefesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue me any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them * hate, or any vengeance, saue * vengeance of the enemy.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of a serpent, and there is no wrath about the wrath of an * enemy.

* Prov. 23. 32.

18 * I had rather dwell with a lyon and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, & maketh her countenance blacke as a sacke.

* Prov. 31. 1.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbors: because of her he sigheth sore or he beware.

21 All wickednesse is but litle to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing vp of a sandie way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of wordes to a quiet man.

23 * Scumble not at the beautie of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

* Chap. 31. 1.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, she is angry and and impudent and full of reproche.

25 A wicked wife maketh a forie heart, an heauie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake hands and feeble knees, and can not comfort her husband in heauinesse.

26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a litle,] neither giue a wicked woman libertie to goe out.

28 If she walke not in thine obedience, [she shall confound thee in the sight of thine enemies.] Cut her off then from thy flesh: Giue her, and forsake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the fiare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the ielous and drunken woman. 39 Of two things that cause forswere, and of the third which puereth wrath.

Bested is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shall double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and she shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall be giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, hee hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: treason in a citie: the assemblie of the people, and false accusation: all these are heavier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorowe and griefe of the heart is a woman that is ielous ouer another: and the that commeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers wayes: he that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as can not be tamed, is a great plague: for she can not couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredom of a woman may be known in the pride of her eyes, and eye biddes.

10 ¶ * If thy daughter be not shamefast, holde her straitely, lest the abuse her selfe through ouer much libertie.

* Chap. 42. 11.

11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marueile not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirftie, so shall shee open her mouth, and drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall she sit downe, and open her quier against euery arrowe.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the sinne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlestick, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feete with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that be laid vpon a strong rocke: so are the commandements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fields, sowe it with thine owne seed; trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall grow, trusting in y great liberallitie of thy nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sow: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towre against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dog: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall bee iudged wise of all: but shee that despiseth him, shall be blased for her pride.

28 A loude crying woman and a babler let her be fought out to drive away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with such, shall be conuerted into the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh mee angrie: a man of warre that suffreth pouertie: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousnesse vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things, which me thinke to be hard and penillous.] A marchant can not lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the pouer that would be rich. 5 The prodication of the man that flourisheth. 13 The vncircumcised of the flesh. 18 The secret of friends are not to be trusted. 26 The wicked imagination that which turneth vpon himselfe.

Because of pouertie haue many sinned: and * he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

* Prov. 30. 4.
I. Tim. 6. 9.

2 As a nail in the wall sticketh fast betwene the ioynts of the stones, so doeth sinne stick betwene the selling and the buying.

3 If he holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone be overthrowen.

4 As when one sitteth, the filthinesse remaineth in the sieue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornicer proueth the potters vessell: * so doth [temptation] trie mens thoughts.

* Prov. 27. 21.

6 * The fruit declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the word [declareth] what man hath in his heart.

* Math. 12. 37.

7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the triall of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousnesse, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [and shalt dwell with her, and she shall defend thee for euer: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt finde stedfastnesse.]

9 The birds resort vnto their like: so doth the truth turne vnto them that are practised in her.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beaust, so doeth sinne vpon them that do euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdom: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiscreet, observe the time, but haue still the assembly of them that are wise.

13 The talking of foolles is grousous, and their sport

* Chap. 23. 9, 10.

sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

14 * The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp : and to strive with such, stoppeth the eares.

15 The strife of the proude is blood shedding, and their scouldings are grievous to heare.

* Chap. 19. 10, and 20. 12.

16 * Who fo discovereth secretes, loseth his credite, and findeth no friend after his will.

17 Loue thy friend, and be faithfull vnto him : but if thou bewrayest his secretes, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemy, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a bird goe out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for he is too farre off : he is as a roe escaped out of the snare : [for his soule is wounded.]

* Prov. 1. 10.

21 As for woundes, they may be bound vpa-gaine, and an euill worde may be reconciled : but who fo bewrayeth the secretes of a friend, hath lost all his credite.

22 * He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euil : and he that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art present, he will speake sweetly, and praise thy wordes : but at the last he will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one : for the Lord also hateth him.

* Psal. 5. 1. 2. 3. 7.

25 Who fo casteth a stone on him, casteth it vpon his owne head : and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

26 Who fo diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, [and he that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon.] and he that layeth a snare for another, shall be taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euils, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie and reproche follow the proude, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shall be taken in the snare, & anguish shall consume them before they dye.

30 Despite and anger are abominable thinges, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

* Deut. 32. 35.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgive the offender. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

* Mat. 5. 44.

H E * that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lorde, and he will surely keepe his sinnes.

2 [Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so that thy sinnes be forgiven thee also, when thou prayest.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and desire forgiveness of the Lord?

4 He will shew no mercie to a man, which is like himselfe : and will he aske forgiveness of his owne sinnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred [and aske pardon of God,] who will intreate for his sinnes?

6 Remember the end, & let enimitie passe : imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but perseuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandements : for thou shalt not be rigorous against thy neighbour [consider diligently] the covenant of the most High, and forgive his ignorance.

8 * Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer : for an angry man kindleth strife.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friendles, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

* Prov. 26. 18.

10 * As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power : and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is he inflamed.

11 An haughty brawling kindleth a fire, and an haughty fighting sheddeth blood : [a tongue that beareth false witness, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne : if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

[The tongue, Chap. 1. 24.

13 * Abhorre the slanderer & double tongued : for such haue destroyed many that were at peace.

14 The double tongue hath disquieted many, and driuen them from nation to nation : strong cities hath it broken downe, and overthrowen the houses of great men : [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, & bene the decay of mightie nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many virtuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who fo hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer finde rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh marks in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Wel is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and cometh not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawn in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of braile.

21 The death thereof is an euill death : hell were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them yf feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein : and it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it : it shall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, & make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy filer and golde, and weigh thy words in a balance, and make a doore and a barre [and a sure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in wait, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Do not lead many, and do not obey, 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friend. 24 The poor mans life.

H E that will shew mercy, shendeth to his neighbour : and he that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandements.

[Of well doing

2 * Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sicknesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore labourereth in living poorely, and when he leauech off, he is still poore.

5 He that loveth golde, shall not be justified, & he that followeth corruption, shall have enough thereof.

6 * Many are destroyed by the reason of golde, and have found their destruction before them.

7 It is a stumbling block to them that sacrifice vnto it, and every spoyle is taken therewith.

 Luke 6. 24.*

8 Blessed is the * rich which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after golde, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]

9 Who is he, and we will commend him? for wonderfull things hath he done among his people.

10 Who hath bene tried thereby, and found perit? let him be an example of glorie, who might offend, and hath not offended, or do euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods be established, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

[Temperance.]

12 If thou sit at a costly table, [open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Beholde much meat.

13 Remember that an euill eye is a shrew: and what thing created is worse than a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hand whereof eue it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and denoure not, lest thou be hated.

17 Leane thou off first for nourtours sake, and be not insatiable, lest thou offend.

18 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

19 * How litle is sufficient for a man wel taught? and thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feelth any paine.]

20 A wholesome sleepe commeth of a temperate bellie: he riseth vp in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching and cholerick diseases, and pang of the bellie are with an insatiable man.

21 If thou hast bene forced to eate, arise, goe forth, vomit, and then take thy rest: [so shalt thou bring no sicknesse to thy body.]

22 My sonne, heare me, and despise me not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy works be quicke, so shall there no sicknesse come vnto thee.

 Prov. 22. 9.
[Liberalitie.]*

23 * Who so is [liberal] in his meat, men shall blisse him: and the testimonie of his honestie shall be beleued.

24 But against him that is a niggard of his meat, the whole cite shall murmur: the testimonies of his niggardnesse shall be sure.

 Math. 23. 23.*

25 Shew not thy valianties in wine: for * wine hath destroyed many.

26 The fornice proueth the edge in the tempering: so doth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkenesse.

27 * Wine soberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is overcome with wine?

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad [and not for drunkenesse.] Wine measurably drunken, and in time, bringeth gladnesse and cherefulness of the minde.

29 But wine drunken with excess, maketh bitterness of minde with brawlings and soundings.

30 Drunkenesse encreaseth the courage of a foole, till he offend: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

31 * Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despitfull words, and presse not vpon him with contrarie words.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to moueth. 3 Let the ancient speake. 14 To giue thanks after the repast. 15 Of the first, iust and confidence in God.

IF thou be made the master of the staff, [lift not thy selfe vp, but be among them, as one of the rest: take diligent care for them, and so fit downe.

[Humblede.]

2 And when thou hast done all thy duties, sit downe, that thou mayest be merie with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behaviour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becometh thee, but with sound iudgement, and hinder not musike.

4 Powe not out words, where there is no audience, * and shew not forth wisdom out of time.

chap. 34.*

5 The consent of musicians at a banquet, is as a signet of carbuncle set in golde.

6 And as the signet of an emerald well trimmed with golde, so is the melodie of musike in a pleasant banker.

7 [Giue care, and be still, and for thy good behaviour thou shalt be loued.]

8 Thou that art yong, speake if a need be, and yet scarcely when thou art twice asked.

9 Comprehend much in few words: [in many things be as one that is ignorant:] be as one that vnderstandeth, and yet holde thy tongue.

10 If thou be among * great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much.

 Job. 34.*

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a shamefast man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the last: but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy pastime, & do what thou wilt, so that thou do none euill, or vse proud words.

14 But about all things, giue thanks vnto him that hath made thee, & replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lord, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall find fauour.

16 He that seeketh the Law, shall be filled therewith: but the hypocrite will be offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lord, shall finde that which is righteous, & shall kinde iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsell: but a leud and proud man is touched with feare, even when he hath done rashly.

20 [My sonne,] doe nothing without aduise-ment: so shalt it not repent thee after the deed.

21 Go not in f way where thou mayest fall, nor where where thou mayest stumble among the stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heed of them that be thine owne householde.]

23 In euery good worke be of a faithfull heart; for this is the keeping of the commandments.

24 Who so belieueth in || the Lord, keepeth the commandments: and he that trusteth in the Lord, shall take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 The deliuerance of them that feareth God. 4 The answer of the wife. 12 Man in the hand of God, as the clay in the hand of the potter. 25 Of euill seruants.

T Here shall no euill come vnto him that || feareth the Lord: but when he is in temptation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wife man hateth not the Law: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a shippe in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfull in the Law, and the Law is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answer, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and lo answer.

5 The heart of the foolish is like a cartwheele; and his thoughts are like a rolling axeltree.

6 As a wilde horse neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornfull friend.

7 Why doth one day excell another, seeing that the light of y dayes of the yere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lorde hath parted them asunder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solemne feastes.

9 Some of them hath he choicen and sanctified, and some of them hath he put among the dayes to number.

10 And all men are of the * ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

11 Some of them hath he blessed and exalted, & some of them hath he sanctified, & appropriate to himselfe: but some of them hath he cursed and brought them low, & put them out of their estate.

12 * As the clay is in y potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in y hand of their Creator, so y he may reward them as liketh him best.

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the most High thou mayst see y there are euery two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lorde I am increased, and haue filled my wine presse, like a grape-gatherer.

16 * Behold, how I haue not laboured onely for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge.

17 Heare me, O ye great men of the people, and hearken vnder your eares, ye rulers of the Congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friend, power exact thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreat for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldst looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes bee excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt end thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip, and the burden belong vnto the ass: and meate, correction & worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou fet thy seruant to labour, thou shalt finde rest: but if thou let him goe idle, he shall seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whippe bowle downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whippes and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that he goe not idle: for idleness bringeth much euill.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if hee be not obedient, || put on more heauie fetters.

28 But bee not excessive toward any, and without discretion doe nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithfull seruant, let him bee vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hath thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, increate him as thy brother: for thou hast neede of him as of thy selfe. If thou increate him euill, and he runne away, wilt thou seeke him?

CHAP. XXXV.

Of dreams. 13 The praise of them that feare God. 28 The suffring of the wicked. 33 The lord of the world. 39 God shall allow the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

T He hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, || and dreames make foolles to haue wises.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that wil take holde of a shadow, and follow after the winde.

3 Euen so is it with the appareings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be cled by the vnclennes, or what trueth can be spoken of a liar?

5 Southsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, and a munde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Where as such visions come not of the most High to trie thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The Law shall be fulfilled without lies, and wisdom is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and hee that hath good experience, can talke of wisdom.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth litle, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 Whe I wandered to & fro, I saw many things, & mine vnderstanding is greater the I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shall lue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

14 Who so || feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth hee is trust? who is his strength?

16 * For the eyes of the Lord haue respect vnto them, that loue him: he is their * mightie protection, and strong ground a defence from the heat, and a shadow for the moone day, a succour from stumbling, and an helpe from falling.

12 ¶ Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he will not receive it, and abstaine from wrongfull sacrifices: for the Lord is the iudge, and regardeth no mans person.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 He despiseth not the desire of the fatherlesse, neither the widow, when she purreth out her prayer.

* Job. 1. 17.

15 Doth not the reares run downe the widows cheekes? & her cry is against him that causeth them: [for soe her cheekes do they go vp vnto heauen, & the Lord which heareth them, doeth accept them.]

16 ¶ He that fasteth? Lord, shall be accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the cloudes.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, reacheth thorow the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come neere, and will not depart till the most High haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not be slacke, nor the Almighty will tary long from them, till hee hath smitten in funder the ioyes of the vnnmercifull, and auenged himselfe of the heathen, till hee haue taken away the multitude of the cruel, and broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, till hee giue euery man after his workes, and reward them after their deuiſes, till hee haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercie.

19 Oh how faire a thing is mercie in the time of anguish and trouble! It is like a cloude of raine, that commeth in the time of a drough.

¶ A prayer is God in the person of all faithful men, against the things that persecute his Church. 23 The prayer of a good woman. ¶ Haue mercy vpon vs, O Lord God of all things, And behold vs, and [shewe vs the light of thy mercies.]

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs.

5 That they may know thee, as we know thee: for there is none other God but only thou, O Lord.

6 Renew the signes, and change the wonderous: shew the glory of thine hand, and the right arme, that they may shew forth thy wonderous acts.

7 Raise vp thine indignation, & powre out wrath: take away the aduersarie, and smite the enemy.

8 Make the time short: remember thine othe, that thy wonderous works may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppose the people.

10 Smite in funder the heads of the princes that be our enemies, & say, There is none other but we.

11 ¶ Gather all the tribes of Iacob together, [that they may know that there is none other God but only thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous works.] & inherit thou them as first the beginning.

12 O Lord, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel, * whom thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

¶ Exod. 4. 1.

15 Giue witness vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and raise vp the prophetes that haue bene shewed in thy Name.

16 Reward them that wait for thee, that thy Prophetes may be found faithful.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants according to the blessing of Aaron our chief people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousness,] that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may know that thou art the Lord the eternal God.

24 He that hath [gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begun to get a possession: [she is an helpe like unto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.]

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoyled: and he that hath no wife, wandreth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a thiefe that is alway readie and wandreth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth, wheresoeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Howe a man should knowe friends and counsellors. 2 To keepe his company that feareth God.

Very friend faith, [I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

2 Remaineth there not heauines vnto death, whe a companion & friend is turned to an enemy?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceipt?

4 There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemy.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy mind, & thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke no counsell at him of whome thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

8 Every counsellor praiseth his owne counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

9 Beware of the counsellor, and be aduised afore [whereto thou wilt vnto him: for he will counsell for himselfe, least he cast the lot vpon thee,

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shal become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsell for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice,] nor of a woman touching her of whom [she is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a marchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankfulness, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindness,] nor of an vnbonest man of honestie,] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse. Hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But be continuall with a godly man whome thou knowest to keepe the commendements of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sorie for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to shewe more then seuen watchmen that sit about in an hie tower,

15 And about all this pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reason goe before every enterprise, and counsell before every action.

17 [The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare: good, and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the government ouer them.

18 [Some man is wise, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in wordes, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all [] food, 20 Because grace is not given him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisdom.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruites of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wife man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisdom faile not.

23 A wife man shall be pleasantly blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obtaine credite among his people, and his name shalbe perpetual.

26 My fortune, prouee thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath every soule pleasure in every thing.

28 Be not [] greedie in all delites, and be not too hasty vpon all meates.

29 * For excessse of meates bringeth sickenesse, and gluttonie cometh into cholerike diseases.

30 By surfeit haue many perished: but hee that dieth himselfe prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physician is commendable. 2 To hurie the dead. 3 The wisdoms of him that is learned.

Honour the [] Physician with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most High cometh healing, and he shall receive gifts of the King.

3 The knowledge of the Physician lieth vp his head, and in the sight of great men he shalbe in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and he that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the water made sweet with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof?

6 So he hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might be glorified in his wondrous workes.

7 With such doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the Apothecarie make a confession, and yet he can not finish his owne workes: for of the Lord cometh prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sickness, but * pray vnto the Lord, and he will make thee whole.

10 Leane off from sinne, and order thine hands aright, and thine eie heare from all wickednes.

11 Offer sweet incense, and fine flower for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the first [] glorie.

12 Then giue place to the physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not go from thee, for thou hast neede of him.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauinesse to heart: drue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

* 2. Sam. 12. 20.
23 * Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisdom of a learned man commeth by vying well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisdom.

25 How can hee get wisdom that holdeth the plough, and he that hath pleasure in the goad, and in driving oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breed of bullockes?

26 He giueth his minde to rake furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter, and workemaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut, and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselves to counterfet imagerie, and watch to performe the worke.

28 The smith in like manner abideth by his anvil, and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire dryeth his flesh, and hee must fight with the heat of the furnace: the noise of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that he maketh: hee setteth his mind to make vp his works: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth the wheele about with his feet: he is carefull alway at his worke, & maketh his worke by nuber.

30 Hee fashioneth the clay with his anme, and with his seete he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to clesne the ouen.

31 All these hope in their hands, and euery one bestoweth his wisdom in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities be maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they hic in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Lawe, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the fire of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

1 A wise man, 16 The works of God, 29 Vnto the good, good things profit, but vnto the euill, euen good things are euill.

He onely that applyeth his minde to the Law of the most high, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the wisdom of all the ancient, and exerceiseth himselfe in the prophecies.

2 Hee keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entrench in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 Hee seeketh out the myserie of graue sentences, and exerceiseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 Hee shall serue among great men, and appeare before the prince: hee shall trauaile through strange countreys: for hee hath tryed the good and the euill among men.

5 Hee will giue his heart to refoert earely vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may powre out wise sentences, and giue thanks vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 ¶ He shall direct his counsell and knowlege: so shall he meditate in his secretes.

8 He shall shew forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law and covenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 * The congregation shall declare his wisdom, and shew it.

11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shall get the fame.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Harken vnto me, ye holy children, and bring forth fruite, as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field,

14 And giue ye a sweete smell as Iincense, and bring forth flowers, as the lillie: giue a smell, and sing a song of prayse: blesse the Lord in all his works.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shew forth his praise with the songs of your lips, and with harpes, and ye shall say after this manner, 16 * All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time conuenient they shall all be sought out: at his commandement the water flood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselves.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he will shew.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He seeth from euertlasting to euertlasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man need not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vie.

22 His blessing shall runne ouer as the streame, and moisten the earth like a flood.

23 As he hath turned the waters into saltnesse, so shall the heathen feeble his wrath.

* Gen. 1. 11.
mar. 7. 37.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 ¶ For the good, are good things created from the beginning, and euil things for the sinners.

26 ¶ The principall things for the whole vife of mans life is wine, fire, and iron, and salt, and meale, wheat and honny, and milke, the blood of the grapes, and oyle, and clothing.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euil.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeace, which in their rigour lay on fire strokes: in the time of destruction they shewe forth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 ¶ Fire and haile, & famine, and death: al these are created for vengeace.

30 The teeth of wilde beastes, and the scorpions, and the serpens, and the sworde execute vengeace for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shal be glad to do his commandements: and when neede is, they shall bee ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

33 ¶ All the workes of the Lord are good, and he giueth euery one in due season, & when neede is:

34 So that a man neede not to say, This is worke then that for in due season they are al worthy praise.

35 And therefore praise the Lorde with whole heart and mouth, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mannes life, 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and perserpence of the feare of God.

Great trouble is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam fro the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day that they retorne to the mother of al things.

2 ¶ Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death.

3 Fro him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ahes:

4 From him that is clothed in blew silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble and vnquietnesse, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A litle or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watch-tower in the day: hee is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, hee awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but fewen folde to the godly:

9 Moreouer, ¶ death and blood, and strife, and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are al created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the flood also.

11 ¶ Al things that are of the earth, shal turne to earth againe: and they that are of the waters, shal retorne into the sea.

12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shal be put away: but ¶ faithfulness shall endure for euer.

13 The substance of the vngodly shall bee dried vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sounde like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, he reioyceth: but all the transgressours shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine any branches: for the vnckeane roots are as vpon the high rockes.

16 Their tender stalks by what water so euer it be or water banke, it shall bee pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlinesse is a most plentiful garden of pleasure, and merie endureth for euer.

18 ¶ To labour and to bee content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but he that findeth a treasure, is aboue them both.

19 Children, and the building of the city maketh a perpetual name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisdom is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the pALTERER make a sweete noyse: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beautie: but a greene feede time, rather then them both.

23 A friend, and companion come together at opportunitie: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends & helpe are good in the time of trouble, but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Golde and siluer fasten the feede: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the minde: but the feare of the Lorde is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lorde, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lorde is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautiful as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, leade not a beggers life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be coured for a life: for he tormenteth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wife man and well nourtured, will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnthankfull, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death, 3 Death is not to be feared, 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Name of God. 12 Good names and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue hysde vnto wisdom, 17 Of what things a man ought to be allowed.

Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that lieth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vex him, and that hath prosperitie in al things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needfull, & vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is nowe in the last age & is vexed with all things, & to him ¶ despaired, & hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou bee against the pleasure of the most High? whether it bee tenne or an hundred or a thousand yeeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perishe, & their posteritie shall haue a perpetual shame.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, David and Salomon.

After him rose vp || Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

2 For as the fatte is taken away from the peace offering, so was || Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

3 * Hee played with the lions, as with kids, and with beeres, as with lambes.

4 * Slewe hee not a gyant when hee was yet but yong, and tooke away the rebuke from the people, when hee lift vp his hand with the stone in the sling, to beate downe the pride of Goliath?

5 For hee called vpon the most high Lord, which gaue him strength in his right hand, to slay that mightie warrior, and that he might set vp the borne of his people againe.

6 * So || hee gaue him the praise of ten thousand, and honoured him with great praises, and gaue him a crowne of glory.

7 * For he destroyed the enemies on euery side and rooted out the Philistines his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sunder vnto this day.

8 In all his workes hee praised the Holy one, and the most High with honorable words, and with his whole heart hee sung songs, & loued him & made him.

9 * Hee set fingers also before the altar, and according to their tune hee made sweete songs, that they might praise God dayly with their songs.

10 Hee ordeined to keepe the feast-dayes comely, and appointed the times perfectly, that they might praye the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

11 * The Lord tooke away his finnes, and exalted his horne for euer: hee gaue him the couenant of the kingdome, and the throne of glory in Israel.

12 After him rose vp a wife sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.

13 || Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made all quiet round about, that he might builde an house in his Name, and prepare the Sanctuary for euer.

14 * How wise wast thou in thy youth, and wast filled with vnderstanding as with a flood!

15 Thy minde couered the whole earth, & hath filled it with graue and darke sentences.

16 Thy Name went abroade in the yles, and for thy peace thou wast beloved.

17 * The countreis marvelled at thee for thy songs, and prouerbes, and similitudes, and interpretations.

18 By the Name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast gathered golde as tinne, and hast had as much siluer as lead.

19 * Thou diddest bowe thy loynes to women, and wast ouercome by thy body.

20 Thou diddest flaine thine honour, and hast desired thy posteritie, and hast brought wrath vpon thy children, and hast felt sorow for thy folly.

21 * So the kingdome was deuided, and Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdome.

22 Neuertheles the Lord left not off his mercy, neither was he destroyed for his workes, neither did hee abolish the posteritie of his elect, nor tooke away the feele of him that loued him, but hee left a remnant vnto Iacob, & a roote of him vnto Dauid.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seede hee left behinde him || Roboam, euen || the foolishnesse of the people, and one that had no vnderstanding, * who turned away the people through his counsell, || and Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat, * which caused Israel to sinne, and shewed Ephraim the way of sinne,

24 So that their finnes were so much increased, that they were driuen out of the land.

25 For they sought out all wickednesse, till the vengeance came vpon them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The praise of Elias, Eliseus, Elisha, and Elias.

Then stood vp || Elias the Prophet as a fire, and his word burnt like a lampe.

2 Hee brought a famine vpon them, & by his zeale hee diminished them: [for they might not away with the commandments of the Lord.]

3 By the worde of the Lord hee shut the heauen, * and three times brought hee the fire from heauen.

4 O Elias, how honorable art thou by thy wondrous deeds! who may make his boast to be like thee!

5 * Which hath raised vp the dead from death, & by the word of the most High out of the graue:

6 Which hath brought Kings vnto destruction, and the honourable from their seate:

7 Which hardest the rebuke of the Lord in Sinai, * and in Horeb the iudgment of the vengeance:

8 * Which diddest anoint Kings that they might [recompence, and Prophets to be thy successeurs:

9 * Which wast taken vp in a whirle-winde of fire, and in a chariot of fierie horses:

10 Which wast appointed * to reprocue in due season, and to pacifie the wrath of the Lords iudgement before ite kindled, and to turne the heartes of the fathers vnto the children, & to set vp the tribes of Iacob.

11 Blessed were they that sawe thee, and slept in loue for we shall liue.

12 * When Elias was couered with the storme, || Eliseus was filled with his spirit: while hee liued, he was not moued for any prince, neither could any bring him into subiection.

13 Nothing could ouercome him, * and after his death his body prospered.

14 Hee did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes maruclous.

15 For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their finnes: * till they were carried away prisoners out of their land, and were scattered through all the earth, so that there remained but a very fewe people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid.

16 Howbeit some of them did night, and some heaped vp sinnes.

24 * In his time the sonne went backward, and he lengthened the Kings life.

25 Hee sawe by an excellent Spirit what should come to passe at the last, and hee comforted them that were sorrowfull in Sion.

26 Hee, shewed what should come to passe for euer, and secret things, or euer they came to passe.

2 Vnder him was the foundation of the double height layed, and the hie wals that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the brasie was about in measure as the sea.

4 He tooke care for his people, that they should not fall, and fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when he came out of the house covered with the vaile!

6 He was as the morning starre in the middes of a cloude, and as the moone when it is full.

7 And as the sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most High, and as the rainbowe that is bright in the faire cloudes.

8 And as the flower of the roses in the spring of the yeere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of sommer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessel of masse golde, set with all manner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire olive tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth vp to the cloudes.

11 When he put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with al beautie, he went vp to the holy altar, & made the garment of holines honourable.

12 When he tooke the portions out of ¶ Priests handes, he himselfe stood by the hearth of the altar, compassed w¶ his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the stones of Aaron in their glory, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the generation of Israel.

14 And that he might accomplish his ministerie vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High and Almightie, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, and hee powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good sauour vnto the most High king of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brasen trumpets, & made a great noyse to bee heard, for a remembrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together halted, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God almightie, and most High.

18 The fingers also sang with their voyces, so that the sound was great, and the melodie sweete.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lorde most High high with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went hee downe, and stretched out his handes vnder the whole congregation of the children of Ifrael, that they should giue praise with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his name.

21 He began againe to worship, that he might receiue the blessing of the most High.

22 Now therefore giue praise all ye vnto God that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our dayes from the wombe, & dealt with vs according to his mercie,

23 That he would giue vs ioyfulness of heart, and peace in our dayes in Ifrael, as in olde time, 24 That he would confirme his mercie with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

28 Blessed is he that exerciseth himselfe therein: and he that layeth vp these in his heart, shalbe wise.

29 For if he doe these things, he shalbe strong in all things: for he fettereth his steps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisdom to the godly. The Lord be praised for euermore: So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Syrach.

I Will Confesse thee, O Lord and King, and praise thee, O God, my sauour: I will giue thanks vnto thy name.

2 For thou art my defender & helper, and hast preserved my body from destruction, and from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lippes that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen mee against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered me according to the multitude of thy mercy, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, & out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions, which I had,

4 And fro the fire that choked me round about, and from the mids of the fire that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the bellie of hell, from an vnclene tongue, from lying words, from false accusation to the king, and from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My soule shall praise the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on euery side, and there was no man to helpe me: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of olde, how thou deliuerest such as wait for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the enemies.

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord the Father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, & in the time of the proud without helpe.

11 I will praise thy Name continually, and will sing praise with thanksgiving: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauest mee from destruction, and deliuerest me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks, and praise thee, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet yong, or euer I went abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer.

14 I praised for her before the Temple, & sought after her vnto farre countries, & she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioycd in her: my foot walked in the right way, and from my youth vp sought I after her.

16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate me much wisdom.

17 And I prophied by her: therefore will I ascribe the glorie vnto him, that gatheth me wisdom.

18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I will be ielous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my works: I lifted vp mine hands on her, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in pureness: I haue had my heart ioyned with her fro the beginning: therefore shal I not be forsaken.

21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him, 23 Draw nere vnto me, ye vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are ye slow? and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are very thirstie?

25 I opened my mouth, and sayd, * Buy her for you without money.

26 Bow downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: shee is readie that ye may finde her.

27 Beholde with your eyes, * how that I haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest.

28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much golde.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercie of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.

30 Doe your dutie betimes, and hee will giue you a reward at his time.

BARVCH.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Senechab and all the people. To the Jewes, first the booke with many words Ierusalem to their other brethren, so the intent is that they should pray for them.

2 ND these are the words of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of I Aladai, the sonne of Hielcias wrote in at Babylon,

3 In the fifth yeere, and in the fourth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

4 And Baruch did reade the wordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Ioachim king of Iuda might heare: and all the people that were come to heare the booke,

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the Kings sonnes and before the Elders, and before the whole people, fro the lowest vnto the hieft, before all them y dwellt at Babylou by the riuer || Sud.

17r, 2all.

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.

6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power,

7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Ioachim sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom priest, and vnto the other priests, & to all the people which were with him at Ierusalem,

17r, 2all.

8 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the moneth || Suan, to wit, silver vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Iofias king of Iuda had made,

9 After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylou had led away Ieconias from Ierusalem, & his princes, and his nobles, prisoners, and the people, and carried them to Babylou.

10 And they sayd, Beholde, wee haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a || meat offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God,

17r, 2all, for Minshah, which was the evening and morning sacrifice.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylou, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen,

12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylou, and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long do them seruice, & finde fauour in their sight.

13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the furie of the Lord and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

14 And reade this booke (which we haue sent to you) to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.

17r, 2all.

15 Thus shall ye say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

16 And to our Kings, and to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers,

17r, 2all.

17 Because wee haue * sinned before the Lord our God,

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandments that he gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bene disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and we haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

17r, 2all.

20 * Wherefore their plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moyses his seruant at the time that hee brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day.

21 Neuerthelesse, we haue not hearkened vnto the voice of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the Prophets, whom he sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs folowed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

3 The Kings confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians, 11 The prayer desire to have the wrath of God turned from them. 20 His promise that hee will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a new and reuincing Testament.

Therefore the Lord our God hath performed this word, which he pronounced against vs, and against our iudges that gouerned Irael, and against our Kings, and against our Princes, and against the men of Irael and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things that were * written in the Law of Moyses,

17r, 2all.

3 That some among vs should eate the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his owne daughter.

4 Moreover, hee hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdomes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproch and desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath and not aboue, because we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

6 * To the Lord our God appeareth righte-ousnes, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

17r, 2all.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue we not prayed before the Lord, that wee might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lord hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs - for the Lord is righteous in all his works, which hee hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandments of the Lord that he hath giuen vnto vs.

11 * And now, O Lord God of Irael, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and an hie arme, & with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, 17r, 2all.

12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a few left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, and giue vs fauor in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Irael and vpon their posteritie.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

17 * Open thine eyes, and behold: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies; * giue vnto the Lord neither || praise, nor righteousness.

17r, 2all.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatnesse of sinne, and he that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungrie soule will giue thee praise and righteousness, O Lord.

19 For we doe not require mercy in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousness of our fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy servants the Prophets, saying,

21 * Thus saith the Lord, Bowe downe your shoulders, & serue the King of Babylon: so shal ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if yee wil not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon,

23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shalbe desolate of inhabitants.

24 But we would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy servants the Prophets: namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers should be caryed out of their places.

25 And lo, they are cast out to the heate of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great miserie with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as apocryph perceib this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equite, and according to all thy great mercie,

28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou diddest command him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

29 * If ye wil not obey my voice, then shal this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very fewe among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I know that they wil not heare me: for it is a stiffnecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselves,

31 And knowe that I am the Lord their God:
then wil I giue the an heart to vnderstand, & eares.

32 And they shal heare, & praise me in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backes, and from their cuill workes: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I wil bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and they shalbe Lordes of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I wil make an everlasting couenant with them, that I wil bee their God, and they shal be my people: and I will no more curse my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

3. The people continueth in their prayer becommeth for their deli-rance. 9. Hee prayeth wisdom vnto the people, shewing, that great aduise can come vnto them for shodelising thereof. 36 Gode God was the fountaine of wisdom. 37. Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lorde Almighty, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lorde, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pite vpon vs, because wee haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou enlurest for euer, & we verily perish.

4 O Lorde Almighty, the God of Israel, heare nowe the prayer of the dead Israelites: and of their children, which haue sinned before thee: and not hearkened vnto the voice of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednes of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, & thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lorde our God, and thee, O
Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuitie: for wee haue considered in our mindes all the wickednes of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Beholke, wee are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproch and a curse, and subiect to payements, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandements of life:
hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wise-dome.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen olde in a strange country?

11 And art defiled with the dead? and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken thy fountaine of wisdom,

13 For if thou hadst walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisdom, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest know also from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pasture with the foules of the heauen, that hoarded vp siluer & golde, wherein men trust, & made none end of their gathering?

18 For they that coined siluer, & were so careful of their worke, and whose inuention had none end,

19 Are come to nought, & gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their steads.

20 When they were yong, they saw the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge.

21 Neither perceived the paths thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bin heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it bene seene in Theman,

23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisdom vpon the earth, nor the marchants of Neman, & of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the scabbers out of wisdom haue knownen the way of wisdom, neither do they thinke vpon the paths thereof.

24 O Israel, how great is the House of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none end: it is hie, and vnmeeasurable.

26 There were the giants famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdome, & perished through their own foolishnes.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her,
and brought her downe from the clouds?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her,
and hath brought her, rather then fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither con- sidereth her pathes.

32 But he that knoweth al things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his vnderstanding, this same is hee which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it w four footed beaſts.

33 When he ſendeth out the liſt, it goeth and whē he calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the ſtarrs ſhine in their watch, and reioyce, When he calleth them, they ſay, Here we be: and ſo with cheerefulneſſe they ſhewe light vnto him that wiſhed them.

35 This is our God, and there ſhall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath found out all the way of know- ledge, and hath giuen it vnto Iakob his ſeruant, and to Iſrael his beloved.

37 Afterward hee was ſene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Lawe, and the puniſhment of them that deſpiſe it. 2 A conſoling of the people being in captiuitie. 3 A conſolation of Jeruſalem, and vnder the ſhadow thereof the Church. 4 A conſolation and comforting of the ſame.

THis is the booke of the commaundments of God, and the Law that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, ſhall come to life: but ſuch as forſake it, ſhall die.

1 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightneſſe before the light thereof.

2 Giue not thine honor to another, nor ſ things that are profitable vnto thee, to a ſtrange nation.

3 O Iſrael, we are bleſſed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

4 Be of good comfort, O my people, which art the memoriall of Iſrael.

5 Ye are ſold to the nations, not for your deſtruction: but becauſe ye prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliueted vnto the enemies.

6 For ye haue diſpleaſed him that made you, offering vnto deuils and not to God.

7 Yee haue forgotten him that created you, euen the eueraſting God, and ye haue grieved Ieruſalem, that nourished you.

8 When ſhe ſaw the wrath coming vpon you fro God, ſhe ſaid, Hearken, ye that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauines.

9 I ſee the captiuitie of my ſonnes and daughters, which the Eueraſting will bring vpon them.

10 With ioy did I noum them, but I muſt leaue them with weeping and mourning.

11 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widowe, and forſaken of many, which for the finnes of my children am defolate, becauſe they departed from the Lawe of God.

12 They would not know his rightcouſnes, nor walke in the way of his commaundments: neither did they enter into the pathes of diſcipline, through his rightcouſneſſe.

13 Come, yee that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my ſonnes & daughters, which the eueraſting hath brought vpon them.

14 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a ſtrange language.

15 Which neither reuerſeth the aged, nor pittie the yong: theſe haue carried away the deare beloved of the widowes, leaving me alone, and deſtitute of my daughter.

16 But what can I doe you?

17 Surely hee that hath brought theſe plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the handes of your enemies.

18 Go your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left deſolate.

19 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon mee the ſackcloth of prayer, and ſo long as I liue, I will call vpon the Eueraſting.

20 Bee of good comfort, O children: cry vnto God, and hee will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

21 For I haue hope of your ſaluation through the Eueraſting, and ioy is come vpon mee from the Holy one, becauſe of the mercy, which ſhall quickly come vnto you from our eueraſting Saviour.

22 For I ſent you away with weeping, & mourning: but with ioy and perpetual gladneſſe will God bring you againe vnto me.

23 Like as now the neighbours of Sion ſaw your captiuitie, ſo ſhall they alſo ſee ſhortly your ſaluation from God, which ſhall come vnto you with great glory, and brightneſſe from the Eueraſting.

24 My children, ſuffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemy hath perſecuted thee, but ſhortly thou ſhalt ſee his deſtruction, and ſhalt tread vpon his necke.

25 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a ſlocke that is ſcattered by the enemies.

26 Be of good comfort, my children, and cry vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

27 And as it came into your minde to go aſtray from your God, ſo endeavour your ſelues ten times more to turne againe and to ſeek him.

28 For he that hath brought theſe plagues vpon you, will bring you eueraſting ioy againe, with your ſaluation.

29 Take a good heart, O Ieruſalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

30 They are miſerable that aſſiſt thee, and ſuch as reioyce at thy fall.

31 The cities are miſerable whom thy children ſerue: miſerable is ſhe that hath taken thy ſonnes.

32 For as ſhe reioyced at thy decay, & was glad of thy fall, ſo ſhall ſhe be ſory for her owne deſolation.

33 For I will take away the reioycing of her great multitude, & her ioy ſhall be turned into mourning.

34 For a fire ſhall come vpon her from the Eueraſting, long to endure, and ſhe ſhall be inhabited of deuils for a great ſeaſon.

35 O Ieruſalem, looke toward the Eaſt, and behold the ioy that cometh vnto thee from thy God.

36 Lo, thy ſonnes (whom thou haſt le go) come: gathered together from the Eaſt vnto the Weſt, reioycing in the word of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Jeruſalem is ſaid to be gladneſſe for the returne of her people, and vnder the ſhadow thereof the Church.

Put off thy mourning clothes, O Ieruſalem, and put on thine affliction, and decke thee with the worſhip and honour, that commeth vnto thee from God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of rightcouſneſſe, that cometh from God, and ſet a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Eueraſting.

3 For God will declare thy brightneſſe to euery country vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by his name for ever.

due, The peace of righteousness, and the glory of the worship of God.

5 Arise, O Ierusalem, and stand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the East, and beholde thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the word of the holy one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foot, & were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdom.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe euerie hie mountaine, and the long enduring rocks, and to fill the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto y^e honour of God.

8 The woods and all sweet smelling trees shall ouershadow Israel at the commandement of God.

9 For God shall bring Israel with ioy in the light of his maiestie, with the mercy and righteousness that cometh of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPY OF THE EPISTLE THAT Ieremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

BECAUSE of the finnes, that ye haue committed against God, ye shall be led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shall remaine there many yeeres, and a long season, euen seven generations: and after that will I bring you againe peaceably from thence.

3 * Now shall ye see in Babylon gods of silver, and of gold, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye see the multitude before them and behinde them worshipping them,

5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, wee must worship thee.

6 For mine Angell shall be with you, and shall care for your foules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpen-ter, and they themselves are gilted, & layd out with silver: yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take golde for a maid that loueth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priests themselves conuey away the golde and silver from their gods, and bestow it vpon themselves.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of silver, and gods of gold, and of wood with garments like men.

11 Yet can not they be preserved from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue covered them wth clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine iudge of the country: yet can he not slay such as offend him.

14 Another hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is he not able to defend himselfe from battell, nor from theues: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessel that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feet of those that come in:

17 And as the gates are shut in round about vpon him that hath offended the King: or as one that should be led to be put to death: so the priests keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, and with bares, lest their gods should be spoyled by robbers.

18 They light vp candles before them, yea, more then for themselves, whereof they can not see one: for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.

19 They confesse, y^e euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things, that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, swallows & birds flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this yet may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 * They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feet, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worth: yea, and they that worship them are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they can not rise vp againe of themselves, neither if one set them vpright, can they moue of themselves, neither if they be bowed downe, can they make themselves straight: but they set gifts before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their Priests sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed, touch their sacrifices by these things ye may know that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence cometh it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gifts to the gods of silver, and golde, and wood.

30 And the priests sit in their temples, haning their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are lathen, and being bare headed,

31 They roare, and cry before their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The priests also take away of their garments, and clothe their wines and children.

33 Whether it be euill that one doth vnto them or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set vp a King nor put him downe.

34 In like manner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vow vnto them and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the wicke from the miserie.

36 They cannot restore a blind man, nor helpe any man at his need.

37 They can shew no good to the fatherlesse, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods are stones, that be hewed out of the they that worship them shalbe confounded,

39 How should a man then thinke or say that they are gods?

40 Moreover the Chaldeans themselves dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that hee woulde make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand their things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sense.

107. 1. 1. 1.

42 Furthermore, the women, girded with coards, sit in the streets, and burne straw.

43 And if one of them be drawn away, and lie with any such as come by, thence casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because she was not so woorthily reputed, nor her coard broken.

44 Whatsoever is done among them, is lies: how may it then be thought or sayd, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmiths make them, neither be they any other thing, but euen what the workeman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their politicie.

48 For when there cometh any warre or plague vpon them, the priests imagine within themselves where they may hide themselves with them.

49 How then can men not percieue; that they be no gods, which can neither defend themselves from warre nor from plagues?

107. 1. 1. 1.

50 For seeing they be but of wood, & of siluer, and of golde, men shal know hereafter that they are but lies, and it shal be manifest to all nations and Kings, that they be no gods, but the works of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be shewen, that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no King in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preferre from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crows betweene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, the priests will escape and saue themselves, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They cannot withstand any king or enemies: how can it then be thought or said, y they be gods?

56 Moreover these gods of wood, of golde, and of siluer can neither defend themselves fro theues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their golde and siluer, and appaueil, wherewith they be clothed and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselves.

58 Therefore it is better to be a King, and so to shew his power, or els a profitable vessell in an house, whereby he that oweth it, might haue profit, then such false gods: or to be a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as be therein, then such false gods, or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the sunne, and the moone, & the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessarie uses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning, when it shineth, it is euident: & the wind bloweth in euery country.

61 And when God comendeth the clouds to go about the whole world, they do as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hills and woods, it doeth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme, nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they be gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor do men good.

64 Forasmuch now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse kings:

66 Neither can they shew signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.

67 The beasts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and do themselves good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no manner of meanes, they are no gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a skar-crow in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and golde and siluer are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead bodie that is cast in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightnesse, which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they themselves shalbe consumed at the last, and they shall be a thame to the country.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shalbe farre from reproofe.

The song of the three children, which followeth in the third chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fire furnace.

CHAP. I.

20 The prayer of Azarias. 21 The crucible of the King. 22 The flame denoureth the Chaldeans. 23 The Angel of the Lord was in the furnace. 24 The three children praise the Lord, and promyseth to increase to be iust.

24 AND they walked in the middes of the flame, praising God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stood vp, and prayed on this manner, opening his mouth in the prayer of our fathers: that we might prosper.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy works are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy cite of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equite hast thou brought all these things vpon vs, because of our sinnes.

29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we trespassed,

30 And not obeyed thy commandments, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddest commanded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon upon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement :

31 As in deliuering vs into the handes of our wicked enemies, and most hateful traitours, and to an vnrighteous King, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And nowe we may not open our mouthes : we are become a shame and reproofe vnto thy seruants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy names sake, we beseech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercie from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake, 36 To whome thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiply their seed as the starres of heauen, & as the sand that is vpon the sea thore.

37 For wee, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our finnes :

38 So y nowe we haue neither prince, nor prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruits before thee, that we might finde mercie.

39 Neuertheless, in a contrite heart and an humble spirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rams and bullockes, and as in ten thousand of fat lambes, so let our offering be in thy sight this day, that it may please thee : for there is no confusion vnto them that put their trust in thee.

41 And now we follow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindeesse, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory, O Lord,

44 That all they which doe thy seruants cull, may be confounded : euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou only art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now the kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the oven hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with tow, and with fagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the furnace fourtie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the furnace.

49 But the Angel of the Lorde went downe into the furnace with them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the furnace,

50 And made in the middles of the furnace like a myght hilling winde, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieved nor troubled them.

51 Then these three (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the furnace, saying,

Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and prayed, and exalted aboute all things for euer, and blessed bee thy glorious and holy Name, and praised aboute all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed bee thou in the Temple of thine holy glory, and prayed aboute all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed bee thou that beholdest the depthes, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and prayed aboute all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed bee thou in the glorious Throne of thy Kingdome, and prayed aboute all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised aboute all things, and glorified for euer.

57 All ye works of the Lord, blese ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

58 O heauens, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

59 O Angels of the Lorde, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

60 All ye waters that be aboute the heauen, blese ye the Lorde : pray se him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

61 All ye powers of the Lord, blese ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

62 O sunne & moone, blese ye the Lord: pray se him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

63 O starres of heauen, blese ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

64 Euery shewe and dew, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

65 All ye windes, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

66 O fire and heat, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

67 O winter and summer, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

68 O dewes and stormes of snowe, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

69 O frost and colde, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

70 O yce and snowe, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

71 O nightes and dayes, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

72 O light and darknesse, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

73 O lightnings and clouds, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

74 Let the earth blese the Lorde : let it praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

75 O mountaines and hilles, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

76 All things that grow on the earth, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

77 O fountaines, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

78 O sea and floods, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

79 O whales, and all that moue in the waters, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

80 All ye fowles of heauen, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

81 All ye beasts and cattell, blese ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

82 O children of men, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

83 Let Israel blese the Lorde, praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

84 O Priests of the Lorde, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

85 O seruants of the Lorde, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

86 O spirits and soules of the righteous, blese ye the Lorde : praise him, and exalt him aboute all things for euer.

THE HISTORIE OF ISVSAN- na, which ſome ioynē to the ende of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

8 The two gouernours are taken with the lawe of Suſanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They ſolicite her to wiſedome. 21 She chuſeth rather to obey God, though it be in the danger of her life. 22 She is accuſed. 23 Daniel doubteth her cauſe. 24 The gouernours are put to death.

Here dwelt a man in Babylon called Ioachim,

And he tooke a wife, whoſe name was Suſanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

Her father and her mother alſo were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moyses.

Now Ioachim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his houſe, and to him reſorted the Iewes, becauſe he was more honourable then all others.

The ſame yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be Iudges, ſuch as the Lord ſpeaketh of that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which ſeemed to rule the people.

Theſe haunted Ioachims houſe, and all ſuch as had any thing to doe in the Lave, came thither vnto them.

Nowe when ſe people departed away at noont, Suſanna went into her huſbands garden to walke.

And the two Elders ſawe her that ſhee went in dayly and walked, ſo that their luſt was inflamed toward her.

Therefore they turned away their minde, and caſt downe their eyes, that they ſhould not ſee heauen, nor remember iuſt iudgements.

And albeit they both were wounded with her loſe, yet durſt not one ſhewe another his griefe.

For they were aſhamed to declare their luſt, that they deſired to haue to doe with her.

Yet they watched diligently from day to day to ſee her.

And the one ſaid to the other, Let vs go now home, for it is dinner time.

So they went their way, and departed, one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the ſame place, and after that they had aſked one another the cauſe, they acknowledged their luſt: then appointed they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

Now when they had ſpyed out a convenient time, that ſhee went in, as her manner was, with two maydes onely, and thought to walke herſelfe in the garden (for it was an hote ſeaſon)

And there was no body there, ſawe the two Elders that had hidde themſelues, and watched for her.

Then ſaid to her maydes, Bring me oyle & ſoape, we will waſh the garden doores, that I may walke in.

And they did as ſhee bade them, and ſhut the garden doores, and went out themſelues at a backe doore, to ſet the thing that ſhee had commanded them: but they ſawe not the Elders, becauſe they were hid.

Nowe when the maydes were gone forth, the two Elders roſe vp and ranne vnto her, ſaying, Beholde, the garden doores are ſhut, that no man can ſee vs, and wee burne in loue with thee: therefore conſent vnto vs, and lye with vs.

If thou wilt not, we will beare wimes againſt thee, that a yong man was with thee: and therefore thou diddeſt ſend away thy mayds from thee.

Then Suſanna ſighed, & ſayd, I am in trouble on every ſide: for if I do this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I do it not, I cannot eſcape your hands.

It is better for me to fall into your hands, & not do it, then to ſinne in the fight of the Lord.

With that Suſanna cried with a loud voyce, and the two Elders cried out againſt her.

Then ran the one, & opened the garden doore.

So when the ſeruants of the houſe heard the crie in the garden, they ruſhed in at the backe doore, to ſee what was done vnto her.

But when the Elders had declared their matter, the ſeruants were greatly aſhamed: for there was neuer ſuch a report made of Suſanna.

On the morow after, came the people to Ioachim her huſband, and the two Elders came alſo, full of malicious imagination againſt Suſanna, to put her to death.

And ſaid before the people, Send for Suſanna the daughter of Helcias Ioachims wife. And immediately they ſent.

So ſhe came with her father and mother, her children and all her kindred.

Now Suſanna was very tender, & faire of face.

And theſe wicked men commanded to vncouer her face (for ſhe was couered) that they might ſo be ſatiſfied with her beautie.

Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

Then the two Elders ſtood vp in the middles of the people, and layd their hands vpon her head,

Which wept and looked vp toward heauen, for her heart truſted in the Lord.

And the Elders ſaid, As we walked in the garden alone, ſhe came in with two maydes, whom the ſent away from her, and thus the garden doores.

Then a yong man which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

Then we which flood in a corner of the garden, ſeeing this wickedneſſe, ranne vnto them, and we ſaw them as they were together.

But we could not holde him: for he was ſwift.

stronger then we, & opened / doors, & escaped out.
40 Nowe when we had taken this woman, wee afflict her what yong man this was, but shee would not tell vs of these things are we witnesses.

41 Then the assemblie beleened them, as those that were the Elders and Judges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cried out with a loud voyce, & said, O euerslasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afore they come to passe,

43 Thou knowest that they haue borne false witness against me, and behold, I must die whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 ¶ Therefore when he was led to bee put to death, the Lord raised vp the holy spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cryed with a loud voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them towarde him, and sayde, What meane these wordes, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the middes of them, and said, Are ye such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the truth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witness against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders said vnto him, Come, sit down among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then said Daniel vnto the, Put these two aside, one farre from another, & I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder, one from another, he called one of them and said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, nowe thy finnes which thou hast committed aforetime, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie go free, albeit the Lord saith, * The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. ^{Exod. 23. 7.}

54 Now then if thou hast seene her, tell me, vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a lentiske tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verily thou hast liyd against thine owne head: for loe, the Angel of ^{10. 20.}
God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

56 So put he him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and said vnto him, O thou seed of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beaustie hath decieued thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companyed with you:
but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Nowe therefore tell me, vnder what tree
diddest thou take them companying together?
Who answered, Vnder a prime tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verily thou hast also liyd against thine head: so the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assemblie cryed with a loud voyce, and prayed God which sauech them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, for Daniel had conuict them of false witness by their owne mouth.

62 * And according to the Law of Moyses they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was sancd the same day. ^{Deut. 19. 15.}

63 Therefore Helcias and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with locum her husband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astyages was laid with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

THE HISTORIE OF BEL

and of the Dragon, which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

Nowe when King Astyages was laid with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receined his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the Kings table, and was honoured a-booue all his friends.

3 Nowe the Babyloianians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day of the yeare // great measures of fine flower, and fourtie mines, and sixe great pots of wine.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: But Daniel worshipped his Iowhe God. And the King said vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

5 He answered, and said, Because I may not worship idoles made with handes, but the liuing God, which hath created heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all things.

6 Then said the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? For hee can not haue any need of eate and drinke euery day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O King, be not decieued: for this is but clay, within, and brasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the King was wroth, and called for his Priests, and said vnto them, if ye tell me not, who this is that eateth vp these expenses, ye shall die:

9 But if yee can certifie me that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for he hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the King, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Nowe the Priests of Bel were therefore and imbeside their wives and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So the Priests said, Behold, we will go one, and sit thou the night there, O King, and let the wine be filled: then shalt the doore fast, and shall it wish thine owne figure:

12 And to morrow when thou comest out, if thou findest not that it hath eaten vp all, we will offer death, as thou hast said: but if thou findest that it hath eaten vp all, we will offer death, as thou hast said.

for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the King fet meates before Bel. Nowe Daniel had commanded his seruants to bring athes, and these they strowed throughout all the Temple, in the presence of the king alone: then went they out, & shut the doore, and sealed it with the Kings signet, & so departed.

15 Nowe in the night came the Priests, with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes the King arose, and Daniel with him.

17 And the king said, Daniel, are y seals whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they be whole.

18 And assoone as he had opened the doore, the King looked vpon the table, and cryed with a loud voice, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and hidde the King that he should not goe in, and said, Beholde nowe the pavement, and marke well whose footsteppes are these.

20 And the king said, I fee the footstepps of men, women, & children: therefore the king was angry.

21 And tooke the Priests, with their wiues, and children, and they shewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore the king slewe them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreover in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the King said vnto Daniel, Sayest thou, that this is of brasie also? Ioe, he liueth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no liuing god: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel vnto the King, I will worship the Lord my God: for he is the liuing God.

26 But giue me leaue, O King, and I will slay this dragon without sword or staffe. And the King said, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and fat, and haire, and did seethe them together, and made lumps thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in funder. And Daniel said, Behold, whom ye worship.

28 When the Baboloniens heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the King, saying, The king is become a Iew: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Priests to death.

29 So they came to the King, and said, Deliuer vs Daniel, or else we will destroy thee, and thine house.

30 Now when the King saw, that they pressed fore vpon him, and that necessitie constrained him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lyons denne, where he was sixe dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen Lyons, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies & two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iurie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made portage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord said vnto Abbacuc, Goe, carry the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lyons denne.

35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I neuer saw Babylon, neither doe I know where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then said Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon me, and thou neuer sayest then that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediately.

40 Vpon the seuenth day, the King went to beuaile Daniel: and when he came to the denne, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sat in the middes of the Lyons.

41 Then cryed the King with a loud voice, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drew him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

THE FIRST BOOKE of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia. 21 Antiochus taketh the kingdom. 22 Many of the children of Israel make covenant with the Gentiles. 31 Antiochus forbiddeth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 39 Antiochus setteth up idols.

AFTER that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philippe, went forth of the land of Chetium, and slewe Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia, 3 He tooke great warres in hand, and wanne strong holdes, and slewe the kings of the earth.

4 So wene he thorow the endes of the world, and tooke spoyle of many nations, inasmuch that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was haughty.

5 Now when he had gathered a mighty strong hoste,

6 And had reigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

7 After these things he fell sicke, and knewe that he should die.

8 Then he called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had bene brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet alive.

9 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he dyed.

10 And his seruants reigned euery one in his rounes.

11 And they all caused themselves to be crowned ned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednesse increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, even Antiochus | Epiphane, the sonne of King Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundreth and seven & thirtieth yeere of the kingdom of the Greekes.

12 In those dayes went there out of Israell wicked men, which enlisted many, saying, Let vs go, and make a covenant with the heathen, that are round about vs: for since we departed from them, we have had much sorow.

13 So this deuise pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready, and went to the King, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the fancies of the heathen,

16 And made themselves vncircumcised, & forsooke the holy Ceuenant, and ioynded themselves to the heathen, and were folde to do mischief.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, he went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that hee might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore he entered into Egypt with a mightie company, with chariots, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great naue, 19 And moued warre against Ptolemeus King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, & fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wanne many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoyle of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundreth, fourtie and three yeere,

22 And went vp towarde Israell and Ierusalem with a mightie people,

23 And entered proudly into the Sanctuary, and tooke away the golden altar, and the candlesticke for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the table of the shewbread, and the powing vessels, and the bowles, and the golden basins and the vaile, and the crownes, and the golden apparel, which was before the Temple, and brake all in peeces.

24 He tooke also the siluer & gold, and the precious iewels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that hee found, and when hee had taken away all, he departed into his owne land, 25 After hee had murdered many men, and spoiled very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israell.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the yong women, and the yong men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegrome, tooke him to mourning, and thee that late in the marriage chamber, was in heuineesse.

29 The land also was moued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Iacob was couered with confusion.

30 After two yeeres the King sent his chiefe taxemaster into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude.

31 Who spake peaceable wordes vnto them in deceite, and they gaue credite vnto him.

32 Then hee fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israell.

33 And when he had spoyle the citie, he fet fire on it, calling downe the houses thereof, and wallis thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the citie of Dauid with a great and thicke wall, and with mightie towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreover they fet wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselves therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons and vitailles, and gathered the spoyle of Ierusalem, and layed it vp there.

38 Thus became they a fore snare and were in ambulment for the Sanctuary, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israell.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuary, and defiled the Sanctuary.

40 Inasmuch that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom the had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wilderness: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproche, and her honour brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorow.

43 Also the King wrote vnto all his kingdom, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the King.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idols, & defiled the Sabbath.

46 So the King sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the country, 47 And that they should forbid the burnt offerings, & sacrifices, & the offerings in the Sanctuary.

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feastes.

49 And pollute the Sanctuary & the holy men,

50 And to set vp altars, and groues, and chapels of idols, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beastes,

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannes, and pollute themselves, that they might forget the Lawe, and change all the ordinances,

52 And that whosoever would not doe according to the commandements of the King, should suffer death.

53 In like manner wrote hee throughout all his kingdomes, and set officers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things,

54 And he commanded the cities of Iuda to do sacrifice, citie by citie,

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Lawe, and so they committed euill in the land.

56 And they droue the Israelites into secret places, euery where they could flee for succour.

57 The fifteenth day of Callee, in the hundreth and fiae and fourtieth yeere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Iuda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the streetes they burnt incense.

59 And the bookes of the Lawe, which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whosoever had a booke of the Testament founde by him, or whosoever consented vnto the Lawe, the Kings commaundement was, that they should put him to death by their authoritie:

61 And they executed these things every moneth vpon the people of Israel that were founde in the cities.

62 And in the five & twentith day of the moneth, they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commaundement, they put certaine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised, 64 And they hanged vp the children at their neckes, and they spoyled their houses, and slewed the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in themselves, that they would not eate vncleane things, 66 But chose rather to suffer death, then to bee defiled with those meats: so because they would not breake the holy covenante, they were put to death.

67 And this tyranny was very fore vpon the people of Israel.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy cite. 19 They refuse to doe sacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The death of Mattathias for the Lawe of God. 33 They are slain and will not fight against because of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying, commaundeth his sonnes to flake by the worde of God, after the example of Iste fathers.

IN those dayes stoode vp Mattathias the Priest, the sonne of Ioanans, the sonne of Simcon, of the sonnes of Ioab, of Ierusalem, and dwelt in Modin.

2 And he had five sonnes, Ioanan called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thassi.

4 Iudas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called I Abaron, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphus.

6 Nowe hee sawe the blasphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Ierusalem:

7 And he said, Wo is me: wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy cite, and thus to sit still? it is deliuered into the handes of the enemies.

8 And the Sanctuary is in the hands of strangers: her Temple is as a man that hath no renoume.

9 Her glorious vessels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are slaine in the streetes, and her young men are fallen by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that haue not some possession in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her spoyles?

11 Al her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmayd.

12 Behold, our Sanctuary and our beaurie, and honour is desolate, and the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpe it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, hee, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned very fore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the King to the cite of Modin to compell them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together:

17 Then spake the Commissioners of the King, and sayde vnto Mattathias, thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in the cite, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, & fulfil the Kings commaundement, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Iuda, and such as remaine at Ierusalem: so shalt thou and thy family be in the Kings fauour, & thou and thy children shalbe enriched with siluer and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and sayde with a loude voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the Kings dominiou, obey him, & fall away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commaundements, 20 Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren, walke in the couenant of our fathers.

21 God be merciful vnto vs, that we forsake not the Lawe and the ordinances.

22 Wee will not hearken vnto the Kings wordes to transgresse our religion, neither on the right side, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off speaking these wordes, there came one of the Iewes, in the sight of all to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the Kings commaundement.

24 Nowe when Mattathias sawe it, he was so inflamed with zeale, that his reynes shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Lawe: therefore he ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar.

25 And at the same time he slew the Kings commissioner, that compelld him to doe sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Lawe of God, as Phineas did vnto Zambri the sonne of Salom.

27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loude voyce in the cite, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the Lawe, and wil stande by the couenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So he, & his sonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the cite.

29 Then many that sought after iustice and judgement,

30 Went downe into the wildernes to dwell there, both they, and their children, & their wives, and their cattell: for the afflictions increased fore vpon them.

31 ¶ Nowe when it was tolde vnto the Kings seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Ierusalem in the cite of David, that men had broken the Kings commaundement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wildernes,

32 Then many purshed after them: and hauing overtaken them, they camped against them, and set the battell in aray against them on the Sabbath day,

33 And sayd vnto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and doe according to the commaundement of the King, and ye shall liue.

34 But they answered, We will not goe forth, neither will we doe the Kings commaundement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any onestone at them, nor stopped the priue places.

37 But sayd, Wee will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that ye destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus they gave them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wives and their children to the number of a thousande people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly.

40 And said one to another, If we all doe as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our Lawes, then shall they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoever shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, we will fight against him, that we die not all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assemblie of the Asideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for perfection, ioyned themselves vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, & smote the wicked men in their wrath, & the vngodly in their anger but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about, and destroyed the altars,

46 And circumcised the children by force that were vn-circumcised, as many as they found within the coastes of Israel,

47 And they pursued after the proud men: and thus all prospered in their hands.

48 So they recovered the Lawe out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of Kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drewe neere that Mattathias should die, hee said vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and perfection increased, and the time of destruction and wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be yee zealous of the Lawe, and giue your liues for the couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what a doer our fathers did in their time: so shall yee receiue great honour and an euerlasting name.

52 ¶ Was not Abraham found faithful in temptation, & it was imputed vnto him for righteoussnesse?

53 ¶ Ioseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandement, and was made the lord of Egypt.

54 ¶ Phinees our father, because he was zealous and feruent, obtained the couenant of the euerlasting Priesthood.

55 ¶ Iesus for fulfilling the word, was made the gouernour of Israel.

56 ¶ Caleb, because hee here witnesseth before the Congregation, receiued the heritage of the land.

57 ¶ Dauid, because of his mercie obeyed the throne of the kingdom for euermore.

58 ¶ Elias, because hee was zealous and feruent in the Law, was taken vp euen vnto heauen.

59 ¶ Ananias, Azarias and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

60 ¶ Daniel because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lyons.

61 And thus ye may consider throughout all ages, that who soeuer put their trust in him, shall not want strength.

62 ¶ Feare not ye then the words of a sinful man: for his glory is but dung and wormes,

63 To day is he set vp, and to morowe hee shall not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perished. ¶ Wherefore, my sonnes, take good heart: and shew your selues men for the Lawe: for by it shall you obtaine glory.

64 And behold, I knowe that your brother Simon is a man of counsel: gaue care vnto him alwaye he shall be a father vnto you.

65 And Iudas Maccabees hath bene mightie and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him be your captaine, and fight you the battell for the people.

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you all those that obseure the Lawe, and shall avenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, & gaue your selues to the commandement of the Law.

69 So hee blessed them, and was laid with his fathers,

70 And dyed in the hundredth, fourtie and fixe yere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. IIL

¶ Iudas is made ruler ouer the Jewes. 31. He killith Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44. The confidence of Iudas is waied at God. 55. Iudas determineth to fight against Lysias, whom Antiochus had made captaine ouer his hostes.

¶ Then Iudas his sonne, called Maccabees, rose vp in his place.

1 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that helde with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.

2 So hee gaue his people great honour: hee put on a breastplate as a giant, and armed himselfe, and set the battell in aray, and defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his acts he was like a Lion, and as a Lions whelp roaring after the praye.

5 For he pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people.

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble, and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And hee grieved diuers Kings, but Iacob reioyced by his acts, and his memoriall is blessed for euer.

8 Hee went also thorow the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was hee renowned vnto the ends of the earth, and he assembled together those that were ready to perill.

10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, & a great host out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

11 Which when Iudas perceiued, he went forth to meet him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Iudas tooke their spoiles, and tooke also Apollonius sword, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the army of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the Congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre, 14 He said, I will get me a name, and will be glorious in the realme: for I will goe fight with Iudas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandement.

15 So he made him ready to go vp, & there were with him a mightie hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came neere to the going vp to Bethbordan, Iudas went forth to meete him with a small company.

17 But when they sawe the armie coming against them, they said to Iudas, Howe are we able, being so few, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we be so weary, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then said Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the hands of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victorie of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the host, but the strength cometh from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruell & proud multitude to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs:

21 But we doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes.

22 And God him selfe will destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraid of them.

23 And when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his hoste destroyed before him.

24 And they purfued them fro the going downe of Bethbordan vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundred men of them, and the residue fled into the land of the Philistines.

25 Then the feare and terror of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about.

26 So that his fame came vnto the King: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Iudas.

27 ¶ But when King Antiochus heard these tidings, he was angry in his minde: wherefore he sent forth, & gathered all the power of his realme, a very strong armie.

28 And opened his treasure, and gaue his hoste a yeeeres wages in hand, commaunding them to be readye for a yeeer for all occasions.

29 Neuerthelesse, when he sawe that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the distension, and plagues that he had brought vpon the land, in taking away the lawes which had bene of olde time.

30 He feared least he should not haue nowe at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberallitie he farre passed the other Kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreies, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lyfias a noble man & of the Kings blood to oversee the Kings businesse, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt.

33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreover, he gaue him halfe of his host and elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done.

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and Ierusalem, that he should send an armie against them, to destroy and roote out the power of Irael and the remnant of Ierusalem, & to put out their memoriall from that place.

36 And to see strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the King tooke the halfe of the hoste that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall cite, in the yeeer an hundred fourtie and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorow the hie countreies.

38 Then Lyfias chose Ptolemus the sonne of Doriminius, and Nicanor, and Gorgias, mighty men, and the Kings friends.

39 And sent with them fourtie thousand foote-men, and seuen thousand horsemen, to goe into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the King commaunded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came and pitched by || Emmaus in the plaine countrey.

41 Nowe when the marchants of the countrey heard the rumore of them, they tooke very much filuer and golde, and seruants, and came into the campe to buy the children of Irael for slaues, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations ioyned with them.

42 ¶ Nowe when Iudas and his brethren sawe that trouble increased, and that the hoste drew neere vnto their borders, considering the Kings words, whereby he had commaunded to destroy the people, and vtterly abolish them.

43 They said one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, & let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuarie.

44 Then the Congregation were soone readie gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Ierusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderness. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuarie was troden downe, and the strangers kept the fortresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Iacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered them selues together, and came to Maspha before Ierusalem: for in Maspha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Irael.

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackcloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heads, & rent their clothes.

48 And opened ¶ booke of the law, wherein the heathen sought to paint the likenes of their idoles.

49 And brought the Priests garments, and the first fruites, and the tithes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cryed with a loud voyce toward heauen, saying, What shall we doe with this? and whether shall we carrie them away?

51 For thy Sanctuarie is troden downe and despoiled, and thy Priests are in heauineesse, and brought Iowne.

52 And beholde, the heathen are come against vs, to destroy vs: thou knowest what thinges they imagine against vs.

53 How can we stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cryed with a loud voyce.

55 And after this, Iudas ordeined captains ouer the people, euen captains ouer thousands, and captains ouer hundreds, and captains ouer fifties, and captains ouer tenne.

56 And they commaunded them that builded houses, or married wiues, or planted vineyardes, or were carefull, that they should reuaine euery one to his owne house, according to the Lawe.

57 So the hoste remoued, and pitched vpon the Southside of Emmanus.
58 And Iudas sayd, Arise your selues, and be valiant men, & be ready against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuary.
59 For it is better for vs to die in battel, then to see the calamities of our people & of our Sanctuary.
60 Neuerthelesse as the will of God is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. IIIII

1 Iudas goeth against Gorgias which heeth in wait. 14 He putteth Gorgias and his hoste to flight. 28 Lysias smiteth Iudas. 29 But Iudas crusheth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple and dedicateth the altar.

Then tooke Gorgias five thousande foote men, and a thousande of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night.

2 To invade the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the fountaine were his guides.

3 Now when Iudas heard it, hee remoued, and they that were valiant men to smite the Kings armie which was at Emmanus.

4 Whiles yet the armie was dispersed from the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Iudas campe: and when hee founde no man there, he sought them in the mountaines: for saide he, They flee from vs.

6 But assoone as it was day, Iudas shewed himselfe in the field with three thousande men, which had neither harnesse nor swordes to their mindes.

7 And they sawe that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, & that these were expert men of warre.

8 Then sayde Iudas to the men that were with him, Feare ye not the multitude, neither be afraide of their assault.

9 Remember, howe our fathers were deliuered in the redde Sea, when Pharaos pursued them with an armie.

10 Therefore now let vs cry vnto heauen, and the Lorde will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the couenant of our fathers, and will destroy this hoste before our face this day.

11 So shall all the heathen knowe, that there is one, which deliuereth and saueh Israel.

12 Then the souldiers lift vp their eyes, and saw them coming against them.

13 And they went out of their tentes into the battell, and they that were with Iudas, blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fel by the sword, & they pursued them vnto Gazeron, & into the plaines of Idumea, & of Azotus, and of Iamna, so that there were slaine of them about three thousand men.

16 So Iudas turned againe. with his hoste from pursuing them.

17 And sayde vnto the people, Be not greedy of the spoiles: for there is a battel before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast against your enemies, and overcome them: then may ye safely take the spoiles.

19 As Iudas was speaking these words, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaine.

20 But when Gorgias saw that his were fled, and that Iudas souldiers burnt the tentes (for the spiritke that was forme, declared what was done) Iudas said: 21 When they sawe these things, they were fore afraide, and when they sawe also that Iudas and his hoste were in the field ready to set themselves in aray, 22 They fled euery one into the land of strangers.

23 So Iudas turned againe to spoyle the tentes, where he gat much golde and silver, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, & sung Psalmes, and prayed toward the heauen: for hee is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

25 And so Iliel had great victory in that day.

26 Nowe all the strangers that escaped, came, and tolde Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard these things, was fore afraide, and discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as hee would, neither such things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following, gathered Lysias threefore thousande chosen foote men, and five thousand horsemen to fight against Ierusalem.

29 So they came into Idumea, and pitched their tents at Beth-sura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he saw that mighty army, he prayed, and sayd, Blessed be thou, O Saviour of Israel, which diddest destroy the assault of the mightie man by the hand of thy seruant David, and gapest the hoste of the strangers into the hands of Iosathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour beares.

31 Shut vp this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them bee confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraide, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may bee astonied at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee: then shall all they that know thy Name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias hoste, five thousande men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias, seeing his armie put to flight, and the mannesse of Iudas souldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, hee went into Antiochia and gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his armie, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Iudas.

36 Then said Iudas and his brethren, Behoile, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now goe vp to cleanse, and to repaire the Sanctuary.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Nowe when they sawe the Sanctuary layde waste, and the altar defiled, & the doores burnt vp, and the shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe, 39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads.

40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarme with the trumpets, & cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the citie, til he had cleared the Sanctuary.

42 So he chose Priests that were vndefiled, such as delighted in the Lawe.

Dr. A. Formis.

43 And hee defiled the Sanctuarie, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offering, which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, least it should bee a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar,

46 And layde vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a Prophet, to shewe what should bee done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Lawe, and builded a newe altar according to the former.

48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also new holy vessels, & brought into the Temple the candlesticke, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlesticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vnailes, & finished all the works that they had begonne to make.

52 And vpon the five and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Chasseu, in the hundredth eight and fortieth yeere they rose vp beimes in the morning,

53 And offered sacrifice according to the Lawe, vpon the new altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day was it made newe with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbales.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praying toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnesse, and offered sacrifices of deliuerance and prayre.

57 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of golde and shildes, and dedicated the gates & chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, and the reproche of the heathen was put away.

59 So Iudas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel, ordeyned that the dayes of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight daies, from the five and twentieth day of the moneth Chasseu, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with hie walles, & strong towres round about, lest the Gentiles should come, and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Iudas vanquished the heathen that got about to destroy Israel, and he kept of his brethren Simon and Jonathan. 58 Hee overthrew the citie of Apseu, because they denied them passage thence.

NOW when the nations round about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuarie renned afore, they were sore grieved.

3 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

4 Then Iudas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at Jarrabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, & hee smote them with a great plague, and droue them to straites, and tooke their spoyles.

5 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Ben, which had bene a snare and an hindrance vnto the people, when they laye in wayte for them in the hie way.

6 Wherefore he slau them vp in towres, & besieged them, and destroyed them vterly, & burnt their towres with fire, with all that were in them.

7 Afterwarde, went he against the children of Ammon, where he founde a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

8 So he had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so hee discomfited them,

9 And tooke Gazar with the towntes thereof and so turned againe into Iudea.

10 Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castles of Datheman.

11 And sent letters to Iudas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs, 12 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the forresse, whereunto wee are fledde, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

13 Come nowe therefore, and deliue us out of their hands for many of vs are slaine:

14 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are slaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.

15 While these letters were yet a reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galile, with their clothes rent, which tolde the same tidings,

16 And said, that they of Ptolemais, & of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them:

17 When Iudas, and the people heard these wordes, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might do for their brethren that were in trouble, and whome they besieged.

18 Then said Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren, in Galile, and I and my brother Jonathan, will goe into the countrey of Galaad.

19 So hee left Iosephus the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to be captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Iudea;

20 And commanded them, saying, Take the o-ueright of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, vntill we come againe.

21 And vnto Simon were giuen three thousand men to goe into Galile, and to Iudas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad:

22 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

23 And he pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: & there were slaine of the heathen almost three thousand men: so hee tooke their spoiles.

24 Thus

33 Thus they rescued them that were in Galilee and in Artastis with their wives and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudaea with great joy.

34 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus also, and his brother Jonathan went over Iorden, and trauailed three dayes journey in the wilderness.

35 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, and told them every thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad.

36 And how that many of them were besieged in Boforra and Bofor, in Alemiss Chasbon, Maged and Carnaim (all these cities were strong and great).

37 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morrow they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto those fortres, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

38 So Iudas and his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wilderness towards Boforra, and wanne the cite, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and tooke all their poyle, and set fire vpon the cite.

39 And in the night he remooued from thence, and went toward the fortreffe.

40 And becomen in the morning when they looked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the forte, and had assaulted them.

41 When Iudas sawe that the battel was begun, and that the cry of the city went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound.

42 Then he sayd vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

43 So he went forth behinde them with three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cryed with prayer.

44 Then the host of Timotheus knew, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and hee smote them with a great laughter, so that there was killed of them the same day, almost eight thousand men.

45 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Maspha, and laid siege vnto it, and wanne it, and slew all the males thereof, and spoyled it, and set fire vpon it.

46 From thence went hee and tooke Chasbon, Maged, and Bofor, and the other cities in Galaad.

47 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

48 Nowe Iudas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that be rounde about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great.

49 And hee hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come and fight against thee. So Iudas went to meete them.

50 Then Timotheus saile vnto the captaines of his hoste, When Iudas and his hoste come neere the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shal not be able to withstand him: for he will betoo strong for vs.

51 But if hee be afraide, and campe beyond the flood, we will goe out vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

52 Now when Iudas came neere to the flood, he caused the gouernours of the people to remaine by the flood, and commanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let every man come to y. battel.

53 So he went first ouer toward them, & all the people after him, and all the heathen were discom-red before him, and cast away their weapons, and fled into the Temple that was at Carnaim.

54 Which cite Iudas wanne, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdared, and might not withstand Iudas.

55 ¶ Then Iudas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the least vnto the most, with their wives and their children, and their baggage, a very great hoste, to come into the land of Iuda.

56 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great cite by the way, and strongly defended: they could not passe, neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must goe thorow it.

57 But they that were in the cite, shut themselves in, and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Iudas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying,

58 Let vs passe thorow your lande, that we may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we will but only goe thorow on foote: but they would not open vnto him.

59 Wherefore Iudas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the hoste, that at euery man should assault it according to his standing.

60 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assaulted the cite all that day, and all that night, and the cite was giuen ouer into his hands:

61 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword, & destroyed it, and tooke the spoile thereof, and went thorow the cite ouer them y were slaine.

62 Then went they ouer Iorden into the great plaine before Bethsan.

63 And Iudas gathered together those that were behind, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorow, till they were come into the land of Iuda.

64 Thus went they vp with ioy, and gladnesse vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offrings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

65 ¶ Nowe whilst Iudas and Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galilee before Ptolemais.

66 Ioseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant actes, and batels which they had atchieued, said, 67 Let vs get vs a name also, and go fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

68 So they gaue their hoste a commandement and went toward Iamnia.

69 But Gorgias and his men came out of the cite against them.

70 And Ioseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Iudaea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great overthrow among the people of Israel.

71 Because they were not obedient vnto Iudas, and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.

72 Also they came out of y stocke of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

73 But the man Iudas, & his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, where ouer their name was heard of.

74 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

75 Afterwarde went Iudas forth with his brethren, & fought against the children of Esaus in the land toward the South, where hee wanne Bethron.

Iosaph. Anti. vs. chap. 11, and 12.

and thirte men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to flure them vp, and to keepe them in the valleys.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shieldes, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings armie was spred vp-on the high mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyse of their multitude, and the marching of the companie, and the raling of the harness, were astonished: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Judas and his hoste entred into the battell, and they slew sixe hundred men of the Kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar the sonne of Abaron, saw some of the elephants armed with royal harness, and was more excellent then all the other beastes, he thought that the King should be vpon him.

44 Wherefore he leaped his life to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetual name.

45 And ran boldly vnto him through the mids of the hoste, laying on the right hande and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went hee to the elephants feete, and gate him vnder him, and slew him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him, and there he dyed.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king, and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the Kings armie went vp to meece them toward Ierusalem, and the King preched his tentes in Iuda toward Sion.

49 Mordechai the King tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: bin when they came out of the citie, because they had no vitales there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested.

50 The King tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to keepe it.

51 And besieged the Sanctuarie many dayes, and made instruments to throwe, and other engines of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts and slings.

52 ¶ They also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vitales: for it was the seventh yeere, and then they that were in Iuda, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store.

54 So that in the Sanctuarie were few men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Nowe when Lyfias heard that Philippe (whome Antiochus the King, whiles hee liued, had ordeyned to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be King)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media, and the Kings hoste with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things,

57 He and his haffred, and were stirred forward by them in the castle to goe and tell the King, and the captaines of the hoste, and to others, saying, We decrease daily, & our vitales are but small: and the place that we lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

58 Now therefore let vs agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their nation.

59 And graunt them to liue after their lawe, as they did afore: for they be grieved, and doe all these things, because we haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace: and they receiued it.

61 When the King and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortresse.

62 And the King went vp to mount Sion: but when he sawe that the place was well defended, hee brake his othe that he had made, and commaunded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed hee in all haste, and returned vnto Antiochia, where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: so hee fought against him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII

Demetrius reigned, after hee had killed Antiochus and Lyfias, 5. Hee troubled the children of Israel through the counsel of certain wicked persons. 17. The prayer of the Priests against Alcimus. 41. Judas killed Alcimus, after hee had made his prayer.

IN the hundredth, and one and fiftieth yeere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a few men vnto a citie of the sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when hee came into the possession of his fathers kingdome, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lyfias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was tolde him he said, shew mee not their faces: for they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdome,

4 5: There came vnto himall the wicked and vngodly men of Israel, whose capaine was Alcimus, that would haue bene the hie Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto the King, saying, Iudas and his brethren haue flaine all thy frendes, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore Iudas now some man, whom thou trustest, that he may goe and see all the destructions which hee hath done vnto vs, and to the Kings land, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the King choise Bacchides a friende of his, which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and sent him.

9 And that wicked Alcimus, whome he made hie Priest, and commaunded him to be auenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the hande of Iudas, and sent messengers to Iudas and his brethren, desirous with peaceable wordes.

11 But they beleued not their saying: for they sawe that they were come with a great hoste.

12 Then a company of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreat of reasonable poynts.

13 And the Affidens were the first that required peace among the children of Israel.

14 Forsaiketh they, He that is a Priest of the seede of Aaron, is come with this armie: therefore hee will not hurt vs.

15 Then hee spake vnto them peaceably, and swore vnto them, and sayde, Wee will doe you no harme, neither your frende.

16 And they beleued him: but he tooke of the three score men, and slawe them in one day according

7 And how they tooke him alive, and ordeined him, with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a separate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of his best countreys, which they tooke of him, and gaue them to king Eumenes.

9 Again when it was tolde them that the Grecians were coming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a capitaine, which gaue them battell, and slew many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wiues, and children, and spoiled them, and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holdes, & subdued them to be their bondmen, vnto this day:

11 Moreover, how they destroyed, & brought into subiection other kingdomes and yles, whoeuer had withstood them:

12 But that they kept amitie with their owne friends, and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both firme and neere, insumch that whoeuer heard of their renowne, was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, and whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most high authoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them were a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordeined themselves a counsell, wherein three hundred and twentie men consulted dayly, and prouided for the common affaires, to gouerne them well,

16 And that they committed their gouernment to one man euery yeere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Iudas chose Eupolemus the sonne of Iohn, the sonne of Accus, and Ision the sonne of Elcazar, and sent them vnto Rometo make friendship, and mutuall fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they saw that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great journey, and came into the Senate, where they spake and said, 20 Iudas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship, and peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse, and sent to Ierusalem, that they might haue by them a memorial of the peace, and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romans, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea, & by land for euer, and the sword, and enemie be from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romans, or any of their friends thorowout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Iewes shall helpe them, as the time shall be appointed, with all their heart.

26 Also they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheat nor weapons, nor money, nor shippes, as it pleaseth the Romans, but they shall keepe their covenants without taking any thing of them.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the nation of the Iewes, the Romans shall helpe them with a good will, according as the time shall be appointed them.

28 Neither shall wheat be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor shippes, as it pleaseth the Romans, who will keepe these covenants without decite.

29 According to these articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these points the one partie, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it, at their pleasures, and whatsoeuer they shall adde, or take away, shall be ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou these heavy yoke vpon our friends, and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sought his armie against Iudas. 18 Iudas in flames. 21 Iudas in a pee in the front of his brother. 47 The battell between Iudas and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus a Jewite with the palfe, and death. 68 Her comeneth vpon Iudas with the counsel of cerenius wicked persons, and in ane come. 70 The state of Iudas with Bacchides.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor, and his hoste had giuen the battell, he sent Bacchides and Alcimus againe into Iudas, and his chief strength with them.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Mefaloch which is in Arbelis, and wan it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundredth, fiftie and two yeere, they layed their siege against Ierusalem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Betea, with twentie thousand foot men and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at Elatzi, and three thousand chosen men with him.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the army was great, they were sore afraid, & many conueyed themselves out of the hoste, so that there abode no mo of them, but eight hundred men.

7 When Iudas saw that his hoste failed him, and that he must needs fight, hee was sore troubled in mind that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuerthelesse, he said vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and go vp against our enemies, if peradventure we may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, We are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe now, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall we fight against them, that are so few?

10 Then Iudas said, God forbid, that we should doe this thing, to flee from them: if our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

11 Then the host removed out of the tents, and stood against them, who had diuided their horsemen into two troops, and they that threw with slings, and the archers marched in the forward, and they that fought in the forward, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drew neere on both sides, and blew the trumpet.

13 They of Iudas side blew the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noyse of the armies, & the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Iudas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, hee tooke with him all the hardie men,

15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Now when they which were of the left wing saw that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Iudas behinde, and them that were with him hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a fore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Iudas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Simon tooke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the citie of Modin.

20 And al the Israelites wept for him, & mourned greatly for him, & lamented many daies, saying,

21 How is the valiant man fallen which deliuered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Iudas, both the battells and the valiant acts that he did, and of his woorthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

23 ¶ Now after the death of Iudas, wicked men came vp in all the coasts of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselves to iniquitie.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the country gaue ouer themselves with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Iudas friends, & brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came fo great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Iudas friends together, and sayd vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Iudas is dead, and there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs,

30 Therefore, this day we chuse thee, that thou mayest be our Prince and captaine in his place, to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Iudas.

32 But when Bacchides knew it, he fought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother, perceiving that, fled into the wilderness of Thecuia with all their companie, and pitched their tents, by the water poole of Asphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstood, hee came ouer Jordan with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Jonathan sent his brother John, a captain of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

36 But the children of Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke Iolui, & all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, and brought the bride from Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest Princes of Canaan.

38 Therefore they remembered John their brother, and went vp, and hid themselves vnder the covert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, & looked, and beholde, there wasa great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friends and his brethren met them with tymbrels, and instruments of musike, and many weapons.

40 Then Ionathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, & slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoiles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Iorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, hee came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his companie, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Beholde, the battell is before vs, and behinde vs, and the water of Iorden on this side and that side, and the marishe, and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore crie now vnto heauen, that yee may be deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but he turned aside from him and recoiled.

48 Then Jonathan, & they that were with him, leapt into Iorden, and swimmid ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not passe thorow Iorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Ierusalem, & built vpon the strong cities in Iuda, as the castle of Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, ¶ Pharathon, and ¶ Tepho, with high walles, with gates, and with barres, 51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 He fortified also the citie Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of vitales.

53 Hee tooke also the chiefeest mens sonnes in the country for hostages, and put them in the castle at Ierusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundredth, fiftie and three yere, in the second month, Alcimus commanded, that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuarie should be destroyed, & he pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a palsey, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the king, and so the land of Iuda was in rest two yeres.

58 Then

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, saying, Behold, Jonathan and his company dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, & we will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Who arose and came with a great hoste, and sent letters priuily to his adherentes, which were in Iudea, to take Jonathan and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsell was knowne vnto them.

61 And [they] tooke fiftie men of the country, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednes, and slew them.

62 ¶ Then Jonathan and Simon with their companie departed vnto Beth-basin which is in the wilderness, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his hoste, & sent word to them that were of Iudea.

64 Then came he and laid siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.

65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went forth into the country, and came with a certaine number.

66 And slew ¶ Odomeras and his brethren and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so hee began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also and his company went out of the citie, and burnt vp the instruments of warre.

68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and vexed him fore, so that his counsell and journey was in vaine.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, that gaue him counsell to come into the country, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne country.

70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent Ambassadors vnto him, to intreate of peace with him, & that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing he accepted, and did according to his desire, and made an othe, that he would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So hee restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforesaid out of the land of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne land, neither did he come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

¶ Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Jonathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Jewes. 28 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 30 Demetrius is slaine. 32 The friendship of Ptolemieus and Alexander.

IN the hundredth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemis, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Nowe when Demetrius the King heard it, hee gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathan, with louing wordes, as though hee would preferre him.

4 For he said, We will first make peace with him, before he ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Els he will remember all the euill that we haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so hee gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to bee confederate with him, and commaunded the hostages that were in the castell, to be deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Jonathan to Ierusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castel.

8 Therefore they were foreafraide, because they heard that the king had giuen him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castel, deliuered the hostages vnto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and began to build, and repaire the citie.

11 And he commaunded the workemen to build the walles, and the mount Sion rounde about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castles which Bacchides had made, fled.

13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne country.

14 Onely at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the Lawe and the commandments: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when King Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, which he and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 He said, Might we find such a man now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Vpon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these words, saying,

18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordeine thee to be the high Priest of thy nation, and to be called the Kings friend: (and he sent him a purple robe, and a crowne of gold) that thou mayest consider what is for our profit, and keepe friendship toward vs.

21 So in the seventh moneth of the hundred and threescore yeere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment and gathered an host, and prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, hee was maruelous forie, and said, 23 What haue wee done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Jewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIUS vnto the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your covenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyued with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelity toward vs, and we will recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs.

28 And will release you of many charges, and giue you rewardes.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Jewes from tributes, & free you from the customes of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the third part of the seede.

30 And from the halfe of the fruite of the trees which is mine owne due tie, I fo releafe them that from this day fourth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda, or of the three gouernments which are added therunto, as of Samaria and of Galilee, from this day fourth for euermore.

31 Ierusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall be holy and free from the tents and tributes.

32 Also I releafe the power of the castell which is at Ierusalem, & giue it vnto the hie Priest, that he may set in it such men, as he shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreover I freely deliuer euery one of the Iewes I were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my realme, & euery one of them shall be free fro tributes, yea, euen their cattel,

34 And all the feastes, and Sabbaths, and newe Moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedome and libertie for all the Iewes in my realme, 35 So that is them no man shall haue power to doe anything, or to vex any of them in any manner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousand of the Iewes shall be written vp in the kings hostes, and haue their wages payed them, as appertaineth to all them that are of the Kings arme: and of them shall be ordeined certaine to keepe the Kings strong holds.

37 And some of them shall be set ouer the Kings most secret affaires, and their gouernours and their Princes shall be of themselves, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the King hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the three gouernments that are added vnto Iudea from the country of Samaria, shall be ioyned vnto Iuda, and they shall be as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuarie at Ierusalem, for the necessarie expences of the holy things.

40 Moreover, I will giue euery yeere fifteene thousand sicles of siluer of the Kings reuenues out of the places appertaining vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from hencefoorth they shall giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the fise thousand sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the account appointed for the intertainment of the Sanctuarie these yeeres passed, euen these things shall be releafed because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, whoeuer they bee that flee vnto the Temple at Ierusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indetted to the King for any manner of thing, they shall be pardoned, and all that they haue in my Realme.

44 For the building also and repaying of the workes of the Sanctuarie, expences shall be giuen of the Kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Ierusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the boldes in Iudea may be built vp, shall also the costes be giuen out of the Kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Jonathan and the people heard these words, they gaue no credit vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembered the great wickednesse that he had done in Iisrah, and howe fore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered King Alexander a great host, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two Kings ioyned battell, but Demetrius host fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.

50 So that fore battell continued till the sunne went downe, & Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadors vnto Ptolemais the King of Egypt with these wordes, saying,

52 For so much as I am come againe to my Realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my country,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and he and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs nowe make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I be thy sonne in lawe, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptolemais the King gaue answer, saying, Happie be the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of thy kingdome.

56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meet me at Ptolemais that we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemais went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundredth threescore and two yeere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, & married them at Ptolemais with great glory, as is manner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he should come and meet him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there hee met the two Kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certeine pestilent fellows of Iisrah, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the King commanded that they should take off the garments of Jonathan, and clothe him in purple, and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him,

63 And said vnto his Princes, Go with him into the midst of the city, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the King preferred him to honour, and wrote him among his chiefe friends, and made him a Duke, and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Ierusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundredth, threescore and fise yeere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, hee was very sorie, and returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Iamnia, and sent vnto Jonathan the hie Priest, saying, 70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, & reproched, because of thee: nowe therefore why doest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Nowe then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine fieldes, and there let vs trie the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shal take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foote is not able to stande before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twice chafed in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footemen in the plaine: where is neyther stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, he was moued in his minde: wherefore he chose ten thousand men, & went out of Ierusalem, and simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Ioppe: but they shut him out of the cite: for Apollonius garison was in Ioppe.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the cite, for very feare let him in: So Jonathan wanne Ioppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen with a great hoste of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though he would goe forward, and came immediatly into the plaine fiekle, because he had so many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his ariere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behinde them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knewe that there was an ambushment behind him: and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shot darts at the people from the morning to the evening.

81 Yet the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them, till their horses were wearie.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, and set them against the hand: but the horses were weary, and he discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the fieldes.

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue themselves.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it, and tooke their spoyle, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the hoste from thence, and camped by Afsalon, where the men of the cite came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Ierusalem, with great spoyle.

88 And when King Alexander heard these things, he began to doe Jonathan more honour.

89 And sent him a collar of golde, as the vse is to be giuen vnto such as are of the Kings blood. he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

8 The distinction between Ptolemus and Alexander his sonne in lawe. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius regneth after the death of Ptolemus. 22 Simon is besieged of Jonathan. 23 Demetrius strenght no man resisted him, fourth he came againe. 24 Tryphon strength Antiochus against Demetrius.

And the king of Egypt gathered a great hoste. Like the land that lyeth vpon the sea (shore, and many shippes and went about through deceite to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne Realme.

2 Vpon this he went into Syria with friendly wordes, and was let into the cities, and men came forth to meete him: for king Alexander had commanded them to meete him, because he was his father in lawe.

3 Now when he entred into the cite of Ptolemais, he left bands and garisons in euery cite.

4 And when hee came nere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where hee shoulde passe.

5 And they tolde the king what Jonathan had done, so the intent they might get him euill will: but the king helde his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the king with great honour at Ioppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Elautherus, hee turned againe to Ierusalem.

8 So King Ptolemus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander.

9 And sent Ambassadors vnto King Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus hee slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And hee tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly known.

13 Then Ptolemus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his own head, of Asia and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

15 But when Alexander heard it, hee came to warre against him, and Ptolemus brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mightie power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to beddefended: so Ptolemus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemus died: and they that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundred, threcore and fourthe yeere.

20 At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Iudea, to lay siege vnto the castel, which was at Ierusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly perſons (which hated their owne people) vnto King Demetrius, & told him that Ionathan beſieged the caſtel.

22 So when he heard it, he was angry, and immediately came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Ionathan, that hee ſhould lay no more ſiege vnto it, but that he ſhould meete him and ſpeake with him at Ptolemais in all haſte.

23 Neuertheleſſe when Ionathan heard this, hee commanded to beſiege it: he choſe alſo certaine of the Elders of Iſrael, and the Prieſtes, and put himſelfe in danger.

24 And tooke with him ſiluer and gold, and apparell, and diuers preſents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the king, and found fauour in his fight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him, 26 Yet the king entreated him as his predeceſſors had done, and promoted him in the fight of all his friends.

27 And confirmed him in the his prieſthoode with all the honourable things, that he had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Ionathan alſo deſired the King, that he would make Iudea free with the three gouernements, and the countrey of Samaria, and Ionathan promiſed him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the King conſented, and gaue Ionathan writing of the ſame, containing theſe wordes, 30 KING DEMETRIUS vnto his brother Ionathan, and to the nation of the Iewes ſendeth greeting.

31 We ſend you here a copy of the letter which we did write vnto our couſin Laſthenes concerning you, that ye ſhould ſee it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Laſthenes his father, ſendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfullnes that our friends the nation of the Iewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towards vs, wee are determiued to doe them good.

34 Wherefore we aſſigne to them the coaſts of Iudea with the three gouernements, Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that ſacrifice in Ieruſalem: both concerning the paiments which the King tooke yereſe aforetime, both for the fruits of the earth, and for the fruits of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenths and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the cuſtomes of ſalt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we diſcharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof ſhall be reuoked from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore ſee that ye make a copy of theſe things, and deliuer it vnto Ionathan, that it may be ſet vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this when Demetrius the King ſawe that his land was in reſt, and that no reſiſtance was made againſt him, he ſent away all his hoſtes, euery man to his owne place, except certaine bandes of ſtrangers, whome he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoſtes hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when he ſawe that all the hoſtes murmured againſt Demetrius, he went to ¶ Simolene the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the ſonne of Alexander, 40 And lay ſore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers ſteade: hee tolde him alſo what great euill Demetrius had done, and howe his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long ſeaſon.

41 Alſo Ionathan ſent vnto King Demetrius to driue them out which were in the caſtell at Ieruſalem, and thoſe that were in the fortrefſes: for they fought againſt Iſrael.

42 So Demetrius ſent vnto Ionathan, ſaying, I will not onely doe theſe things for thee, and thy nation, but if opportunitie ſerue, I will honour thee, and thy nation.

43 Nowe therefore thou ſhalt doe mee a pleaſure, if thou wilt ſend me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Ionathan ſent him three thouſand ſtrong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the King: wherefore the King was very glad at their coming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, euen an hundred and twentie thouſande men, gathered them together in the mids of the citie, and would haue ſlaine the King.

46 But the king fledde into the palace, and the citizens kept the ſtreets of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him all together, and went abroade through the citie,

48 And ſlew the ſame day an hundred thouſand, and ſet fire vpon the citie, and tooke many ſpoiles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens ſaw that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the citie, and that they themſelues were diſappointed of their purpoſe, they made their ſupplication vnto the king, ſaying,

50 ¶ Grant vs peace, and let the Iewes ceaſe from vexing vs and the citie.

51 So they caſt away their weapons, and made peace, and the Iewes were greatly honoured before the king, and before all that were in his Realme, & they came againe to Ieruſalem with great pray.

52 Then King Demetrius ſate in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuertheleſſe he diſembled in all that ener he ſpake, and withdrew himſelfe from Ionathan, neither did he reward him according to the benefites which hee had done for him, but troubled him very fore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong child Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whome Demetrius had ſcattered, and they fought againſt him, who fled and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the ¶ beaſtes, and wanne Antiochia.

57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Ionathan, ſaying, I appoint thee to bee the chiefe Prieſt, and make thee ruler ouer the foure gouernements, that thou mayeſt be a friend of the Kings.

58 Vpon this he ſent him golden veſſels to bee ſerued in, and gaue him leaue to trinke in gold, and to weare purple, and to haue a collar of golde.

59 Hee made his brother Simon alſo captaine from the coaſts of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Ionathan went ſouth, and paſſed thorow

thorow the cities, beyond the flood, and al the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came vnto Askalon, and they of the city receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went hee vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza that him out: wherefore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoyled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, & tooke of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cades, which is in Galilee, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey, 64 Hee came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and thus it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which hee granted them, and afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his hoste came to the water of Gensar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And behold the hostes of the strangers met him in the plaine, and had laid ambushments for him in the mountaines.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places & skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Jonathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of || Abshalomus, and Iudas the sonne of Calphi the capitaines of the hoste.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, & cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to followe after all vnto their tentes at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Jonathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jonathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 2 And to the people of Sparta, to renew their covenant of friendship: 24 Jonathan putteth to flight the princes of Demetrius, 40 Tryphon taketh Jonathan by deceit.

Jonathan now seeing that the time was meete for him chofe certaine men, & sent the vnto Rome, to establish and renew the friendship with them.

2 He sent letters also vnto || the Spartians, and to other places, for the same purpose.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entered into the Senate, and sayde, Jonathan the hie Priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renew friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports, that men should lead them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians,

6 Jonathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priests, and the rest of the people of the Iewes send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from || Aris, which then reigned among you, that ye would bee our brethren, as the copie hereunder written speifieth.

8 And Onias increased the ambassadour honourably, & receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, wee neede no such writings: for we haue the holy bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuerthelesse wee thought it good to sende vnto you for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, least we should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore wee remember you at all seasons continually, & in the feasts & other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices & prayers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue bene enuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the kings round about vs haue fought against vs,

14 Yet would we not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederates and friends in these warres.

15 For we haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and we are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Numanus the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Ialon, & sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renew the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commanded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answer of these things.

19 ¶ And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the King of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the hie Priest sendeth greeting.

22 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall doe well, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs wee haue written vnto you, that your cattel and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue we commaunded to bee shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Nowe when Jonathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore, 25 Hee went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue them not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And hee sent spies vnto their tentes, which came againe, and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore when the sunne was gone downe, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, & sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battel, they feared, and trembled in their heartes, and kindled fires in their tentes, and fled away.

29 Neuerthelesse Jonathan and his company

*Josephus writing
2 Macc. 11
107, Damascus*

knew it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Jonathan followed vpon them, but hee could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Jonathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabodei, and shewed them, and tooke their spoile.

32 He proceeded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went thorow all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Afcalon, and to the next holdes, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

34 For he heard that he would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Jonathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and desired w them for to build vp the strong holdes in Iudea.

36 And to make the walles of Ierusalem hyer, and to make a great mount betwixt the castell and the cite, for to separate it from the cite, that it might be alone, and that men shoulde neyther buy nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the city: for part of the wal vpon the brooke of the Eastside was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also fet vp Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, & to be crowned when he had slaine the King Antiochus.

40 But he was afraid that Ionathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Ionathan, and to kill him: so he departed, and came vnto Bethan.

41 Then went Ionathan fourth against him to the battell with foure thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethan.

42 But when Tryphon saw that Ionathan came with so great an hoste, hee durst not lay hande vpon him.

43 But receiued him honourably, & commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewards, and commannded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to himselfe.

44 And said vnto Ionathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betwene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holdes, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my coming.

46 Ionathan beleued him, and did as he sayde, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Iuda.

47 And receined but three thousande with him, wherof he sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Nowe as soone as Ionathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, and slewe all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen, and horsemen into Galile, and into the great plaine to destroy all Ionathans companie.

50 But when they knew that Ionathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came fourth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, sawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Ionathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were rounde about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memorie from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ After Ionathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 37 Tryphon taking his children, and money for the redemption of Ionathan, killeth him and his children. 38 Demetrius taketh Ierusalem, and possesseth the Realme. 39 Demetrius killeth Ierusalem, and Simon. 40 Simon winneth Gaza. 41 He possesseth the tower of Simon. 52 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

Nowe when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the land of Iuda, to destroy it,

2 And sawe that the people was in great trembling and feare, he came vp to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Ye know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the Lawe & the Sanctuary, and the battels, & troules that we haue scene.

4 By reason wherof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Nowe therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will auenge my nation, & the Sanctuary, & our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these words the hearts of the people were kindeled,

8 So that they cried with a loude voyce, saying, Thou shalt bee a captaine in steade of Iudas and Ionathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs, we will doe it.

10 ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making hast to finish the walles of Ierusalem, and fortified it round about,

11 Then sent he Ionathan the sonne of Abshalomus with a great hoste vnto Ioppe, which droue them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the land of Iuda, & Ionathan was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at Additis vpon the open plaine.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stood vpon in steade of his brother Ionathan, and that hee would fight against him, he sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Ionathan thy brother, it is for money that hee is owing in the Kings account concerning the busines that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundred talents of siluer, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten forth, hee will not turne from vs, and we will find him againe.

17 Nevertheless Simon knew that he dissembled in his wordes, yet commended he the money and children to be deliuered vnto him: as if hee should be in greates hatred of the people of Israel.

18 Who might haue sayde, Because he sent him the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So he sent the children and an hundred talents: but he dissembled, and woulde not let Jonathan goe.

20 Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went rounde about by the way, thar headech vnto Adoria: but wherefoerer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castell, sent messengers vnto Tryphon that he shoulde make haste to come by the wildernes, & to send them vitayles.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great shewe, so that he came not because of the snow: but hee removed and went into the countrey of Galad.

23 And when hee came neere to Bascama, hee slew Jonathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers cite.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren a building hie to looke vnto, of hewen stone behind and before.

28 And he set vpon it four pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren.

29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for perpetuall memory, and caried shaps beside the armes, that they might be seene of men failing in the sea.

30 This sepulchre which hee made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 Now as Tryphon went forth with the yong King Antiochus, hee slawe him traitorously.

32 And reigned in his steade, and crownd him self King of Asia, and brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vpon the castles of Ides, and compassed them about with hie towers, and great walles, cuts with towres, and gates, and barnes, and layde vp vitayles in the strong holdes.

34 Moreover Simon chose certaine men & sene the nio king Demetrius, that hee would discharge the land: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Wherevpon Demetrius the King answered him, and wrote vnto him after this manner.

36 Deme'trius the king vnto Simon the hie Priest, and the friend of Kings, & to the Elders and to the nation of the Iewes, greeting.

37 The golden crowne and precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are ready to make a steadfast peace with you, and to wine vnto the offices to relieue you of this thing wherein we made you free.

38 So the things that we haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holdes which yet haue builded, shall be your owne.

39 Also wee forgive the outrights, and faultes committed vnto this day, and the crown that we ye ought vs: and wherwas any other tribute in Ierusalem, it shall be now no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you, to be written with our sines, let them be written vp, that there may be peace among vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundred, and fuentie yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, and publike instruments, IN THE FIRST YEERE OF SIMON, THE HIE AND CHIEFE PRIEST, GOVERNOUR AND PRINCE OF THE IEWES.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where hee set vp an engine of warre, and approached neere the cite, and beat a tower, and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the cite, and there was great trouble in the cite.

45 In so much that the people of the cite rent their clothes, and clumed vp vpon the walles with their wiues and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, beseeching Simon to graunt them peace, saying,

46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednes, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, and would fight no more against them, but put them out of the cite, and clenled the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entred thereunto with Palmes and thanksgiving.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, hee set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Nowe when they in the castell at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come forth norgo into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were famished to death.

50 In so much that they besought Simon to make peace with them, which hee granted them, and put them out from thence, and clenled the castell from filthines.

51 And vpon the three and twentie day of the second month, in the hundred fuentie and one yeere, they entred into it, with thanksgiving, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with gymbales, and with viols, & with palmes, & songs, because the great enemy of Israel was overcome.

52 And hee ordeined that the same day shoulde be kept eery yeere with gladnes.

53 And hee fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castell, where hee dyet himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that John his sone was now a man, hee made him captaine of all the hostes, and caused him to dwell in Gaza.

CHAP. XIII

Demetrius is overcome of Antioch. 1. Simon being captaine there a great victory in Iherusalem. 2. The souldiers offered up with the Romans and with the people of Syria a reward.

IN the hundred fuentie and two yeere, gathered King Demetrius his host, and departed vnto Media, to get his helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Antioch the King of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, hee sent one of his princes to take him alive.

3 So he went, and overcame the arme of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Antioch, which kept him in ward.

4 Then all the land of Jude was in rest, so long as Simon lived: for he sought the wealth of his nation: therefore were they glad to have him for their ruler, and to doe him worship alway.

5 Simon also wanne the cite of Ioppe to his great honour to be an haven towne, and made it an entrance vnto the yles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people there, and conquered the countreys.

7 Hee gathered vp many of their people that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castell, which he clenfed from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him.

8 So that every man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruite.

9 The Elders satte in the open places, and consulted all together for the common wealth, and the young men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 Hee provided vitayles for the cities, and all kinde of munition, so that his glorious fame was renowned vnto the end of the world.

11 He made peace throughout the land, and Israel had perfect mirth and ioy.

12 For every man fate vnder his vine, and the fig trees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the kings were ouercome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: hee was diligent to see the Law kept, and heooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuarie, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romanes heard, and the Spartians had knowledge, that Jonathan was dead, they were very fory.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made his Priest in his steade, and howe he had wonne the land againe with the cities in it.

18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renew the friendship, and bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Jonathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were reade before the congregation at Ierusalem, and this is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent.

20 THE SENAYORS and cite of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory & honor, we were glad of their coming.

22 And haue registered their ambassage in the publique records in this manner, N V M M I Y S the saine of Antiochus, and Antipater the saine of Iason the Iewes Ambassadors, came vnto vs, to renewe amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased 7 people, that the men should be honourably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should bee registered in the publique records, that it might bee for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copie of the saine was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this Simon sent Natrienus to Rome, with a great thridle of pottle of a thousand pounce weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstoode, they sayd, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he and his brethren, and his house off his father haue habilited himself, and ouercome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, In the eight and twentie day of the month Elul in the hundredth fawentie and two yere, in the third yere of Simon the hie Priest.

28 In I Saramel in the great congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the Elders of the countrey, was would signifie vnto you, that many battels haue bene fought in our countrey.

29 When Simon & some of Mattathias (come of the children of Iarib) and his brethren put them selves in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuarie, and Lawe might bee maintayned, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Jonathan gathered his nation together, & became their hie Priest, and is laud with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue invaded their countrey, and destroyed their lande, and lay their hands on their Sanctuarie.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 He fortified also the cities of Iudea, & Beth-sura that lyeth vpon the borders of Iudea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and fet there a garison of the Iewes.

34 And hee fortified Ioppe, which lyeth vpon the sea, and Gazara that bordereth vpon Azona, (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessary for the reparation thereof.

35 Now when the people saw the faithfulness of Simon, and to what glory hee thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, because he had done all these things, and for the vprightnesse, and fidelitie that he had kept to his nation, and that fought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered well by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the cite of David at Ierusalem, where they had made him a castell, out of the which they went, and desied all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he fet Iewes in it, and fortified it for the assurance of the land, and cite, and raised vp the walles of Ierusalem.

38 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his hie Priesthood for these causes.

39 And made him one of his friends, and gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romanes called the Iewes their friends, and confederates, and that they honourably receiued Simons ambassadours.

41 And that the Iewes, and Priests, confented, that Simon should be their Prince, and hie Priest perpetually till God raised vp the true Prophet.

42 And that he should be their captain, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and so sit ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, & that should make prouision for the holy things.

43 And that he should be obeyed of every man, and that all the writings in the countrey should be

be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and wear gold.

44 And that it should be lawfull for any of the people or Priestes to beate any of these things, or to withstande his wordes, or to call any congregation in the country without him, or bee clothed in purple, or wear a collar of gold.

45 And if any were contrary to these things, or brake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it should be done to Simon according vnto these wordes.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high priest, and the capitaine, and the Prince of the Iewes, and of the Priestes, and to bee the chiefe of all.

48 And they commanded to set vp this writing in tables of brasse, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuary in an open place.

49 And that a copie of the same should be laid vp in the treasure, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Simon. 12 Tryphon is purged. 15 The Romans write letters vnto Kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 17 Antiochus refusing the help shal Simon first him, breaketh his covenant.

MOREouer King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the ykes of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Containing these words, ΑΝΤΙΟΧΥΣ the King vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Iewes, greeteth greeting.

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vnrped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to challenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared shippes of warre.

4 That I may goe thorowe the country, and bee auenged of them, which haue destroyed our country, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

5 Nowe therefore I do confirme vnto thee all the liberties, wherof all the kings my progenitours haue discharged thee, and all the payments, wherof they haue released thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stampe within thy country.

7 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuary bee free, and that all the weapons, that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepst in thine hands shalbe thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the king, and all that shalbe due vnto the king, I forgiue it thee, from this time for euermore.

9 And when we haue obtained our kingdome, wee will giue thee, and thy nation, and the Temple great honour, so that thy honour shall be knowne throughout the world.

10 ¶ In the hundredth and foure yere, sent Antiochus into his fathers lande, and all the bonds came together vnto him, so that fewe were left with him.

11 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but hee fled, and came to Dora, which lyeth by the sea side.

12 For he sawe that troubles were toward him, and that the armie had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundredth and twentie thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So he compassed the cite about, & the shippes came by the sea, that they pressed the cite by land and by sea, in so much that they suffered no man to goe in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Numenius, & his company from Rome, hauing letters written vnto the Kings and countreies, wherein were contained these wordes.

16 ΛΕΥΚΥΣ the Consul of Rome vnto King Ptolemus sendeth greeting.

17 The Ambassadors of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friends and confederates from Simon the high Priest, and from the people of the Iewes to renewe friendship, and the bond of loue.

18 Who haue brought a shield of gold weying a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the kings countreies, that they should not goe about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their country, neither to maintayne their enemies against them.

20 And we were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there bee any pestilent fellowes fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the high Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne Lawe.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, and to Artabas, and to Arathes, and to Arfaces,

23 And to all the countreies, as || Samolus, and to them of Sparta, and to || Delus, ap 1 to || Mindus, and to Sycion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lyfia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaelis, and Cos, and to Siden, and to Cortina, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the high Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the King camped against Dora the seconde time euer ready to take it, and made diuers engines of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither goe in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chofea men to helpe him with siluer and golde, and much furniture.

27 Nevertheless, hee would not receiue them, but brake al the covenant, which he had made with him afore, and withdrewe himselfe from him.

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends to commune with him, saying, Ye wishold Ioppe, and Gazara with the castell, this is at Ierusalem, the cite of my Realme.

29 Whose borders ye haue destroyed & done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernment of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore nowe deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that ye haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea.

31 Or else giue mee for them fine hundredth talents of siluer, and for the harme that ye haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fine hundredth talents: If not, wee will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when hee sawe the honour of Simon, and the cupborde of golde and siluer plate, and so great preparation, he was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, & said vnto him, We hane neyther taken ether mens lands, nor withholden that which appertheynt to others, but our fathers heritage which our enemies had vniueitously in possession a certayne time.

34 But when we had occasion, wee recovered the inheritance of our fathers.

80r, compling morning

35 And whereas thou requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did graunt to our people, and thou rowe our country, yet will we giue an hundredth talents for them. But Athenopolis answered him not one worde, 36 But turned againe angry vnto the King, and tolde him all these wordes, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that he had seene: and the King was very angry.

37 In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship vnto Orthosias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footemen and horsemen,

39 And commaunded him to remoue the hoste toward Iudea, & to build vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to ware against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, and began to vex the people, & to invade Iudea, and to take the people prisoners, and to slay them.

41 And he built vp Cedron, where he set horsemen and garisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Iudea, as the king had commaunded him.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Attichus hoste is put to flight by the power of Simon. 12 Ptolemus the sonne of Antioch kills Simon and his two sonnes at a banquet. 23 Iohn kills them that he in wayes for his life.

80r, Aug. 13 chap. 11.

Then came Iohn vp from Gazara, and tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called with Cendebeus sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and sayde vnto them, I, and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, & matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, & we haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am nowe olde, and I see by Gods mercy are of a sufficient age: hee ye therefore in steade of me and my brother, and goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So hee chose twentie thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine felde: and beholde, a mightie great hoste came against them both of footemen, and horsemen: but there was a river betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when he sawe that the people was afraid to go ouer the river, he went out first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed through after him.

7 Then hee diuided his men, and set the horsemen in the middes of the footemen.

8 For their enemies horsemen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gaue them to the forrests.

9 Then was Iudas Iohns brother wounded: but Iohn followed after them, till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled vnto the towers, that were in the fieldes of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousand men of them: so hee returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

11 Now in the field of Iericho was Ptolemus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and hee had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For he had married the daughter of the hie Priest)

13 Therefore he waxed proud in his mind, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit,

14 Nowe as Simon went about thorowe the cities of the countrey, and shulded carefully for them, he came downe to Iericho with Matthias, and Iudas his sonnes in the hundredth fiftieth and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.

15 Then the sonnes of Abubus receiued them by treason into a litle holde, called Dochas which hee had built, where hee made them a great banquet, and had men hid there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolemus stood vp with his men and tooke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banquet house, and slew him with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby he committed a great vilenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemus these things and sent to the King, that hee might send him an hoste to helpe him, and so woulde deliuer him the countrey with the cities.

19 He first other men also vnto Gazara, to take Iohn, and sent letters vnto the captaine to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and golde and reuwardes.

20 And to Ierusalem he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ranne before, and told Iohn in Gazara, that his father, and his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemus had sent to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was fore astonished, & laid hands on them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for he knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of Iohn, both of his warres, and of his noble actes, (wherein he behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of walles which he made, and other of his deedes, 24 Beholde they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that hee was made high Priest after his father.

THE SECOND BOOKE OF THE MACCABEES.

CHAP. I.

1. A description of the temple, that dwelt at Jerusalem, first wrote them that dwelt in Egypt - when they called them to give thanks for the death of Antiochus. 2. Of the first that was led in the pit, by the prayer of Tobit.

BE brethren the Iewes, which bee at Jerusalem, and they that are in the country of Iudea, vnto the brethren Iewes, that are throughout Egypt, send salutation, and prosperitie.

1 God be gracious vnto you and Iaac, and Jacob his faithfull seruants,

2 And giue you al an heart to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,

3 And open your hearts in his Lawe, and commandments, and send you peace,

4 And heare your prayers, and bee reconciled with you, and neuer forsake you in time of trouble,

5 Thus now we pray here for you.

6 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundredth, threescore & ninth yere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble, and violence that came vnto vs in those yeres, after that Iason, and his company departed out of the holy land and kingdome,

7 And burnt the porch, & shed innocent blood: Then we prayed vnto the Lord, and were heard, we offered sacrifices and fine flowre, and lighted the lampes, and fed forth the bread.

8 Nowe therefore keepe yee the dayes of the feast of the Tabernacles in the month Calles.

9 ¶ In the hundredth fourescore & eight yere, the people that was at Jerusalem, and in Iudea, and the counsell and Iudas, vnto Aristobulus King Ptolemeis master, which is of the stocke of the anointed Priestes, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

10 In so much as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, as though wee had ouercome the king.

11 For he brought them into Persia by heapes, that fought against the holy cite.

12 For albeit the captaine, and the armie that was with him, seemed invincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Natter, by the decree of Naneas Priestes.

13 For Antiochus, as though hee would dwell with her, came thither, he, and his friends with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowrie.

14 But when the Priestes of Naneas had laide it forth, and hee was entred with a small company within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in,

15 And by opening a priuie doore of the waite, they cast stones, as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hating bruiised them in pieces, they cut off their heads and threwe them to those that were without.

16 God be blessed in al things, which hath deliuered vs the wicked.

17 Whereas we are now purposed to keepe the purification of the Temple vpon the fine and twentieth day of the month Calles, we thought it necessarie to certifie you thereof, that yee may keep the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the first which was giuen vs when Neemias offered sacrifice, after that he had built the Temple, and the altar.

18 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, the Priestes, which sought the honor of God, tooke the fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollowe pit, which was drie in the bottome, and therein they kept it, so that the place was knowne vnto euery man.

19 Now after many yeres when it pleased God that Neemias should be sent from the king of Persia, he sent of the posteritie of those Priestes, which had hid it to fetch the fire, and as they told vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

20 Then commanded hee them to draw it vp, and to bring it, and when the things appertaining to the sacrifices were brought, Neemias commanded the Priestes to sprinkle the wood, & the things laide thereupon with water.

21 When this was done, and the time came that the sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that euery man marvelled.

22 Now the Priestes, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Jonathan began, and the other answered thus vnto.

23 And the prayer of Neemias was after this manner, O Lord, Lord God maker of all things, which art fearefull, and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gracious king.

24 Onely liberall, onely iust and almightie and euerslasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from al trouble, & hast chosen the fathers, and sanctified them.

25 Receiue the sacrifice for the whole people of Israel, and preterue thine owne portion, and sanctifie it.

26 Gather those together, that are scattered forth vs: deliuer them that sene among the heathen, looke vpon them which are despised, & abhorred, that the heathen may know that thou art our God.

27 Punish them that oppresse vs, and wish pride doe vs wrong.

28 Plant thy people againe in thine holy places as Moyses hath spoken.

29 And the Priestes sang Psalmes therunto.

30 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commanded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.

31 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light, that shined from the altar.

32 ¶ So when this matter was knowne, it was tolde the king of Persia, that in the place where the Priestes, which were led away, had hid the fire, there appeared water, wherewith Neemias and his compaignie had purified the sacrifices.

33 The king tried out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

34 And to them that the king fauoured, he gave and bestowed many gifts.

35 And Neemias called the same place Ephraim, which is to say, purification: but many men call it Ephraim.

were commended.
 4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius was free that was the governor of Ecdesivria and Phnicie, did rage and increased Simons hatred.
 5 He went to the king not as an accuser of the church, but as one that intended the common wealth both privately, and publicly.
 6 For hee sawe it was not possible except the King tooke order to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leave off his follie.
 7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphines, tooke the kingdome, Iasoun the brother of Onias laboured by unlawfull means to be his Priest.
 8 For he came vnto the King, and promised him three hundred and threescore talents of silver, and of another rent, fourescore talents.
 9 Besides this hee promised him an hundred and fiftie, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise and a place for the youth, and that they would flaine them of Ierusalem Antiochians.
 10 The which thing when the King had granted, and he had gotten the superintendence, he became immediately to drawe his kindred to the custome of the Gentiles.
 11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the Kings, that the Iewes had set vp by Iohn, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their Lawes and pollicies, and brought vp new statutes, and contrary to the Law.
 12 For he presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chiefe young men vnder this discipline, & made them wear shames.
 13 So there became a great desire to followe the manners of the Gentiles, and they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Iasoun, not the hit Priest, but the vngodly person.
 14 So that the Priests were now no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made hate to be partakers of the wicked expences at the play, after the casting of the stone.
 15 For they did not see by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.
 16 By reason whereof great calamities came vpon them: for they had then to bee their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.
 17 For it was a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God: but the time following shall declare this thing.
 18 Now when they games that were vnto every five yeere, were played at Tyre, the king being present.
 19 This wicked Iasoun flew from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundred machines of silver for a sacrifice, & three hundred that they did cast into the fire, they might see: but he followed this sacrifice (because it was not contrary) but to be beloved for other purposes.
 20 So he that first them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hircanus: but because of those that brought them, they were given to the making of palaces.
 21 Now Apollonius the sonne of Menelaus the Ierusalemite, because of the corruption of King Ptolemies, did come last when Antiochus perceived that he was easily affectioned toward his affaires, he sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to toppe, and so came to Ierusalem.

 22 Where hee was honourably received of the Ierosolimites, and was brought in with torches, and with great showings, and so hee went with his hoste vnto Phenice.
 23 Three yeere after ward Iasoun sent Menelaus the forefayde Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the king, and to bring to passe certaine necessarie affaires, whereof he had given him a memoriall.
 24 But hee, being commended to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe, for hee gave three hundred talents of silver more then Iasoun.
 25 So hee gave the Kings letters parents, albeit he had nothing in himself worthy of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruel tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.
 26 Then Iasoun, which had deceiued his owne brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.
 27 So Menelaus gave the fortinion: but as for the money that he had promised vnto the King, he wooke none order for it, albeit Sosistras the ruler of the castle required it.
 28 For vnto him appertayned the gathering of the customes, wherefore they were both called before the king.
 29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lyfimachus in his steade in the Priesthoode, and Sosistras left Crates which was gouernour of the Cyprians.
 30 While these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallos made insurrection, because they were given to the kings custome called Antiochus.
 31 Then came the king in all haste to appease the businesse, leaving Andronicus a man of authority to be his lieutenant.
 32 Now Menelaus supposing that he had gotten a convenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gave certaine of them to Andronicus, and some hee sold at Tyre, and in the cities thereby.
 33 Which when Onias knew of a suretie, he reproued him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuary at Daphne by Antiochia.
 34 Wherefore Menelaus taking Andronicus, purpued him to lay Onias to: when he came to Onias, he counselled him craftily, saying: him his right hand with an vnder: (wherein hee trusted him) and persuaded him to come into the Sanctuary, so he slew him incontinently without any regard of his custome.
 35 For he which could not only the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieved, and woulde it heartily for the vngodlynes death of this man.
 36 And when the king was come againe from the places about Capita, the Iewes that were in the cite and certaine of the Gentiles, that abhorred the fact also, compassed because Onias was slaine, within the cite.
 37 Therefore Antiochus was sore in his mind, and hee had compassion, and wept because of the modesty and great discretion of him that was dead.
 38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, hee tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, & rent his clothes, & commanded him to be led through out the citie, and in the later place where hee had committed the wickednesse against Omias, he was slaine as a murderer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment as he had deserved.

39 ¶ Nowe when Lyfmachus had done many wicked deedes in the cite through the counsell of Menelaus, and the bruit was spread abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lyfmachus for he had caried out now much vessell of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lyfmachus armed about three thousande, and began to vse vnlawfull power, a certaine tyrant being their captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they vnderstoode the purpose of Lyfmachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfulls of dust, which lay by, vpon Lyfmachus men, and those that insuled them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe they killed besides the treasure.

43 For these causes an accusation was laide against Menelaus.

44 And when the king came to Tyrus, three men sent from the Senate pleading the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus being now conuicted, promised to Ptolemeus the summe of Dorimines much money, if he would perswade the King.

46 So Ptolemeus went to the king into a court, where as he was to coole himselfe, and turned the kings mind.

47 In so much that hee discharged Menelaus from the accusations (notwithstanding he was the cause of all mischiefe) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Scythians, they shoulde haue bene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they sore punished vniuilly, which followed vpon the matter for the cite, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hate I & wickednes, and ministred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so through the couetousnesse of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authoritie, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

2 Of the figures and tokens seene in Jerusalem. 4 Of the male and wickednesse of Iudas. 11 The purpose of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spoiling of the Temple. 27 Maccabees flie into the wilderness.

ABout the same time Antiochus vnderooke his second voyage into Egypt.

1 And then there was scene throughout all the cite of Ierusalem, forty dayes long, horsemen running in the aire, with robes of golde, and as bandes of speere men,

2 And as troupes of horsemen set in aray, encountering and courting one against another with shaking of shields and multitude of darts, & drawing of swordes, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour scene, and harness of all sorts.

3 Therefore every man prayed, that those tokens might turne to good.

4 Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, & came suddenly vpon the city, and they that were vpon the walls, being put backe, and the cite at length taken,

5 Menelaus fled into the castell but Iason slew his owne citizens without mercie, not considering that to haue the aduantage against his kinsmen is greatest disadvantage, but thought that he had gotten the victory of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

6 Yet he gate not the superiority, but at the last receiued shame for the reward of his treason, and went againe like a vagabonde into the countrey of the Ammonites.

7 Finally hee had this ende of his wicked conseration, that hee was I accused before Areeta the king of the Arabians, and fledde from cite to cite, being pursued of every man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination, as an enemy of his countrey and citizens, and was drisen into Egypt.

8 Thus hee that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.

9 And he that had cast many out vnburied, was thrown out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was hee partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

10 ¶ Now when these things that were done, were declared to the King, hee thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore hee came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the cite by violence.

11 He commanded his men of warre also, that they should kil and not spare (such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses,

12 Thus was there a slaughter of yong men, and olde men, and a destruction of men & women and children, and virgins, and infants were murdered.

13 So that within three dayes were slaine fourescore thousand, & forty thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many folde as were slaine.

14 Yet was he not content with this, but drist goe into the most holy Temple of all the worlde, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the Lawes, and to his countrey, to be his guide,

15 And with his wicked handes tooke the holy vessels, which other kings had giuen for the garnishing glory and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked handes.

16 So haurie in his minde was Antiochus, that hee considered not, that God was not a little wrath for the finnes of them that dwelt in the cite, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.

17 For if they had not bene wrapped in many finnes, hee, as soone as hee had come, had suddenly bene punished, and put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whome Seleucus the king sent to viewe the treasure.

18 But God hath not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

19 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it bee partaker of the benefices of the Lorde, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty, so when the great Lord shall be reconciled, it shall bee set vp in great worship againe.

20 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eightene hundred talents out of the Temple, hee gure him to Antiochia in al haste, thinking in his pride to make men saile vpon the drie lande, and to walke vpon the sea: such an bie minde had he.

21 But his best deputies to viewe the peoples rebellion

rusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in manners more cruel then he that set him there:

23 And at Garzin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more gruous to the citizens then the other, and was desperate against the Iewes his citizens.

24 He sent also Apollonius a cruel prince, with an armie of two and twentie thousand, whome he commaunded to slay those that were toward mans age, and to sell the women, and the yonger sort.

25 So when hee came to Ierusalem, hee sayned peace, and kept him fill into the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, he commaunded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slew all them that were gone forth to the shewe, and running through the citie with his men armed, hee murdered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus, being as it were the remnant, fled into the wilderness, & lived there in the mountains with his company among the beastes, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, least they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

2 The Iewes are compelled to leave the Lawe of God. 4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 28 The grievous paine of Eleazarus.

Mr. Antiochus. NOT long after this, sent the king an olde man of Athens, for to compell the Iewes, to transgresse the Lawes of the fathers, and not to be governed by the Lawe of God.

3 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, and that of Garzin, according as they did dwell at that place, Iupiter that keepeth hospitality.

4 This wicked gouernement was fore and gruous vnto the people.

5 For the Temple was full of dissolution, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

6 The altar also was full of such things as were abominable and forbidden by the Lawe.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbaths, nor to obserue their ancient feasts, nor plainly to confesse himselfe to be a Iewe.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grieuously compelled perforce euery moneth to banquet, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of yule.

8 Moreover through the counsell of Ptolemyus, there went out a commaundement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like custome, and banquetting should be kept.

9 And who so would not conforme themselves to the manner of the Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present miserie.

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had led rounde about the citie (the babes hanging at their breastes) they cast them downe headlong over the walles.

11 Some that were runne together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discovered vnto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day they were afraine to helpe themselves.

12 Now I beseech those which read this booke, that they bee not discouraged by these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions, not to bee for destruction, but for a challenging of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnes, not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whom hee punisheth when they are come to the fullnesse of their finnes.

15 But thus hee dealt with vs, that our finnes should not bee heaped vnto the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercie from vs: and though hee punish with aduersitie, yet doeth hee neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this bee spoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in fewe wordes.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principall scribes, an aged man, and of a well fauoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But he desiring rather to die gloriously then to liue with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment, and spit it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banquet, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him, that hee would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as hee would prepare for himselfe, and distemle as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the king, euen the flesh of the sacrifice.

22 That in so doing he might be deliuered from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, hee would recieve this fauour.

23 But hee began to confide discretely, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeres, and the honour of his gray haire, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childehoode, but chiefly the holy Lawe made and giuen by God: therefore hee answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, sayde he, to distemle, whereby many young persons might thinke, that Eleazar being fourescore yere olde and ten were now gone to another religion.

25 And so through mine hypocresie (for a little time of a transitorie life) they might be decieued by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet coulde I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither aliae nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, & will shew my self such as mine age requirith.

28 And so will leaue a notable example for such as be yong, to die willingly & courageously for the honourable and holy Lawes. And when he had said these wordes, immediately he went to torment.

29 Nowe they that ledde him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the wordes that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as hee was ready to giue the ghost because of the strokes, he sighed and sayd, The Lord that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue bene distressed from

For raising of the flesh that was sacrificed.

death, I am scourged and suffer these sweet poysons of my body: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this manner ended he his life, leaving his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memorial of vertue, not only vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seven brethren and of their mother.

I Came to passe also, that seuen brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the King against the Law, to taste swines flesh, & were poynted with scourges and whippes.

2 But one of them, which spake first, said thus, What seekest thou? and what wouldest thou knowe of vs? we are ready to die, rather then to transgresse the Lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the King angry, and commaunded to heate pannes and caldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he commaunded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to flay him, and to cut off the vniuersall partes of his body in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Now when he was thus mangled in all his members, he commaunded him to bee brought aliue to the fire, and to frye him in the painne: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the panne, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to die courageously, saying in this manner,

6 The Lord God doeth regard vs, and in deede taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses declared in the song wherein he testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this manner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinned with the haire out of his head, they asked him, if hee would eat, or he were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But hee answered in his owne language, and sayde, No. Wherefore he was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when he was at the last breath, he sayd, Thou murtherer takest this present life from vs, but the king of the world will raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euertlasting life.

10 ¶ After him was the thirde had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, he put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his handes boldly,

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Lawe of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Insomuch that the king and they which were with him, maruelled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Now when hee was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like manner.

14 And when he was now ready to dye, he sayd thus, It is better that we should change this which we might hope for of men, and waite for our hope from God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterward they brought the fifth also and tormented him.

16 Who looked vpon the King, and said, Thou hast power among men, and though thou bee a mortal man, thou dost what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy fellowe.

18 After him also they brought the sixt, who, being at the point of death, sayde, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondered at: for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertaketh to fight against God, that thou shalt be vnquished.

20 But the mother was maruelous aboute all other, and worthy of honourable memorie: for when she saw her seuen sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that he had in the Lord.

21 Yea, she exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and widome, stirred vp her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and said vnto them,

22 I cannot tell how ye came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body.

23 But doubtlesse the Creator of the world, which formed the birth of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercy giue you breath and life againe, as ye now regarde not your owne felices, for his Lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious words, while the yongest was yet aliue, he did exhort him not only with wordes, but swore also vnto him by an othe that he would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forsake the Lawes of his fathers, and that hee woulde take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man woulde in no case hearken vnto him, the King called his mother, and exhorted that she woulde counsell the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when hee had exhorted her with many wordes, she promised him that she woulde counsell her sonne.

27 So shee turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell tyrant to scorne, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne haue pittie vpon mee, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankind made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shewe thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercie with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these words, the yong man said, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the Kings commaundement; but I will obey the commaundement of the Lawe that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

31 And thou that imaginest all mischief against the Hebrewes, shall not escape the hand of God.

32 For we suffer these things, because of our sinnes,

33 But though the lining Lord be angry with vs a little while for our chaffening and correction, yet wil he be reconciled with his own seruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion and most wicked of all men, list not thy selfe vp in vainglorious words.

which are put up with vncertain hope, & lifteth thine hands against the seruants of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffred a little paine, are now vnder the diuine couenant of euermlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body & life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he wil soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that he is the onely God, 38 And that in mee and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, ragged more cruelly against him, then the others, and tooke it grievously, that he was mocked.

40 So hee also died holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now be ynough spoken concerning the bankers, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Iudas gathered together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is first against Iudas. 18 Iudas vs battell his soldiers to confidence. 20 Nicanor is overcome. 27 The Lews giue thanks, after they haue put their enimies to flight, diuiding part of the spoyle vnto the sisterlyste and vnto the widower. 30 Translators and Backbiters are discomfited. 33 Nicanor flieth vnto Antiochia.

Then Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the towne, and called their kinsfolkes and friends together, & tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Lewes religion, and assembled fixe thousand men.

1 So they called vpon the Lord, that he would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of eueny man, and haue pite vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,

3 And that he would haue compassion vpon the cite that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voyce of the blood that cryed vnto him,

4 And that hee would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his name, and that hee would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Nowe when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude he could not be withstood by y^e heathens: for the wrath of the Lord was turned vnto mercy.

6 Therefore he came at vnwares, and burnt vp the towne and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially he vnder the nightes to make such assaults, in so much that the bruite of his manlinesse was spread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philippe sawe that this man increased by litle and litle, and that things prospered with him for the most part, he wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the kings businesse.

9 Then sent hee speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twentie thousand men, to roote out y^e whole generation of the Lewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience,

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the king, of two thousand talents, which the Romanes should haue to bee taken of the Lewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buye Lewes to be their seruants, promising to sell foure score and ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knewe of Nicanors coming, hee tolde them that were with him, of the coming of the armie.

13 Nowe were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousnesse of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other folde all that they had left, and besought the Lord together, to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had sold them, or euer he came neere them.

15 And though hee would not doe it for their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about fixe thousand, exhorting them not to be afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of y^e Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vnjustly done to the holy place, & the cruelty done to the cite by derision, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they, sayd he, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a becke can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreover he astonished them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when they perished an hundreth and fourescore & fixe thousand vnder Sennacherib,

20 And of the battel that they had in Babylon against the Gallatians, how they came in al to y^e battel eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: & when the Macedonians were astonished, the eight thousand slew an hundreth and twenty thousand, through the helpe that was giuen them from heaven, whereby they had receiued many benefites.

22 Thus when hee had made them bolde with these wordes, and ready to die for the Lawes & the country, he diuided his armie into foure partes.

23 And made his owne brethren captaines ouer the armie, to wit, Simon, and Ioseph and Jonathan, giuing ech one fifteene hundred men.

24 And when Eleazarus had reade the holy booke, & giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the forward, ioyned with Nicanor, 24 And because the Almighty helped them, slewe about nine thousand men, and wounded and maymed the most part of Nicanors hoste, and so put all to flight.

25 And tooke the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farr: but lacking time they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoiled the enemies, and kept the Sabbath, giuing thanks and praying the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercie.

28 And after the Sabbath, they distributed the spoyle spoiles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and diuided the residue among them selues and their children.

39 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the merciful Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

40 Afterward with one consent they fell vpon Timotheus and Barchides, and slew about twentie thousand, and waine his and strong holdes, and diuided great spoiles, and gaue an equall portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

41 Moreouer they gathered their weapons together, and laid them vp diligently in convenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoiles to Ierusalem.

42 They slewe also Philarches a most wicked person, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes many wayes.

43 And when they kept the feast of Victorie in their country, they burnt Calistenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a litle house: so he receiued a reward meete for his wickednesse.

44 And that most wicked Nicanor, which had brought a thousand merchants to buy the Iewes, 45 Hee was through the helpe of the Lorde brought downe of them whom he thought as nothing, in so much that he put off his glorious raiment, & fled ouerthwart the country like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his hoste.

46 Thus he that promised to pay tribute to the Romanes, by means of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

CHAP. IX.

Antiochus willing to fight Persepolis is put to flight. 51-55 In his flight hee is smitten with the Lorde, 56 The punishment of Antiochus, 57 Hee is miserably killed.

At the same time, came Antiochus againe with dishonour out of the countrey of Persia.

3 For when he came to Persepolis, and went about to robbe the Temple, and to subdue the citie, the people raiued in a rage to defend themselves with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

4 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he vnderstood the things that had come to Nicanor, and Timotheus.

5 And then being chafed in his fume, hee thought to insulte to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his chiefe man to drue continually, & to dispatch the iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had said thus in his pride, I will make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when Teomee their chiefe.

6 And the Lord Almighty and God of Israel smote him with an incurable and insurable plague: for asloope as he had spoken these wordes, a paine of the bowels, that was remediless, came vpon him, and sore torments of the inner partes.

7 And thus most furiously: for he had fornicated other mens bowels with diuers and strange torment.

8 Howbeit he would in no wise cease from his sinnes, but continued the more with pride, bragging, can fire in his rage against the Iewes, he commanded to haste the iourney: but it came to passe that he fel downe from the chaire that he can faintly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

9 And thus he that a litle aforethought hee might command the floods of the sea, (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the his mountaines in the balancie, was now cast on the ground, and carryed in a horse-litter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God.

10 So that the women came out of the bedds of this wicked man in abundance: and while hee was aliue, his flesh fell off for paine and torment, and all his armie was grieved at his fall.

11 Thus no man could beare, because of his stinke, him that a litle aforethought hee might reach to the starres of heauen.

12 Then he began to leane off his iust pride, and self-will, when he was plagued and came to the knowledge of himself by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased eury moment.

13 And when he himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, he said these wordes, It is meete to be subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortal, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God thow pride.

14 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lord, who would now haue no mercie on him.

15 And said thus, that he would set at libertie the holy citie, vnto the which he had haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

16 And as touching the Iewes (whom hee had iudged not worthe to be buried, but would haue cast them out with their children to be deuoured of the foules and wilde beastes) he would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

17 And whereas he had spoiled the holy Temple afore, he would garnish it with great gifts, and increate the holy vessels, and of his owne reas beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

18 Yes, and that he would also become a Iewe himselfe, and go thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

19 But for all this his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health, he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnderwritten, containing the forme of a supplication.

20 THE KING and Prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens witheth much joy and health and prosperitie.

21 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things goe after your minde, I gine great thanks vnto God having hope in the heauen.

22 Though I lie sicke, yet I am mindful of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Persia, and fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessarie to care for the common safetie of all.

23 Nor distrusting mine health, but having great hope to escape this sicknesse.

24 Therefore considering that when my father Iud an hoste against the hee countreyes, he appointed you that should succede him.

25 That if any controversie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any thing were brought that were prouisory in the land might know to whome the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

27 Again, what I ponder how that the gouernours that are borderers, and neighbour vnto my kingdome, wait for all occasions and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordained that my sonne Antiochus shall be King, whome I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the hie prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore I pray you, and require you to remember the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that every man will be faithfull vnto me and my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle, and loving vnto you according vnto my minde.

28 ¶ Thus the murder and blasphemers suffered most grievously, & as he had intreated other men, so hee dyed a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, carried away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Indus Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple. 2 The attes of Eupator. 3 The Iewes fight against the Idumeans. 4 Timotheus invadeth Indus, with whom Indus rejoyneth battell. 5 Five men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Jewes. 6 Timotheus is slaine.

Maccabeus now and his company, through the helpe of the Lord, wanne the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And destroyed the altars, and chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And censed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense two yeeres, and sixe months after, and set forth the lampes, and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lorde, that they might come no more into such troubles, but if they sinned any more against him, that he himselfe would chasten them with mercie, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemous and barbarous nations.

5 Nowe vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was censed againe, even the five and twenty day of the same moneth, which is || Challeu.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembering, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and denes like beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordained also by a common statute and decree, that every yeere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the ende of Antiochus called Epiphane.

10 ¶ Now will we declare the actes of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres that followed.

11 For when hee had taken the kingdome, he made on Lyfias, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phénice, and Coelosyria ruler over the af-fares of the realme.

12 For Ptolemus that was called Macron purposed to do iustice vnto the Iewes, for the wrong that had bene done vnto them, and went about to beaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause he was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphane: therefore fearing that hee was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poysoned himselfe, and dyed.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, hee entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Iewes.

15 Moreover the Idumeans that held the strong holdes, which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by recuiring them were driuen from Ierusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus made prayers, and besought God that he would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them fore, that they wane the places, and slewe all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and slue no lesse then twentie thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castles, hauing all maner of things conuenient to susteine the siege,

19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Ioseph, and Zachaeus also, and those that were with them, which were ynow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessarie.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnesse, were intreated for money (through certaine of those that were in the castle) and tooke sentenue thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, he called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men, that they had sold their brethren for money, and let their enemies go.

22 So he slew them when they were comit of treason: and immediately wane the two castles:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that he tooke in hand, hee slewe in the two castles moe then twentie thousand.

24 Nowe Timotheus whome the Iewes had overcome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sortes, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to winne Iewrie by strength.

25 But when he drew neere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their robes with sackcloth,

26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and besought the Lord to be mercifull vnto them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and to bee an aduersarie to the aduersaries, * as their Law declareth.

27 So after the prayer, they tooke their weapons, and went further from the citie, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke heede to themselves.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victory, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

39 When the battell waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen hie comely men vpon horses with bridles of golde, and two of them led the Lewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwix them, and couered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shotte darts, and lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindness, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of sore men twentie thousande and fife hundredth, and fixe hundredth horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, he fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong holde, where in Cherias was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his company layde siege against the fortresse with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible wordes.

35 Neuerthelesse vpon the iijth day in the morning, twentie yong men of Maccabeus company, whose hearts were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wall, and with bold stomackes smote downe those that they met.

36 Others also that climed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, set fire vpo the towers, and burnt vp those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and receiued the rest of the armie, and tooke the citie.

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a cave, they killed him, and Cherias his brother with Apollaphanes.

38 When this was done, they prayed the Lorde with praises and thanksgiving, which had done so great things for Israel, and giuen them the victory.

CHAP. XL

1 Lysias goeth about to ouercome the Jewes. 2 Demetrius is first from heauen vnto the Jewes. 3 The letter of Lysias vnto the Jewes. 4 The letter of King Antiochus vnto Lysias. 5 A letter of the same vnto the Jewes. 6 A letter of the Romans vnto the Jewes.

Very shortly after this, Lysias the kings steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke sore displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the horsemen, he came against the Jewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the temple would hee haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for hee would sell the Priestes office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousand of horsemen, and in his fourescore Elephants,

5 He came into Iudea, and drewe heere to Bethsura, which was a castle of defence, fife furlongs from Ierusalem, and layd sore siege vnto it.

6 But when Maccabeus, and his company knewe that he besieged the holdes, they and all the people made prayers with weeping, and tears before the Lorde, that he would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would separate themselves together with him, to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a courageous minde.

8 And as they were there besides Ierusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white cloathing, shaking his harnesse of golde.

9 Then they prayed the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, in somuch that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruel beastes, and to breake downe walles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lorde was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like lyons, they slewe eleuen thousand footemen, and sixtene hundred horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, and Lysias himselfe fled away shamefully, and so escaped.

13 Who as he was a man of vnderstanding, considering what losse he had had, and knowing, that the Hebrewes could not be overcome because the Almighty God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised, that hee would consent to all things which were reasonable, & persuade the King to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lysias requests hauing respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoever Maccabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Jewes, the King graunted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Jewes from Lysias concerning these wordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

17 Iohn and I Abessalom, which were sent from you, deliuered me the things that you demanded by writing, and required mee to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meete to be reported to the King himselfe, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if ye bechaue your selues as friends towards his affaires, hereafter also I will endeavour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue giuen commandement to these men, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare yee well, the hundreth and eight and foureth yee, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioscorinthios.

22 Nowe the Kings letter contained these wordes, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated vnto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our Realme, lue quietly, that euery man may apply his owne affaires.

24 Wee vnderstande also that the Jewes would not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne manner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to lue after their owne Lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is that this nation shal bee in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to sende vnto them, & graunt them peace, that when they are con-titles of our minds, they may be of good comfort, and cheerfully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the Kings letter vnto the nation. KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to the rest of the Iewes, sendeth greeting.

28 If ye fate well, we haue our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne home, and to apply your owne businessse.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, wee giue them free libertie, vnto the thirtieth day of the month of I Panthicus, 31 That the Iewes may vse their owne manner of lining and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any manner of wayes to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare yee well: the hundredth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the month of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romanes also sent a letter conteyning these wordes, QVINIVS MEMMIVS and Titus | Manlius ambassadours of the Romanes, vnto the people of the Iewes send greeting.

35 The things that Lysias the Kings Kinsman hath granted you, we graunt the same also.

36 But concerning that which hee shall report vnto the King, send hither some with speede, when yee haue considered the matter diligently, that wee may consult thereupon as shall bee best for you: for we must goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and sende some men, that we may know your minde.

38 Fare well: this hundredth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the month of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

1 Timotheus traueiled the Iewes. 2 The wicked deeds of them of Ioppe against the Iewes. 3 Iudas is enticed of them. 4 Hee furieth first in the haven of Ptolema. 5 The pursuie of the Iewes against Timotheus. 6 Timotheus is taken and is gone to Ioppe. 7 Iudas pursueth Gorgias.

WHen these couenants were made, Lysias was with the King, and the Iewes tilld their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus and Appollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Jeronimus, and also Demophon, and besides them Nicator the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wiues and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none eill wil.

4 And so by the common aduise of the city, they obeyed them, and susceiued nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then two hundred of them.

5 Now when Iudas knew of this cruelty shewed against his nation, he commaunded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, hee went forth against the murderers of his brethren, and set out in the haueyn by night, and burnt the ships, and those that were therein, and slawe.

7 And when the citie saw that vs, hee departed as though he would come againe, and roote out all them out of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when hee perceived that the Samarites were minded to doe in like maner vnto the Iewes, which dwelt among them,

9 Hee came vpon the Samarites by night, and set fire in the haueyn with the same, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon two hundredth and fourtie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in the iourney toward Timotheus, about fise thousand men of foot, and fise hundredth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas, through the helpe of God: the || Nomades of Arabia being overcome, besought Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certaine cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

12 And Iudas thinking that they should in deed bee profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon they thooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas also assaulted a citie called Caspis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kindes of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in store of victuals, that they were the slackest in their doings, reuiling them that were with Iudas, and reproching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such words as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of the worlde (which without any instruments, or engines of warre, did * cast downe the walles of Iericho in the time of Ioseph) sent a fierce assault against the walles.

16 And tooke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, in so much that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flowe with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, fise hundredth and fise furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes that are called Tubien.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garrison in a very strong hold.

19 But Dionisius, and Socrates, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forth, and slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortresse, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, and ranged his arme by bandes, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundredth and twentie thousand men of foot, and two thousandth and fise hundredth horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas comming, he sent the women and children, and the other baggage afore him to a fortresse called Cambron, for it was hard to besiege, and vncle to come vnto because of the furies on all sides.

22 But when Iudas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, and a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things in such that they fleeing one here, another there, were of times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne weapons.

23 But Iudas was very earnest in pursuing, and 150 called because they were Samarites.

flew those wicked men: yea, he flew thirte thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the hands of Dothieus, and Sosipater, whom hee befought with much craft to let him go with his life, because he had many of the Jewes parents and the brethren of some of them, which, if they put him to death, should be defiled.

25 So when hee had assured them with manie wordes, and promised that he would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus toward Carnion, and Atargation, and flew five and twentie thousand persons.

27 And after that he had chased away and slaine them, Iudas renouced the hoste toward Ephron a strong citie, wherein was Lyfias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong young men kept the walles defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engins of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strenght of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and flew five and twentie thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth six hundred furlongs from Ierusalem:

30 But when the Jewes which dwelt there, testified, that the Scythopolitans deliuouslying with them, & intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie;

31 They gaue them thanks, desiring them to be friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Ierusalem, as the feast of the weeks approacheth.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Iudaea:

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foot and foure hundred horsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a few of the Jewes were slaine.

35 And Dothieus one of the Eaccenors, which was on horsebacke and a mighty man, tooke Gorgias, and layd holde of his garment, & drew him by force, because he would haue taken the wicked man alive: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, & smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Marisa.

36 And when they that were with Eferin, had foughten long, and were wearie, Iudas called vpon the Lord, that he would heare himselfe to be their helper, and captaine of the field.

37 And then he beganne in his owne language, and sung psalmes with a loud voice, inasmuch that straightwayes be made them that were about Gorgias to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the twentieth day came, they cleansed themselves (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as needfullie required, Iudas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to burie them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Now vnder the coates of euery one that was slaine, they found Jewels that had bene consecrated to the idoles of the % lampnes, which thing is forbidden the Jewes by the Law. Then euery man saw that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

41 And so euery man gaue thanks vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And they gaue themselves to prayer, and besought him, that they should not vtterly be destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that, noble Iudas exhorted the people to keepe themselves from sinne, forasmuch as they saw before their eyes the things which came to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine.

43 And hauing made a gathering thorow the companie, sent to Ierusalem about two thousand drachmes of silver, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well, and honestly that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if hee had not hoped, that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had bene superfluous, and vaine, to pray for the dead.

45 And therefore hee perceived, that there was great fauour layd vp for those that died godly. (It was an holy, and a good thought.) So hee made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be deliuered from sinne.

This place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it differeth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, and also the author of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmities, desired pardon; if he haue not attained to that he thought. And it seemeth that this is Iason the Cyrenian, out of whom he tooketh this abridgement, is Ioseph Ben-Gorion, who hath written in Hebrew five books of these matters, and increasing this place, maketh no mention of this paper for the dead, lib. 3. cap. 19. for it is contrary to the custome of the Jewes, euen in this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, as mores then Zipporah was to prove that women might minister the Sacraments. Exo. 4. 21. or the example of Heli that one might kill himselfe, whom this author so much commended, Chap. 14. 41.

CHAP. XIII.

The coming of Eupator into Iudaea. 5 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator, smiteth his shoulder with a prayer. 20 The king's army was not strong in the state of Antiochus. 21 Rhodanus the deuyer of the Jewes taken.

IN the hundredth fortie and nine year it was told Iudas, that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Iudaea.

2 And Lyfias the steward & ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundred and ten thousand men of foot of the Grecians, and five thousand horsemen, and two and twentie elephants, and three hundred chariots, set with hoolie

3 Menelaus also ioyned himselfe with them, and with great deceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the fauour of the country, but because he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of Kings moued Amiccius minde against this wicked man, and Lyfias informed the King that this man was the cause of much chiefe, so that the King commanded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death as the manner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a towre of sile cubits high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned round, & on euery side it rowled down into the ashes.

6 And there, whosoever was condemned of sacrilege, or of any other grievous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was not just thing that Menelaus should waite buriall.

8 For because hee had committed many sinnes by the altar, whose fire & ashes were holy, he himselfe also died in the ashes.

9 ¶ Now the King raged in his minde, and

¶ From this verse to the end of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much less certaine doctrine can be gathered thereby: Also it is evident that came to shew himselfe more cruell vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, he commanded the people to call vpon the Lord night & day, that if euer he had holpen them, he would now helpe them, when they should be put frō their law, from their country, and from the holy Temple :

11 And hee that would not suffer the people, which a litle afore began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this all together, and besought the Lord for mercy with weeping, & fasting, and falling downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themselves readie.

13 And he being a part with the Elders, tooke counsell to goe forth, afore the King brought his hoste into Iudea, and should take the citie, & commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the Iewes, he exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their country, and the common-wealth, and camped by Modin.

15 And so giuing his souldiers for a watchword, The victorie of God, hee picked out the manliest yong men, & went by night into the kings campe, and slew of the hoste fourteene thousand men, and the greatest elephant with all that late vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the king had tasted the manlinesse of the Iewes, hee went about to take the holdes by policie, 19 And marched toward Beth-sura, which was a strong hold of the Iewes: but he was chafed away, hurt and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessarie.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes host, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore hee was sought out, & when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the king commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and tooke truce with them, departed, and ioyned battell with Iudas, who overcame him.

23 But when he understood, that Philip (whom he had left to be ouerseer of his businesse at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so that hee yeelded himselfe to the Iewes, and made them an othe to doe all things that were right, and was appeared toward them, and offered sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place,

24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him captaine and gouernour from Prolemais vnto the Gerrezeans.

25 Neuerthelesse, when he came to Prolemais, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieved, they would that he should breake the covenants.

26 Then went Lyfias vp into the iudgement seat, and excused the sise as well as he could, and perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affected, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the Kings iourney, and his returne.

CHAP. XIII.

Demetrius was dead by Alcimus, friend Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a cōmplot with the Iewes, by which hee yet breaketh through the murdres of the King. 27 Nicanor commandeth Targis to be taken, who slayeth him selfe.

AFTER three yeeres was Iudas informed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and naueie by the hauein of Tripolis,

2 When hee had woon the country, and slaine Antiochus and his lieutenant Lyfias.

3 Now Alcimus, which had bene the hie Priest, and wilfully defiled himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes he could saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 He came to King Demetrius in the hundredth sise and one yeere, presenting vnto him a crowne of golde, and a palme, and of the boughes, which were vsed solemnly in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what deuices or counsels the Iewes leant vnto.

6 To the which he answered, The Iewes that be called Afsidians, whose captaine is Iudas Maccabeus, mainteine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the Realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being deprived of my fathers honour (I meane the hie Priesthood) am now come hither,

8 Partly, because I was wel affected vnto the Kings affaires, and secondly, because I fought the proit of mine owne citizens: for all our people, through their rashnesse, are not a litle troubled.

9 Wherefore, O King, seeing thou knowest all these things, make prouision for the countrey, and our nation which is abused, according to thine own humanitie, that is readie to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When hee had spoken these wordes, other friends also hauing euill will at Iudas, set Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediatly called for Nicanor, the ruler of the Elephants, and made him captaine ouer Iudas, 13 And sent him forth, commanding him to slay Iudas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus hie Priest of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fled out of Iudas from Iudas came to Nicanor by flocks, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Iewes heard of Nicanors coming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselves with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appointed himselfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the captaine, they remoued straightwayes from thence, and came to the towne of Desian, 17 Where Simon Iudas brother had ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Neuerthelesse Nicanor hearing the menlines of them that were with Iudas, and the bolde stomacks that they had for their country, durst not 100, 1000 and under the right hand.

proove the matter with bloodshedding.

19 Wherefore, he sent Pofidonius, || Theodofius, and || Matthias before, to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long aduifement thereupon, and the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one mind, and confented to the covenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together : fo when the day was come, they fet for euery man his ftoole.

22 Neuertheleffe, Iudas commaunded certaine men of armes to waite in conuenient places, leaft there should suddenly arise any cuill through the enemies: and fo they commaunded together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but fent away the people that were gathered together.

24 He flouted Iudas, & fauored him in his heart.

25 He prayed him also to take a wife, & to beget children : fo he married, & they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiving the loue that was betwene them, and vnderstanding the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and tolde him that Nicanor had taken ftrange matters in hande, and ordeined Iudas a traitour to the Relame, to be his fuccellour.

27 Then the King was difpleafed, and by the reports of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, faying, that he was very angry for the covenants, commaunding him that he should fend Maccabeus in all hafte prifoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When thefe things came to Nicanor, he was affonifhed and fore grieved, that he should breake the things wherein they had agreed, fcing that that man had committed no wickedneffe.

29 But becaufe it was not commodious to him to withftand the King, hee fought craftily to accomplifh it.

30 Notwithstanding when Maccabeus perceived that Nicanor began to be rough vnto him, and that he intreated him more rudely then hee was wont, he perceived that fuch rigour came not of good, and therefore he gathered a few of his men, and withdrew himfelfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiving that he was preuented by Maccabeus worthy policie, came into the great & holy Temple, and commaunded the Priests, which were offering their vifual facrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they fwore that they could not tel where the man was, whom he fought,

33 He ftretched out his right hand towards the Temple, and made an othe in this manner, If ye will not deliuer mee Iudas as a prifoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, & will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After thefe wordes hee departed : then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauen, and be-fought him that was euer the defender of their nation, faying in this maner, 35 Thee, O Lord of all things, which haft neede of nothing, wouldelt that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore nowe, O moft holy Lorde, keepe this houfe euer vndefiled, which lately was cleafed, and floppe all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Nowe was there accufed vnto Nicanor, Ratis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a Iouer of the ci-tie, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

38 For this man fome times when the Iewes were minded to keepe themfelves vndefiled and pure, being accufed to bee of the religion of the Iewes, did offer to fpend his body and life, with all conforance for the religion of the Iewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Iewes, fent about five hundred men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Iewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his caftle, and would haue broken the gates by violence, and commaunded to bring fire to burne the gates, fo that hee was ready to bee taken on euery fide, he || fell on his fword.

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himfelfe into the hands of wicked men, and to fuffer reproch vnworthily for his noble ftroke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as hee miffed of his ftroke for hafte, and the multitude nuffhed in violently betwene the doores, hee innoboldly to the wall, and caft himfelfe downe manfully among the multitude.

44 Which conueyed themfelves lightly away, and gaue place, fo that he fell vpon his beffe.

45 Neuertheleffe while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, hee rofe vp, and though his blood gufhed out like a fountaine, and he was very fore wounded, yet he ranne thorow the middest of the people,

46 And gate him to the topp of an high rocke: fo when his blood was wifely gone, hee tooke out his owne bowels with both his hands, and threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lord of life and fpirit, that hee would reflore them againe vnto him, and thus he died.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor path about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day.
2 The difpofition of Nicanor, 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the vifion, concerning them. 22 The prayer of Maccabeus. 30 Maccabeus commaunded Nicanor to be cut off: & his body to be giuen vnto the Iewes.
39 The author exhorteth himfelfe.

NOW when Nicanor knew that Iudas and his companie were in the countrey offamaria, he thought with all affurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuertheleffe, the Iewes that were compelled to goe with him, fayd, O kill not fo cruelly and barbaroufly, but honour and fanctifie the day, that is appointed by him that feeth all things.

3 But this moft wicked perfon demanded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commaunded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they fayd, There is a liuing Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commaunded the feuenth day to be kept,

5 Then hee fayd, And I am mightie vpon earth to commaund them for to arme themfelves, and to performe the Kings bufineffe. Notwithstanding, he could not accomplifh his wicked enterprife.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, purposed to fet vp a memoriall of the victorie obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had euen fure confidence, and a perfite hope that the Lord would helpe.

8 And exhorted his people not to be afraid at the comming of the heathen, but alway to remem-

[As this priuate example ought not to be followed of the body, becaufe it is contrary to the word of God although the matter forme here to approue it: fo that place as touching prayer, Chap. 12. 44. though Iudas had appointed it, yet were it not fufficient to produce a doctrine, becaufe it is only a particular example.]

ber the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, & so trill now also, that they should haue the victorie by the Almighty.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the Lawe and Prophecie, putting them in remembrance of the battles that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing.

10 And stirred vp their hearts, and shewed them also the decreitfullnesse of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus he armed every one of them, not with the assurance of shields & speares, but with wholesome wordes and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame wordly to be beleued, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And thus was his vision, He thought that he saw Onias (which had bene the high Priest, a ver-tuous and a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of godlinesse from a child) holding vp his hands towards heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie aboue him.

14 And Onias spake, and said, This is a loue of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy cite, is Iuris, Jeremias the Prophet of God.

15 He thought also that Jeremias held out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a sword of gold:
and as he gaue it, he spake thus,

16 Take this holy sword a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wound the aduersaries.

17 And so being comforted by the wordes of Iudas, which were very sweete and able to stirre them vp to valiantnesse, and to incourage the hearts of the yong men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageously to set vpon them, and manfully to assaile them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, because the cite and the Sanctuary and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues, and children, and brethren and kinsfolkes, they set lesse by their danger:
but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Against they that were in the cite, were care-full for the armie that was abroad.

20 Nowe whiles they all waited for the triall of the matter, and the enemies naue met with them, and the hoste was set in aray, and the Ibewes were separated into competent places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings.

21 Maccabeus considering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the hercenesse of the beastes, helde vp his hands towards heauen, calling vpon the Lorde that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victory cometh not by the weapons, but that hee giueth the victory to them that are worthy, as seemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer he said after this maner, O Lorde. * thou, that diddest send thine Angel in the time of Ezechias King of Iudas, who in the hoste of Sennacherib slew an hundred, fourscore and fift thousand,

23 Sende nowe also thy good Angel before me,
O Lorde of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto
them,

24 And let them be discorified by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these wordes he made an ende.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drew neere with trumpets and shewings for aye.

26 But Iudas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountered with the enemies.

27 So that with their hands they fought, then with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and there was no lesse then fiftie and thirtie thousand men:
for through the presence of God they were wonder-rously comforted.

28 Nowe when they left off, and were tuning againe with aye, they vnderstoode that Nicanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shout & a cry, praying the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and minde, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commanded to finite off Nicanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.

31 And when he came there, he called all them of his nation, and set the Priests by the altar, and sent for them of the castle,

32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemour which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almighty with proud bragges.

33 Hee caused the tongue also of wicked Nica-nor to be cut in litle pieces, and to be cast vnto the fowles, and that the rewards of his madnesse should be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euerly man praised toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he, that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 He hanged also Nicanors head vpon the his castle, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a common decree, that they would in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feast should be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardoche-us day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the cite in possession. And here will I also make an end.

39 If I haue done wel, and as the story required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken sleenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the storie. And here shalbe the end.

The Printer to the diligent Reader.

Eare Christian Reader, to the intent that thou mightest the better enjoy the benefite of these notes or expositions vpon the newe Testament: I thought it not amisse to declare vnto thee the vse of the same. And first, for as much as the quotations or citing of places of the Scriptures in the margin which direct to other places, conteinig like phrase or sense, haue bene so placed, that none without great labour could finde out the textes alleaged, I haue made these fixe seuerall figures or markes, * * * * * and haue set them as well in the margin as in the text, so that thou mayest easily finde that which thou desirest. For example, in the first word of the first Chapter of Matthew is placed this first marke *, looke out the like marke in the margin, & there thou shalt finde, Luke 3. 23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew, and so likewise thou shalt finde in the residue. But if many quotations belong to one place, word or sentence, the first is onely marked, and those that follow vnmaked appertaine to the same. And if it fall out that there be more then fixe directions in one colunne, then is the first repeated againe, and the residue following in order as at the beginning: as it appeareth in the first colunne of Matthew, where both in the text and margin also, they are all two times set downe, and the foure first repeated againe.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmetick, as 1. 2. 3. 4. &c. throughout the Euangelistes and Actes, declare the effect or summe of the doctrine conteinied betweene one of the said figures, & the next that followeth: as for example, from the figure 1. in the first line and first worde of Matthew vnto the figure, 2. in the 18. verse of the same Chapter, the doctrine there gathered is set downe in the margin in this sort, 1. Iesus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the stocks of David as God promised.

And in the Epistles in like sort they declare the methode and arte which the Apostles vse, and how euery argument or reason dependeth one vpon another: these figures are begunne againe at the beginning of euery Chapter. Lastly, the Notes which goe by order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text, with the like answering vnto them in the margin, serue to expound & lighten the darke words and phrases immediatly following them. As in the first line and second word, the letter, a, being referred vnto a, directly against him in the margin, sheweth that this word, Booke, signifieth A rehearsal in the Holy Scriptures vnto Ioseph as Gen. 5. 1. The booke of the generations. These letters beginne at the beginning of euery Chapter, continuing vnto, z. and so beginning againe with a, if there be so many Notes that they doe exceede in number the letters of one Alphabet. This haue I faithfully done for thy commoditie, reape thou the fruite, and giue the prayse to God.

Farewell.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO S. MATTHEW.

CHAP.

This is the first of the Gospels, the Author thereof is the Prophet, the Son of David.

He ¹ wrote of the ² generation of Iesus Christ the sonne of David, the sonne of Abraham.

1. Abraham begate Isaac. And Isaac begate Jacob. And Jacob begate Iudas and his brethren.

3. And Iudas begate Phares, and Zarah of Thamar. And Phares begate Esrom. And Esrom begate Aram.

4. And Aram begate Aminadab. And Aminadab begate Naasson. And Naasson begate Salmon. And Salmon begate Booz of Rachab. And Booz begate Obed of Ruth. And Obed begate Iesse.

6. And Iesse begate Dauid the King. And Dauid the King begate Solomon of her that was the wife of Urias.

7. And Solomon begate Roboam. And Roboam begate Abia. And Abia begate Asa.

8. And Asa begate Iosaphat. And Iosaphat begate Ioram. And Ioram begate Ioas.

9. And Ioas begate Amazias. And Amazias begate Achaz. And Achaz begate Ezechias.

10. And Ezechias begate Manasses. And Manasses begate Ammon. And Ammon begate Iosias.

11. And Iosias begate Iakim. And Iakim begate Iechonias his brother about the time they were carried away to Babel.

12. And after they were come from Babel, Iosias begate Ieremias. And Ieremias begate Zerubbabel.

13. And Zerubbabel begate Abiud. And Abiud begate Eliab. And Eliab begate Azor.

14. And Azor begate Sadoch. And Sadoch begate Achim. And Achim begate Eliud.

15. And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Jacob.

16. And Jacob begate Ioseph the husband of Mary, of whom Iesus was borne, who is called Christ.

17. So all the generation of Iesus Christ from Iacob the sonne of Iudas the sonne of Abraham.

18. And Iesus himselfe said, I have desired to build up Ierusalem, which she hath refused.

19. And I have desired to gather together thy children, which she hath refused.

20. And I have desired to gather together thy children, which she hath refused.

21. And I have desired to gather together thy children, which she hath refused.

22. And I have desired to gather together thy children, which she hath refused.

23. And I have desired to gather together thy children, which she hath refused.

24. And I have desired to gather together thy children, which she hath refused.

25. And I have desired to gather together thy children, which she hath refused.

26. And I have desired to gather together thy children, which she hath refused.

1. I Iesus his people from their sinnes.

2. And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying,

3. Beholde, a virgin shall be with childe, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.

4. Then Ioseph, being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lord had inioyned him, and tooke his wife.

5. But he knew her not, till she had brought forth her first borne sonne, and he called his name Iesus.

6. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

7. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

8. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

9. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

10. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

11. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

12. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

13. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

14. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

15. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

16. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

17. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

18. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

19. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

20. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

21. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

22. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

23. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

24. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

25. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

26. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

27. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

28. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

29. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

30. And when Iesus was borne, he was called Emmanuel.

Father knoweth whereof ye haue neede, before ye aske of him.

9 After this manner therefore pray ye, & Our Father which art in heauen, halowed be thy name, 10 Thy Kingdome come. Thy will bee done euen in earth, as it is in heauen.

11 Giue vs this day our daily bread. 12 And forgive vs our dettes, as we also forgive our detters.

13 And leade vs not into temptation, but deliuer vs from euill: for thine is the Kingdome, and the power, and the glory for euer. Amen.

14 ¶ For if ye doe forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

15 But if ye doe not forgive men their trespasses, no more will your Father forgive you your trespasses.

16 Moreover, when ye fast, looke not sower as the hypocrites: for they disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Verely I say vnto you, that they haue their reward.

17 But when thou fastest, and anoint thine head, and wash thy face, 18 That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.

19 ¶ Lay not vp treasures for your selues vpon the earth, where the mothe & canker corrupt, and where theues digge through and steale.

20 ¶ But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the mothe nor canker corrupteth, and where theues neither dig through, nor steale.

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 ¶ ¶ The light of the body is the eye: if then thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be light.

23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy body shall be darke. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkened, how great is that darknesse!

24 ¶ No man can serue two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loeue the other, or els he shall leaue to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

25 ¶ ¶ Therefore I say vnto you, bee not careful for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drinke: nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth than meate? and the body then raiment?

26 Behold the fowles of the heauen: for they sowe not, neither reape, nor cary into the barnes: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?

27 Which of you by taking care is able to adde one cubite vnto his stature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Leame how the lillies of the fildes doe growe: they are not wearied, neither spinne.

29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

30 Wherefore if God so clothe the grasse of the fildes which is to day, and to morrow is cast into the ouen: shall he not doe much more vnto you, O ye of little faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or what shall we drinke? or where shall we clothe vs? for all these things are added vnto you of your Father which is in heauen. He that is able to clothe the grasse, shall he not doe much more vnto you, O ye of little faith?

with shall we be clothed?

32 (For after all these things seeke the Gentiles: for your heavenly Father knoweth, that ye haue neede of all these things.)

33 But seeke ye first the kingdome of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be ministred vnto you.

34 Care not then for the morrow: for the morrow shall care for it selfe: the day hath ynough with his owne griefe.

CHAP. VII.

1 We may not giue in iudgements of our neighbours. 2 Nor cast ston which is hols to iudges. 3 The broad and strake way. 4 False prophets. 5 The tree and his fruits. 6 The house built on a rock. 7 And on the sand.

Iudge not, that ye be not iudged.

2 For with what iudgement ye iudge, ye shall be iudged, and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured vnto you againe.

3 And why seekest thou the mote, that is in thy brothers eye, and perceiuest not the beame that is in thine owne eye?

4 ¶ Or howe sayest thou to thy brother, Suffer me to cast out the mote out of thine eye, and behold, a beame is in thine owne eye?

5 Hypocrite, first cast out that beame out of thine owne eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brothers eye.

6 ¶ Giue ye not that which is holy to dogs, neither cast ye your pearles before swine, lest they treade them vnder their feete, and turning againe, all to rent you.

7 ¶ ¶ Aske, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

8 For whoso euer asketh, receiuet: and hee that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

9 For what man is there among you, which if his sonne ask him bread, would giue him a stone?

10 Or if he aske filth, will he giue him a serpent?

11 If ye then, which are euill, can giue to your children good gifts, how much more shall your Father which is in heauen, giue good things to them that aske him?

12 ¶ ¶ Therefore whatsoever ye woulde that men should doe to you, euen so doe ye to them: for this is the Lawe and the Prophets.

13 ¶ ¶ Enter in at the strait gate: for it is the wide gate, and broad way that leadeth to destruction: & many there be which goe in therat.

14 Because the gate is strait, and the way narrowe that leadeth vnto life, and fewe there be that finde it.

15 ¶ ¶ Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheeps clothing, but inwardly they are rauening wolves.

16 Ye shall know them by their fruits. ¶ Doe men gather grapes of thornes? or figs of thistles?

17 So euery good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and a corrupt tree bringeth forth euill fruit.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth euill fruit: neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 ¶ ¶ Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

20 Therefore by their fruits, ye shall knowe them.

21 ¶ ¶ Not every one that saith vnto me, Lord, Lord, shall come into the Kingdome of heauen: but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heauen.

1 We ought to finde fault one with another, but we must beuare we doe it not without cause, as to seeme holier than they are, or in hatred of them.

21 Then Iesus saide
vnto him, See thou

22 ¶ When Iesus was entred into Capernaum, there came vnto him a Centurion,
beseeching him,

23 And sayde, Maltre, my seruant lyeth sicke
at home of the palsey, and is grievously pained.

24 And Iesus saide
vnto him, I will come and heale him.

25 But the Centurion answered, saying, Maltre,
I am not worthy that thou shouldest come vnder my roofo: but speake the word onely, and my seruant shall be healed.

26 For I am a man
all vnder the authoritie of another, and have soldiers vnder me:
and I say to one,
Goe, and he goeth;
and to another, Come,
and he cometh: and to my seruant, Doe
this, and he doeth it.

27 When Iesus heard that, he marvelled, and said to them that followed him, Verily,
I say vnto you,
I haue not found so great faith, euē in Israhel.

28 But I say vnto you, that so great shall come from the East and West, and shall sit downe
with Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob in the kingdome of heauen.

29 ¶ And the children of the kingdome shall be cast out into vtter darkenes: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

30 ¶ Then Iesus saide
vnto the Centurion, Go thy way, and as thou hast beleueed,
so be it vnto thee.
And his seruant was healed the same houre.

31 ¶ And when Iesus came to Peters house, he sawe his wifes mother layed downe, and sicke of a feuer.

32 And hee touched her hande, and the feuer left her: so the arose, and miniftered vnto them.

33 ¶ When the Euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with deuils, and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed
all that were sicke.

34 ¶ That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, He took out our inimi-ties, and bare our sicknesses.

35 ¶ And when Iesus
sawe great multitudes of people about him,
he commaunded them
to goe out to the water.

36 ¶ Then came there a certaine
Scribe, and sayd
vnto him, Maltre,
I will follow thee
whithersoever thou goest.

37 But Iesus saide
vnto him, The foxes
haue holes, and the birds of the heauen haue netes, but the Sonne of man hath not wherupon to rest his head.

38 ¶ And another of his disciples saide
vnto him, Maltre,
suffer me first to goe, and burie my father.

39 But Iesus saide
vnto him, followe
me, and let the dead
bury their dead.

40 ¶ And when he was entred into his ship, his disciples followed him.

41 And behold, there arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the ship was couered with waues: but he was asleepe.

42 ¶ Then his disciples came, and awoke him, saying, Maltre, sue vs to perish.

43 And hee said vnto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked
the winds and the sea, and there was a great calme.

44 ¶ And the men
maruelled, saying,
What man is this,
that both the winds and the sea obey
him!

45 ¶ And when he was come to the other side into the country of the Gergesens, there met him
two possessed with deuils, which came out of the graues
very fierce, so that no man might goe
by that way.

46 And beholde, they cryed out, saying, Iesus, the sonne of God, what haue
we to do with thee?
Art thou come hither to torment vs before y time?

47 ¶ Nowe there was a farr off from them, a great heard of swine feeding.

48 ¶ And Iesus
said vnto them, I call vs to followe
me, and I will make you to be fishers of men.

49 ¶ And when they had leaue taken of their commodities, they followed him.

50 ¶ And when they were come into the city, he went into the synagogue, and taught them.

51 ¶ And they were all amazed,
and said, Whence
hath this man these things? and what wisdom is this which is giuen vnto him, that he doeth
such miracles?

52 ¶ And Iesus
said vnto them,
I haue here a scribe, which is called Ieremie, the sonne of Ieremie, the high priest's sonne, who is the father of this man.

53 ¶ And when they had said these things, they were all amazed,
and said, Whence

CHAP. IX.

1 One sick of the palsy was healed. 2 Remission of sin. 3 Blessing called. 10 Simony. 12 New wine. 13 The rulers sought to kill. 14 A woman healed of a bloody issue. 15 Two blind men by faith receive sight. 16 A dumb man possessed is healed. 17 The harvest and workmen.

18 He came entered into a ship, and called out, and came into his own citie.

19 And he brought to him a man sicke of the palsey layd on a bed. And Iesus seeing their faith, sayd to the sicke of the palsey, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

20 And beholde, certeine of the Scribes sayd with themselves, This man blasphemeth.

21 But when Iesus saw their thoughts, he said, Wherefore thinke ye euill things in your hearts?

22 For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

23 And that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgive sinnes, (then sayd he vnto the sicke of the palsey,) Arise, take vp thy bed, and go to thine house.

24 And he arose, and departed to his owne house.

25 So when the multitude saw it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giuen such authority to men.

26 ¶ And as Iesus passed forth from thence, he saw a man sitting at the cufstome, named Matthew, and sayd to him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him.

27 And it came to passe, as Iesus sat at meat in his house, beholde, many Publicanes and sinners, that came thither, fate downe at the table with Iesus and his disciples.

28 And when the Pharisees saw that, they sayd to his disciples, Why eateth your master with Publicanes and sinners?

29 Now when Iesus heard it, hee sayd vnto them, The whole need not a Physician; but they that are sicke.

30 But go ye and learne what this is, I will haue mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

31 ¶ Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why doe we and the Pharisees fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

32 And Iesus said vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber noume as long as the bridegrome is with them? But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast.

33 Moreover no man pieceth an olde garment with a peece of a newe cloth: for that that should fill it vp, taketh away from the garment, and the breach is worse.

34 Neither doe they put new wine into olde vessels: for then the vessels would breake, and the wine would be spilt, and the vessels should perish: but they put new wine into new vessels, and so are both preferred.

35 ¶ While he thus spake vnto them, beholde, there came a certaine ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is now deceased, but come and lay thine hand on her, and she shall liue.

36 And Iesus arose and followed him with his disciples.

37 (And behold, a woman which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeres, came behind him, and touched the hemme of his garment.

38 For the fild in her selfe, If I may touch his garment, onely, I shall be whole.

39 Then Iesus turned him about, and seeing her, did say, Daughter, he of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole at the same moment.)

40 ¶ Nowe when Iesus came into the Rulers house, and sawe the minstreis and the multitude making noyse.

41 He said vnto them, Get you hence: for the maid is not dead, but sleepech. And they laughed him to scorne.

42 And when the multitude were put forth, he went in and tooke her by the hand, and the maid arose.

43 And this brute went throughout all that land.

44 ¶ And as Iesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O sonne of Dauid, haue mercie vpon vs.

45 And when he was come into the house, he beleueyeth that I am able to doe this? And they sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord.

46 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it vnto you.

47 And their eyes were opened, and Iesus gaue them great charge, saying, See that no man know it.

48 But when they were departed, they spread abroad his fame thorowout all that land.

49 ¶ And as they went out, beholde, they brought to him a dumme man possessed with a deuill.

50 And when the deuill was cast out, the dumme spake: then the multitude marueiled, saying, The like was neuer seene in Israel.

51 But the Pharisees said, ¶ He callethe the diuils, through the prince of deuils.

52 ¶ And Iesus went about all cities and townes, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the kingdome, and healing every sickenee and every disease among the people.

53 ¶ But as when hee saw the multitude, hee had compassion vpon them, because they were disperced, and scattered abroad, as sheepe hauing no shepheard.

54 Then sayd he to his disciples, ¶ Surely the harvest is great, but the labourers are few.

55 Wherefore pray the Lord of the harvest, that hee would send forth labourers into his harvest.

18 ¶ Hear ye therefore the parable of the sower.

19 Whensoever any man heareth the word of that kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, that euill one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart: and this is hee which hath receiued the feede by the way side.

20 And hee that receiued feede in the stonie ground, is he which heareth the worde, and incontinently with ioy receiueth it,

21 Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the worde, by and by he is offended.

22 And hee that receiued the feede among thornes, is he that heareth the worde: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he is made vnfruitfull.

23 But hee that receiued the feed in the good ground, is he that heareth the worde, and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruite, and bringeth forth, some an hundred folde, some sixtie folde, and some thirtie folde.

24 ¶ Another parable put hee forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good feede in his field.

25 While men slept, there came his enemie and sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the houlholder, & said vnto him, Master, fowldst thou not good feede in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And he sayd to them, Some eniuious man hath done this. Then the seruants sayd vnto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them vp?

29 But he sayd, Nay, lest while ye go about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheate.

30 Let both grow together vntill harvest, and in time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, & bind them in sheaves to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barn.

31 ¶ Another parable he put forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustard seed, which a man taketh and soweth in his field:

32 Which indeede is the least of all feedes: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

33 ¶ Another parable spake hee to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leuen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three pecks of meale, till all be leavened.

34 ¶ All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake hee not to them,

35 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, * I will open my mouth in parables, and will vtter the things which haue bene kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of that field.

37 ¶ Then answered he, and sayd to them, He that soweth the good feede, is the Sonne of man, 38 And the field is the worlde, and the good feede are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of that wicked one.

39 And the enemie that soweth them, is the deuill, and the haruest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shall it be in the end of the world.

41 The Sonne of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which doe iniquitie, 42 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

43 ¶ Then shall the iust men shine as the sunne in the kingdome of their Father. Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44 ¶ Again, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treasure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, he hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth, and selleth all that hee hath, and buyeth the field.

45 ¶ Again, the kingdome of heauen is like to a marchant man, that seeketh good pearles, 46 Who hauing found a pearle of great price, went and solde all that he had, and bought it.

47 ¶ Again, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a drave net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kindes of things.

48 Which, when it is full, men drawe to land, and sit and gather the good into vessels, and cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be at the ende of the world. The Angels shall goe forth, and feuer the bad from among the iust.

50 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

51 ¶ Iesus said vnto them, Vnderstand yee all these things? They said vnto him, Yea, Lord.

52 Then sayde he vnto them, Therefore euery Scribe which is taught vnto the kingdome of heauen, is like vnto an houlholder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things both new & olde.

53 ¶ And it came to passe, that when Iesus had ended these parables, he departed thence,

54 And came into his owne countrey, and taught them in their Synagogue, so that they were astonied, and sayde, Whence cometh this wisdom, and great workes vnto this man?

55 Is not this the carpenters sonne? Is not his mother called Marie, & his brethren James and Ioses, and Simon and Iudas?

56 And are not his sisters all with vs? Whence then hath he all these things?

57 And they were offended with him. Then Iesus said to the, * A prophet is not without honour, saue in his owne countrey, and in his owne house.

58 And he did not many great workes there, for their vnbeliefes sake.

¶ Though there be many more of these parables, yet they are referred to the same meaning. For vnder the feede sowne in the heart, or in the stonie ground, or in the thornes, or in the good ground, is meant the heart, or the stonie ground, or the thornes, or the good ground.

¶ On the words of the parable of the sower, Iesus saith, that the Church shall sowe by free and open from of heart, both in doctrine and manner, until the day appointed for the reaping of all things that come. It therefore behooueth all those that shall hope to sowe Christ among men, to sowe with patience & confidence.

houre, came and receiued euery man a peny.

10 Now when the first came, they supposed that they should receive more; but they likewise receiued euery man a peny.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the matter of the house, 12 Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equall vnto vs, which haue borne the burden & heat of the day.

13 And hee answered one of them, saying, Friend, I do thee no wrong: didst thou not agree with me for a peny?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and go thy way: I will giue vnto this last, as much as to thee.

15 Is it not lawful for me to do as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye euill, because I am good?

16 ¶ So the last shall be first, and the first last: for many are called, but few chosen.

17 ¶ And Iesus went vp to Hierusalem, and tooke the twelue disciples apart in the way, and sayd vnto them,

18 ¶ Beholde, we go vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered vnto the chiefe Priests, and vnto the Scribes, and they shall condemn him to death,

19 ¶ And shall deliuer him to the Gentiles, to mocke, and to scourge, and to crucifie him, but the third day he shall liue againe.

20 ¶ Then came to him the mother of Zebedeus children with her sonnes, worshipping him, and desiring a certaine thing of him.

21 And hee sayd vnto her, What wouldest thou? She sayd to him, Grant that these my two sonnes may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdom.

22 And Iesus answered, and sayd, Ye know not what ye aske. Are ye able to drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and to be baptized with the baptisme that I shall be baptized with? they sayd to him, We are able.

23 And hee sayd vnto them, Ye shall drinke in deed of my cup, and shall be baptized with the baptisme, that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is not mine to giue: but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.

24 ¶ And when the other ten heard this, they disdaigned at the two brethren.

25 Therefore Iesus called them vnto him, and sayd, Yee know that the lords of the Gentiles haue domination ouer them, and they that are great, exercise authority ouer them.

26 But it shall not be so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your seruant.

27 And whosoever will be chiefe among you, let him be your seruant.

28 ¶ Euen as the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ranfome of many.

29 ¶ ¶ And as they departed from Iericho, a great multitude followed him.

30 And beholde, two blinde men, sitting by the way side, when they heard that Iesus passed by, cried, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should holde their peace: but they cried the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

32 Then Iesus stood still, and called them, and said, What wilt thou that I should do to you?

33 They sayd to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 And Iesus moued with compassion, touched their eyes, & immediately their eyes receiued sight, and they followed him.

1 Christ rideth on an asse into Hierusalem. 12 Hee casteth out the sellers. 13 The house of prayer. 14 The wildest figtree. 15 Iohns baptism. 16 Wee do the will of God. 17 Pharisae. 18 Marthe. 19 Gods vineyard. 20 The leues. 21 The figtree killed of the heathen. 22 The curser floure.

1 And ¶ when they drew nether to Hierusalem, and were come to Bethphage, vnto the mount of the Oliues, then sent Iesus two disciples,

2 Saying to them, Goe into the towne that is ouer-against you, and anon yee shall finde an asse bound, and a colt with her: loose them, and bring them vnto me.

3 And if any man say ought vnto you, say ye, that the Lord hath need of them, and straightway he will let them go.

4 All this was done that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying,

5 ¶ Tell ye the daughter of Sion, Beholde, thy King cometh vnto thee, meek and sitting vpon an asse, and a colt, the foale of an asse tied to the yoke.

6 So the disciples went; and did as Iesus had commanded them,

7 And brought the asse and the colt, and put on them their clothes, and set him thereon.

8 And a great multitude spread their garments in the way: and other cut downe branches from the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 Moreover, the people that went before, and they also that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna to the Sonne of Dauid, ¶ Blessed be he that cometh in the Name of the Lord, Hosanna them which are in the highest heauens.

10 ¶ And when he was come into Hierusalem, hee saile the cite was moued, saying, Who is this?

11 And the people sayd, This is Iesus that Prophet of Nazareth in Galilee.

12 ¶ And Iesus went into the Temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the Temple; & ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seats of them that sold doves;

13 And said to them, It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer: but ye haue made it a den of thieves.

14 Then the blinde, and the halt came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

15 ¶ But when the chiefe Priests and Scribes saw the miracles that Iesus did, and the children crying in the Temple, and saying, Hosanna to the Sonne of Dauid, they disdained.

16 And said vnto him, Hearst thou what these say? And Iesus said vnto them, Yea I heare them: ¶ By the mouth of Infantes and sucklings thou hast made perfect the praise?

17 ¶ ¶ So hee left them, and went out of the cite vnto Bethania, and lodged there.

18 ¶ And ¶ in the morning, as hee returned into the city, hee was hungry,

19 And hee found a figtree in full leafe, and hee went to it, and hee found nothing there, and hee said to the disciples, I curse thee, figtree, that thou beareth fruit, and thou bearest nothing: and hee cursed it, and it withered away.

26 Now compassed by the people that they might see the things that he did.

41 Watch, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is ready, but the flesh is weak.

42 Again he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this chalice can not passe away from me, but that I must drink it, thy will be done.

43 And he came, and found them asleepe againe, for their eyes were heavy.

44 So he left them and went away againe, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45 Then came he to his disciples, and said vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: beholde, the houre is at hand, and the Sonne of man is giuen into the hands of sinners.

46 Rise, let vs goe: beholde, he is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 And while he yet spake, loe, Judas one of the twelve came, and with him a great multitude with swordes and staves, from the high Priests and Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kisse, that is he, lay holde on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Iesus, and said, God saue thee, Master, and kissed him.

50 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Friend, wherefore art thou come: Then came they, and layed hands on Iesus, and tooke him.

51 And beholde, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and strooke a seruant of the high Priest, and smote off his eare.

52 Then sayd Iesus vnto him, Put v thy sword into his place: for for all that I take the sword, shall perishe with the sword.

53 Either thinkest thou, that I can not now pray to my Father, and he will giue mee more then twelve legions of Angels?

54 How then should he: Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?

55 The same houre sayd Iesus to the multitude, Ye be come out as I were against a thiefe, with swordes and staves to take mee: I fare day teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled. Then all the disciples forsooke him, and fled.

57 And they tooke Iesus, and led him to Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.

58 And Peter followed him as farre off vnto the hie Priestes hall, and went in, and sate with the seruants to see the end.

59 Nowe the chiefe Priests and the Elders, and all the whole Councill sought false witness against Iesus, to put him to death.

60 But they found none, and though many false witnesses came, yet found they none: but at the last came two false witnesses.

61 And said, This man said, I can destroy the Temple of God, and build it in three dayes.

62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and said to him, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witness against thee?

63 But Iesus held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and said to him, I charge thee sweare vnto vs by the liuing God, to tell vs, If thou be that Christ the Sonne of God, or no.

64 Iesus said to him, Thou hast said it: nevertheless I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man sitting at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of the heauen.

65 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, saying, He hath blasphemed, what haue we any more neede of witnesses? beholde, now ye haue heard his blasphemie.

66 What thinke ye? They answered, and said, He is guiltie of death.

67 So then spake they in his face, and buffeted him, and other smote him with roddes.

68 Saying, Prophecie to vs, O Christ, Who is he that smote thee?

69 Peter sat without in the hall, and a maid came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galilee:

70 But he denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.

71 And when hee went out into the porch, another maide sawe him, and said vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazareth.

72 And againe he denied with an othe, saying, I know not the man.

73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stood by, and sayde vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speech bewrayeth thee.

74 Then began he to curse himselfe, and to sweare, saying, I know not the man. And immediately the cocke crew.

75 Then Peter remembered the words of Iesus, which had said vnto him, Before the cocke crew thou shalt denie me thrise. So he went out, and wept bitterly.

76 That is, without the place where the hall sate, but not without the house, for afterward he went from thence into the porch.

77 He swore and cursed himselfe.

When the morning was come, all the chiefe Priests, and the Elders of the people tooke counsell against Iesus, to put him to death.

2 And led him away bound, and deliuered him vnto Pontius Pilate the gouernour.

3 Then when Judas which had betrayed him, saw that he was condemned, he repented himselfe, and broughte againe the thirtie pieces of siluer to the chiefe Priests and Elders,

4 Saying, I haue sinned, betraying the innocent blood. But they said, What is that to vs? see thou to it.

5 And when hee had cast downe the silver pieces in the Temple, hee departed, and went, and hanged his selfe.

6 And the chiefe Priests tooke the silver pieces, and said, It is not lawfull for vs to put them into the treasure, because it is the price of blood.

7 And they tooke counsell, and bought with them a potters field, for the buriall of strangers.

4. John baptizeth, 6. His apparel and meate, 9. Iosiah baptizeth, 12. Heris tempted, 14. He teacheth the Gospel, 21. & 30. He teacheth in the Synagoge, 33. Her health one that had a deuill, 39. Peter's answer in law, 33. Many distressed priuies, 40. The Lepre.

He beginning of the Gospell of Iesus Christ, the Sonne of God:

3 ¶ As it is written in the Prophets, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 ¶ The voyce of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

4 ¶ John did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptism of amendment of life, for

Mat. 3. 1. The true way is a way of washing, but here is spoken of a peculiar kind of washing, which washeth the parts of true baptism, remission of life, and forgiveness of finnes.

5 But the Angel answered, and said to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified:

6 Hee is not here, for he is risen, as hee sayde: come, see the place where the Lord was layd,

7 And go quickly, & tel his disciples y^e he is risen fro y^e dead: & behold, he goeth before you into Galilee: there ye shall see him: loe, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great ioy, and did runne to bring his disciples word.

9 ¶ And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came, and tooke him by the feete, and worshipped him.

10 Then said Iesus vnto them, Be not afraid: Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

11 ¶ 12 Now when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the cite, & shewed vnto the hie Priests all the things that were done.

12 And they ga-harred them together with the Elders, and tooke counsell, and gaue large money vnto the souldiers, 13 Saying, Say, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slepe.

14 And if this matter come before the gouernour to be heard, we will perswade him, and so vie the matter that you shall not need to care.

15 So they tooke the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is noyed among the Iewes vnto this day.

16 ¶ 17 Then y^e eleven disciples went into Galilee, into a mountaine, where Iesus had appointed the.

17 And when they saw him, they worshipped him: but some doubted.

18 And Iesus came, & spake vnto them, saying, All power is giuen vnto mee, in heauen, and in earth.

19 ¶ 20 Go therefore, & teach all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, and the Sonne, and the holy Ghost, 20 Teaching them to obserue all things, whatsoever I haue commanded you: and lo, I am with you galway, vntill the end of the world. Amen.

5 And all y^e country of Iudea, & they of Hierusalem went out vnto him, and were all baptized of him in the ruer Jordan, confessing their finnes.

6 ¶ Now Iohn was clothed with camels haire, and with a girdle of a skin about his loynes: and he did eate 4 Locusts and wilde hony,

7 ¶ 8 And preached, saying, afterthen then I cometh after me whose shoes latchet I am not worthy to 5 stoupe downe, and vnloose.

8 Truth it is, I haue baptizd you with water: but he will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 ¶ 10 ¶ 11 And it came to passe in those dayes, that Iesus came from Nazareth, a citie of Galilee, and was baptized of Iohn in Jordan.

10 ¶ 11 And as soon as he was come out of the water, Iohn saw the heauens cloued in twaine, and the holy Ghost descending vpon him like a doue.

11 Then there was a voyee from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

12 ¶ And immediately the Spirite i drineth him into the wilderness.

13 And he was there in the wilderness fourtie dayes, and was tempted of Satan: he was alio with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministred vnto him.

14 ¶ Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching the Gospel of the kingdome of God,

15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the Kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleue the Gospel.

16 ¶ And as he walked by the sea of Galile, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea, (for they were fishers.)

17 Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you to be fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 ¶ And when hee had gone a litle further thence, he saw Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon he called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the shippe with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 ¶ So they entered into Capernaum, and straightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonished at his doctrine, for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 ¶ And there was in their Synagogue a man, in whome was an vnclene spirite, and hee cryed out, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue we to do with thee, O Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou art, euen that thou art the holie one of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vnclene spirite tare him, and cried with a loud voyce, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, so that they demanded one of another, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for hee commanded them the foule spirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile.

29 ¶ And as soone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with Iames and Iohn.

30 And Simons wifes mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they tolde him of her.

31 And hee came and tooke her by the hand, and lifted her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and the ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, at what time the sunne setteth, they brought to him all that were diseased, & them that were possessed with deuils.

33 And the whole cite was gathered together at the doore.

34 And he healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and he cast out many deuils, & suffered not the deuils to say they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed carefully after him.

37 And when they had found him, they sayde vnto him, All men seeke for thee.

38 Then he said vnto them, Let vs goe into the next towne, that I may preach there also: for I came out for that purpose.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galile, and cast the deuils out.

40 ¶ And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, & kneeled downe vnto him, & said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Iesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, & said to him, I will be thou cleane.

42 And as soone as hee had spoken, immediately the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

43 And after hee had giuen him a straight commandment, he sent him away forthwith, 44 And sayde vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and shewe thy selfe to the Priests, and offer for thy cleansing those things, which Moses commanded, for a testimoniall vnto them.

45 But when he was departed, he began to tell many things, and to publish the matter: so that Iesus could no more openly enter into the cite, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from euery quarter.

2 And anon, many gathered together, in so much that they placed aboue the doore could not receiue any more: & he preached by word vnto the.

3 And there came vnto him, that brought one sicke of the palsey, borne of foure men.

4 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncovered the rooffe of the house where he was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed, wherein the sicke of the palsey lay.

5 Now when Iesus sawe their faith, hee sayde to the sicke of the palsey, Sonne, thy finnes are forgiven thee.

6 And there were certaine of the Scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts.

7 Why doth this man speake such blasphemies? who can forgive finnes but God onely.

8 And immediately when Iesus perceived in his spirit, that thus they reasoned with themselves, he sayde vnto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

9 Whether is easier to say to the sicke of the palsey, thy finnes are forgiven thee? or to say, Arise, take vp thy bed, and walke?

10 But that yee may know, that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgive finnes, he sayd vnto the sicke of the palsey, 11 I say vnto thee, Arise and take vp thy bed, and get thee hence into thine owne house.

12 And by and by he arose, and tooke vp his bed, and went into his house.

bed, and went fourth before them all, in so much that they were all amazed, and glorified God, saying, We neuer sawe such a thing.

13 ¶ Then hee went fourth againe toward the sea, and all the people resorted vnto him, and he taught them.

14 ¶ And as Iesus passed by, he sawe 8 Leui the sonne of Alphaeus sit at the recter of custome, and sayd vnto him, Follow me. And hee arose and followed him.

15 ¶ And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at table in his house, many Publicanes and sinners sate at table also with Iesus, & his disciples: for there were many that followed him.

16 And when the Scribes and Pharises sawe him eate with the Publicanes and sinners, they said vnto his disciples, How is it, that he eateth and drinketh with Publicanes and sinners?

17 Now when Iesus heard it, hee sayd vnto them, The whole haue no need of the Phylition, but the sicke. ¶ I came not to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

18 ¶ And the disciples of Iohn, and the Pharises did fast, and came and sayd vnto him, Why do the disciples of Iohn, and of the Pharise fast, and thy disciples fast not?

19 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber fast, whiles the bridegrome is with them? as long as they haue the bridegrome with them, they cannot fast.

20 But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shalbe taken from them; and then shall they fast in those dayes.

21 Also no man soweth a piece of new cloth in an old garment: for else the newe picce that filled it vp, taketh away somewhat from the olde, and the breach is worse.

22 Likewise, no man putteth newe wine into old vessels: for els the newe wine breaketh the vessels, and the wine runneth out, and the vessels are lost: but newe wine must be put into new vessels.

23 ¶ And it came to passe as hee went through the corne on the Sabbath day, that his disciples, as they went on their way, beganne to plucke the eares of corne.

24 And the Pharises sayd vnto him, Scholde, why do you on the Sabbath day, which is not lawfull?

25 And hee sayd to them, Haue ye neuer read what David did when he had need, and was an hungred, both he, and they that were with him?

26 How hee went into the house of God, in the dayes of Abiathar the hie Priest, and did eate the shew bread, which were not lawfull to eate, but for the Priests, and gaue also to them which were with him?

27 And hee sayd to them, The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.

28 Wherefore the Sonne of man is Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

And as the entred agone into 9 Synagogue, & there was a man which had a withered hand.

2 And they watched him, whether hee would heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse him.

3 Then hee sayd vnto the man which had the withered hand, Arise: stand forth in the middes.

4 And hee said to them, Is it lawfull to doe a good deede on the Sabbath day, or to do euill? to saue the life or to kill? But they held their peace.

5 Then hee looked round about on them angrily, mourning also for the hardness of their hearts, and sayd to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored, as whole as the other.

6 ¶ And the Pharises departed, & straightway gathered a council with the Herodians against him, that they might destroy him.

7 But Iesus auoyded with his disciples to the sea: and a great multitude followed him from Galilee, and from Iudea,

8 And from Ierusalem, and from Idumea, and beyond Iordan: and they that dwelled about Tyrus & Sidon, when they had heard what great things he did, came vnto him in great number.

9 And hee commanded his disciples, that a little shippe should waite for him, because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.

10 For hee had healed many, in so much that they pressed vpon him to touch him, as many as had plagues.

11 And when the vnclane spirits saw him, they fell downe before him, and cryed, saying, Thou art the Sonne of God.

12 And he sharply rebuked them, to the end they should not vter him.

13 ¶ Then he went vp into a mountaine, and called vnto him whom he would, and they came vnto him.

14 ¶ And hee appointed twelue that they should be with him, and that he might send them to preach,

15 And that they might haue power to heale sicknesses, and to cast out deuils.

16 And the first was Simon, and he named Simon, Peter.

17 Then James the sonne of Zebedee, & Iohn James brother (and surnamed them Boanerges, which is the sonnes of thunder.)

18 And Andrew, & Philip, & Bartlemew, and Matthew, and Thomas, & James the sonne of Alphaeus, & Thaddues, and Simon the Cananite, 19 And Iudas Iscariot, who also betrayed him, and they came home.

20 And the multitude assembled againe, so that they could not so much as eate bread.

21 ¶ And when his kinsfolkes heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him: for they said that he was beside himselfe.

22 ¶ And the Scribes which came downe from Hierusalem, said, He hath Beelzebub, & through the prince of the deuils he casteth out deuils.

23 But he called them vnto him, and said vnto the in parables, How can Satan driue out Satan?

24 For if a kingdome be diuided against it selfe, that kingdome cannot stand.

25 Or if a house be diuided against it selfe, that house cannot continue.

26 So if soe Satan make insurrection against himselfe, and be diuided, he cannot endure, but is at an end.

CHAP. IIII.

¶ The parable of the sower, 12. And the measuring thereof, 18. Throust. 21. The candle, 26. Of him that sowed, & then frst. 31. The grain of mustard seed. 38. Christ teacheth vnto the ship.

And he began againe to teach by a sea side, And there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that he entred into a ship, and fate in the sea, & all the people was by the sea side on a land.

2 And hee taught them many things in parables, and sayd vnto them in his doctrine,

3 Hearken: Beholde, there went out a sower to sowe.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the fowles of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp.

5 And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But as soone as the sunne was vp, it was burnt vp, and because it had not roote, it withered away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruite.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and did yelde fruite that sprang vp, and grew, and it brought forth, fowre thirtie folde, some sixtie folde, and some an hundredth folde.

9 Then he said vnto them, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when he was alone, they that were about him with the twelue, asked him of the parable.

11 And he sayd vnto them, To you it is giuen to knowe the myserie of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are without, all things be done in parables, 12 ¶ That they seeing, may see, and not discern: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their finnes should be forgiven them.

13 Again he said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? how then should yee vnderstand all other parables?

14 The fower sowerth the word.

15 And these are they that receive the seeds by the wayes side, in whome the word is sowne but when they haue heard it, the sower cometh immediately, and take away the word that was sown in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receiue the feede in stony ground, are they, which when they haue heard the worde, straightwayes receiue it with gladnesse.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themselves, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediately they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the seed among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued feede in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, and bring forth fruite: one earre thirtie, an other sixtie, and some an hundredth.

21 ¶ Also hee said vnto them, ¶ Commeth the candle in, to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlestick?

22 ¶ For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 ¶ And he said vnto them, Take heede what ye heare. ¶ With what measure yee mete, it shall be measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more be giuen.

25 ¶ For vnto him that hath, shall it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath.

26 ¶ Also hee sayd, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast feede in the ground, 27 And it should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the feede should spring and growe vp, he not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth forth fruite: if of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full come in the eares.

29 And as soone as the fruite thereof is selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.

30 ¶ ¶ He sayd moreover, Whereinto shall we liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it?

31 It is like a graine of mustard seed, which when it is sown in the earth, is the least of all feedes that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sown, it groweth vp, and is greater of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the fowles of heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And with many such parables he preached the word vnto them, as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake hee nothing vnto them: but he expounded all things to his disciples apart.

35 ¶ ¶ Nowe the same day when euen was come, hee sayd vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, and tooke him as hee was in the shippe, and there were also with him other little ships.

37 ¶ And there arose a great storme of winde, and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And hee was in the stern sleepe on a pillow:

† Math. 8. 28. Luke 8. 26.

1 Many have the vertue of Christ in admiration, and yet they will not redeeme it with the losse of the least thing they haue, as Luke Math. 8. 20. & Mark for word, he an vnclane spirit: now they are said to be in the spirit, because the spirit beareth witness, and all were bound.

2 That is, asseure me by an oath, that thou wilt not deceiue me.

3 That devils that played the wagger for his flowers. 4 The whole country is for the greater part of it very hilly, for the mountains of Galilee stand through it.

5 Stride in the first month, both faith that in Galilee there is a standing pool of very unwholesome water, which if heales sight of, they beate their haire, mantle, or shoes & burne.

And ¹ they came ouer to the other side of the sea into the country of the Gadarens.

3 And when hee was come out of the ship, there met him incontinently out of the graues, a man ² which had an vnclane spirit:

3 Who had his abiding among the graues, and no man could binde him, nor with chains: 4 Because that when hee was often bound with fetters and chaines, hee plucked the chaines asunder, and brake the fetters in pieces, neither could any man tame him.

5 And alwayes both night and day hee cryed in the mountains, and in the graues, and flooke himselfe with stones.

6 And when hee saw Iesus as farre off, he ranne, and worshipped him,

7 And cryed with a loude voyce, and sayd, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the Sonne of the most High God? I will that thou sweare to me by God, that thou torment me not.

8 (For he sayd vnto him, Come out of the man, thou vnclane spirit.)

9 And he asked him, What is thy name? and he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for we are many.

10 And hee ³ prayed him instantly, that hee would not send them away out of the country.

11 Now there was there in the country a great herde of swine, feeding.

12 And all the devils besought him, saying, Send vs into the swine, that we may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Iesus gaue them leave. Then the vnclane spirits went out, & entred into the swine, & the herde ranne headlong from the high bank into the sea, (& there were about two thousand swine) & they were choaked vp in the sea.

14 And the swineheards fled, & tolde it in the cite, and in the country, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and saw him that had bene possessed with the deuill, and had the legion, sit both clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraide.

16 And they that saw it, tolde them, what was done to him that was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that hee would depart from their coasts.

18 And when he was come into the ship, hee that had bene possessed with the deuill, praised him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Iesus would not suffer him, but said vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and shewe them what great things the Lorde hath done vnto thee, and how hee hath had compassion on thee.

20 So hee departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marueile.

21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered together to him, and he was nere vnto the sea.

22 ¶ And as he beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Jairus: and when he saw him, he fell downe at his feete, 23 And besought him instantly, saying, My little daughter lieth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine hands on her, that she may be healed, and liue.

24 Then he went with him, and a great multitude followed him, and thronged him.

25 (¶ And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres,

26 And had suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and it auailed her nothing, but she became much worse.

27 When she had heard of Iesus, she came in the presse behinde, and touched his garment.

28 For he sayd, if I may but touch his clothes, I shalbe whole.

29 And straightway the course of her blood was dried vp, and she felt in her body, that she was healed of that plague.

30 And immediately when Iesus did knowe in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, he turned him round about in the presse, and sayd, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seeest the multitude throng thee, and sayest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And he looked round about, to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for she knew what was done in her, and shee came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole truth.

34 And hee sayd to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: go in peace, and be whole of thy plague.)

35 While hee yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which sayd, Thy daughter is dead: why dost thou trouble the matter any further?

36 ¶ Alfoone as Iesus had the word spoken, hee said vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraide: onely beleeue.

37 And he suffered no man to follow him saue Peter and James, and Iohn the brother of James.

38 So he came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue and saue the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And he went in, and sayd vnto them, Why make ye this trouble and weep? the child is not dead, but sleepech.

40 ¶ And they laugh him to scorne: but hee put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the child, and them that were with him, and entred in where the child lay,

41 And tooke the child by the hand, and sayd vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Maiden, I say vnto thee, Arise.

42 And straightway the maiden arose, and walked: for she was of the age of twelue yeeres, and they were astonished out of measure.

And he departed thence, and came into his owne country, & his disciples folowed him. 2. And when the Sabbath was come, he began to teach in the Synagogue, & all that heard him, were astonished, and sayd, From whence hath this man these things? and what wisdom is this that is giuen vnto him, that euen such a great workes are done by his hands?

3. Is not this that carpenter Maries sonne, the brother of Iames & Ioses, and of Iuda and Simon? and are not his 5 brethren here with vs? And they were offended in him.

4. And Iesus sayde vnto them, A Prophet is not without 6 honour, but in his owne country, and among his owne kindred, and in his owne house.

5. And he could there doe no great workes, save that he layde his handes vpon a fewe sicke folke, and healed them.

6. And he marvelled at their vnbeliefe, and went about by the townes on euery side, teaching.

7. ¶ And hee called vnto him the twelue, and began to send them forth two and two, and gaue them power ouer vncleane spirits.

8. And he commanded them that they should take nothing for their iourney, save a staffe onely: neither scrippe, neither bread, neither money in their girdles.

9. But that they should be shod with sandals, and that they should not put on 2 two coats. 10. And hee sayde vnto them, Where soeuer ye shall enter into an house, 3 there abide till ye depart thence.

11. ¶ And whosoever shall not receiue you, nor heare you, when ye depart thence, shake off the dust that is vnder your fete, for a witness vnto them. Verely I say vnto you, It shall be easier for Sodom, or Gomorra at the day of iudgement, then for that cite.

12. ¶ And they went out, and preached, that men should amend their liues.

13. And they cast out many devils: and they 4 annoyed many that were sicke, with oyle, and healed them.

14. ¶ ¶ Then King Herod heard of him (for his name was made manifest) and sayd, Iohn Baptist is risen againe from the dead, and therefore great workes are wrought by him.

15. Other sayde, It is Elias: and some sayd, It is a Prophet, or as one of 5 those Prophets.

16. ¶ So when Herod heard it, he said, It is Iohn whom I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.

17. For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philips wife, because he had married her.

18. For Iohn said vnto Herod, ¶ It is not lawfull for thee to haue thy brothers wife.

19. Therefore Herodias laid wait against him, and would haue killed him, but he could not:

20. For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that hee was a iust man, and an holy, and reuerenced him, and when he heard him, hee did many things, and heard him 6 gladly.

21. But the time being conuenient, when Herod on his birth-day made a banquet to his princes and captaines, and chiefe ehtates of Galilee:

22. And the daughter 7 of of the same Herodias came in, and daunced, and pleased Herod, & them that sate at table together, the King sayd vnto the mayde, Aske of me what thou wilt, and I will giue it thee.

23. And he sweare vnto her, Whatsoeuer thou shalt aske of me, I will giue it thee, euen vnto the halfe of my kingdome.

24. ¶ So she went forth, & said to her mother, What shall I aske? And the said, Iohn Baptists head.

25. Then she came in straightway with head vnto the king, & asked, saying, I would that thou shouldst giue mee euen now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptist.

26. Then the king was very fory: yet for his othes sake, and for their sakes which late at table with him, he would not refuse her.

27. And immediately the King sent the 9 hangman, and gaue charge that his head should be brought in. So he went and beheaded him in the prison.

28. And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the maide, and the maide gaue it to her mother.

29. And when his disciples heard it, they came and tooke vp his body, and put it in a tombe.

30. ¶ And the Apostles gathered themselves together to Iesus, and tolde him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

31. ¶ And he sayd vnto them, Come ye apart into the wilderness, and rest a while: for there were many commers and goers, that they had no leisure to eate.

32. ¶ So they went by ship out of the way in to a desert place.

33. But the people saw them when they departed, and many knewe him, and ran a foote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him.

34. ¶ Then Iesus went out, and saw a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like sheepe which had no shepherd: and he began to teach them many things.

35. ¶ And when the day was now farre spent, his disciples came vnto him, saying, This is a desert place, and now the day is farre passed.

36. Let them depart, that they may goe into the country and townes about, and buy themselves bread: for they haue nothing to eate.

☞ 2 And when they began to accuse him, saying, Thou receiuest blessing and power of God, thou doest this: they answered him, saying, We knowe that thou art a good man, and that vpon a scale of thine owne traditions: for men doe please themselves more in any thing then in iustition, that is to say, in a worship of God, fondly deauied among themselves.

2 And when they sawe some of his disciples eate meate with common handes, (that is to say, vnwashed) they complained.

3 (For the Pharisees, and all the Iewes, except they wash their hands oft, eate not, holding the traditions of the Elders.)

4 And when they came from the market, except they wash, they eate not: and many other things there be, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cups, and pots, and of brazen vessels, and of beds.)

5 Then asked him the Pharisees and Scribes, Why f walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eate meate with vnwashed handes?

6 Then hee answered and sayd vnto them, Surely ☞ Elay hath prophesied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth mee with lippes, but their heart is farre away from me.

7 But they worship mee in vaine, teaching for doctrines the commandemens of men.

8 For yee lay the commandement of God apart, and obserue the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and of cups, and many other such like things ye doe.

9 And hee sayd vnto them, Well, yee reiect the commandement of God, that ye may obferue your owne tradition.

10 For Moses said, ☞ Honour thy father and thy mother: and Whofoeuer shall speake euill of father or mother, let him die the death.

11 But ye say, If a man say to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profited, he shall be free.

12 So ye suffer him no more to doe any thing for his father or his mother, 13 Making the word of God of none authority, by your tradition which yee haue ordeined: and ye doe many such like things.

14 ☞ Then hee called the whole multitude vnto him, and sayd vnto them Hearken you all vnto me, and vnderstand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entrech into him: but the things which procede out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when hee came into an house, answering from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parables.

18 And hee sayde vnto them, What are yee without vnderstanding also? Doe yee not knowe that whatsoeuer thing from without entrech into a man, cannot defile him, 19 Because it entrech not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught, which is the purging of all meates?

20 Then hee sayd, That which cometh out of man, that defileth man.

21 ☞ For from within, such out of the heart of men, procede euill thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, 22 Thefts, a couetousnesse, wickednesse, deceipt, vnchastitie, a wicked eye, backbiting, pride, foolishnesse.

23 All these euill things come from within, and defile a man.

24 ¶ And from thence he rose, and went into the borders of Tyrrus and Sidon, and entered into an house, & would that no man should haue known: but he could not be hid.

25 For a certeine woman, whose little daughter had an vncleane spirit, heard of him, & came, and fell at his feet, 26 And the woman was a Greeke, a Syrophenician by nation) & besought him that he would cast out the deuill out of her daughter.

27 But Iesus sayd vnto her, Let the children first be fed: for it is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it vnto whelps.

28 Then she answered, and sayd vnto him, P. Truth, Lord: yet in deed the whelps eat vnder the table of the childrens crummes.

29 Then he said vnto her, For this saying, go thy way: the deuill is gone out of thy daughter.

30 And whē he was come home to her house, he found the deuill departed, and her daughter lying on the bed.

31 ¶ And he departed againe from the coasts of Tyrrus & Sidon, and came vnto the sea of Galilee, throw the mids of the coasts of Decapolis.

32 And they brought vnto him one that was deafe and stammered in his speech, and I prayd him to put his hand vpon him.

33 Then he tooke him aside from the multitude, and put his fingers in his eares, and did spit, and touched his tongue.

34 And looking vp to heauen, he sighed, and sayd vnto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened.

35 And straightway his eares were opened, and the fling of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plaine.

36 And he commanded them that they should tell no man: but how much sooner he forbad them, the more a great deale they published it.

37 And were beyond measure astonished, saying, ¶ He hath done all things well: he maketh both the deafe to heare, and the dumme to speake.

IN those dayes, when there was a very great multitude, and had nothing to eate, Iesus called his disciples to him, and sayd vnto them,

2 I haue compassion on the multitude, because they haue noue continued with mee three dayes, and haue nothing to eate.

3 And if I send them away fasting to their owne houses, they would be faint by the way: for some of them came from farre.

4 Then his disciples answered him, Whence can a man satifise these with bread here in the wilderness?

5 And he asked them, How many loaves haue ye? And they sayd, Seuen.

6 Then he commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground: and hee tooke the seuen loaves, and gaue thanks, brake them, and gaue to his disciples: so for before them, and they did set them before the people.

7 They had also a few small fishes: and when he had giuen thanks, he commanded them also to be set before them.

8 So they did eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the broken meat that was left, foure baskets full.

9 And they that had eaten, were about foure thousand) so he sent them away.

10 ¶ And anon he entered into a ship with his disciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanutha.

11 ¶ And the Pharisees came fourth, and began to dispute with him, feeking of him a signe from heauen, and tempting him.

12 Then he sighed deeply in his spirit, and sayd, Why doeth this generation seecke a signe? Verely I say vnto you, a signe shall not be giuen vnto this generation.

13 ¶ So he left them, and went into the ship againe, and departed to the other side.

14 ¶ And they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them, but one loafe.

15 ¶ And he charged them, saying, Take heed and beware of the leauen of the Pharisees, and of the leauen of Herod.

16 ¶ And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is, because we haue no bread.

17 And when Iesus knew it, he said vnto them, Why reason ye thus, because ye haue no bread? perceiue ye not yet, neither vnderstand ye haue your hearts yet hardened?

18 Haue yee eyes, and see not? and haue yee eares, and heare not? and do ye not remember?

19 When I brake the five loaves among five thousand, how many baskets full of broken meat tooke ye vp? They sayd vnto him, Twelue.

20 And when I brake seuen among foure thousand, how many baskets of the leauings of broken meat tooke ye vp? And they said, Seuen.

21 Then he sayd vnto them, ¶ How is it that ye vnderstand not?

22 ¶ And hee came to Bethsaida, and they brought a blinde man vnto him, and desired him to touch him.

23 Then he tooke the blinde by the hand, and ledde him out of the towne, and sat in his eyes, and put his hands vpon him, and asked him, if he saw ought.

24 And he looked vp, and said, I see men: for I fee them walking like trees.

25 After that, he put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him looke againe. And he was referred to his sight, and saw euery man as farre off clerely.

26 ¶ And he sent him home to his house, saying, Neither go into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne.

27 ¶ And Iesus went out, and his disciples into the townes of Cesarea Philippi. And by the way he asked his disciples, saying vnto them, Whom do men say that I am?

28 And they answered, Some say, John Baptist: and some, Elias: and some, one of the Prophets.

29 And he sayd vnto them, But whom say ye that I am? Then Peter answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou art that Christ.

30 ¶ And he sharply charged them, that concerning him they should tell no man.

31 ¶ He commanded him againe, to sit in dew, whilst he could see more of his.

32 ¶ Many praise Christ, which yet notwithstandinge know him of his praise. ¶ Christ had appointed his times to the praise of the Gospel: and therefore hee deferreth it to a more commodious time, yet Iesus had him should rather hinder than further the mystrie of his coming.

sonne of man must suffer many things, and should 32 9 And hee spake that thing boldly. Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him.

And he said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death till they haue seene the kingdom of God come with power.

2 1 And sixe dayes after, Iesus taked vnto him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and caried them vp into an high mountaine out of the way alone, and his shap was changed before them.

3 2 And his raiment did shine, and was very white, as snowe, so white as no fuller can make vpon the earth.

4 3 And there appeared vnto them Elias with Moses, and they were talking with Iesus.

5 4 Then Peter answered, and said to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs make also three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 5 Yet he knew not what he said: for they were as sayle.

7 6 And there was a cloud that shadowed the,
and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloued Sonne: heare him.

8 7 And suddenly they looked round about, & saw no more any man save Iesus only with them.

9 8 And as they came downe from the mountaine, he charged them, that they should tell no man what they had seene, save when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe.

10 9 So they kept that matter to themselves, and demanded one of another, what the rising from the dead againe should meane.

11 10 Also they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, that Elias must first come?

12 And he answered, and said vnto them, Elias verely shall come first, and restore all things: and as it is written of the Sonne of man, hee must suffer many things, and be set at nought.

13 11 But I say vnto you, that Elias is come, (and they haue done vnto him whatsoever they would)
as it is written of him.

14 12 And when he came to his disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 13 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were amazed, and ranne to him, and saluted him.

16 14 Then he asked the Scribes, What dispute you among your selues?

17 15 And one of the company answered, and said, Master, I haue brought my sonne vnto thee, which hath a dumme spirit:

18 16 And wherefoerer he taketh him, hee teareth him, and hee smeth, and gnaweth his teeth, and pincheth away: and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast him out, and they could not.

19 17 Then he answered him, & said, O faithlesse generation, how long now shall I be with you low now shall I suffer you? Bring him vnto me.

20 18 And wherefoerer he taketh him, and assoone as the spirit saw him, he tare him, and he fell downe on the ground wallowing and fuming.

21 19 Then he asked his father, How long time is it since he hath bin thus? And he said, Of a child.

22 20 And oft times he casteth him into the fire, and into the water to destroy him: but if thou canst do any thing, helpe vs, and haue compassion vpon vs.

23 21 And Iesus said vnto him, if thou canst beleeue it, all things are possible to him y beleeueth.

24 22 And straightway the father of the child crying with teares, sayd, Lord, I beleeue: helpe my vnbeliefe.

25 23 When Iesus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked the vnbeleefe spirit, saying vnto him, Thou dum and deafe spirit, I charge thee, come out of him, & enter no more into him.

26 24 Then the spirit cried, and rent him fore, and came out, and he was as one dead, in somuch that many sayd, he is dead.

27 25 But Iesus tooke his hand, and lift him vp, and he arose.

28 26 And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly, Why could not we cast him out?

29 27 And he said vnto the, This kinde can by no other meanes come forth, but by prayer & fasting.

30 28 And they departed thence, and i-went together thorow Galilee, and hee would not that any should haue knowen it.

31 29 For he taught his disciples, and said vnto them, The sonne of man shall be deliuered into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, but after that he is killed, he shall rise againe the third day.

32 30 But they vnderstood not that saying, and were afraid to aske him.

33 31 After, he came to Capernaum: and when he was in the house, he asked them, What was it that ye disputed among you by the way?

34 32 And they held their peace: for by the way they reasoned among themselves, who should be the chiefest.

35 33 And he sat downe, and called the twelue, and said to them, If any man desire to be first,
he must be last of all.

same shall be left of all, and seruant vnto all.

36 And he tooke a litle childe, and set him in the middes of them, and tooke him in his armes, and said vnto them,

37 Whosoever shall receive one of such litle children in my Name, receiue me: and whosoever receiue me, receiue not mee, but him that sent me.

38 ¶ Then Iohn answered him, saying, Master, we sawe one calling out deuil by thy Name, which followeth not vs, and wee forbade him, because he followeth vs not.

39 ¶ But Iesus said, Forbid him not: for there is no man that can doe a miracle by my Name, that can lightly speake euill of me.

40 For whosoever is not against vs, is on our part.

41 ¶ And whosoever shall giue you a cuppe of water to drinke for my Names sake, because ye belong to Christ, verely I say vnto you, hee shall not lose his reward.

42 ¶ And whosoever shall offend one of these litle ones that beleue in me, it were better for him rather, that a millstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast into the sea.

43 ¶ Wherefore, if thine hand cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into hell, liued, than hauing two hands, to goe into hell, into the fire that neuer shall be quenched.

44 ¶ Where their worme dyeth not, and the fire neuer goeth out.

45 Likewise, if thy foote cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to goe hale into life, then hauing two fetters, to be cast into hell, into the fire that neuer shall be quenched.

46 Where their worme dyeth not, and the fire neuer goeth out.

47 And if thine eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out: it is better for thee to goe into the kingdome of God with one eye, then hauing two eyes, to be cast into hell fire.

48 Where their worme dyeth not, and the fire neuer goeth out.

49 ¶ For every man shalbe salted with fire: and euery sacrifice shall be salted with salt.

50 ¶ Salt is good: but if the salt be vnseasoned, wherewith shall it be seasoned? haue salt in your fleshes, and haue peace one with another.

CHAP. X.

9 The wife, or for fornication, is to be put away. 13 Little children are brought to Christ. 17 A rich man asketh Iesus, howe he may possesse eternal life. 28 The Apostles forsake all things for Christs sake. 33 Christ foretelleth his death. 35 Zebedee his yongers request. 48 Blaise Balaam rebuked.

And yee arose from thence, and wente into the coastes of Iudea by the farre side of Iordan, and the people resorted vnto him againe, and as he was wont, he taught them againe.

2 Then the Pharisees came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and tempted him.

3 And he answered, and said vnto them, What did se Moyses command you?

4 And they said, Moyses suffered vs to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away.

5 ¶ Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, For the hardnesse of your heart he wrote this precept vnto you.

¶ But Iesus made a good prouerbe for the wimes against the flaketh or hardnesse of their husbands.

6 But at the beginning of the creation ¶ God made them male and female:

7 ¶ For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife.

8 And they twaine shall be one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

9 ¶ Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let not man separate.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And he said vnto them, ¶ Whosoever shall put away his wife and marry another, committeth adulterie against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, the committeth adulterie.

13 ¶ ¶ Then they brought litle children to him, that he should touch them, and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus sawe it, he was displeased, and said to them, Suffer the litle children to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

15 Verely I say vnto you, Whosoever shall not receiue the kingdome of God as a litle childe, he shall not enter therein.

16 And he tooke them vp in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, and blessed them.

17 ¶ ¶ And when hee was gone out on the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do, that I may possesse eternal life?

18 Iesus said to him, Why callest thou mee good? there is none good but one, euen God.

19 Thou knowest the commandmentes, ¶ Thou shalt not commit adulterie. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witness. Thou shalt hurt no man.

Honour thy father and mother.

20 ¶ ¶ Then he answered, and said to him, Master, these things haue I obserued from my youth.

21 And Iesus looked vpon him, & loued him, and said vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee. Goe and sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, follow me, and take vp the crosse.

22 But he was sad at that saying, and went away sorrowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and said vnto his disciples, Howe hardly doe they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his disciples were afraid at his words.

25 But Iesus answered againe, and said vnto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God!

26 It is easier for a camel to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

27 And they were much more astonished, saying with themselves, Who then can be saved?

28 But Iesus looked vpon them, and said, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

29 ¶ ¶ Then Peter began to say vnto him, Lo, we haue forsaken all, and haue followed thee.

30 Iesus answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or landes for my sake and the Gospels,

31 But he shall receiue an hundred fold, now

¶ And Iesus made a good prouerbe for the wimes against the flaketh or hardnesse of their husbands.

¶ And Iesus made a good prouerbe for the wimes against the flaketh or hardnesse of their husbands.

32 ¶ And they were in the way going vp to Hierusalem, and Iesus went before them, and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Iesus tooke the twelue againe, and began to tell them what things should come vnto him.

33 Saying, Behold, we goe vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered vnto the hie Priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles.

34 And they shall mocke him, and scourge him, and spit vpon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise againe.

35 ¶ Then James and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedee came vnto him, saying, Master, we would that thou shouldst doe for vs we desire.

36 And he said vnto them, What would ye I should doe for you?

37 And they said to him, Graunt vnto vs, that we may sit, one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Iesus said vnto them, Ye knowe not what ye aske. Can ye drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme that I shall be baptized with?

39 And they said vnto him, We can. But Iesus said vnto them, Yee shall drinke in deede of the cup that I shall drinke of, and bee baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shall be baptized:

40 But to sit at my right hand and at my left, is not mine to giue, but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdaigne at James and Iohn.

42 But Iesus called them vnto him, and said to them, Ye know that they which are princes among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercise authoritie ouer them.

43 But it shall not be so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your seruant.

44 And whosoever will be chiefe of you, shall be the seruant of all.

45 For euen the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ranfome of many.

46 ¶ ¶ Then they came to Iericho: and as he went out of Iericho with his disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimeus the sonne of Timous, a blinde man, sat by the wayes side, begging.

47 And when he heard that it was Iesus of Nazareth, he beganne to cry, and to say, Iesus the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because he should hold his peace: but hee cryed much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

49 Then Iesus stood still, and commanded him to be called: and they called the blinde, saying vnto him, Be of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his cloake, and rose, and came to Iesus.

51 And Iesus answered, & said vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And the blinde said vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight.

52 Then Iesus said vnto him, Go thy way: thy faith hath saued thee. And by and by he receiued his sight, and followed Iesus in the way.

¶ Christ entred into Hierusalem riding on an asse. 13 The Feasts of the Temple. 23 The force of faith. 24 Faith in prayer. 25 The brothers officers must be pardoned. 27 The Priests asked by what authoritie he wroughte such things that he did. 30 Whence Iohn baptizeth was.

¶ And ¶ when he came neere to Hierusalem, A to Bethphage and Bethania vnto the mount of Oliues, he sent forth two of his disciples,

2 of Oliues he sent forth two of his disciples, 1 And said vnto them, Goe your wayes into that towne that is ouer against you, & as soon as ye shall enter into it, ye shall find a colte tied, whereon neuer man sat: loose him, and bring him.

3 And if any man say vnto you, Why doe ye this? Say that the Lord hath neede of him, and straightway he will send him hither.

4 And they went their way, and found a colte tied by the doore without, in a place where two wayes met, and they loosed him.

5 Then certaine of them, that stood there, said vnto them, What doe ye loosing the colte?

6 And they said vnto them, as Iesus had commanded them: So they let them goe.

7 ¶ And they brought the colte to Iesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sat vpon him.

8 And many spread their garments in the way: other cut down branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 And they that went before, and they that followed, cryed, saying, Hosanna: a blessed hee that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

10 ¶ Blessed be the kingdom that cometh in the Name of the Lord of our father Dauid: Hosanna, O thou which art in the highest heauens.

11 ¶ So Iesus entred into Hierusalem, and into the Temple: and when he had looked about on all things, and now it was evening, he went forth vnto Bethania with the twelue.

12 ¶ And on the morow when they were come out from Bethania, he was hungry.

13 ¶ And seeing a figge tree a farr off, that had leaues, he went to see if hee might finde any thing thereon: but when he came vnto it, hee found nothing but leaues: for the time of figges was not yet.

14 Then Iesus answered, and said to it, Neuer man cate fruite of thee hereafter while the world standeth: and his disciples heard it.

15 ¶ And they came to Hierusalem, and Iesus went into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that sold doves.

16 Neither would hee suffer that any man should carry a vessel through the Temple.

17 And he taught, saying vnto them, Is it not written, Mine house shall be called the house of prayer vnto all nations: but you haue made it a den of thieues.

18 And the Scribes and hie Priests heard it, and sought how to destroy him: for they feared him, because the whole multitude was attoned at his doctrine.

27 ¶ ¶ Then they came againe to Hierusalem: and as hee walked in the Temple, there came to him the chief Priests, and the Scribes, & the Elders.

28 And said vnto him, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authority, that thou shouldst doe these things?

CHAP. XII.

¶ Of the vineyard. 20 Christ the stone refused of the Jewes. 23 Of tribute to be giuen to Cesar. 28 The Sadduces denying the resurrection. 31 The first commandment. 33 To love God and his neighbour is better then sacrifices. 36 Christ Daneth Iohn. 38 To be aware of the Scorpion and Pharisies. 43 The parable of the fig tree.

And he began to speake vnto them in 3 parables. ¶ A certaine man planted a vineyard, and copped it with an hedge, & digged a pit for the winpresse, and built a tower in it, & let it out to husbandmen, & went into a strange country.

¶ And at the time, hee sent to the husbandmen a seruant, he might receiue of the husbandmen the fruit of the vineyard.

3 But they tooke him, and beat him, and sent him away empty.

4 And againe hee sent vnto them another seruant, and at that time they cast stones, and brake his head, and sent him away shamefully handled.

5 And againe hee sent another, and him they slew, & many other, beating some, & killing some.

¶ Yet had he one sonne, his deare beloued him also he sent the last vnto them, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

7 But the husbandmen said among themselves,

This is the heire, come, let vs kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

8 So they tooke him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.

9 What shall then the Lord of the vineyard do? He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and giue the vineyard to others.

10 Haue ye not read so much as this Scripture? ¶ The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner.

11 This was done of the Lord, and it is maruolous in our eyes.

12 Then they went about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceived that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

13 ¶ ¶ And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharisees, & of the Herodians that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they said vnto him, Master, we know that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou art considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly, is it lawfull to giue tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Should we giue it, or should we not giue it? but he knew their hypocricie, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me? bring me a penny, I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and he said vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription? and they said vnto him, Cears.

17 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, ¶ Giue to Cesar the things that are Cears, and to God, those that are Gods: and they marvelled at him.

18 ¶ ¶ Then came the Sadduces vnto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, ¶ Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, and leaue no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seede vnto his brother.

20 There were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and when he dyed, left no issue.

21 Then the second tooke her, and hee dyed, neither did he yet leaue issue, & the third likewise:

22 So those seuen had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife dyed also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall be of them? for seuen had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Arise ye not therefore deceived, because ye knowe not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marrie, nor wiuers are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue ye not read in the booke of Moses, howe in the bush God spake vnto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob?

27 God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing: Ye are therefore greatly deceived.

28 ¶ ¶ Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them disputing together, & perceiving that he had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 Iesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, ¶ Hear, Israel, The Lord our God is the only Lord.

30 Thou shalt therefore loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy minde, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment.

31 And the second is like, that is, ¶ Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other commandment greater then these.

32 Then that Scribe said vnto him, Well, Master, thou hast said the truth, that there is one God, and that there is none but he,

33 And to loue him with all the heart, & with all the vnderstanding, and with all the soule, & with all the strength, and to loue his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 Then when Iesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said vnto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdom of God. And no man after that durst alke him any question.

35 ¶ And Iesus answered & said teaching in the Temple, How say the Scribes that Christ is the sonne of David?

36 For David himselfe said by the holy Ghost, ¶ The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

37 Then David himselfe calleth him Lord: by what means is he then his sonne? And Much people heard him gladly.

38 ¶ Moreover he said vnto them in this doctrine, Beware of the Scribes which loue to go in long robes, and take salutations in the marketes, And the chiefe seates in the Synagogues, and the first roumes at feastes, 39 Which deuoure widows houses, euen vnder a colour of long prayers. These shall receiue the greater damnation.

40 ¶ And as Iesus fate ouer against the treasure, he beheld how the people cast money into the treasure, and many rich men cast in much.

41 And there came certaine poore widow, & she threw in two mites, which make a quadrin.

42 Then hee called vnto him his disciples, and said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that this poore widowe hath cast more in, then all they which haue cast into the treasure.

43 For they all did cast in of their superfluitie: but she of her pouterie did cast in all that she had, euen all her liuing.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ Of the destruction of Ierusalem. 39. Persecutions for the Gospel. 14. The Gospel must be preached to all nations. 28. Of Christes coming to iudgement. 39. We must watch and pray.

¶ And ¶ as he went out of the Temple, one of his disciples said vnto him, Master, see what manner stones, and what manner buildings are here.

¶ Then Iesus answered and said vnto him, Seest thou these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone vpon a stone, that shall not be thrown downe.

¶ And as he fate on the mount of Oliues, our against the Temple, Peter, and James, and Iohn, and Andrew asked him secretly, ¶ Tell vs, when shall these things bee? and what shall be the signe when all these things shall be fulfilled?

¶ And Iesus answered them, and began to say, Take heed lest any man deceiue you,

¶ For many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many.

¶ Furthermore when ye shall heare of warres, and rumors of warres, be ye not troubled: for such things must needs be: but the end shall not be yet.

¶ For nation shall rise against nation, & kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be earthquakes in diuers quarters, and there shall be famine and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorowes.

¶ But take ye heed to your selues: for they shall deliuer you vp to the Councils, and to the Synagogues: ye shall be beaten, and brought before rulers and Kings for my sake, for a testimoniall vnto them.

¶ And the Gospel must first be published among all nations.

¶ But when they lead you, and deliuer you vp, be not careful before hand, neither studie what ye shall say: but what is giuen you at the same time, that speake: for it is not ye that speake, but the holy Ghost.

¶ Yea, and the brother shall deliuer the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

¶ And ye shall be hated of all men for my Names sake: but whosoever shall endure vnto the end, hee shall be saved.

¶ Moreover, when ye shall see the abomination of desolation (spoken of by Daniel the Prophet) (set where it ought not, (let him that readeth, consider;) then let them that be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines,

¶ And let him that is vpon the house, not come downe into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch any thing out of his house.

¶ And let him that is in the field, not turne backe againe to take his garment.

¶ And then shall be to them that are with child, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes.

¶ Pray therefore that your flight bee not in the winter.

¶ For those dayes shall be such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created vnto this time, neither shall be.

¶ And except that the Lord had shortened those dayes, no flesh should be saved: but for the electes sake, which he hath chosen, he hath shortened those dayes.

¶ Then ¶ as if any man say to you, Lo, here is Christ, or lo, he is there, beleue it not.

¶ For false Christs shall rise, and false prophets, and shall shewe signes and wonders, to deceiue if it were possible the very elect.

¶ But take ye heed: behold, I haue shewed you all things before.

¶ Moreover in those dayes, after that tribulation, shall the sunne shall waxe darke, and the moone shall not giue her light,

¶ And the starres of heauen shall fall: and the powers which are in heauen, shall shake.

¶ And then shall they see the Sonne of man coming in the clouds, with great power & glory.

¶ And he shall then send his Angels, & shall gather together his elect from the four winds, and from the vtmost part of the earth to the vtmost part of heauen.

¶ Nowe I haue a parable of the figge tree. When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaues, ye know that summer is neere.

¶ So in likemaner, when ye see these things come

¶ The hearing of you preaching, that be a most common witness among them, so that they shall not be able to pretend ignorance.

come to passe, know that the kingdom of God is nere, such as the doores.

30 Verely I say vnto you, that this generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.

32 But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no, not the Angels which are in heauen, neither the Sonne himselfe, but the Father.

33 Take heed: watch, and pray: for yee know not when the time is.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Priests confederacie against Christ. 2 The women pouring oile on Iesus head. 3 The preparing of the Pasche. 4 The institution of the supper. 5 Christ delivered into the hands of men. 6 Judas betrayeth him with a kisse. 7 Christ a before laugheth. 8 Petrus denieth.

And 4 two dayes after followed the feast of the Pasche, and of vneleuē bread: and the hie Priest, & Scribes fought: how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

2 But they sayd, Not in the feast day, lest there be any tumult among the people.

3 And when hee was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as he fate at the table, there came a woman hauing a boxe of ointment of Spikenard, very costly, and she brake the boxe, and powred it on his head.

4 Therefore some dissembled among themselves, and said, To what end is this waste of ointment?

5 For it might haue bene solde for more then 3 hundred pence, and bene giuen vnto the poore, and they murmured against her.

6 But Iesus sayd, Let her alone: Why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 For ye haue the poore with you alwayes, and when ye will ye may doo them good, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

8 The hath done that the could: she came afore hand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Verely I say vnto you, whersoever this Gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shall be spoken of in remembrance of her.

10 ¶ Then Judas Iscariot, one of the twelue, went away into the hie Priestes, to betray him vnto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would giue him money: therefore he fought how he might conveniently betray him.

12 ¶ Nowe the first day of vneleuē bread, when they sacrificed the Pasche, his disciples sayd vnto him, Where wilt thou that we goe and prepare, that thou mayest eate the Pasche?

13 Then hee fent forth two of his disciples, and said vnto them, Goe ye into the cite, and there shall a man meete you bearing a pitcher of water: followe him.

14 And whither soeuer he goeth in, say yee to the good man of the house, The Master saith, Where is the lodging where I shall eate the Pasche with my disciples?

15 And he will shew you a vpper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it ready for vs.

16 So his disciples went forth, and came to the cite, and found as he had sayd vnto them, and made ready the Pasche.

17 ¶ And at euē he came with the twelue.

18 ¶ And as they fate at table and did eate, Iesus sayd, Verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me, which eateh with me.

19 Then they began to be sorrowful, and to say to him one by one, Is it I? And another, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said vnto them, This one of the twelue that dipeth with me in the platter.

21 Truly the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whome the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if he had neuer bene borne.

22 And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when hee had giuen thanks, he brake it, and gane it to them, and sayd, Take, eate, this is my body.

23 Also he tooke the cuppe, and when he had giuen thanks, gane it to them: and they all dranke of it.

24 And he sayd vnto them, This is my blood of that new Testament, which is shed for many.

25 Verely I say vnto you, I will drinke no more of the fruite of the vine vntill that day, that I drinke it new in the kingdom of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out to the mount of Oliues.

27 ¶ Then Iesus sayd vnto them, All yee shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, ¶ I will smite the shepherd, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

28 But after that I am risen, I will goe into Galilee before you.

29 And Peter sayd vnto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I.

30 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, this day, euen in this night, before the cocke crowe twice, thou shalt denie me thrise.

31 But he sayd 3 more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not deny thee: likewise also sayd they all.

32 ¶ After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then he sayd to his disciples, Sit ye here, till I haue prayed.

33 And he tooke with him Peter, and James, and Iohn, and he beganne to be troubled, and in great heavinesse.

34 And sayd vnto them, My soule is very heauy, euen vnto the death: tarie here, and watch.

35 So he went forward a litle, and fell downe on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

¶ That yee see to eat meat with me. ¶ Acts 1. 15. ¶ Mat. 26. 26. Luke 22. 19.

¶ John 16. 28. ¶ Christ himselfe hath bene the foundation of his, but yet that hee will neuer forsake them. ¶ 2. Cor. 13. 14.

¶ There is set forth in an excellent person a most full example of mans righteousness and weakness. ¶ That docting of words, Iesus and more plainly Petrus declared of his mission. ¶ Mat. 26. 34. Luke 22. 34.

¶ Christ suffering for us in that which he teacheth upon us for our sakes, small horrible terrible of the costs of God, receiveth the cup at his Fathers hands, which he being full of blood, he sheweth us to be of the world.

The latter day is not comenly to be searched for, which the Father alone knoweth: but let us rather see hereafter it come not upon vs. ¶ Mat. 24. 13.

¶ Mat. 26. 1. ¶ By the will of God, against the counsell of men, it came to passe that Christ should be put to death upon the soleme day of the Pasche, that in all respects the truth might agree to the figure.

¶ Mat. 26. 25. ¶ Both iudgements will inflame before God.

¶ Mat. 26. 26. ¶ Christ suffered himselfe to be crucified once or twice for certain considerations: but his will is to be daily crucified in the poore.

¶ This woman by the secret faith of the Spirit, mistaking Christ, became before mens eyes his death and buriall which were at hand.

¶ Mat. 26. 14. Luke 22. 14.

¶ Mat. 26. 17. Luke 22. 13.

¶ Christ beinge subiect to the Lawe vs. doeth celebrate the Pasche according to the Law: and therewithall by a miracle beareth that notwithstanding he is the both shall straightway say, yet that he is God & that is, upon which day and the evening of the same day, which was the beginning of the first day, Looked he and was crucified, & this is spoken thus by the figure, & the same, which is spoken in the same, and by the Pasche means the Pasche lamb.

4 Chap. 12. 35.

1 Child himselfe appeareth to Marie Magdalene
vpon the disciples in redoublie.
4. John 20. 16.
Ioh. 21.

2 Luke 24. 13.
3 Christ appeareth to two other disciples, and to length to the eleuen.

3 Luke 24. 36.
4 The Sundry confessed not the order of the 21st.

5 And the course of his discourse, which he divided into three partes: The first how he had appeared to the women; the second to his Disciples; the third, to his Apostles; and therefore he saith, finally,

7 But go your way, and tell his disciples, and Petet, that hee will goe before you into Galilee:
there shall ye see him; as he said vnto you.

8 And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre: for they trembled, and were amazed: neither saide they any thing to any man: for they were afraid.

9 ¶ And whē Iesus was risen againe, early the first day of the weeke, he appeared first to Marie Magdalene, out of who he had cast seven deuils:
10 And she went and told them that had bene with him, which mourned and wept.

11 And when they heard that he was aliue, and had appeared to her, they beleued it not:

12 ¶ After that, he appeared vnto two of them in another forme, as they walked and went into the country.

13 And they went, and told it to the remnant, neither beleued they them.

14 ¶ Finally, he appeared vnto the eleuen as they fate together, and reproched them for their vnbeliefe and hardnes of heart, because they beleued not them which had seene him, being risen vp againe.

15 ¶ And he sayd vnto them, ¶ Go yee into all the world, and preach the Gospell to a euery creature.

16 ¶ He that shall beleue & be baptized, shall be saued: ¶ but he that will not beleue, shall be damned.

17 And these tokens shall follow them that beleue; ¶ In my Name they shall cast out deuils, and shall speake with a new tongue,

18 ¶ And shall take away serpents, and if they shall drinke any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them: ¶ they shall lay their hands on the sicke, and they shall be cured.

19 ¶ So after the Lorde had spoken vnto them, he was receiued into heauen, and sat at the right hand of God.

20 And they went forth, and preached euery where. And the Lord wrought with them, and confirmed ¶ the word with signes that followed.
Amen.

¶ Such as they knew not before. ¶ All. 18. 5. ¶ All. 18. 6. ¶ Luke 24. 1. ¶ Christ having accomplished his office on earth, ascended into heauen, & now whoso the doctrine of his Apostles be confirmed with signes) he will performe his Church, vnto the worlds end. ¶ Heb. 2. 3. ¶ To witte the doctrine: therefore Christe must goe before, and signes must follow after.

by shall I know this? for I am an old man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angel answered, and sayd vnto him, I am Gabriel: & that stand in the presence of God, & am sent to speake vnto thee, and to shew thee these good tidings.

20 And behold, thou shalt be dumme, and not be able to speake, vntill the day that these things be done, because thou beleeuest not my wordes, which shalbe fulfilled in their season.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marvelled that he taried so long in the Temple.

22 And when he came out, hee could not speake vnto them: then they perceived that hee had seene a vision in the Temple: for hee made signes vnto them, and remained dumme.

23 And it came to passe, when the dayes of his office were fulfilled, that hee departed to his owne house.

24 And after those dayes, his wife Elisabeth conceiued, and hid her selfe sixe monethes, saying,

25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with me, in the dayes wherein he looked on mee, to take from me my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ And in the sixth moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a citie of Galilee, named Nazareth, 27 ¶ To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the house of Dauid, and the virgins name was Marie.

28 And the Angel went in vnto her, and sayd, Haile thou that art freely beloued: the Lord is with thee: a blessed art thou among women.

29 And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and thought what manner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel sayd vnto her, Fearing not, Marie: for thou hast found fauour with God.

31 ¶ For loe, thou shalt conceive in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, & shalt call his Name Iesus.

32 Hee shall be great, and shall be called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lord God shall giue vnto him the throne of his father Dauid.

33 ¶ And hee shall reigne ouer the house of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdome shall be none ende.

34 Then said Marie vnto the Angel, Howe shall this be, seeing I know not man?

35 And the Angel answered, and said vnto her, The holy Ghost shall come vpon thee, and the power of the most High shall ouershadowe thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be borne of thee, shall be called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy cousin Elisabeth, she hath also conceived a sonne in her old age: and this is her sixth moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing be impossible.

38 Then Marie saide, Behold the seruant of the Lord: be it vnto me according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 ¶ And Mary arose in those dayes, and went into the hill country with haste to a citie of Iuda, 40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabeth.

41 And it came to passe, as Elisabeth heard the salutation of Marie, the babe sprang in her belly, and Elisabeth was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And she cried with a loud voyce, and sayd, Blessed art thou among women, because of the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence comest thou to mee, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For loe, as soon as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my belly for ioy.

45 And blessed be thou that beleeuest: for those things shall be performed, which were tolde her from the Lord.

46 ¶ Then Marie saide, My soule magnifieth the Lord,

47 And my spirit reioyceth in God my Saviour.

48 For hee hath looked on the poore degree of his seruant: for behold, from henceforth shall all ages call me blessed,

49 Because he that is mightie, hath done for me great things, and holy is his Name.

50 And his mercie is from generation to generation on them that feare him.

51 ¶ Hee hath shewed strength with his arme: hee hath scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.

52 ¶ Hee hath put downe the mightie from their seates, and exalted them of a low degree.

53 ¶ Hee hath filled the hungry with good things, and sent away the rich empty.

54 ¶ Hee hath vpholden Israel his seruant to be mindful of his mercie.

55 ¶ As hee hath spoken to our fathers, so hee hath done: hee hath sent Iacob to our fathers, so hee hath done.

56 ¶ And Mary abode with her about three monethes: after, she returned to her owne house.

57 ¶ Now Elisabeths time was fulfilled, that she should be deliuered, & she brought forth a sonne.

58 And her neighbors, and cousins heard tell how the Lord had shewed his great mercie vpon her, and they ¶ reioycied with her.

59 And it was so that on the eighth day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and sayde, Not so, but he shall be called Iohn.

61 And they sayde vnto her, There is none of thy kindred, that is named with this name.

62 Then they made signes to his father, how he would haue him called.

63 So he was asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn, and they marvelled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue, & he spake, and praised God.

65 Then scarce came on all them that dwelt neere vnto them, & all these wordes were noised abroad throughout all the hill country of Iuda.

4 Elisabeth being great with child of Iohn, and Marie with Christ, by the inspiration of the holy Ghost, doe reioyce echa for other.

36 And there was a Prophetesse, one Anna
the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser, which was of a great age, after she had liued with an husband (seven yeeres from her virginitee:

3. As Iohn grew up in age, he was of the tribe of Aser,
and Ioseph was
of the tribe of Iuda.

37 And the said widowe about foure score and four yeeres, and went not out of the Temple, but serued God with fastings & prayers night and day.

3. As Iohn grew up in age, he was of the tribe of Aser,
and Ioseph was
of the tribe of Iuda.

38 She then coming at the same instant vpon them, confessed likewise the Lord, & spake of him to all that looked for redemption in Hierusalem.

3. All duties men, as they are accused by the law, and by the conscience, and by the world, are to be performed before the glory of God.

39 And when they had performed all things according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galile to their owne citie Nazareth.

3. Christ very man is made like vnto
vs in all things, except sinne.

40 And the child grew, and waxed strong in Spirit, and was filled with wisdom, and the grace of God was with him.

3. Iohn cometh

Isaiah

41 ¶ Now his parents went to Hierusalem, euery yeere, ✠ at the feast of the Pascheour.

3. Iohn cometh
in the time before of the Prophet
Isaiah

42 And when he was twelue yeere olde, and they were come vp to Hierusalem, after the cus-tome of the feast,

43 And had finished the dayes thereof, as they returned, the child Iesus remained in Hierusalem, and Ioseph knew not, nor his mother.

44 But they supposing that he had bene in the company, went a dayes journey, and sought him among their kinsfolke, and acquaintance.

45 And when they found him not, they turned backe to Hierusalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to passe three dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the mids of the doctours, both hearing them, and asking them questions:

47 And all that heard him, were astonied at his vnderstanding and answers.

48 So when they sawe him, they were amazed, and his mother said vnto him, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? beholde, thy father and I have sought thee with very heauie hearts.

49 Then said he vnto them, How is it that yee sought mee? knew yee not that I must goe about my Fathers busines?

50 But they vnderstood not the word that he spake to them.

51 Then hee went downe with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subiect to them; and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart.

52 And Iesus increased in wisdom, and stature, and in fauour with God and men.

CHAP. III.

1. Iohn the baptist is the forerunner of Christ, and preaches the kingdom of heaven.

1. Nowe in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Tiberias Cæsar, Pontius Pilate being gou-ernour of Iudea, and Herod being Tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip Tetrarch of Iturea, and of the countrey of Trachonitis, and Lyfanius the Tetrarch of Abilene,

2 (¶ When ✠ Annas and Caiaphas were the chiefe Priests) the worde of God came vnto Iohn, the sonne of Zacharias in the wilderness.

3 ¶ And hee came into all the coastes about Jordan, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of sinnes,

4 As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Esaias the Prophet, which saith, The voyce of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

5 Euery valley shall be filled, and euery moun-taine and hill shall be brought lowe, and crooked things shall be made straight, and the rough wayes shall be made smooth.

6 And all flesh shall see the saluation of God.

7 Then sayd he to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, ✠ O generation of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring forth therefore frutes worthy amendment of life, and beginne not to say with your selues, We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

9 Nowe also is the axe layde vnto the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruite, shall be hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

10 ¶ Then the people asked him, saying, What shall we doe then?

11 And he answered, and sayd vnto them, He that hath two coats, let him part with him that hath none: and hee that hath meate, let him doe likewise.

12 Then came there Publicanes also to be baptized, and sayd vnto him, Master, what shall we doe?

13 And he sayd vnto them, Require no more then that which is appointed vnto you.

14 The soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we doe? And he sayd vnto them, Doe violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely, and be content with your wages.

in their hearts of Iohn, if he were not that Christ, of 4 Elieus the Prophet: yet none of them was made cleane, saving Naaman the Syrian.

28 5 Then all that were in the Synagogue, when they heard it, were filled with wrath, 29 And rose vp, and thrust him out of the cite, and led them vnto the edge of the hill, whereon their cite was built, to cast him downe headlong.

30 But hee passed through the mids of them, and went his way, 31 ¶ And came downe into Capernaum a cite of Galilee, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes.

32 ¶ And they were astonished at his doctrine: for his word was with authoritie.

33 ¶ Aud in the Synagogue there was a man which had a Spirit of an vncleane deuill, which cried with a loud voyde, 34 ¶ Saying, Oh, what haue wee to doe with thee, thou Iesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy vs? I know who thou art, even the holy one of God.

35 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, & come out of him. Then the deuil throw- ing him in the middes of them, came out of him, and hurt him nothing at all.

36 So feare came on them all, and they spake among themselves, saying, What thing is this: for with authoritie and power hee commandeth the foule spirits, and they come out?

37 And the fame of him spread abroad through- out all the places of the countrey round about.

38 ¶ And he rose vp, and came out of the Synagogue, and entered into Simons house. And Simons wifes mother was taken with a great fe- ver, and they required him for her.

39 Then he stood ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and it left her, and immediately she arose, and ministrif vnto them.

40 Now at the sunne setting, all they that had sicke folkes of diuers diseases, brought them vn- to him, and hee layde his handes on euery one of them, and healed them.

41 ¶ And deuils also came out of many, cry- ing, and saying, Thou art that Christ that Sonne of God: but he rebuked them, and suffered them not to say that they knew him to be that Christ.

42 ¶ And when it was day, hee departed, and went forth into a desert place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him that he should not depart from them.

43 But hee said vnto them, Surely I must al- preache the kingdom of God to other cities: for therefor am I sent.

44 And hee preached in the Synagogues of Galile.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ teacheth one of the ship. 6 Of the draught of fish. 12 The Lepers. 18 Christ preacheth in the desert. 18 One sicke of the palsey. 27 Heal the Palsie. 34 The flitties and af- flictions of the Apostles. 38 Christ ascends. 38. 39. 40 Peter heareth and weake disciples are likened to old boats and were so gommous.

THEN ¶ it came to passe, as the people pressed vnto him to heare the worde of God, that he stood by the lake of Gennesaret, and saue two shippes stand by the lakes side, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nettes.

3 And hee cutted into one of the ships, which was Simons, and required him that he would thrust off a little from the land: and hee satte downe, and taught the people out of the shippe.

4 ¶ Nowe when he had left speaking, hee laid vnto Simon, Launch out into the deepe, and let downe your nettes to make a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and said vnto him, Master, wee haue traualled fore all night, and haue taken nothing: neuerthelesse at thy word I will let downe the net.

6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake. And they beckened to their partners, which were in the other shippe, that they shoulde come and helpethem, who came then, and filled both the shippes, that they did sinke.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, hee fell downe at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, go from me: for I am a sinful man.

9 For hee was vterly astonished, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they tooke.

10 And so was also Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon. Then Iesus layde vnto Simon, Feare not: for from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the shippes to land, they forsooke all, and followed him.

12 ¶ ¶ Now it came to passe, as hee was in a certaine cite, beholde, there was a man full of le- prosie, and when hee sawe Iesus, hee fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane. And immediately the leprosie departed from him.

14 And hee commanded him that hee shoulde tell it no man: but Go, saue he, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing, as Mo- ses hath commanded, for a witness vnto them.

15 But so much more wert there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, and to be healed of him of their infirmities.

16 But hee kept himselfe apart in the wilder- nesse, and prayed.

17 ¶ ¶ And it came to passe, on a certaine day, as hee was teaching, that the Pharisees and doctours of the Lawe sare by, which were come out of euery towne of Galilee, and Iudea, and Hierusa- lem, and the power of the Lord was in him, to heale them.

18 ¶ Then beholde, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palsey, and they sought meanes to bring him in, and to lay him be- fore him.

19 And when they could not finde by what way they might bring him in, because of the preasse, they went vp on the house, and let him downe through the tiling, bed and al, in the mids before Iesus.

20 And when hee sawe their faith, hee said vnto him, Man, thy finnes are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive finnes, but God onely?

22 But when Iesus perceived their reasoning, hee answered, and said vnto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy finnes are for- given thee, or to say, Rise and walke?

25 And immediately hee rose vp before them, and tooke vp his bed where he lay, and departed to his owne house, praying God.

26 And they were all amazed, & praised God, and were filled with feare, saying, Doubtlesse wee haue seene strange things to day.

27 ¶ And after that, he went forth and saw a Publicane named Levi, sitting at the receite of custome, and said vnto him, Follow me.

28 And hee left all, rose vp, and followed him.

29 Then Levi made him a great feast in his owne house, where there was a great companie of Publicans, and of other that late at table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes and Pharisees among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eate yee and drinke ye with Publicanes and sinners?

31 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, They that are whole, neede not the Physician, but they that are sicke.

32 ¶ I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ Then they said vnto him, Why do the disciples of Iohn fast often, and pray, & the disciples of the Pharisees also, but thine eate & drinke.

34 ¶ And hee said vnto them, Can ye make the children of the wedding chamber to fast, as long as the bridegrome is with them?

35 But the dayes will come, euen when the bridegrome shall be taken away from them: then shall they fast in those dayes.

36 Again he spake also vnto them a parable, No man putteth a piece of a newe garment into an olde vesture: for then the newe renteth it, and the piece taken out of the newe, agreeth not with the olde.

37 Also no man powreth new wine into olde vessels: for then the new wine will breake the vessels and it will runne out, & the vessels will perish:

38 But newe wine must be powred into newe vessels: so both are preferred.

39 Also no man that drinketh olde wine, straightway desireth newe: for he saith, The olde is more profitable.

AND ¶ it came to passe on a second solemne Sabbath, that hee went through the corne fields, & his disciples a plucked the eares of corne, and did eate, and rubbe them in their hands.

2 And certaine of the Pharisees said vnto them, Why doe yee that which is not lawfull to doe on the Sabbath dayes?

3 Then Iesus answered them, and said, ¶ Haue ye not read this, that Dauid did when hee himselfe was an hungred, and they which were with him,

4 Howe hee went into the house of God, and tooke, and ate the shewbread, and gaue also to them which were with him, which was not lawfull to eate, but for the Priests onely?

5 And he said vnto them, The Sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day.

6 ¶ ¶ It came to passe also on another Sabbath, that hee entred into the Synagogue, and taught, and there was a man, whose right hand was dried vp.

7 And the Scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might finde an accusation against him.

8 But hee knewe their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Arise, and stand vp in the middes: And hee arose, and stood vp.

9 Then said Iesus vnto them, I will aske you a question, Whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to doe good, or doe euill? to saue life, or to destroy?

10 And hee beheld them all in compasse, and said vnto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And hee did so, and his hand was restored againe, as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madnesse, and communed one with another, what they might doe to Iesus.

12 ¶ ¶ And it came to passe in those dayes, that hee went into a mountaine to pray, and spent the night in prayer to God.

13 And when it was day, he called his disciples, and of them hee chose twelue which also hee called Apostles.

14 (Simon whom hee named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and Iohn, Philip and Bartemew.

15 Matthewe and Thomas: James the sonne of Alphaeus, and Simon called Zelous.

17 Then he came downe with them, and stood in a plaine place with the companie of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Iudea, and Hierusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyrus and Sidon, which came to heare him, and to be healed of their diseases:

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all.

20 ¶ ¶ And hee lifted vp his eyes vpon his disciples, and said, Blessed be ye poore: for yours is the kingdom of God.

21 ¶ ¶ Blessed are ye that hunger now: for yee shall be satisfied: ¶ blessed are ye that weepe now: for ye shall laugh.

22 ¶ ¶ Blessed are ye when men hate you, and when they separate you, and reuile you, and put out your name as euil, for the Sonne of mans sake.

23 Reioyce ye in that day, and be glad: for behold, your reward is great in heauen: for after this manner their fathers did to the Prophets.

24 ¶ ¶ But woe be to you that are rich: for yee haue receiued your consolation.

25 ¶ ¶ Woe be to you that are full: for ye shall hunger. Woe be to you that now laugh: for yee shall weile and weepe.

doe not the things that I speake?
47 ¶ Whosoever commeth to me, and heareth my words, and doeth the same, I will shew you to whom he is like:
48 He is like a man which built an house, and dugged deepe, and laid the foundation on a rocke:
and when the waters arose, the flood brate vpon that house, and could not shake it: for it was grounded vpon a rocke.
49 But hee that heareth and doeth not, is like a man that built an house vpon the earth without foundation, against which the flood did beate, and it fell by and by: and the fall of that house was great.

1 Of the Centurions seruant. 2 The Capernaum faith. 3 The widowes sonne raised from death at Nain. 4 John Baptists disciples to Christ. 5 His peculiar kind of heuyn. 37 The first full woman washed her feet first.
¶ When ¶ He had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entred into Capernaum.
2 And a certaine Centurions seruant was sicke and ready to die, which was deare vnto him.
3 And when he heard of Iesus, he sent vnto him the Elders of the Iewes, beseeching him that he would come and heale his seruant.
4 So they came to Iesus, and besought him instantly, saying that hee was worthy that hee should do this for him:
5 For he heareth, sayd they, our nation, and he hath built vs a Synagogue.
6 Then Iesus went with them: but when hee was now not farre from the house, the Centurion sent friends to him, saying vnto him, Lord, trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthy that thou shouldst enter vnder my roofo:
7 Wherefore I thought not my selfe worthy to come vnto thee: but say the word, and my seruant shall be whole.
8 ¶ For I likewise am a man set vnder authority, and haue vnder me souldiers, and I say vnto one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this,
and he doeth it.
9 When Iesus heard these things, he mar-uelled at him, and turned him, and said to the people, that followed him, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, no not in Israel.
10 And when they that were sent, turned backe to the house, they found the seruant that was sicke, whole.
11 ¶ And it came to passe the day after, that he went into a city called ¶ Nain, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.
12 Now when he came nere to the gate of the city, beholde, there was a dead man caried out, which was the onely begotten sonne of his mother, which was a widow, and much people of the city was with her.
13 ¶ And when the Lord Iesus saw her, he had compassion on her, and sayd vnto her, Weepe not.
14 And she went and toucht the coffin (and they that bare him, stood still) and he sayd, Yong man, I say vnto thee, Arise.
15 ¶ And he that was dead, rose vp, and began to speake, and he deliuered him to his mother.
16 ¶ Then there came a feare on them all, and they glorified God, saying, A great Prophet is risen among vs, and God hath visited his people.
17 ¶ And this rumour of him went forth throughout the whole thorowout all Iudas, and thorowout all the region round about.

18 And the disciples of Iohn shewed him of all these things.

19 So Iohn called vnto him two certeine men of his disciples, and sent them to Iesus, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall wee wait for another?

20 And when the men were come vnto him, they said, Iohn Baptist hath sent vs vnto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall wee wait for another?

21 And at that time, he cured many of their sickenesses, and plagues, and of euill spirits, and vnto many blind men he gaue sight freely.

22 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Goe your wayes and shew Iohn, what things ye haue seene and heard: that the blinde see, the halt goe, the lepers are cleansed, the deafe heare, the dead are raised, and the poore receiue the Gospell.

23 And blessed is hee, that shall not be offended in me.

24 And when the messengers of Iohn were departed, he began to speake vnto the people, of Iohn. What went ye out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken with the winde?

25 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft rayment? behold, they which are gorgeously apparelled, and lye delicate, are in Kings courts.

26 But what went ye forth to see? A Prophet?
yea, I say to you, and greater then a Prophet.

27 This is he of whom it is written, Beholde,
I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

28 For I say vnto you, there is no greater Prophet then Iohn, among them that are begotten of women: neuertheless, hee that is the least in the kingdom of God, is greater then he.

29 Then all the people that heard, and the Publicanes: iustified God, being baptized with the baptisme of Iohn.

30 But the Pharisees and the expounders of the Law despised the counsell of God against themselves, and were not baptized of him.

31 And the Lord said, Whereunto shall I like the men of this generation? and what thing are they like vnto?

32 They are like vnto little children sitting in the market place, and crying one to another, and saying, We haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not danced: we haue mourned to you, and ye haue not wept.

33 For Iohn Baptist came neither eating bread, nor drinking wine: and ye say, He hath the deuil.

34 The sonne of man is come, and eateth, and drinketh: and ye say, Beholde, a man which is a glutton, and a drinker of wine, a friend of Public-anes and sinners:

35 But widdome is iustified of all her children.

36 And one of the Pharisees desired him that he would eate with him: and hee went into the Pharisees house, and sat downe at the table.

37 And beholde, a woman in the citie, which was a sinner, when she knew that Iesus sat at table in the Pharisees house, shee brought a boxe of ointment.

38 And shee stood at his feet behind him weeping, and began to wash his feet with teares, and did wipe them with the haire of her head, and kissed his feet, and anoynted them with the oyntment.

39 Now when the Pharise which bode him, saw it, he spake within himselfe, saying, If this man were a Prophet, he would surely haue knowne who, and what manner of woman this is which toucheth him: for shee is a sinner.

40 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, Simon, I haue somewhat to say vnto thee. And he said, Master, say on.

41 There was a certaine lender, which had two debtors: the one ought fise hundred pence, and the other fiftie:

42 When they had nothing to pay, he forgave them both: of whom therefore, tell mee, will loue him most?

43 Simon answered, and said, I suppose that he to whom he forgave most. And he sayd vnto him, Thou hast truely iudged.

44 Then he turned to the woman, and said vnto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entred into thine house, and thou gauest me no water to my feet: but shee washed my feet with teares, and wiped them with the haire of her head:

45 Thou gauest me no kisse: but shee, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kisse my feet.

46 Mine head with oile thou didst not anoint:
but shee hath anointed my feet with ointment.

47 Wherefore I say vnto thee, many finnes are forgiuen her: for shee loued much. To whom a little is forgiven, he doth loue a little.

48 And he sayd vnto her, Thy finnes are forgiuen thee.

49 And they that sat at table with him, be-ganne to say within themselves, Who is this that euen forgiveth sinnes?

50 And he sayd to the woman, Thy faith hath saued thee: goe in peace.

ysilue of blood franched.

45 Then Iesus said, Who is it that hath touched me? When every man denied, Peter said and they that were with him, Master, the multitude thrust thee, and tread on thee, and sayest thou, Who hath touched me?

46 And Iesus said, Some one hath touched me: for I perceive that vertue is gone out of me.

47 When the woman sawe that shee was not hid, she came trembling, and fell down before him, and tolde him before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately.

48 And he said vnto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath saued thee: go in peace.

49 While he yet spake, there came one from the ruler of the Synagogues house, which said to him, Thy daughter is dead: discale not the Master.

50 When Iesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Feare not: beleeue onely, and shee shall bee saued.

51 And when he went into the house, he suffered no man to goe in with him, save Peter, and James, and Iohn, and the father and mother of the mayde.

52 And all wept, and forrowed for her: but he said, Weepe not: for she is not dead, but sleepeth.

53 And they laugh: him to mocke, knowing that she was dead.

54 So he thrust them all out, and tooke her by the hand, and cryed, saying, Maid, arise.

55 And her spirit came againe, and she rose straightway: and he commanded to giue her meat.

56 Then her parents were astonied: but hee commanded them that they should tell no man what was done.

CHAP. IX.

1 The Apostles are sent to preach, 7 and 19 The common people opinion of Christ, 11 Of the five loaves and two fishes, 20 The Apostles confesse, 24 To be the scribe, 31 He must beate Christ, 37 The possessed of a spirit, 46 Some among the Apostles for the Primacie, 49 Our calling out death in Christ Iesus, 52 The Samaritans will not receive Christ, 55 Remouing forbidden, 57, 58, 61 Of those that would follow Christ, but on diuers conditions.

Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gaue them power and authoritie ouer all deuils, and to heale diseases.

2 And hee sent them forth to preach the kingdom of God, and to cure the sicke.

3 And he said to them, Take nothing to your journey, neither staves, nor scrip, neither bread, nor shute, neither haue two coats apiece.

4 And whatsoever house ye enter into, there abide, and thence depart.

5 And how many fouer will not receiue you, when ye go out of that citie, shake off the very dust from your fette for a testimonie against them.

6 And they went out, and went through eury towne preaching the Gospel, and healing eury where.

7 ¶ Nowe Herod the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and he doubted, because that it was said of some, that Iohn was risen againe from the dead:

8 And of some, that Elias had appeared: and of some, that one of the olde Prophets was risen againe.

9 Then Herod said, Iohn haue I behanded: who then is this of whom I heare such things? and he desired to see him.

10 ¶ And when the Apostles returned, they tolde him what great things they had done. ¶ Then he tooke them to him, and went aside into a solitary place, neere to the citie called Bethsaida.

11 But when the people knewe it, they followed him: and he receiued them, and spake vnto them of the kingdom of God, and healed them that had neede to be healed.

12 ¶ And when the day began to weare away, the twelve came, and said vnto him, Send the people away, that they may goe into the townes and villages round about, and lodge, and get meate: for we are here in a desert place.

13 But he said vnto them, Giue yeem to eat. And they said, Wee haue no moe but five loaves and two fishes, 4 except we should go and buy meate for all the people.

14 For they were about five thousand men. Then he said to his disciples, Cause them to sit down by fifties in a company.

15 And they did so, and caused all to sit downe.

16 Then he tooke the five loaves, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and blessed them, and brake, and gaue to the disciples, to set before the people.

17 So they did all eat, and were satisfied: and there was taken vp of that remaineth to them, twelue baskets full of broken meate.

18 ¶ ¶ And it came to passe, as he was alone praying, his disciples were with him: and he asked them, saying, Whome say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and said, Iohn Baptist: and others say, Elias: and some say, that one of the olde Prophets is risen againe.

20 And he said vnto them, But whome say ye that I am? Peter answered, and said, That Christ of God.

21 And hee warned and commanded them, that they should tell that to no man,

22 ¶ Saying, ¶ The sonne of man must suffer many things, and be reprooued of the Elders, and of the hie Priests and Scribes, and be laينه, and the third day rise againe.

23 ¶ ¶ And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him denie himself, and take vp his crosse daily, and followe me.

24 ¶ For whosoever will saue his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall saue it.

25 ¶ For what advantage it a man, if he win the whole world, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe?

26 ¶ For whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my wordes, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed, when hee shall come in his glorie, and in the glorie of the Father, and of the holie Angels.

27 ¶ And I tell you of a suretie, there be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the kingdom of God.

you shall haue a friend, and shall goe to him at mid-nigh, and say vnto him, Friend, lend me three lozues:

6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to me, and I haue nothing to set before him.

7 And he within should answer, and say, Trouble me not: the doore is now shut, and my children are with mee in bed: I cannot rise and giue thee to thee.

8 Hay vnto you, Though he would not arise and giue him, because he is his friend, yet doubtlesse because of his importunitie, he would rise, and giue him as many as he needed.

9 ¶ And I say vnto you, Alike, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

10 ¶ For euerie one that asketh, receiueith: and hee that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

11 ¶ If a sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a father, will hee giue him a stone, or if hee aske a fish, will hee for a fish giue him a serpent?

12 Or if hee aske an egge, will hee giue him a scorpion?

13 If ye then which are euill, can giue good gifts vnto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them, that desire him?

14 ¶ Then hee cast out a deuill which was dumme: and when the deuill was gone out, the dumme spake, and the people wondered.

15 ¶ But some of them said, ¶ He casteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of deuils.

16 And other tempted him, seeking of him a signe from heauen.

17 ¶ But he knew their thoughts, and said vnto them, ¶ Euerie kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be desolate, and an house diuided against an house, falleth.

18 So if Satan also be diuided against himselfe, how shall his kingdome stand, because yee say that I cast out deuils through Beelzebub?

19 If I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your iudges.

20 But if I by the finger of God cast out deuils, doubtlesse the kingdome of God is come vpon you.

21 When a strong man armed kepeth his palace, the things that hee possideth, are in peace.

22 But when a stronger then he, commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him: he taketh from him all his armour wherein he trusted, and diuiddeth his spoiles.

23 ¶ He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

24 ¶ ¶ When the violence spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through drie places, seeking rest: and when he findeth none, he saith, I will returne vnto mine house whence I came out.

25 And when hee commeth, hee findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits worse then himselfe: and they enter in, and dwell there: ¶ so the last state of that man is worse then the first.

¶ ¶ ¶ And it came to passe as he said these things, a certaine woman of the companie lifted vp her voyce, and saide vnto him, Blessed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But he said, Yea, rather blessed are they that heare the word of God, and keepe it.

29 ¶ ¶ And when the people were gathered thicke together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: They seeke a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen them, but the signe of ¶ Jonas the Prophet.

30 For as Jonas was a signe to the Ninuities, so shall also the Sonne of man be to this generation.

31 ¶ The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement, with the men of this generation, and shall condemne them: for she came from the vtmost partes of the earth to heare the wisdom of Solomon; and behold, a greater then Solomon is here.

32 The men of Ninive shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for they repented at the preaching of ¶ Jonas: and behold, a greater then ¶ Jonas is here.

33 ¶ ¶ No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a priuie place, neither vnder a bushell: but on a candlestick, that they which come in, may see the light.

34 ¶ The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be euill, then thy body is darke.

35 Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkened.

36 If therefore thy whole body shall be light, hauing no part darke, then shall all be light, euen as when a candle doth light thee with the brightnesse.

37 ¶ ¶ And as hee spake, a certaine Pharise beought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sat downe at table.

38 And when the Pharise saw it, he marvelled that he had not first washed before dinner.

39 ¶ And the Lord sayd to him, In deed yee Pharises make cleane the outside of the cuppe, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of rauening and wickednesse.

40 Ye fooles, did not hee that made that which is without, make that which is within also?

41 Therefore, giue almes of those things which you haue, and behold, all things shall be cleane to you.

42 ¶ ¶ But hee went to you, Pharises: for ye scite the mint and the row, and all manner herbs, and passe ouer iudgement & the loue of God: these ought ye to haue done, and not to haue left the other vndone.

43 ¶ ¶ ¶ Wo be to you, Pharises for ye loue the vppermost seate in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 ¶ ¶ Wo be to you, Scribes and Pharises hypocrites: for ye are as graues which appeare not, and the men that walke ouer them, perceiue not.

45 ¶ ¶ ¶ Then answered one of the lawyers, and sayd vnto him, Master, thus sayest thou putt'st vs to rebuke also.

46 And he sayd, ¶ Wo be to you also, ye lawyers: for ye hide men with burdens grievous diatly she was made straight againe, and glorified God.

14 And the ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Iesus healed on the Sabbath day: and sayde vnto the people, There are six daies in which me ought to worke: in them therefore come and bee healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then answered him the Lord, and said, Hypocrite, doth not eche one of you on the Sabbath day loose his ox or his asse from the stall, and leade him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bounde Iose, eightene yeeres, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when hee said these things, all his adulteries were ashamed: but all the people reioyced at all the excellent things, that were done by him.

18 ¶ Then said he, What is the kingdome of God like? or whereto shall I compare it?

19 It is like a graine of mustard seede, which a man tooke and sowed in his garden, & it grew, and waxed a great tree, and the fowles of the heauen made nestes in the branches thereof.

20 ¶ And againe he said, Wherunto shall I liken the kingdome of God?

21 It is like leauen, which a woman tooke, and hid in three peckes of flour, till all was leauened.

22 ¶ And hee went through all cities and townes, teaching, and journeying towards Hierusalem.

23 Then said one vnto him, Lorde, are there few that shall be saved? And he said vnto them, 24 Striue to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say vnto you, will seeke to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the doore, and yee begin to stand without, and to knocke at the doore, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs, and he shall answer and say vnto you, I know you not whence ye are.

26 ¶ Then shall ye beginne to say, We haue eaten and drunke in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streetes.

27 ¶ But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are: depart from mee, all ye workers of iniquitie.

28 ¶ There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the kingdome of God, and your selues thrust out at doores.

29 Then shall come many from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at Table in the kingdome of God.

30 ¶ And behold, there are last, which shall be first, and there are first, which shall be last.

31 ¶ The same day there came certaine Pharisees, and said vnto him, Depart, and goe hence: for Herod will kill thee.

32 Then said he vnto them, Go ye and tell that foxe, Beholde, I cast out deuils, and will heale fill i to day, and to morrow, and the third day I shall be perfected.

33 ¶ Neuerthelesse I must walke to day, and to morrow, and the day following: for it cannot be that a Prophet should perish out of Hierusalem.

34 ¶ O Hierusalem, Hierusalem, which killest the Prophets, and Ronest them that are sent to thee, how often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the henne gathereth her brood vnder her wings, and ye would not!

Behold, your house is left vnto you desolate: and verely I tell you, ye shall not see me vntill the time come that ye shall say, Blessed is hee that commeth in the name of the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

The draffe healed on the Sabbath. 2 The chiefe places as banisters. 13 The poore must be called to our feastes. 16 Of those that were bid in the great supper. 23 Some compelled to come in. 28 One about to build a tower.

And it came to passe that when hee was entered into the house of one of the chiefe Pharisees on the Sabbath day, to eate bread, they watched him.

2 And behold, there was a certaine man before him, which had the dropie.

3 Then Iesus answering, spake vnto the Lawyers and Pharisees, saying, Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath day?

4 And they held their peace. Then he tooke him, and healed him, and let him goe.

5 And answered them, saying, Which of you shall haue an asse, or an ox fallen into a pit, & will not straightway pul him out on the Sabbath day?

6 And they could not answer him againe to those things.

7 ¶ He spake also a parable to the guests, when hee marked how they chose out the chiefe roomes, and said vnto them,

8 When thou shalt be bidden of any man to a wedding, sit not thy selfe downe in the chiefe place, lest a more honourable man then thou, be bidden of him.

9 And he that bade both him and thee, come, and say to thee, Give this man room, and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest room.

10 ¶ But when thou art bidden, goe and sit downe in the lowest room: for when hee that bade thee, cometh, he may say vnto thee, Friend, sit vp hie: then shalt thou haue worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.

11 ¶ For whosoever exalteth himselfe, shall be brought lowe, and he that humbleth himselfe, shall be exalted.

12 ¶ Then said he also to him that had bidden him, ¶ When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor the rich neighbors, lest they also bid thee againe, & accompenice be made thee.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poore, the maymed, the lame, and the blinde.

14 And thou shalt be blessed, because they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the iust.

15 ¶ Now when one of them that sat at table heard these things, he said vnto him, Blessed art thou that eatest bread in the kingdome of God.

16 Then said he to him, ¶ A certaine man made a great supper, and bade many.

17 And sent his seruant at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.

18 ¶ But they all with one consents began to make excuse: The first said vnto him, I haue bought a farme, and I must needs goe out and see it: I pray thee haue me excused.

19 And another said, I haue bought five yoke of oxen, and I goe to prooue them: I pray thee, haue me excused.

I would for me, the night were now, that I might goe and burye the dead of Hierusalem in this path.

ANd hee sayd also vnto his disciples, There was a certaine rich man, which had a steward, and hee was accused vnto him, that he wasted his goods.

2 And hee called him, and sayd vnto him,
Howe is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an accounts of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward sayde within himselfe,
What shall I doe? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship. I cannot digge, and to begge I am ashamed.

4 I know what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue mee into their houses.

5 Then called he vnto him euery one of his masters debtors, & said vnto the first, Howe much owest thou vnto my master?

6 And he said, An hundredth measures of oyle.
And hee said to him, Take thy writing, and sit downe quickly, and write fiftie.

7 Then said he to another, How much owest thou? And hee sayd, An hundred measures of wheate. Then he sayd to him, Take thy writing, and write foure score.

either he shal hate the one, and loue the other: or els he shal leane to the one, and despise the other.
Ye cannot serue God and riches.

14 All these things heard the Pharisees also which were couctous, and they scoffed at him.

15. ¶ Then hee sayde vnto them, Ye are they, knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

19 ¶ There was a certaine rich man, which was clothed in a purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately every day.

20 Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layde at his gate full of sores.

21 And desired to bee refreshed with the crommes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogges came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the beggar died, and was carried by the Angels into Abrahams bosom: The rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in tormentes, hee lift vp his eyes, and saw Abraham a farre off, and Lazarus in his bosome.

24 Then he cried, and said, Father Abraham have mercie on me, and send Lazarus that he may dippe the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham said, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuedst thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus paines: now therefore is he comforted and thou art tormented.

26 Besides all this, betweene you and vs there is a great gulf set, so that they which would goe from hence to you, can not: neyther can they come from thence to vs.

27 7 Then he saide, I pray thee therefore father, that thou wouldest send him to my fathers house.

28 (For I haue fide brethren) that he may testifie vnto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham said vnto him, They haue Moses and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And he said, Nay father Abraham: but if one come vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues.

31 Then he said vnto him, If they heare not Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be persuaded: though one rise from the dead againe.

and let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange country, for a great time.

10 And at the time comenient he sent a servant to the husbandmen, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beat him, and sent him away empty.

11 Again he sent yet another servant: and they did beat him, and foule treated him, and sent him away empty.

12 Moreover he sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then said the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I do? I will send my beloved sonne: it may be that they will do reuerence, when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with themselves, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore do vnto them?

16 He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will giue out his vineyard to others, but when they heard it, they sayd, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, & said, What meaneth this: their that is written, ¶ The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoever shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grinde him to powder.

19 Then the high Priests, and the Scribes the same houre went about to lay hands on him: (but they feared the people) for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.

20 ¶ And they watched him and sent forth spies, which should faigne themselves iust men, to take him in his talke, and to deliuer him vnto the power & ¶ authoritie of the gouernour.

21 And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest, and teachest right, neither dost thou accept of mans person, but teachest the way of God truly.

22 Is it lawfull for vs to giue Caesar tribute or no?

23 But he perceived their craftinesse, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Shew me a peny. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered, and sayd, Caesars.

25 Then he sayd vnto them, ¶ Giue then vnto Caesar the things which are Caesars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not reprove his saying before the people: but they marueiled at his answer, and held their peace.

27 ¶ Then came to him certaine of the Sadduces (which deny that there is any resurrection) and they asked him,

28 Saying, Master, ¶ Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and hee die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

29 Now there were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and he died childeless.

31 Then the third tooke her: and so likewise the seuen died, and left no children.

32 And last of all the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, The children of this world marry wiues, and are married.

35 But they which shall be counted worthy to enioy the world; and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wiues, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equal vnto the Angels, & are the sonnes of God, since they are the children of the resurrection.

37 And that the dead shall rise againe, euen ¶ Moses shewed it besides the bush, when he said, The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob.

38 For he is not the God of the dead, but of them which liue: for all I liue vnto him.

39 Then certaine of the Scribes answered, and said, Master, thou hast well sayd.

40 And after that, durst they not aske him any thing at all.

41 ¶ ¶ Then sayd he vnto them, How say they that Christ is Dauids sonne?

42 And Dauid himselfe sayth in the booke of the Psalmes, ¶ The Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy footstool.

44 Seeing Dauid called him Lord, how is hee then his sonne?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people, he sayd vnto his disciples,

46 ¶ Beware of the Scribes, which willingly go in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets, and the highest seats in the assemblies, and the chiefe rooms at feasts:

4 For they all haue of their superfluous cast into the offerings of God: but she of her penurie hath cast in all the liuing that she had.

5 ¶ ¶ Now as some spake of the Temple, how it was garnished with goodly stones, and with a consecrate things, he sayd,

6 Are these the things that ye looke vpon? the dayes will come wherein a stone shall not be left vpon a stone, that shall not be throwen downe.

7 Then they asked him, saying, Master, but when shall these things be? and what signe shall there be when these things shall come to passe?

8 ¶ And he sayd, Take heed, that ye be not deceived: for many will come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and the time draweth nere: follow ye not them therefore.

¶ ¶ ¶ They are called, who are in the place, the children of the world, in the world, and in the world, they are given to the world, as before chap. 13. 2. which are contrary to the children of light. ¶ ¶ ¶ The Lord himselfe sayth in the booke of the Psalmes, ¶ The Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit at my right hand, which shall make thine enemies thy footstool. ¶ ¶ ¶ This is spoken by the figure of Dauid, which for the goods and iustice. ¶ ¶ ¶ We must auoid the example of the sabbatists and courteous pharisees. ¶ ¶ ¶ This is spoken by the figure of Dauid, which for the goods and iustice.

[illegible]

9 And when ye heare of warres and seditions, be not affrayed: for these things must first come, but the end followeth not by and by.

10 Then sayd he vnto them, Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome, 11 And great earthquakes it shall be in diuers places, and hunger, and pestilence, and fearefull things, & great signes shall there be from heauen.

12 But before all these, they shall slay their hands on you, and persecute you, deliuiting you vp to the assemblies, and into prisons, and bring you before kings and rulers for my Names sake.

13 And this shall turne to you, for a testimoniall.

14 Lay it vp therefore in your hearts, that ye caſt not before hand, what ye shall anſwere.

15 For I will giue you a mouth and wiſdome, wherewithall you ſhall aduerſaries ſhall not be able to ſpeake, nor reſiſt.

16 Ye ſhall be betrayed alſo of your parentes, and of your brethren, and kiſmen, and friends, and ſome of you ſhall they put to death.

17 And ye ſhall be hated: of all men for my Names ſake.

18 Yet there ſhall not one haire of your heads periſh.

19 By your patience ſhall ye poſſeſſe your ſoules.

20 ¶ And when ye ſee Hieruſalem beſieged with ſouldiers, then underſtand that the deſolation thereof is nere.

21 Then let them which are in Iudea, flee to the mountaines: and let them which are in the middles thereof, depart out: and let not them that are in the country, enter therein.

22 For theſe ſhall be the dayes of vengeance, to fulfill all things that are written.

23 But woe be to them that be with child, and to them that giue ſucke in thoſe dayes: for there ſhall be great diſtreſſe in this land, and wrath againſt this people.

24 And they ſhall fall on the edge of the ſword, and ſhall be led captiue into all nations: and Hieruſalem ſhall be treaden vnder foot of the Gentiles, vntill the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled.

25 ¶ Then there ſhall be ſignes in the ſunne, and in the moone, and in the ſtars, and vpon the earth trouble among the nations with perplexitie: the ſea and the waters ſhall roare.

26 And mens hearts ſhall faile them for feare, and for looking after thoſe things which ſhall come on the world: for the powers of heauen ſhall be ſhaken.

27 And then ſhall they ſee the Sonne of man come in a cloud, with power and great glory.

28 And when theſe things be gonne to come to paſſe, then looke vp, and liſt vp your heads: for your redemption draweth nere.

29 And he ſaide to them a parable, Behold, the figge tree, and all trees, 30 When they now ſhoot forth, ye ſeeing them, know of your owne ſelfes, that ſumner is then nere.

31 So likewiſe ye, when ye ſee theſe things come to paſſe, know ye that the kingdome of God is nere.

32 Vnerey I ſay vnto you, This age ſhall not paſſe, till all theſe things be done:

33 Heauen and earth ſhall paſſe away, but my words ſhall not paſſe away.

34 ¶ Therefore be not ſluggiſh, but ſtand ye your hearts be oppressed with fasting and drinkkenness, and cares of this life, and lest that day come on you at unawares.

35 For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.

36 Watch therefore, and pray continually, that ye may be counted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and that ye may stand before the Son of man.

37 ¶ Now in the day time hee taught in the Temple, and at night he went out, and abode in the mount that is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people came in the morning him, to hear him in the Temple.

CHAP. XXII.

*1. Iudas Iscariot Christ. 2. The Apostles prepare the Passover.
3. The Jews wish that Christ should die. 4. Satan desires to know
5. Christ sheweth that they wanted nothing. 6. He prayeth
7. for his blood. 8. He sweareth blood. 9. Malice was cut off and healed. 10. 36. He Peter denieth Christ three times. 11. Christ is mocked and broken. 12. He confesseth himself to be the Son of God.*

NOW at the feast of unleavened bread drew nere, which is called the Passover.

2 And the high Priests and Scribes sought how they might kill him: for they feared the people.

3 ¶ Then entered Satan into Iudas, who was called Iscariot, and was of the number of the twelve.

4 And he went his way, and communed with the high Priests and captains, how he might betray him to them.

5 So they were glad, and agreed to give him money.

6 And he consented, and sought opportunity to betray him unto them, when the people were away.

7 ¶ Then came the day of unleavened bread, when the Passover must be sacrificed.

8 And he sent Peter and Iohn, saying, Go and prepare vs the Passover that we may cate it.

9 And they said to him, Where wilt thou that we prepare it?

10 Then he said unto them, Beholde, when ye be entered into the citie, there shall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him into the house that hee entereth in.

11 And say vnto the good man of the house,
The Master saith vnto thee, Where is the lodging where I shall cate my Passover with my disciples?

12 Then hee shall shew you a great chamber trimmed: there make it ready.

13 So they went, and found as he had said unto them, and made ready the Passover.

14 ¶ And when the hour was come, hee
sat downe, and the twelve Apostles with him.

15 Then hee said vnto them, I haue earnestly desired to cate this Passover with you, before I suffer.

16 For I say vnto you, Henceforth I will not cate of it any more, vntill it be fulfilled in the kingdome of God.

17 And he tooke the cup, and gave thanks, and said, Take this, and diuide it among you.

18 For I say vnto you, I will not drinke of the fruit of the vine, vntill the kingdome of God be come.

2. Iudas Iscariot. 3. Christ having ended the Passover order of the Law, leaues vnto them that shall be his disciples that manner and order of this life. 4. The meaning of the supper was to be kept. 5. 36. He said to drink.

[illegible]

64 And when they had blindfolded him, they smote him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophesie who it is that smote thee.

65 And many other things blasphemously spake they against him.

66 ¶ And asfoone as it was day, the Elders of the people, and the hie Priestes and the Scribes came together, and led him into their Council, 67 Saying, Art thou that Christ? tell vs. And he said vnto them, If I tell you, ye will not beleue it.

68 And if also I alke you, you will not answer me, nor let me goe.

69 Hereafter shall the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God.

70 Then said they all, Art thou then the Sonne of God? And he said to them, Ye say, that I am.

71 Then said they, What neede we any further witness? for we our selues haue heard it of his owne mouth.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 He is accused before Pilate. 7 He is sent to Herode. 11 He is mocked. 24 The women bewaile him. 23 He is crucified. 29 One of the thieues repents him. 43 The other is found by faith. 45 His death. 53 He is buried.

THE whole multitude of them arose, and led him vnto Pilate.

2 And they began to accuse him, saying, We haue found this man peruerting the nation, and forbidding to pay tribute to Cæsar, saying, That he is Christ a King.

3 ¶ And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And he answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.

4 Then said Pilate to the hie Priestes, and to the people, I finde no fault in this man.

5 But they were the more fierce, saying, Hee moueth the people, teaching throughout all Iudæa, beginning at Galilee, euen to this place.

6 ¶ Now when Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.

7 And when he knew that he was of Herodis iurisdiction, he sent him to Herod, which was also at Hierusalem in those dayes.

8 And when Herod saw Iesus, he was exceedingly glad: for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because he had heard many things of him, and trusted to haue seene some signe done by him.

9 Then questioned hee with him of many things: but he answered him nothing.

10 The hie Priestes also and Scribes stood together, and accused him vehemently.

11 And Herod with his men of warre, despised him, and mocked him, and arrayed him in white, and sent him againe to Pilate.

12 And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another.

13 ¶ Then Pilate called together the hie Priestes, and the rulers, and the people.

14 ¶ And said vnto them, Ye haue brought this man vnto me, as one that peruerst the people: and behold, I haue examined him before you, and haue found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him:

15 No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him:

and loe, nothing worthy of death is done of him.

16 ¶ I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

17 (For of necessitie he must haue let one loose vnto them at the feast.)

18 Then all the multitude cried at once, saying, Away with him, and deliuer vnto vs Barabbas:

19 Which for a certaine insurrection made in the cite, and murder, was cast in prison.

20 Then Pilate spake againe to them, willing to let Iesus loose.

21 But they cried, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him.

22 ¶ And he said vnto them the third time, But what euill hath hee done? I finde no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

23 But they were insistent with loud voyces, and required that he might be crucified: and the voyces of them and of the hie Priestes prevailed.

24 So Pilate gaue sentence, that it should bee as they required.

25 And hee let loose vnto them him that for insurrection and murder was cast into prison, whome they desired, and deliuered Iesus to doe with him what they would.

26 ¶ And as they led him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, coming out of the field, and on him they laid the crosse, to beare it after Iesus.

27 ¶ And there folowed him a great multitude of people, and of women, which women bewailed and lamented him.

28 But Iesus turned backe vnto them, & said, Daughters of Hierusalem, weep not for me, but weepe for your selues, and for your children.

29 For behold, the dayes will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombes that neuer bare, and the pappes which neuer gave sucke.

30 Then shall they begin to say to the mountains, Fall on vs: and to the hilles, Couer vs:

31 ¶ For if they doe these things to a greene tree, what shall be done to the drie?

32 ¶ And there were two others, which were euil doers, led with him to be slain.

33 ¶ And when they were come to the place, which is called Caluarie, there they crucified him, and the euill doers: one at the right hand, and the other at the left.

34 ¶ Then said Iesus, Father, forgive them: for they knowe not what they doe. And they parted his raiment, and cast lottes.

35 And the people stood, and beheld: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, Hee saued others: let him saue himselfe, if he be that Christ, the Chosen of God.

36 The fouldiers also mocked him, and came and offered him vineger.

37 And said, If thou be the King of the Iewes, saue thy selfe.

38 ¶ And a superscription was also written out in Greeke letters, and in Latin, and in Hebrew, THIS IS THAT KING OF THE IEWES.

39 ¶ And one of the euill doers, which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou bee that Christ, saue thy selfe and vs.

40 But the other answered, and rebuked him, saying, Fearst thou not God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?

5 The wisdom of the life, of which euill striketh the Iesse, but God cutteth such counsell.

6 Christ is quiet the third time, before he was condemned once, that it might appeare, how that our finnes were condemned in him.

41 We are in deeder righteousness here: for we recounting's worthy of that we haue done: but this man hath done nothing & amiste.

42 And he said vnto Iesus, Lord, remember me, when thou comest into thy kingdom.

43 Then Iesus said vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, that thou shalt thou be with me in Paradise.

44 ¶ And it was about the fixt houre: and there was a darknesse ouer all the land, vntil the ninth houre.

45 ¶ And the Sunne was darkened, and the valle of the Temple rent through the middles.

46 And Iesus cryed with a loud voyce, & said,
Father, into thine hands I commend my spirit.

And when he thus had said, he gaue vp the ghost.

47 ¶ Now when the Centurion sawe what was done, he glorified God, saying, Of a suretie this man was iust.

48 And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done, smote their breasts, and returned.

49 ¶ And all his acquaintance stood as farre off, and the women that followed him from Galilee, beholding these things.

50 ¶ And behold, there was a man named Ioseph, which was a counsellor, a good man and iust.

51 He did not consent to the counsell and deeds of them, which was of Arimathæa, a ciitie of the Iewes: who also himselfe waited for the kingdome of God.

52 He went vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus,

53 And tooke it downe, and wrapped it in a linen cloth, and laid it in a tombe hewen out of a rocke, wherein was neuer n an yet laid.

54 And that day was the preparation, and the Sabbath drew on.

55 ¶ And the women also, that followed after, which came with him from Galilee, behelde
the sepulchre, and how his body was laid.

56 And they returned and prepared odoours,
and oynments, and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandement.

57 ¶ And the women also, that followed after, which came with him from Galilee, behelde
the sepulchre, and how his body was laid.

58 And they returned and prepared odoours,
and oynments, and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandement.

59 ¶ And the women also, that followed after, which came with him from Galilee, behelde
the sepulchre, and how his body was laid.

and oynments, and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandement.

75 ¶ And the women also, that followed after, which came with him from Galilee, behelde
the sepulchre, and how his body was laid.

76 And they returned and prepared odoours,
and oynments, and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandement.

6 He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake vnto you, when he was yet in Galilee,

7 Saying, that the Sonne of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise againe.

8 And they remembered his wordes,

9 ¶ And returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things vnto the cleuen, and to all the remnant.

10 Now it was Mary Magdalene, & Ioanna, & Mary the mother of Iames, & other women with them, which told these things vnto the Apostles.

11 But their wordes seemed vnto them as a fained thing, neither beleueed they them.

12 ¶ Then arose Peter, and ran vnto the sepulchre, and looked in, and saw the linen clothes laid by themselves, and departed wondering in himselfe at that which was come to passe.

13 ¶ And behold two of them went that same day to a towne which was from Hierusalem about thre score furlongs, called Emmaus.

14 And they talked together of all these things that were done.

15 And it came to passe, as they communed together, and reasoned, that Iesus himselfe drew neere, and went with them.

16 ¶ But their eyes were holden, that they could not seew him.

17 And he said vnto them, What manner of communications are these that ye haue one to another as ye walke and are al?

18 And the one named Cleopas answered, and said vnto him, Art thou only a stranger in Hierusalem, and hast not known the things which are come to passe therein in these dayes?

19 And he said vnto them, What things? And they said vnto him, Of Iesus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet, mightie in deed and in worde before God, and all people,

20 ¶ And how the he Priests, and our rulers deliuered him to be condemned to death, and haue crucified him.

21 But wee trusted that it had bene he that should haue deliuered Israel, and as touching all these things, to day is the third day, that they were done.

22 Yea, and certaine women among vs made vs astonished, which came early vnto the sepulchre.

23 And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also scene a vision of Angels, which said, that he was alieue,

24 Therefore certaine of them which were with vs, went to the sepulchre, and found it euen so as the women had said, but him they saw not.

25 Then he said vnto them, O fooles and slowe of heart to beleuee all that the Prophets haue spoken!

26 Ought not Christ to haue suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?

27 And he began at Moyses, and at all the Prophets, and interpreted vnto them in all the Scriptures the things which were written of him.

28 And they drew neere vnto the towne, which they called Emmaus, but he made as though hee would haue gone further.

29 But they constrained him, saying, Abide with vs, for it is towards night, and the day is farre spent. So he went in to tary with them.

30 And it came to passe, as hee sat at table with them, he tooke the bread, and blessed, and brake

31 ¶ And he tooke the bread, and blessed, and brake

brake

 ✠ Mat. 1. 17.
 The story which is forthwith of the birth of Christ, is that manifestation of Christ his manly, which was as it were laid vnto before our eyes when the Sonne of God appeared in flesh. This was as (an) doer, and in the place broken a like vessel, because the truth of the matter for his manifestation in this flesh was such a glory as befell and was meete for the true and only begotten Sonne of God, who is Lord and King ouer all the world. A. He was not only a creature of grace and truth, but was full of the very fulness of grace and truth.
 A Iohn is a faithful witness of the excellencie of Christ: that Iste before whom A Iohn is to prepare him the way: for that which was done as referred to the time of waiting, and not after age, for Iohn was five months older then he. A This Iohn which in it is turning of the man as we call it, as who would say, a figure of that first which should be last, and that last which should be first, for in plain speech it is A. He that comes after vs, is better than I am: for he was before me. The like kind of saying therefor we finde in Luke 7. 47. many flowers are forgotten here, because the least much, which is thus much to say, the least much, because many flowers are forgotten here. (John. 3. 36. and 3. 9.) Christ is the most plentifull fountaine of all goodness, but then he poured out his gifts most bountifullly, when as he exhibited and shewed himselfe to the world. A That is grace vnto him, a man would forgive us becaus we were sinners. The true knowledge of God proceedeth onely from Iesus Christ. 2. Tim. 2. 16. 1. Iohn 4. 13. A Iohn is meete to his father, as only in respect of his love toward him, but by the bond of nature, and for that vnder or amongst that in Iohn, enuoying them in doing according to they meane. A They together of some great Prophet, and not of Christ, for Iohn desired before that he in Christ, for they thought that some great Prophet should be vnto vs. Nowe, we suppose that purport that place of Deut. 18. 15. which is to be understood of all the company of the Prophets and vnto Iesus, which have been and shall be to the end, and especially of Christ who is the head of all Prophets. 2. Tim. 2. 16. 1. Iohn 4. 13. Christ is the author of baptism and not Iohn: and therefore the force thereof consisteth in Iohn, who is the minister, but wholly in Christ the head. I merely we may say that the true knowledge of God is by grace vnto him, a man would forgive us becaus we were sinners.

14 And that Word was made flesh, and dwelt among vs, (and we sawe the glory thereof, as the glory of the onely begotten Sonne of the Father) full of grace and truth.
 15 ¶ 8 Iohn bare witnesse of him, and cryed, saying, This was he of whom I said, Hee that commeth after me, was before me: for he was better then I.
 16 ¶ 9 And of this fulnesse haue al received,
 and grace for grace.
 17 For the Law was giuen by Moses, but grace, and truth came by Iesus Christ.
 18 ¶ No man hath scene God at any time:
 neither begotten Sonne, which is in the bo-some of the Father, he hath declared him.
 19 ¶ Then this is the record of Iohn, when the Iewes sent Priests and Leuites from Hierusalem to aske him, Who art thou?
 20 And he confessed and denied not, but said plainly, I am not that Christ.
 21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And hee said, I am not. Art thou that Prophet? And he answered, No.
 22 Then said they vnto him, Who art thou, that we may giue answer to them that sent vs?
 What sayest thou of thy selfe?
 23 He said, I am the voyce of him that cryeth in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the Prophet Elias.
 24 ¶ Nowe they which were sent, were of the Pharises
 25 And they asked him, and sayde vnto him,
 I Why baptizest thou then, if thou beest not that Christ, neither Elias, nor that Prophet?
 26 Iohn answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one among you, whome ye knowe not.

 27 ¶ Hee it is that cometh after me, which was before me, whose shoe I latchet I am not worthy to vniioffe.
 28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Iordan, where Iohn did baptize.
 29 ¶ The next day Iohn testifeth Iesus com-ming vnto him, and saith, Behold a that Lambe of God, which taketh away the sinne of the world.
 30 This is he of who I said, After me cometh a man, which was before mee: for he was better then I.
 31 And I knewe him not: but because hee should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.
 32 ¶ So Iohn bare record, saying, I beheld a that Spirit came downe from heauen, like a doue, and it abode vpon him, 33 And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, hee sayde vnto mee, Vpon whom thou shalt see that Spirit come downe, and tarry still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.
 34 And I saue, and bare record that this is that Sonne of God.
 35 ¶ The next day, Iohn stood againe, and two of his disciples.
 36 And hee beheld Iesus walking by, and sayd, Behold that Lambe of God.
 37 And the two disciples heard him speake, and followed Iesus.
 38 Then Iesus turned about, and saue them follow, and said vnto them, What seek ye? And they sayd vnto him, Rabbi (which is to say by interpretation, Master) where dwellest thou?
 39 Hee sayde vnto them, Come, and see.
 They came and saue where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the tenth hoore.
 40 Andrew, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard it of Iohn, and that followed him.
 41 The same found his brother, Simon first, and said vnto him, We haue found that Messias which is by interpretation, that Christ.
 42 And hee brought him to Iesus. And Iesus beheld him, and sayde, Thou art Simon the sonne of Iona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, a stone.
 43 ¶ The day following, Iesus would goe into Galilee, and found Philip, & said vnto him, Follow me.
 44 Nowe Philip was of Bethsaida, the cite of Andrew and Peter.
 45 ¶ Philip found Nathaniel, and sayde
 vnto him, We haue found him of whome Moses did write in the Lawe, and the Prophets, Iesus that sonne of Ioseph, that was of Nazareth.
 46 ¶ Iohn gathered disciples not to himselfe, but to Christ.
 47 ¶ Iesus first desired to follow not as a raue shadowe, but as our Mediator. 17. in the beginning of the disciples, we haue shewed vnto vs, that the beginning of Iesus Christ, who calleth vs into his Sonne by the maine of the seruants of God, (renewing vs) we must also beare, and follow him, because that he is the head of the church, we may also indure others. 17. Iohn 1. 19. beginning of Iesus Christ, in that he is the head of the church, and King after the same Iesus Christ. 18. The good remembrance of the vnto Iesus, God does us shew, that hee maketh him to be the learned. 17. Iohn 1. 19. and 2. 1. and 3. 1. and 4. 1. and 5. 1. and 6. 1. and 7. 1. and 8. 1. and 9. 1. and 10. 1. and 11. 1. and 12. 1. and 13. 1. and 14. 1. and 15. 1. and 16. 1. and 17. 1. and 18. 1. and 19. 1. and 20. 1. and 21. 1. and 22. 1. and 23. 1. and 24. 1. and 25. 1. and 26. 1. and 27. 1. and 28. 1. and 29. 1. and 30. 1. and 31. 1. and 32. 1. and 33. 1. and 34. 1. and 35. 1. and 36. 1. and 37. 1. and 38. 1. and 39. 1. and 40. 1. and 41. 1. and 42. 1. and 43. 1. and 44. 1. and 45. 1. and 46. 1. and 47. 1. and 48. 1. and 49. 1. and 50. 1. and 51. 1. and 52. 1. and 53. 1. and 54. 1. and 55. 1. and 56. 1. and 57. 1. and 58. 1. and 59. 1. and 60. 1. and 61. 1. and 62. 1. and 63. 1. and 64. 1. and 65. 1. and 66. 1. and 67. 1. and 68. 1. and 69. 1. and 70. 1. and 71. 1. and 72. 1. and 73. 1. and 74. 1. and 75. 1. and 76. 1. and 77. 1. and 78. 1. and 79. 1. and 80. 1. and 81. 1. and 82. 1. and 83. 1. and 84. 1. and 85. 1. and 86. 1. and 87. 1. and 88. 1. and 89. 1. and 90. 1. and 91. 1. and 92. 1. and 93. 1. and 94. 1. and 95. 1. and 96. 1. and 97. 1. and 98. 1. and 99. 1. and 100. 1.

thereof, and his sonnes, and his estate.

13 Iesus answered, and said vnto her, Whoeuer drinketh of this water, shall thirst againe:

14 But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall giue him, shall never be more athirst: but the water that I shall giue him, shall be in him a well of water, springing vp into euermlasting life.

15 The woman sayd vnto him, Sir, giue me of that water, that I may not thirst, neither come hither to drawe.

16 Iesus said vnto her, Go, call thine husband, and come hither.

17 The woman answered, and said, Thoue no husband. Iesus said vnto her, Thou hast well said, I haue no husband.

18 For thou hast had five husbands, and hee whom thou now hast, is not thine husband: that saidst thou truly.

19 The woman sayd vnto him, Sir, I see that thou art a Prophet.

20 Our fathers worshipped in this mountaine, and yee say, that in Ierusalem is the place where men ought to worship.

21 Iesus said vnto her, Woman, beleue me, the houre commeth, when yee shall neither in this mountaine, nor at Hierusalem worship the Father.

22 Yee worship that which ye knowe not: we worship that which we knowe: for saluation is of the Iewes.

23 But the houre commeth, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit, and truth: for the Father requireth such such to worship him.

24 God is a Spirit, and they that worship him, must worship him in spirit, and truth.

25 The woman saide vnto him, I knowe well that Messias shall come into which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell vs all things.

26 Iesus said vnto her, I am he, that speake vnto thee.

27 And vpon that, came his disciples, and maruelled that he talked with a woman: yet no man said vnto him, Wha tarest thou? or why talkest thou with her?

28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the cite, and said to the men, 29 Come, see a man which hath tolde mee all things that euer I did: is not he that Christ?

30 Then they went out of the cite, and came vnto him.

31 ¶ In the meane while, the disciples played him, saying, Master, care.

32 But hee said vnto them, I haue meate to cate that ye knowe not of.

33 Then sayde the disciples betwene themselves, Hath any man brought him meate?

34 Iesus said vnto them, My meate is that I may doe the will of him that sent mee, and finish his worke.

35 Say not ye, There are yet foure moneths, and then cometh harvest? Beholde, I say vnto you, Lift vp your eyes, and looke on the regions: for they are white already vnto harvest.

36 And hee thare peth, receiue th reward, and gathereth fruite vnto life eternall, that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth might reioyce together.

37 ¶ In the end of the Gospel, it is here handled, and there is an excellent agreement betweene the in both the ministration of them both.

37 For herein is the saying true, that one soweth and another reapeth.

38 I fast you to reape thar, whereon yee beflowed no labour: other men laboured, and yee are entered into their labours.

39 ¶ Now many of the Samaritanes of that cite beleued in him, for the saying of the woman which testified, He hath tolde me all things that euer I did.

40 Then when the Samaritanes were come vnto him, they besought him, that hee would tarry with them: and he abode there two dayes.

41 And many more beleued: because of his owne word.

42 And they sayd vnto the woman, Nowe we beleue, not because of thy saying: for we haue heard him our selues, and knowe that this is indeed that Christ the Saviour of the world.

43 ¶ So two dayes after he departed thence, and went into Galile.

44 For Iesus himselfe had testified, that a Prophet hath none honour in his owne country.

45 Then when hee was come into Galile, the Galileans receiued him, which had seene all the things that he did at Hierusalem at the feast: for they went also vnto the feast.

46 ¶ And Iesus came againe into Cana of Galile, where hee had made of water, wine. And there was a certaine ruler, whose sonne was sicke at Capernaum.

47 When hee heard that Iesus was come out of Iudea into Galile, he went vnto him, and besought him that hee would goe downe, and heale his sonne: for he was euen ready to dye.

48 Then sayde Iesus vnto him, Except yee see signes and wonders, ye will not beleue.

49 The ruler sayd vnto him, Sir, goe downe before my sonne die.

50 Iesus said vnto him, Go thy way, thy sonne liueth: and the man beleued the word that Iesus had spoken vnto him, and went his way.

51 And as hee was now going downe, his seruants met him, saying, Thy sonne liueth.

52 Then enquired he of them the houre when he began to amend. And they said vnto him, Yesterday the seuenth houre the feuer left him.

53 Then the father knew, that it was the same houre in the which Iesus had said vnto him, Thy sonne liueth. And he beleued, and all his house hold.

54 This second miracle did Iesus againe, after he was come out of Iudea into Galile.

CHAPTER V.

¶ One thing at the beginning of the chapter is the saying, 10 The Iewes then sayd, that hee had done this, 17 hee conuerteth vs into the quier use of his Father, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

¶ After that, there was a feast of the Iewes, and Iesus went vp to Hierusalem.

¶ And there is at Hierusalem by the Pleece of the shephee, a poole called in Hebrew Bethesda, having foue portches.

¶ In the which lay a great multitude of sicke folke, of blind, lame, and withered, waiting for the moving of the water.

¶ For an Angell went downe as a certaine season into the poole, and troubled the water: whome then first, after the stirring of the water, stepped in, that was whole of his disease.

¶ And a certaine man was there, which had

¶ The parable,

¶ The Samaritanes doe most iustly reioyce that, which the Iewes most haue in secret.

¶ The disciples of Christ desire the ministration of his benediction.

¶ Christ prepared a place for himselfe.

¶ Iesus the Son of Man, and the Father of the Church, is the Father of the Church.

¶ The Church is the body of Christ, which is the Church of the living and the dead.

bene diseafed eight and thirtie yeeres.

6 When Iesus saw him lie, and knew what hee now long time had bene diseafed, hee faide vnto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The sicke m in answered him, Sir, I haue no man, when the water is troubled, to put mee into the pool: but while I am comming, another step- pen down before me.

8 Iesus said vnto him, Rise: take vp thy bed, and walke.

9 And immediatly the man was made whole, and tooke vp his bed, and walked: and the time day was the Sabbath.

10 ¶ The Iewes therefore said to him that was made whole, Is it the Sabbath day? it is not law- full for thee to carry thy bed.

11 He answered the, He that made me whole, he faid vnto me, Take vp thy bed, and walke.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which saide vnto thee, Take vp thy bed, and walke?

13 And hee that was healed, knew not who it was: for Iesus had conuicted himselfe away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Iesus found him in the Temple, and faid vnto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sinne no more, lest a worse thing come vnto thee.

15 ¶ The man departed and tolde the Iewes that it was Iesus, which had made him whole.

16 And therefore the Iewes did persecute Iesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the Sabbath day.

17 ¶ But Iesus answered them, My Father wor- keth hitherto, and I worke.

18 ¶ Therefore the Iewes sought the more to kill him: no tonely because hee had broken the Sabbath: but faid also that God was his Father, and made himselfe equal with God.

19 Then answered Iesus, and faid vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, the Sonne can doe nothing of himselfe, save that he seeth the Fa- ther doe: for whatsoever things he doth, the same things doeth the Sonne in like maner.

20 For the Father loveth the Sonne, & shew- eth him all things, whatsoeuer he himselfe doth, and he will shew him greater works then these, that ye should marvle.

21 ¶ For likewise as the Father raiseth vp the dead, and quickeneth them, so the Sonne quick- neth whom he will.

22 For the Father iudgeth of no man, but hath committed all iudgement vnto the Sonne, 23 Because that all men should honour the Sonne, as they honour the Father: he that honou- reth not the Sonne, the same honoureth not the Father, which hath sent him.

24 ¶ Verely, verely I say vnto you, he that hea- reth my words, and beleueth him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shal not come into con- demnation: but hath passed from death vnto life.

25 ¶ Verely, verely I say vnto you, the house shall come, and now is, when the dead shall heare the voyce of the Sonne of God: and they that heare it, shall liue.

26 For as the Father hath life in himselfe, so likewise hath he giuen to the Sonne to haue life in himselfe, 27 And hath giuen him power also to exe- cute iudgement, in that he is the Sonne of man.

28 ¶ Marvle not at this: for the houre shall come, in the which all that are in the graues, shall heare his voyce.

29 ¶ And they shall come forth, that haue done good, vnto life: & resurrection of life: but they that haue done euill, vnto life of iudgement of con- demnation.

30 ¶ I can doe nothing of mine owne selfe: as I heare, I iudge; and my iudgement is iust, be- cause I seeke not mine owne will, but the will of the Father who hath sent me.

31 If I shoud beare witness of my selfe, my witness were not true.

32 ¶ There is another that beareth witness of me, and I know that the witness, which hee bea- reth of me, is true.

33 ¶ Yee sent vnto Iohn, and hee bare wit- nesses vnto the truth.

34 But I receiue not the record of man: neuer- thelesse these things I say, that ye might be saued.

35 He was a burning, & a shining candle: and ye would for a season haue reioyced in his light.

36 But I haue greater witness then the wit- nesses of Iohn: for the works which the Father hath giuen me to finish, the same works that I do, beare witness of me, that the Father sent me.

37 And the Father himselfe, which hath sent mee, beareth witness of mee. Yee haue not heard his voyce at any time, neither haue yee seene his shape.

38 And his word haue you not abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye beleueed not.

39 ¶ Seache the Scriptures: for in them ye thinke to haue eternal life, & they are they which tellifie of me.

40 But ye will not come to me, that ye might haue life.

41 I receiue not the praise of men.

42 But I know you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you.

43 I am come in my Fathers Name, and ye re- ceiue me not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

44 How can ye beleue, which receiue & ho- nour one of another, and seeke not the honour that cometh of God alone?

45 ¶ Doe not thinke that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, euen Moses, in whom ye trust.

46 For had he beleueed Moses, ye would haue beleueed mee: for he wrote of me.

47 But if ye beleue not his writings, how shall ye beleue my words?

¶ But correct th it, as it is writt faid, the Iewes: shall haue no power an accuser, then Ie- sus. ¶ Gen. 3. 15 and 22. 18. and 49. 10. about. 18. 15.

sisteth, which separate the Father from the Sonne, whereas in deede, the Father doth not separate us from him, but only by the power of his Sonne, being made manifest in the world. ¶ Iesus hee saith hee would not come to doe his owne will: what his Father will hee will doe. ¶ 18. ¶ Then the Iud. men and his parents found much strife with him. ¶ The Father is not worshipped, but by his Sonnes word apprehended by faith, which is the onely way that leadeth to eternall life. ¶ We are all dead in sinne and cannot be quickened by any other meanes, then by the word of Christ apprehended by faith.

8 They that fol-sometimes hunger, but they are not in want of desire of life.

After these things, Jesus went his way a over the sea of Galilee, which is Tiberias.

A great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles, which he did on them which were defiled.

Then Jesus went into a mountaine, and there he sat with his disciples.

Now the Passover a feast of the Jewes, was nere.

Then Jesus lift vp his eyes, and seeing that a great multitude came vnto him, he said vnto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these might cate?

(And this he sayd to proue him: for hee himselfe knew what he would doe.)

Philip answered him, Two hundred pen-worth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.

Then sayd vnto him one of his disciples,
Andrew, Simon Peters brother,

There is a little boy here, which hath fve barly loaves, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?

And Jesus said, Make the people sit downe, (Now there was much grasse in that place.) Then the men late downe in number, about fve thousand.

And Jesus tooke the bread, & gaue thanks, and gaue to the disciples, and the disciples, to them that were set downe: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

And when they were satisfied, he said vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meate which remaineth, that nothing be lost.

Then they gathered it together, and filled twelve baskets with the broken meate of the fve barly loaves, which remained vnto them that had eaten.

Then the men, when they had seene the miracle that Iesus did, said, This is a trueth that Prophet that should come into the world.

When Iesus therefore perceived that they would come, and take him to make him a king, he departed againe into a mountaine himselfe alone.

¶ When euen was now come, his disciples went downe vnto the sea,

And entred into a ship, and went ouer the sea, towards Capernaum: and now it was darke, and Iesus was not come to them.

And the Sea arose with a great winde that blewe.

And when they had rowed about fve and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they saw Iesus walking on the sea, and drawing nere vnto the ship:
so they were afraide.

But he said vnto them, It is I: be not afraid.

Then willingly they receiued him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went.

¶ The day following, the people which stood on the other side of the sea, sawe that there was none other ship there, save that one, where-into his disciples were entred, and that Iesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone,

And that there came other ships from Tiberias nere vnto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had giuen thanks.

Now when the people sawe that Iesus was not there; neither his disciples, they alsoooke shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Jesus.

And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they saide vnto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

Iesus answered them, and said, Verily, ve-rely I say vnto you, yee seeke mee not, because ye saw the miracles, but because ye ate of the loaves, and were filled.

Labor not for the meate which periseth, but for the meate that endureth vnto euertasting life, which the Sonne of man shall giue vnto you:
for him hath God the Father sealed.

Then said they vnto him, What shal we do, that we might worke the works of God?

Iesus answered, & said vnto them, As this is the work of God, that ye beleue in him, whom he hath sent.

They said therefore vnto him, What signe shewest thou then, that we may see it, and beleue thee? what dost thou worke?

Our fathers did eate Manna in the desert, as it is written, He gaue them bread from heauen to eate.

Then Iesus sayd vnto them, Verily, verily I say vnto you, Moses gaue you no: but bread from heauen, but my Father giueth you that true bread from heauen.

For the bread of God is hee which commeth downe from heauen, and giueth life vnto the world.

Then they said vnto him, Lord, euertome giue vs this bread.

And Iesus sayd vnto them, I am that bread of life: he that cometh to me, shall not hunger, and he that beleueeth in me, shall neuer thirst.

But I say vnto you, that ye also haue seene me, and beleue not.

All that the Father giueth me, shall come to me: and him that cometh to mee, I can not away.

For I came downe from heauen, not to do mine owne wil, but his will which hath sent me.

And this is the Fathers will which hath sent mee, that of all which he hath giuen mee,
I should lose nothing, but should raise it vp againe at the last day.

And this is the will of him that sent mee, that euery man which seeth the Sonne, and beleueeth in him, should haue euertasting life: and I will raise him vp at the last day.

The Iewes then murmured at him because hee saide, I am that bread, which is come downe from heauen.

And they said, Is not this Iesus that sonne of Ioseph, whose father and mother wee knowe?
how then sayest hee, I came downe from heauen?

¶ Iesus answered them, saying, Verily, verily I say vnto you, that Iesus Christ the Sonne of man, is the bread of life, which cometh downe from heauen. For the Father sendeth him into the world, and hee that eateth of this bread, shall liue for euer. For the bread of life is the Sonne of man, which the Father hath sent into the world. For the Father looueth the Sonne, and hee hath committed all things vnto him, that whosoever shall eat of this bread, shall liue for euer. For the bread of life is the Sonne of man, which the Father hath sent into the world. For the Father looueth the Sonne, and hee hath committed all things vnto him, that whosoever shall eat of this bread, shall liue for euer.

65 And hee sayd, Therefore sayd I vnto you, that no man can come vnto mee, except hee giuen vnto him of my Father.

66 Is From that time, many of his disciples went backe, and walked no more with him.

67 Then sayde Iesus to the twelue, Will yee also goe away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Master, to whom shall we goe? thou hast the wordes of eternal life.

69 And we beleeue and knowe that thou art that Christ that Sonne of the liuing God.

70 Iesus answered them, Haue not I ϕ chosen you twelue, and one of you is a deuil?

71 Now he spake it of Iudas Iscariot the sonne of Simon: for he it was that should betray him, though he was one of the twelue.

CHAP. VII.

1 Christ, after his conuersion, went up to the Hall of Tabernacles, to teach his disciples. 12 The people, having opinion of him, 14 He teacheth in the Temple. 15 The Iewes command to take him. 16 Spoke among the multitude about him, 17 and betweene the Pharisees and the officers that were sent to take him, 20 and Nicodemus.

After these things, Iesus walked in Galilee, and would not walke in Iudea: for the Iewes sought to kill him.

2 Nowe the Iewes ϕ feast of the Tabernacles was at hand.

3 His brethren therefore said vnto him, Depart hence, and goe into Iudea: that thy disciples may see thy workes that thou doest.

4 For there is no man that doeth any thing secretly, and he himselfe, seeketh to bee famous: If thou dost these things, shew thy selfe to ϕ world.

5 For as yet his ϕ brethren beleeued not in him.

6 Then Iesus sayde vnto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alway ready.

7 The world cannot hate you: but me it hateth, because I testify of it that the workes thereof are euill.

8 Go ye vp vnto this feast: I will not goe vp yet vnto this feast: for my time is not yet fulfilled.

9 These things hee sayde vnto them, and abode still in Galilee.

10 But as soone as his brethren were gone vp, then went hee also vp vnto the feast, not openly, but as yet priuily.

11 Then the Iewes sought him at the feast, and sayd, Where is he?

12 And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some said, He is a good man: other sayd, Nay: but he deceiue the people.

13 Howbeit no man spake openly of him for feare of the Iewes.

14 Nowe when ϕ Iulius the feast was done, Iesus went vp into the Temple and taught.

15 And the Iewes murmured, saying, How knoweth this man the Scriptures, seeing that hee neuer learned?

16 Then answered Iesus them, saying, A very little will ye knowe if ye will: For the Scripture saith, saying Iesus, as Iudge the same and Iudges. Christ Iudges with good conscience against the conscience of the world. And hee is the most part of men take occasion to blaspheme him for the same, whereby they come to hate his blood up to the death.

17 Iesus then answered, and sayd vnto them, Murre not among your felues.
18 No man can come to mee, except the Father, which hath sent me, drawe him: and I will raise him vp at the last day.
19 It is written in the ϕ Prophets, And they shall beall taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh vnto me:
20 ϕ Not that any man hath scene the Father, ϕ I saue he which is of God, he hath scene the Father.
21 Verely, verely I say vnto you, hee that beleeueth in me, hath euermlasting life.
22 I am that bread of life.
23 Your fathers did eate Manna in the wilderness, and are dead.
24 P This is that bread, which cometh down from heauen, that hee which eateth of it, should not die.
25 I am that ϕ living bread, which came downe from heauen: if any man ϕ eate of this bread, he shall liue for euer: and the bread that I wil giue is my flesh, which I will giue for the life of the world.
26 Then the Iewes stroue among them selues, saying: How can this man giuevs ϕ flesh to eate?
27 Then Iesus sayd vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Except yee eate the flesh of the Sonne of man, and drinke his blood, yee haue no life in you.
28 Whosoever eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternall life, and I will raise him vp at the last day.
29 For my flesh is meate in deede; and my blood is drinke in deede.
30 He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.
31 As ϕ that liuing Father hath sent me, so liue I by the ϕ Father, and he that eateth me, euen hee shall liue by me.
32 This is that bread which came downe from heauen: not as your fathers haue eaten Manna, and are dead. Hee that eateth of this bread, shall liue for euer.
33 These things spake he in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.
34 Many therefore of his disciples (when they heard this) said, This is an hard saying: who can heare it?
35 But Iesus knowing in himselfe, that his disciples murmured at this, said vnto them, Doth this offend you?
36 For then if ye should see that Sonne of man ascend vp ϕ where he was before?
37 It is he ϕ spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the wordes that I speake

3 Christ would not take vpon him the euill Magistral office: we comend a liars selfe to bring forth his faith and experience.
4 The worlde which is blinde in it selfe, cannot come to haue any light but in Christ onely.
5 Chap. 5. v. 5. 5 Christ is witness all exceptions, the best witness of the truth, for he was sent by his Father for that purpose, and was by him approved to the world by infinite miracles.

6 Chap. 5. v. 5. 5 Christ is witness all exceptions, the best witness of the truth, for he was sent by his Father for that purpose, and was by him approved to the world by infinite miracles.

7 Chap. 5. v. 5. 5 Christ is witness all exceptions, the best witness of the truth, for he was sent by his Father for that purpose, and was by him approved to the world by infinite miracles.

8 Chap. 5. v. 5. 5 Christ is witness all exceptions, the best witness of the truth, for he was sent by his Father for that purpose, and was by him approved to the world by infinite miracles.

8 And againe hee stouped downe, and wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard it, being accused by their owne conscience, they went out one by one, beginning at the eldest euen to y last: Iesus was left alone: and the woman standing in the mids.

10 3 When Iesus had lift vp himselfe againe, and saue no man, but the woman, hee sayde vnto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She said, No man, Lord. And Iesus said: Neither doe I condemne thee. Go and sinne no more.

12 4 Then spake Iesus againe vnto them, saying, I 4 am that light of the world: hee that followeth me, shall not walke in darkenes, but shall haue that light of life.

13 5 The Pharisees therefore sayde vnto him, 5 Thou bearest record of thy selfe: thy record is not true.

14 6 Iesus answered, & said vnto thei 6 Though I beare record of my selfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go: but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I goe.

15 Ye iudge after the flesh: I 6 iudge no man.

16 And if I also iudge, my iudgement, is true for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that sent me.

17 And it is also written in your Lawe, that the testimony of two men is true.

18 4 I am one that beare witnesse of my selfe, & 4 Father that sent me, beareth witnes of mee.

19 6 Then saide they vnto him, Where is that Father of thine? Iesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor 5 Father of mine. If ye had known me, ye should haue known that Father of mine also.

20 These wordes spake Iesus in the 6 temple, as hee taught in the Temple, and no man layd hands on him: 7 for his houre was not yet come.

21 8 Then sayd Iesus againe vnto them, I goe my way, and ye shall seeke me, & shall die in your sinnes. Whither I goe, can ye not come.

22 Then said the Iewes, Will hee kill himselfe, because he saith, Whither I goe, can ye not come?

23 And he sayde vnto them, Yee are from beneath, I am from above: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I said therefore vnto you, That ye shall die in your sinnes: for except ye beleue, that I am he, ye shall die in your sinnes.

25 9 Then sayd they vnto him, Who art thou? And Iesus sayd vnto them, Euen 9 the same thing that I sayd vnto you from the beginning.

26 10 I haue many things to say, and to iudge of you: but hee that sent me, is true, and the things that I haue heard of him, those speake I to the world.

27 11 They vnderstood not that: hee spake to them of the Father.

28 Then said Iesus vnto them, When ye haue lift vp the Sonne of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I do nothing of my selfe, but as my Father hath taught me, 10 I speake these things. 19 For he that sent me, is with me: the Father, hath not left me alone, because I do alwayes those things that please him.

30 4 As he spake these things, many beleued in him.

31 11 Then sayd Iesus to the Iewes which beleued in him, If ye continue in my word, yee are verily my disciples, 32 And shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

33 3 They answered him, We be the Abrahams seede, and were neuer bond to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shall be made free?

34 Iesus answered them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, that whosoever committeth sinne, is the 4 seruant of sinne.

35 And the seruant abideth not in the house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.

36 If that Sonne therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free in deede.

37 11 I know that ye are Abrahams seede, but ye seeke to kill mee, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and ye doe that which ye haue seene with your father.

39 They answered, and sayd vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus sayd vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would doe the workes of Abraham.

40 But now ye goe about to kill mee, a man that haue tolde you the truth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye doe the worke of your father: then said they to him, Wee are not borne of fornication: we haue one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Iesus sayd vnto them, If God were your Father, then would ye loue mee: for I proceeded forth, and came from God, neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me.

43 Why doe yee not vnderstand 3 I talke? because ye cannot heare my word.

44 4 Ye are of your father the deuil, and the lustes of your father ye will doe: hee hath bene a murderer from the beginning, and 4 abode not in the 4 truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, then speaketh he of his owne: for he is a liar, and the father thereof.

45 And because I tell you the truth, yee beleeue me not.

46 14 Which of you can rebuke me of sinne? and if I say the truth, why doe ye not beleue me?

47 7 He that is of God, heareth Gods wordes: ye therefore heare them not, because yee are not of God.

48 15 Then answered the Iewes, and sayd vnto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a deuil?

49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuil, but I honour my Father, and ye haue dishonoured me.

50 And I seeke not mine owne praise: but there is that 9 seeketh it, and iudgeth.

51 16 Verely, verely I say vnto you, If a man keep my word, he shall neuer see death.

thoroughly excite the office that his Father inuoyed him. 7 John 4. 6. 11 The enemies of Christ make their bawerie for a while, but the Father will appeare his time to reuerge the reproch that is done vnto him in the person of his sonne. 9 That he that will reuerge both our dishonouring of him, and of him. 15 The doctrine of the Gospel apprehended by faith, is a true reuerge against him. 17 That he be not free: for even in the midst of such, one shall be free.

17 Against them which abuse the glory of Saints, to darken Christs glory.
18 There is nothing further off from ambition than Christ, but his Father hath let him about all things.
19 This is given by measure of a quantity: as if he had said, It is fit, let him receive the light of his Father's love for as yet there is another that glorieth in, that is, the Father himself.
20 There is no right knowledge of God, without Christ, neither any right knowledge, of Christ without his word.
21 In the virtue of Christ, he opened his eyes through all former ages in the fathers, for they saw in the promises, that he should come, and did very joyfully lay hold on him with a lively faith. It was very desirable, in a day is a feast that a man flourish, or death any notable ill, or suffer any great thing.
22 Whithersoever of flesh, Hebr. x. 13. 3 Christ as he was God, was before Abraham: and he was the Lamb slain from the beginning of the world. 23 Zeale without knowledge, breaketh out at length into a moit open madnesse: and yet the wicked cannot doe what they will.

17 Then said the Jewes to him, Now know wee that thou hast a deuil. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, if a man keepe my word, he shall neuer taste of death.

18 Art thou greater then our father Abraham, which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whom makest thou thy selfe?

19 Iesus answered, If I honour my selfe, mine honour is nothing worth: it is my Father that honoureth mee, whom ye say, that he is your God.

20 Yet ye haue not known him: but I know him, and if I should say I know him not, I should be a liar like vnto you: but I know him, and keepe his word.

21 Your father Abraham reioyced to see my day, and he saw it, and was glad.

22 Then sayde the Jewes vnto him, Thou art not yet fiftie yeere olde, and hast thou seene Abraham?

23 Iesus sayde vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, before Abraham was, I am.

24 Then tooke they vp stones, to cast at him, but Iesus hid himselfe, and went out of the Temple: And hee passed through the middles of them, and so went his way.

thine eyes opened?

11 Hee answered, and saide, The man that is called Iesus, made clay, and anoynted mine eyes, and sayde vnto me, Goe to the poole of Siloam and wash. So I went and washed, and receiued sight.

12 Then they said vnto him, Where is he? He said, I cannot tell.

13 ¶ They brought to the Pharises him that was once blind.

14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Iesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 Then againe the Pharises also asked him, how he had receiued sight. And he said vnto the, He laid clay vpon mine eyes; and I washed, and doe see.

16 ¶ Then said some of the Pharises, This man is not of God, because hee keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others said, How can a man that is a sinner, doe such miracles? and there was a diuision among them.

17 Then spake they vnto the blinde againe, What sayest thou of him, because he hath opened thine eyes? And he said, He is a Prophet.

18 Then the Jewes did not beleue him (that he had bene blind, and receiued his sight) vntill they had called the parents of him that had receiued sight.

19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your sonne, whom ye say was borne blind? How doeth he now see then?

20 His parents answered them, and saide, We know that this is our sonne, & that he was borne blinde:

21 But by what meanes he now seeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tell: he is olde ynough: alke him: he shall answer for himselfe.

22 These wordes spake his parents, because they feared the Jewes: for the Jewes had ordeined already, that if any man did confesse that hee was Christ, hee should bee excommunicate out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore sayde his parents, Hee is olde ynough: alke him.

24 Then againe called they the man that had bene blinde, and said vnto him, ¶ Giue glory vnto God: we knowe that this man is a sinner.

25 Then he answered, and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I can not tell: one thing I know, that I was blinde, and now I see.

26 Then said they to him againe, What did he to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I haue tolde you already, and ye haue not heard it: wherefore would ye heare it againe? will ye be also his disciples?

28 ¶ Then reuiled they him, and said, Be thou his disciple: we be Moses disciples.

29 We know that God spake with Moses: but this man we know not from whence he is.

30 The man answered, and said vnto them, Doubtlesse, This is a maruelous thing, that yee know not whenee he is; and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 Now we knowe that God heareth not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world began, was it not heard, that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde.

c This is an Hebrew kinde of speech, for they call a man eyes shut, when they cannot receive any light: And there fore they are sayd to haue their eyes opened, which of blinde men are made to see.

d Religion is not assaulted by any means more, than by pretence of Religions: but the more it is pressed downe, the more it riseth vp.

d A sinner was, whereby men were constrained in olde times to acknowledge their fault before God, as if they should say, Consider thou as I before God, who dwelleth with cleane conscience, and doe him that honour, rather in confesse the whole matter openly, than to lie before him. John 7. 18.
e Some say, e He is called a sinner, vnto the Jewes, because hee was a wicked man, and walked as he was an arte of sinning.
f Proud wicked men, which neede strength to breake forth, which in vaine seek to vnder a scale of godliness.

CHAP. IX.

1 Christ giueth sight on the Sabbath day, to him that was borne blinde. 12 Whom, after he had long reasoned against the Pharises, he cast out of the Synagogue, 26 Christ endueth with the knowledge of the euill hearted.

AND as Iesus passed by, he saw a man which was blinde from his birth.

2 And his disciples also him, saying, Master, who didst firme, this man, or his parents, that hee was borne blinde?

3 Iesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the workes of God should be shewed on him.

4 I must worke the workes of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh when no man can worke.

5 As long as I am in the world, ¶ I am the light of the world.

6 As soone as hee had thus spoken, he spake on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and anoynted the eyes of the blinde with the clay.

7 And said vnto him, Goe wash in the poole of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore and washed, and came againe seeing.

8 ¶ Nowe the neighbours and they that had seene him before, when he was blinde, said, Is not this he that sat and begged?

9 Some said, This is he: and other said, He is like him: but he himselfe said, I am he.

10 Therefore they said vnto him, Howe were v There is the beginning of all bodily diseases, they doth it not follow, that God alway respecteth them times, whom he most sharply punisheth.

a Christ reuileth them by their disciples thought, which to pre- iudge that there came no diseases, neither finnes vnto: otherwise, that there was no sinfull cause of this man's blindness, and it was, that God's workes might be firme.
b The workes of Christ are as it were a light, which lighten the darkness of this world.
c It is (say) some, the light sheweth the blinde man's desire of the heavenly shew, and by night is meant the darkness which cometh by the affliction of the same desire. ¶ Cor. 1. 5. and 12. and 13. 3 Christ healing the man borne blinde, by taking the signe of a serpent, and shewing the signe of the fontaine of Siloam (which signifieth sent) sheweth that as at the beginning made man, so doth he againe to be both his body and soule: and yet so, that he himselfe cometh fit of his owne accord to be healed. 4 A trueing of all men, who they are of nature blinde, do not see themselves: the light is offered vnto them; nor suffer it in other, and yet make great use thereof themselves.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep them in thy Name; even them whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are.*

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: of those that thou gavest me, have I kept, and none of them is lost, but the child of perdition, that the ϕ Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and these things I speak in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled in themselves.

14 I have given them thy word, and the world hath hated thee, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou shouldst take them out of the world, but that thou keep them from evil.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 Sanctifie them with thy truth: thy word is truth.

18 As thou didst send mee into the world, so have I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may be sanctified through the ϕ truth. 20 I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall beleue in mee, through their word.

21 That they all may be one, as thou, O Father, art in me, and I in thee: even that they may be also one in vs, that the world may beleue that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory that thou gavest me, I have given them, that they may be one, as we are one.

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them as thou hast loved me.

24 ϕ Father, I will that they which thou hast given me, be with me even where I am, that they may behold thee with my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the world also hath not known thee, but I have known thee, and these have known thee, that thou hast sent me.

26 And I have declared unto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the love wherewith thou hast loved me, may be in them, and I in them.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 By Christ's power, whom Iudas betrayed, & the soldiers are cast down to the ground, 12 Christ is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas, 23 His answer to the officer that smote him with a rod, 28 Being delivered to Pilate, 35 he declares his kingdom.

WHEN Iesus had spoken these things, hee went forth with his disciples out the brooke: Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entered, and his disciples.

2 And Iudas which betrayed him knewe also the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his disciples.

3 Iudas then, after he had received a band of men and officers of the high Priestles, and of the Pharisees, came thither with lanternes and torches, and weapons.

4 Then Iesus, knowing all things that should come vnto him, went forth and said vnto them: Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus said vnto them, I am he. Nowe Iudas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 Alsoone then as he had said vnto them, I am he, they went away backwardes, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them againe, Whome seeke ye? And they said, Iesus of Nazareth.

8 Iesus answered, I said vnto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seeke me, let these goe their way.

9 Thou wast that the word might be fulfilled which he spake, ϕ Of them which thou gavest me, have I lost none.

10 Then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drew it, and smote the hie Priests seruant, and cut off his right eare. Nowe the seruants name was Malchus.

11 Then sayd Iesus vnto Peter, Put vp thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cup which my Father hath given me?

12 Then the band and the captaines, and the officers of the Iewes tooke Iesus and bound him.

13 And led him away to ϕ Annas first (for he was father in law to Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that time ere)

14 And Caiaphas was he, that gaue counsell to the Iewes, that it was expedient: that one man should die for the people.

15 ¶ Nowe Simon Peter followed Iesus, and another disciple, & that disciple was knowne of the hie Priest: therefore he went in with Iesus into the hall of the hie Priest:

16 But Peter stood at the doore without. Then went out the other disciple which was knowne vnto the hie Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

17 Then sayd the mayd that kept the doore, vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not.

18 And the seruants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coles: for it was colde, and they warmed themselves. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himselfe.

19 ¶ The hie Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

20 Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the world: I euer taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I said nothing.

21 Why askest thou mee? alke them which heard me what I said vnto them: beholde, they know what I said.

22 When he had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Iesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the hie Priest so?

23 Iesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare witness of the euill: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me?

24 ¶ Nowe Annas had sent him bound vnto Caiaphas the hie Priest

25 And Simon Peter stood & warmed himselfe, and they said vnto him, Art not thou also of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not.

26 One of the servants of the hie Priest, his cousin whose eare Peter smote off, sayd, Did not I see thee in the garden with him?

27 Peter then denied againe, and immediately the cocke crew.

28 ¶ Then led they Iesus from a Caiaphas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselves went not into the common hall, lest they should be defiled, but that they might eate the Passouer.

29 Pilate then went out vnto them, and sayd, What accusation bring ye against this man?

30 They answered, and said vnto him, If hee were not an euill doer, we would not haue deliuered him vnto thee.

31 Then sayd Pilate vnto them, Take ye him, and iudge him after your owne Law. Then the Iewes sayd vnto him, It is not lawfull for vs to put any man to death.

32 ¶ It was that the word of Iesus might bee fulfilled which he spake, signifying what death he should die.

33 So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Iesus, and sayd vnto him, Art thou the King of the Iewes?

34 Iesus answered him, Sayest thou that of thy selfe, or did other tell thee of me?

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Iew? Thine owne nation, and the high Priests haue deliuered thee vnto me. What hast thou done?

36 ¶ Iesus answered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, my seruants would surely fight, that I should not be deliuered to the Iewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate then sayd vnto him, Art thou a King then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king: for this cause I am borne, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witness vnto the truth: euery one that is of the truth heareth my voice.

38 ¶ Pilate sayd vnto him, What is truth? And when he had sayd that, he went out againe vnto the Iewes, and said vnto them, I finde in him cause at all.

39 ¶ But you haue a custome that I should deliuer you one loofe at the Passouer: will ye then that I loofe vnto you the King of the Iewes?

40 ¶ Then c cryed they all againe, saying, Not him, but Barabbas: now he Barabbas was a murderer.

CHAP. XIX.

¶ Pilate, when Christ was scourged, and crowned with thornes, and was desirous to let him loofe: but being ouercomen with the outrage of the Iewes, he deliuereth him to be crucified. 2. Iesus committeth his mother to the disciple. 3. Having said vnto her, he dyeth: 34. and being dead, his side was pierced with a spear. 40. He is buried.

¶ Then c Pilate tooke Iesus, and scourged him. 2 And the souldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment,

3 And said, Haile, King of the Iewes. And they smote him with their rods.

4 ¶ Then Pilate went forth againe, and said vnto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know, that I finde no fault in him at all.

5 Then came Iesus forth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate said vnto them, Behold the man.

6 Then when the hie Priests and officers saue him, they cryed, saying, a Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate said vnto them, Take ye him, and crucifie him: for I finde no fault in him.

7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a lawe, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himselfe the Sonne of God.

8 ¶ When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid,

9 And went againe into the common hall, and said vnto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answer.

10 Then said Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto me? Knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loofe thee?

11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against me, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore he that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thenceforth Pilate sought to loofe him, but the Iewes cryed, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cafars friend: for whose euer maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cafar.

13 ¶ When Pilate heard this word, hee brought Iesus forth, and sate downe in the iudgement seat in a place called the pauement, and in Hebrew, b Gabbatha.

14 And it was the Preparation of the Passouer, and about the sixt houre: and he said vnto the Iewes, Beholde your King.

15 But they cried, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate sayd vnto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The hie Priests answered, We haue no King but Cafar.

16 ¶ Then deliuered he him vnto them, to be crucified. ¶ And they tooke Iesus, and led him away.

17 And he bare his owne crosse, and came in to a place named of dead mens skulles, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, & Iesus in the midst.

19 ¶ And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, and it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was nere to the cite: and it was written in Hebrew, Greeke, and Latine.

21 Then sayd the high Priests of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Iewes, but that he sayd, I am King of the Iewes.

22 Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written.

23 ¶ Then the souldiers, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to euery souldier a part) and his coat: and the coat was without seame woven from the top thorowout.

24 Therefore they sayd one to another, Let vs not diuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which sayeth, They parted my garments among them, and on my coat did cast lots. So the souldiers did these things in deed.

25 ¶ Then stood by the crosse of Iesus, his mother,

C H A P. II.

1 The Apostles 4. filled with the holy Ghost 8. speak with diverse tongues: 12. They are thought to be drunke, 15. but Peter discomfitteth that: 24. He teacheth that Christ is the Messiah: 27. And seeing the hearers amazed, 38. hee exhorteth them to repentance.

1 The Apostles being gathered together on a most solemn feast day in one place, that it might evidently appear to all the world, that they had all one office, one Spirit, one faith, &c. by a double figure from heaven authorized, &c. appointed with all the most excellent gifts of the holy Ghost, and especially with an extraordinary and efficacious gift of tongues.

2 And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a rushing and mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they sate.

3 And there appeared unto them cloven tongues, like fire, and it sate upon each of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, & began to speake with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Hierusalem Jewes, men that feared God, of every nation vnder heaven.

6 Now when this was noised, the multitude came together, and were astonished, because that every man heard them speake his owne language.

7 And they wondered all, and marveiled, saying among themselves, Beholde, are not all these which speake, of Galilee?

8 How then heare we every man our owne language, wherein we were borne?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Iudea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia,

10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, & Jewes, and Proselytes, 11 Cretes, and Arabians: wee heard them speake in our owne tongues the wonderful workes of God.

12 They were all then amazed, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this be?

13 And others mocked, and sayd, They are full of new wine.

14 But Peter standing with the eleven, & lift vp his voyce, and said vnto them, Ye men of Iudea, & ye all that inhabit in Hierusalem, be this known vnto you, and hearken vnto my wordes.

15 For these are not drunken, as ye suppose, since it is but the third houre of the day.

16 But Peter is that, which was spoken by the Prophet & Joel.

17 And it shalbe in the last dayes, faith God, I will poure out of my Spirit vpon all flesh, & your sonnes, and your daughters shall prophesie, and shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreames.

18 And on my seruants, and on mine handmaides I will poure out of my Spirit in those dayes, and they shall prophesie.

19 And I will shew wonders in heauen above, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapours of smoke.

20 The Sunne shall be turned into darknesse, and the moone into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.

21 And it shalbe, that whosoever shall call on the Name of the Lord, shall be saved.

22 Ye men of Israel, heare these wordes, Iesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you with great workes, and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the middles of you, as ye by your selues also know:

23 Him, I say, being deliuered by the determinate counsell, and foreknowledge of God, after you had taken, with wicked & handles you haue crucified & slaine.

24 Whome God hath raised vp, and loosed the sorowes of death, because it was vnpossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For David faith concerning him, & I beheld the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.

26 Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreover also my flesh hath rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast shewed me the wayes of life, and shalt make mee full of ioy with thy countenance.

29 Men and brethren, I may boldly speake vnto you of the Patriarke David, & that hee is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth vs vnto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing hee was a Prophet, and knewe that God had sworn with an othe to him, that of the fruite of his loines hee would raise vp Christ concerning the flesh, to set him vpon his throne, 31 He knoweth this before, spake of resurrection of Christ, that his soule should not be left in graue, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we all are witnesses.

33 Since then that hee by the right hand of God hath bene exalted, and hath receiued of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, hee hath shed forth this which ye now see and heare.

34 For David is not ascended into heauen, but he faith, & The Lord saide to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 35 Vntill I make thine enemies thy footstool.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath made him both Lord, and Christ, this Iesus, of whom ye haue crucified.

GGG 3 CHAP.

18 Till another King arose, which knew not Joseph.

19 The same dealt subtilly with our kindred, and euill treated our fathers, and made them to cast out their young children, that they should not remaine alive.

20 ¶ The same time was Moses borne, and was acceptable vnto God, which was nourished vp in his fathers house three months.

21 And when he was cast out, Pharaos daughter tooke him vp, and nourished him for her owne sonne.

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

23 Now when he was full fortie yeere olde, it came into his heart to visit his brethren, the children of Israel.

24 ¶ And when he saw one of thē suffer wrong, he defended him, & auenged his quarrell that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egyptian.

25 For hee supposed his brethren would haue vnderstood, that God by his hand should giue them deliuerance: but they vnderstood it not.

26 ¶ And the next day, he shewed himselfe vnto them as they stroue, & would haue set them at one againe, saying, Sirs, ye are brethren: why do ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a prince, and a iudge ouer vs?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didst the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then fled Moses at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Madian, where he begate two sonnes.

30 And when forty yeeres were expired, there appeared to him in the wilderness of mount Sina, an Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire, in a bush.

31 And when Moses saw it, he wondered at the sight: and as he drew nēto to consider it, the voice of the Lord came vnto him, saying,

32 I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob. Then Moses trembled, & durst not behold it.

33 Then the Lord said to him, Put off thy shoes from thy feet: for the place where thou standest, is holy ground.

34 I haue seene, I haue seene the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, & I haue heard their groaning, and am come downe to deliuer them: and now come, and I will send thee into Egypt.

35 This Moses whom they forsooke, saying, Who made thee a prince and a iudge? the same God sent for a prince, & a deliuerer by the hand of the Angel, which appeared to him in the bush.

36 He brought them out, doing wonders, and miracles in the land of Egypt, and in the red sea, and in the wilderness: ¶ for many yeeres.

37 ¶ This is that Moses, which said vnto the children of Israel, ¶ A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise vp vnto you, one of your brethren, like vnto me: him shall ye heare.

38 ¶ This is he that was in the Congregation, in the wilderness with the Angel, which spake to him in mount Sina, and with our fathers, who receiued the lively oracles to giue vnto vs.

39 To whom our fathers would not obey, but refused, and in their hearts turned backe againe into Egypt.

40 Saying vnto Aaron, ¶ Make vs gods that may goe before vs: for we know not what is become of this Moses that brought vs out of the land of Egypt.

41 And they made a calfe in those dayes, and offered sacrifice vnto the idole, and reioyced in the works of their owne hands.

42 Then God turned himselfe away, and forgot them vp to serue the phost of heauen, as it is written in the booke of the Prophets, ¶ O house of Israel, haue ye offered to me flaine beasts & sacrifices by the space of forty yeeres in the wilderness?

43 And ye took vp the tabernacle of Moloch, & the ilare of your god Remphan, figures, which ye made to worship them: therefore I will carry you away beyond Babylon.

44 ¶ Our fathers had the tabernacle of twinnesse, in the wilderness, as he had appointed, speaking vnto ¶ Moses, that he should make it according to the fashion that he had seene.

45 ¶ Which tabernacle also our fathers receiued, and brought in with Iesus into the possession of the Gentiles, which God draue out before our fathers, vnto the dayes of Dauid:

46 ¶ Who found fauour before God, and desired that hee might finde a tabernacle for the God of Iacob.

47 ¶ But Solomon built him an house:

48 Howbeit the most High ¶ dwelleth not in temples made with hands, as saith the Prophet, 49 ¶ Heauen is my throne, and earth is my footstool: what house wilt ye build for me, Gith the Lord? or what place is it that I should rest in?

50 Hach not mine hand made all these things?

51 ¶ Ye stiffnecked, and of vncircumcised hearts and eares, ye haue alwayes resisted the holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so do you.

52 Which of the Prophets haue not your fathers persecuted? & they haue flaine them, which shewed before of the coming of that Iust, of whom ye are now the betrayars and murderers.

53 ¶ Which haue receiued the law by the ordinance of Angels, and haue not kept it.

54 ¶ But when they heard these things, their hearts brast for anger, and they gnashed at him with their teeth.

55 ¶ But he being full of the holy Ghost, looked steadfastly into heauen, and saw the glory of God, & Iesus ¶ standing at the right hand of God.

56 And said, Beholde, I see the heauens open, and the Sonne of man standing at the right hand of God.

57 ¶ Then they gaue a shout with a loud voice, and stopped their eares, and a raine vpon him violently all at once,

58 And cast him out of the cite, and stoned him: and the witnesses laid downe their clothes at a yong mans feet, named Saul.

59 And they stoned Steuen, who called on nature, and sticke fast in them: for as he said all the Trews were crucified as touching the flesh, and therefore there were two houses of circumcision, Rom. 2. 28. 29. 30. 31. ¶ By the multitude of Angels.

C H A P. IX.

1 Saul going toward Damascus, is strewn down to the ground after the Lord: 10 Ananias find 18 to baptize him. 23 The laying on of the hands 25 he is baptized, bringeth some through the wall. 33 Peter curset Ananias of the pallie, 36 and by him Tabitha being dead, 40 is restored to life.

ANd ¹ Saul yet ² breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went into the hie Priests,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that way, (either men or women) hee might bring them bound vnto the Hierusalem.

3 Nowe as he journeyed, it came to passe that as he was come neere to Damascus, ⁴ suddenly there shined round about him a light from heauen.

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voyce saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou mee?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest: it is as hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

6 He then both trembling and astonyed, sayd, Lord, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lorde said vnto him, Arise, and goe into the citie, and it shall be tolde thee what thou shalt doe.

7 The men also which journeyed with him, stood amazed, hearing his voyce, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but sawe no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus, 9 Where hee was three dayes without sight, and neither ate nor dranke.

10 And there was a certaine disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Beholde, I am here Lord.

11 Then the Lord said vnto him, Arise, and go into the streete which is called Streight, and seeke in the house of Iudas after one called Saul of Tarsus: for behold, he prayeth.

12 (And he saw in a vision a man named Ananias comming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receiue his sight.)

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man, how much euill he hath done to thy Saintes at Hierusalem.

14 Moreover here he hath authoritie of the hie Priests, to binde all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord said vnto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessel vnto me, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Israel.

16 For I will shew him, how many things he must suffer for my Names sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entered into that house, and put his hands on him, and said, Brother, Saul, the Lord hath sent mee (Iesus) that he appeared vnto thee in the way as thou comest: that thou mightest receiue thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had bene scales, and suddenly he receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized,

19 And received meat, and was strengthened.

So was Saul certaine dayes with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 And straightway hee preached Christ in the Synagogues, that hee was that Sonne of God,

21 So that all that heard, him were amazed, and said, Is not this hee, that made hauocke of them which called on this Name in Hierusalem, and came hither for that intent, that hee should bring them bound vnto the hie Priests?

22 But Saul increased the more in strength, and confounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damascus, ²³ confirming that this was that Christ.

23 And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Iewes tooke counsell together, to kill him, 24 But their laying awaite was knowne of Saul: nowe they watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 Then the disciples took him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him downe by a rope in a basket.

26 And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, he assayed to ioynne himselfe with the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and beleened not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apostles, & declared to them, how he had seene the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken vnto him, and how he had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus.

28 And hee was constant I with them at Hierusalem,

29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and spake and disputed against the Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 But when the brethren knewe it, they brought him to Cefarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

31 Then had the Churches rest through all Iudæa, and Galilee, and Samaria, and were edified and walked in the feare of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeeres, and was sicke of the pallie.

34 Then said Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and trustethy couch together. And he arose immediately.

35 And all that dwelt at Lydda and Saron, sawe him, and turned to the Lord.

36 There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman, a disciple named Tabitha, (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) shee was full of good workes and almes which shee did.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes, that shee was sicke and died: and when they had washed her, they laid her in an upper chamber.

38 Nowe forasmuch as Lydda was neere to Ioppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come vnto them.

39 Then Peter arose and went with them, when he came, he went up to the house, and kneeled downe, and said, Tabitha, arise. And shee opened her eyes, and looked vnto Peter, and said, Man, what doest thou? He said, Arise. And shee arose, and hee took her by the hand, and brought her up to the house, and set her before the sisters, and the brethren, and presented her to them. And shee was much praised of all the people.

1 Paul beginseth his journey to execute the office - which was enjoyed him, neuer consulting with flesh and blood.

2 Paul strieth not with his owne strength, neither of the sword, but with the testimony of the Prophets.

3 By confirming places of the Scripture together, as coming of a sacred doctrine they made up any thing they wrote, as they all praise in scripture, to make them as if they out with another.

4 Paul who was before a persecutor, hath nowe perfect ion laid of love himselfe, but yete alar off.

5 We are not free bidden to avoide and eschew the dangers and complications that the enemies of God lay for vs, but we have not from our vocacion.

6 In ancient time, no man was rashly or lightly received into the number of saint amongst the brether of Christ, much less to be a pastor.

7 The constant firmness of God much looks for danger after danger: yet God watcheth for them.

8 I wish Peter and James, for hee saith that hee sawe many of the Apostles last time, 1 Cor. 15, 32.

9 The Ministers of the word may change their office, by the advice and counsell of the congregation and Church.

10 The end of persecutions is the building of the Church, so that we may be able to wait for the Lord.

11 This is a blessed kind of death, which signifies a fleshly nature and in case, as to Peters Apostleship is confirmed by healing of the man that was sicke of the pallie.

12 Lydda was a chiefe of Palestine and Saron a populous country, and a place of good pasturage betweene Cefarea of Palestine and the mountain Tabor, and the lake of Genesareth, which extendeth in length to great length beyond Ioppa.

13 Peter declareth evidently by raising up a dead body through the Name of Christ, that hee preacheth the glad tidings of life.

39 Then Peter arose and came with them: and when he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber, where all the widows stood by him weeping, and shewing the coates and garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them.

40 But Peter put them all forth; and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the bodie, and said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter, saie vp.

41 Then he gaue her the hand and lift her vp, and called the Saintes and widowes, and restored her aliue.

42 And it was known throughout all Ioppa, and many beleueed in the Lord.

43 And it came to passe, that he taryed many dayes in Ioppa with one Simon a Tanner.

CHAP. X.

1 Cornelius, 4 at the Angels commandment, 5 sendeth for Peter: 11 Who also by a vision 15. 20 is taught not to despise the Gentiles: 34 He preacheth the Gospel to Cornelius and his household: 43 Who having received the holy Ghost, 47 are baptized.

Furthermore there was a certaine man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the band called the Italian band.

2 A deuout man, and one that feared God with ^ball his household, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.

3 He saw in a vision evidently (about the ninth hour of the day) an Angel of God comming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, ^c What is it, Lord? and he said vnto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are ^d come vp into ^e remembrance before God.

5 Now therefore send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side : he shall tell thee what thou oughtest to doe.

7 And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his seruants, and a fouldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And told them all things, and sent them to Iopna.

9 On the morowe as they went on their journey, and drew neere vnto the citie, Peter went vp vpon the house to pray, about the sixt houre.

10 Then waxed he an hungred, and would have eaten: but while they made some thing ready, he fell into a trance.

11 And he sawe heauen opened, and a certaine uessel come downe vnto him, as it had bene a great sheete, knit at the 8 foure corners, and was let downe to the earth,

12 Wherein were ^hal maner of ⁱ foure footed beastes of the earth, and wilde beastes and ^k creeping things, and fowles of the heaven.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Arise, Peer : kill and eate.

14. ²But Peter said, Not so, Lord: for I have ne-

* or catch any thing that is polluted; or unclean.

15 And the voyce spake vnto him againe the second time, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

16 This was so done thrise: and the vessel was drawn vp againe into heauen.

¶ Nowe while Peter doubted in himselfe what this vision which he had seene, meant, behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simons house, and stood at the gate.

18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit said vnto him, Beholde, three men seeke thee.

20 Arise therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, and doubt nothing: for I haue sent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went downe to the men, which were sent vnto him from Cornelius, and said, Behold, I am he whom ye seeke: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?

23 And they said, Cornelius the captain, a iust man, and one that feareth God, & of good report among all the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heauen by an holy Angel to send for thee into his house, and to heare thy wordes.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them :
and the next day, Peter went forth with them, and certain brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entred into Cæsarea. Nowe Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsmen, and speciall friends.

25 ³ And it came to passe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feete, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter tooke him vp, laying, Stand vp :
for euen I my selfe am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he said vnto them, Ye know that it is an vnlawful thing for a man that is a Iew, to company, or come vnto one of another nation : but God hath shewed me, that I should not call any man polluted, or vnclane.

29 Therefore came I vnto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I aske therefore, for what intent haue ye sent for mee?

30 Then Cornelius said, Four dayes agoe, about this houre, I fasted, and at the ninth houre I prayd in mine houle, and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing.

31 † And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

31: 5 Sende therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter, (hee is lodged in the house of Simon a Tanner by the seaside) who when he commeth, shall speake unto thee.

33 Then ſend for thee immediately, and thou ſhalt well done to come. Now therefore are we all here preſent before God to heare all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, 34 of a truth I perceive, that 34 God is no accep- 34
t of persons. 34

Religious adoration or worship agreeth only to God : but civil worship is given to the Ministers of the word, although not without danger.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were 11 Then when the people faw what Paul had done, they lift vp their voyces, faying in the fpeech of Lycaonia, Gods are come downe to vs in the likeene of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Iupiter: & Paul,
Mercurius, becaufe he was the chiefe fpeaker.

13 Then Iupiters Priests, which was before their city, brought bulles with garlands vnto the gates, and would haue facrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apoftles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying,

15 And faying, O men, why doe yee thefe things? We are euen men fubiekt to the like paffions

19 There came certine Iewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had perfuaided the people, & floned Paul, and drew him out of the city, fuppofing he had bene dead.

20 Howbeit, as the difciples flood round about him, he arofe vp, and came into the citie, and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gofpel to that citie, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia,

22 Confirming the difciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that we muft through many afflictions enter into the kingdome of God.

23 And when they had ordained them Elders by election in euery Church, and prayed, and fitted, they commended them to the Lord in whom they beleueed.

24 Thus they went thorowout Pifidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they came downe to Attalia,

26 And thence failed to Antiochia, from whence they had bene commended vnto the grace of God, to the worke, which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearfed all the things that God had done by them, and how he had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentiles.

28 So there they abode a long time with the difciples.

THen came downe certaine from Iudea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the maner of Moyses, ye cannot be saved.

2. And when there was great dissention, and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordeyned that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should go v^o to Hierusalem vnto the Apostles and Elders about this question.

3 Thus being brought forth by the Church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentiles, and they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Hierusalem, they were received of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But said they, certain of the sect of the Pharisees, which did beleewe, rose vp, saying, that it was needefull to circumsise them, and to commaund them to keepe the law of Moses.

6 ³ Then the Apostles and Elders came together to looke to this matter.

7 And when there had bene great disputation, Peter rose vp, and said vnto them, ++ Yee men and brethren, ye know that a ^c good while agoe, among vs God chose out ~~me~~, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the word of the Gospel, and beleene.

8 And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witnesse, in giuing vnto them the holy Ghost euen as he did vnto vs.

9 And he put no^d difference betweene vs and them, after that ~~4~~^e by faith he had purified their hearts.

IO 5 Now therefore, why tempt ye God, to lay a yoke on the disciples necks, which neither our fathers nor we were able to beare?

12. ⁶ Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what signs and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

19 Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not the of the Gentiles } are turned to God, 20 But that we send vnto them, that they abstaine themselves from filthinesse of idoles, and fornication, and that that is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moses of olde time hath in euery cite them that preach him, seeing he is read in the Synagogues euery Sabbath day.

22 ¶ Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church to sende chosen men of their owne companie to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Judas whose surname was Barabas and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren, 23 And wrote letters by them after this manner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, & the brethren, Vnto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.

24 ¹⁰ Forasmuch as wee haue heard, that certaine which ^k went out from vs? haue troubled you with swordes, and ^l combred your mindes, saying, Ye must be circumcised and keepe [¶] Law:
to whom we gaue no such commandemet,

25 It seemed therefore good to vs, when we were come together with one accord, to sende chosen men vnto you, with our beioued Barnabas and Paul.

26 Men that haue^mgiuen vp their liues for the Name of our Lord Iesus Chritt.

27 Wee haue therefore sent Iudas and Silas, which shall also tell you y^e same things by mouth.

28 11 For it seemed good to the ^holy Ghost, and^o to vs, to lay no more burden vpon you, then these p necessarie things,

29 ¹³ That is, that yee abstaine from things offered to idoles, and blood, and that that is stranged, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. Fare ye well.

30 ¹³ Nowe when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they deliuered the Epistle.

31 And when they had read it, they reioyce for the consolation.

32 And Judas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many words, & strengthened them.

33 And after they had taried there a space, they were let goe in q peace of the bꝛethren vnto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antiochia, teaching and preaching with many others the word of the Lord.

36 ¶ 14 But after certaine dayes, Paul said vnto Barnabas, Let vs returne, & visite our brethren in euery citie, where we haue preached the word of the Lord, and see how they doe.

27 That they should seeke the Lord, if so bee they might haue? groped after him, and founde him, though doubtles he be not farr from euery one of vs.

28 For in him we liue, and moue, and haue our being, as also certaine of your owne Poets haue said: For we are alio his generation.

29 ¶ Forasmuch then, as we are the generation of God, we ought not to thinke that the God-head is like vnto gold, or siluer, or stone, graven by arte and the inuention of man.

30 ¶ And the time of this ignorance God regarded not: but now hee admonisheth all men euery where to repent,

31 Because hee hath appointed a day in the which he will iudge the world in righteousness, by that man whom he hath appointed, whereof he hath giuen an assurance to all men, in that hee hath raised him from the dead.

32 ¶ Now when they had heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked, and other said, We will heare thee againe of this thing.

33 And so Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit certaine men claue vnto Paul, and beleueed: among whom was also Denys A-reopagita, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

35 Men, to whose faith, are directly affected and moued with one little tale Gospel, which notwithstanding catcheth not to be ch. small in the elect.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 As Paul at Corinth & taught the Gentiles, & the Earle comforth him, 12 He was accused before Gallio, 18 Yet he winneth: 18 From thence hee saileth to Syria, 19 and so to Ephesus, 21 At Galatia and Phrygia hee strengtheneth the disciples, 24 Apollon being most perfectly instructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacy.

After these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinth,

2 And found a certaine Iewe named Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Priscilla (because that Claudius had commanded all Iewes to depart from Rome) and he came vnto them.

3 And because hee was of the same craft, hee abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tentes.)

4 And hee disputed in the Synagogue euery Sabbath day, and exhorted the Iewes, and the Grecians.

5 Now when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul forced in Spirit, testified to the Iewes that Iesus was the Christ.

6 And when they resisted, and blasphemed, hee shooke his raiment, and said vnto them, Your blood be vpon your owne head: I am cleane from henceforth will I goe vnto the Gentiles.

7 So hee departed thence, and entred into a certaine mans house, named Iustus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

8 And Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue beleueed in the Lord with all his house.

9 ¶ And Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue beleueed in the Lord with all his house.

10 ¶ And Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue beleueed in the Lord with all his house.

hold: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, beleueed and were baptized.

¶ Then said the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Feare not, but speake, and holde not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man shall lay hands on thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this cite.

11 So he continued there a yeece & sixe moneths, and taught the word of God among them.

12 ¶ Now when Gallio was deputie of Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate, 13 Saying, This fellowe periuadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Law appointeth.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deepe, O ye Iewes, I would according to a reason maintaine you.

15 But if it be a question of wordes and names, and of your Lawe, looke ye to it your felues: for I will be no iudge of those things.

16 And hee draue them from the iudgement seate.

17 Then tooke all the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beate him before the iudgement seate: but Gallio caried nothing for those things.

18 ¶ But when Paul had tarried there yet a good while, he tooke leaue of the brethren, and sailed into Syria (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that hee had shorne his head in Cenchrea: for he had a vowe.

19 Then he came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue and disputed with the Iewes.

20 ¶ Who desired him to tarry a longer time with them: but he would not consent.

21 But bad them farewell, saying, I must needs keepe this feast that cometh, in Hierusalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

22 ¶ And when he came downe to Cesarea, he went vp to Hierusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went down vnto Antiochia.

23 Now when he had tarried there a while, he departed, and went thorow the countrey of Galatia & Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.

24 ¶ And a certaine Iewe named Apollon borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and mightie in the Scriptures.

25 The same was instructed in the way of the Lord, and hee spake feruently in the Spirit, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, & knew both the baptism of Iohn onely.

26 And he began to speake boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the way of God more perfectly.

27 And when hee was minded to goe into Achaia, the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receiue him: and after hee was come thither, he holpe them much which had beleueed thorow P. grace.

28 For mightily hee contended publicly the Iewes, with great vberencie, shewing by the Scriptures, that Iesus was that Christ.

29 ¶ Apollon publy & learned man, teacheth not vnto the Iewes, but to the Gentiles.

C H A P. XIX.

1 Certain disciples at Ephesus, 2 having early received Iohas baptisme, 3 and knew not the wylde gyfte of the holy Ghoſt, whereunto God had beſtow'd his ſonnes kingdom, 4 are ſerued in the Name of Ieſus. The Jewiſh exorcists 16 are beaſts of the deuil, 19 Conuincing bookeſt are burnt, 24 Demetrius 29 raiſeth ſedition againſt Paul.

And ſo came to paſſe, while Apollos was at Corinth, that Paul when he paſſed thorow the vpper coaſts, came to Ephesus, and found certain diſciples,

2 And ſayd vnto them, Hauſe ye receiued the holy Ghoſt ſince ye beleued? And they ſayd vnto him, Wee haue not ſo much as heard whether there be an holy Ghoſt.

3 And he ſaid vnto them, Vnto what were ye then baptizd? And they ſayd, Vnto Iohns baptiſme.

4 Then ſayd Paul, & Iohn verely baptizd with the baptiſme of repentance, ſaying vnto the people, that they ſhould beleue in him, which ſhould come after him, that is, in Chriſt Ieſus.

5 And when they heard it, they were baptizd in the Name of the Lord Ieſus.

6 So Paul layde his hands vpon them, and the holy Ghoſt came on them, and they ſpake the tongues, and prophesied.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 Moreover he went into the Synagogue, and ſpake boldly for the ſpace of three moneths, diſputing and exhorting to the things that appertaine to the kingdom of God.

9 But when certain were hardened, and diſobeyed, ſpeaking euill of the way of God before the multitude, hee departed from them, and ſeparated the diſciples, and diſputed dayly in the ſchool of one Tyrannus.

10 And this was done by the ſpace of two yere, ſo that all they which dwelt in Aſia, heard the word of J Lord Ieſus, both Iewes & Grecians.

11 And God wrought no ſmall miracles by the hands of Paul,

12 So that from his body were brought vnto the ſicke, kercheſes, or handkercheſes, and the diſeaſes departed from them, and the euill ſpirits went out of them.

13 Then certain of ſeuerall Iewes, ſeuerall exorcists, tooke in hand to name our them which had euill ſpirits, the Name of the Lord Ieſus, ſaying, We adure you by Ieſus, whom Paul preacheth, 14 And there were certain ſonnes of Sceua a Iewe, the Prielt, about ſeven which did this)

15 And the euill ſpirit answered, and ſayd, Ieſus I acknowledge, & Paul I know: but who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the euill ſpirit was, rann on them, and ouercame them, and preuailed againſt them, ſo that they fled out of that houſe, naked, and wounded.

17 And this was known to all the Iewes and Grecians alſo, which dwelt at Ephesus, and ſcare came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Ieſus was magnified, 18 And many that beleueed, came and confeſſed, and ſhewed their workes.

19 Many alſo of them which vſed curious artes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fifte thouſand pieces of ſilver.

20 So the word of God grewe mightily, and prevailed.

21 ¶ Now when theſe things were accompliſhed, Paul purpoſed by the ſpirit to paſſe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to goe to Hieruſalem, ſaying, After I haue bene there, I muſt alſo fee Rome.

22 So ſent he into Macedonia two of them that miniſtred vnto him, Timotheus, and Erastus, but he remained in Aſia for a ſeaſon.

23 And the ſame time there aroſe no ſmall trouble about that way.

24 For a certaine man named Demetrius a ſiluerſmith, which made ſilver temples of Diana, brought great gaines vnto the craftſmen,

25 Whom he called together, with the workmen of like things, and ſayd, Syrs, ye know that by this craft we haue our goods:

26 Moreouer ye ſee and heere, that not alone at Ephesus, but almoſt throughout all Aſia this Paul hath perſwaded, and turned away much people, ſaying, That they be not gods which are made with handes.

27 So that this is not only this thing is dangerous vnto vs, that this our portion ſhalbe reproued, but alſo that the temple of the great goddeſſe Diana ſhould be nothing eſteemed, and that it would come to paſſe that her magnificence, which all Aſia & the world worſhippeth, ſhould be deſtroyed.

28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cryed out, ſaying, Great is Diana of the Ephelians.

29 And the whole cite was full of confulſion, and they ruſhed into the common place with one aſſent, and caught Gaius, and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Pauls companions of his journey.

30 And when Paul would haue entred in vnto the people, the diſciples ſuffered him not.

31 Certaine alſo of chiefe of Aſia, which were his friends, ſent vnto him, deſiring him that he would not preſent himſelfe in the Common place.

32 Some therefore cried one thing, and ſome another: for the aſſembly was out of order, and the more part knewe not wherefore they were come together.

33 And ſome of the company drew forth Alexander, the Iewes thruſhing him forwards. Alexander then bekened with the hand, and would haue excuſed the matter to the people.

34 But when they knew that hee was a Iew, there aroſe a ſhout almoſt for the ſpace of two houres, of all men crying, Great is Diana of the Ephelians.

35 Then the towne clark when hee had ſtayed the people, ſayd, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not howe that the cite of the Ephelians is a worſhipper of the great goddeſſe Diana, & of her image, which came downe from Iupiter?

36 Seeing then that no man can ſpeake againſt theſe things, ye ought to be appeaſed, and to doe nothing raſhly.

37 For ye haue brought hither theſe men, which haue neither committed ſacrilege, neither doe blaſpheme your goddeſſe.

38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftſmen which are with him, haue a matter againſt any man, let her lawe be open, and there are Deputies to let them accuſe one another.

39 But if ye inquire any thing concerning other matters,

6 Paul is neuer wearie.

7 By the miniſtry of Gods ſpirits: therefore we may not ſay that Paul was head ſtroke to death, but as the ſpirit of God led him.

8 Gaius clothed with a ſhew of religion, is the very cauſe wherefore idolatrie is ſtill ſo much and ſtubbornly deſtroyed.

9 Theſe were ſome curious counterfeit temples with Diana was picture in them, which they thought that worſhipped her.

10 As if he ſaid, If Paul got an ſhew as he haſt begunne to confute the opinion, which man haue of Diana muſt, all this our good will come to naught.

14 Thereſore ſaye in all Churches, and eſpecially in the manichee, an inuincible eloquence, which may not by any ſhewes of ſuſtainer be overcome, which notwithſtanding muſt ſuffer in ſilence moſtly to be governed by wiſdom.

15 In head of reſon, the idolatrie are ſufficiently contented with their owne madneſſe and overieſt, and thoſe who the greater deſire that they be ſuſtained.

16 An example of a poliſh man who redeemed himſelfe from priſon and quieted with lies, which Paul would neuer haue done.

17 The Ephelians beſtood ſtill, ſeeing the ſhew of Diana came downe from Iupiter.

18 Haue ought to accuſe any man of.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Paul went toward Hierusalem: & as he came he saluted with Philip the Evangelist: 10 Agabus foretold him of his bands. 17 After he came to Hierusalem, 26 and into the Temple, 27 the Jews laid hands on him: 32 Lyfias the captain taketh him from them.

And as we lanced forth, and were departed from them, y we came with a straight course vnto Coos, & the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And we found a shippe that went ouer vnto Phenice, and went aboard, and set forth.

3 And when we had discouered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, and sailed toward Syria, and arrived at Tyrus: for there the ship vntold the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, we taried there feuen dayes. And they told Paul through the Spirit, that he should not goe vp to Hierusalem.

5 But when the dayes were ended, we departed and went our way: & they all accompanied vs with wiuues and children, euen out of the citie: and we kneeling downe on the shore, prayed.

6 Then when we had embraced one another, we tooke ship, and they returned home.

7 And when we had enlied the course from Tyrus, we arrived at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and wee that were with him, departed, and came vnto Cæsarea: and we entered into the house of ϕ Philip the Evangelist, which was one of the β Levites Deacons, and abode with him.

9 Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did prophetic.

10 And as wee taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudea, named Agabus.

11 And when he was come vnto vs, he tooke Pauls girdle, & bound his owne hands & feet, and said, Thus saith γ holy Ghost, So shall the Jewes at Hierusalem binde the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliuer him into γ hands of the Gentiles.

12 And when we had heard these things, both wee and other of the same place besought him that he would not goe vp to Hierusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and said, What doe ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready to be bound onely, but also to die at Hierusalem for the Name of the Lord Iesus.

14 β So when he would not be perswaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.

15 And after those dayes we trusted vp our fardels, and went vp to Hierusalem.

16 There went with vs also certain of the disciples of Cæsarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple, with whome we should lodge.

17 And when we were come to Hierusalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with vs vnto Iames: and all the Elders were there assembled.

19 And when hee had embraced them, hee tolde by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministratiō.

20 β So when they heard γ they glorified God, and said vnto him, Thou seest, brethren, how many thousand Jewes there are which beleue, and they are all zealous of the Lawe:

21 Nowe they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Jewes, which are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sonnes, neither to liue after the customes.

22 What is then to be done? the multitude must needs come together: for they shall heare that thou art com e.

23 Doe therefore this that we say to thee, We haue foure men, which haue a vowe,

24 Them take, and β purifie thy selfe with them, and β contribute with them, that they may β haue their heads: and all shall know, that those things, whereof they haue bene informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the Lawe.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which beleue, we haue written, and determined that they obserue no such thing, but that they keepe themselves from things offered to idoles, and from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entered into the Temple, β declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering should be offered for euery one of them.

27 β And when the feuen dayes were almost ended, the Jewes which were of Asia (when they sawe him in the Temple) moued all the people, and layd hands on him,

28 Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where against the people, & the Law, and this place: moreouer, hee hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this hol y place.

29 For they had seene before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the citie, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the ekie was moued, and the people ranne together: and they tooke Paul & drew him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doores were shut.

31 β But as they went: out to kil him, tidings came vnto the chiefe captain of the band, that all Hierusalem was on an uproar.

32 Who immediately tooke souldiers and Centurions, and ran downe vnto them: and when they saw the chiefe Capitaine and the souldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe Capitaine came heere and tooke him, & commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demanded who hee was, and what he had done.

34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certaintie for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castell.

35 And when he came vnto the grieces, it was so that he was borne of the souldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul should haue bene led into the castell, hee sayde vnto the chiefe Capitaine, May I speake vnto thee? Who sayde, Canst thou speake Greeke?

38 Art not thou? β Egyptian who before these dayes raised a sedition, & led out into the wilderness foure thousand men that were murderers?

39 Then Paul sayd, Doubtlesse, I am a man which am a Jewe, and citizen of Tarsus, a famous d That is, constitute thy selfe, for he sheweth not here of the multitude, but of such as were subject to the word of the Nazarenes.

e That it may be knowne, that these will not easily protest at the vowe, but also a chiefe man in it: and therefore it is said afterwards, that Paul declared the dayes of purification: for although the charges for the Nazarenes offerings were appointed, yet they might also knowe the vowe.

f The Priests were to be ministers of the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, because there were sacrifices to be offered the same day, that there were none made.

² And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he sayd

⁷ So I fel vnto the earth, & heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

⁸ Then I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said to me, I am Iesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

⁹ Moreover they that were with mee, sawe in deede a light and were afraid: but they heard not the voyce of him that spake vnto me.

¹⁰ Then I sayd, What shall I doe, Lord? And the Lord sayd vnto me, Arise, and go into Damascus: and there it shall be tolde thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to doe.

¹¹ So when I could not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus.

¹³ Came vnto me, and stood, & said vnto me, Brother Saul, receiue thy sight: and that same houre I looked vpon him.

¹⁴ And he sayd, The God of our fathers hath appoynted thee, that thou shouldest know his will, and shouldest see that Iust one, & shouldest heare the voyce of his mouth.

¹⁵ For thou shalt be his witness vnto all men, of the things which thou hast seene and heard.

¹⁶ Now therefore why tarriest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sinnes, in calling on the Name of the Lord.

¹⁷ ¶ And it came to passe, that when I was come againe to Hierusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a trance, ¹⁸ And sawe him, saying vnto me, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Hierusalem: for they will not receiue thy witness concerning me.

¹⁹ Then I said, Lord, they knowe that I persecuted, and beat in euery Synagoge them that beleueed in thee.

²⁰ And when the blood of thy martyr Steuen was shed, I also stood by, and consented vnto his death, & kept the clothes of them that slew him.

²¹ Then he said vnto mee, Depart: for I will send thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles.

²² ¶ And they heard him vnto this word but then they lift vp their voices, and said, Away with such a fellowe from the earth: for it is not meete that he should liue.

²³ And as they cried & cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the ayre, ²⁴ The chiefe captaine commanded him to be led into the castle, and bade that he should be scourged, and examined, that hee might knowe wherefore they cried fo on him.

²⁶ Now when the Centurion heard it, he went, and tolde the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heed what thou doest: for this man is a Romane.

²⁷ Then the chiefe captaine came, and said to him, Tel me, art thou a Romane? And he said, Yea.

²⁸ And the chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obtained I this freedome. Then Paul said, But I was fo borne.

²⁹ Then straightway they departed from him, which should haue examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afraid, after he knewe that hee was a Romane, and that he had bound him.

³⁰ On the next day, because hee would haue knownen the certaintie wherefore he was accused of the Iewes, hee loosed him from his bonds, and commaunded the hie Priests and all their Council to come together: and he brought Paul, and set him before them.

CHAP. XXII.

ANd ^a Paul behelde earnestly the Council, and said, Men & brethren, I haue in all good conscience serued God vntill this day.

² Then the hie Priest Ananias commaunded them that stood by, to smite him on the mouth.

³ Then said Paul to him, God will smite thee, thou whited wall: for thou stitest to iudge me according to the Lawe, and & transgressing the Lawe, commaundest thou me to be smitten?

⁴ And they that stood by, said, Reuilest thou Gods hie Priest?

⁵ ¶ Then said Paul, I knew not, brethren, that hee was the hie Priest: for it is written, ¶ Thou shalt not speake euill of the ruler of thy people.

Pharises, he cried in the Councell, Men and brethren, ✠ I am a Pharise, the sonne of a Pharise: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.

7 ⁶ And when he had sayd this, there was a diffension betwene the Pharifes and the Sadduces. so that the multitude was diuided.

8 74 For the Sadduces say that there is no resurrection, neither ^d Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharises confesse both.

9 Then there was a great crie: and the Scribes of the Pharisees part rose vp, and strone, saying, Wee finde none euill in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not fight against God.

10 ¶ And when there was a great diffension, the chiefe captaine, fearing lest Paul should have bene pulled in peeces of them, commanded the souldiers to go downe, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the castell.

11 Now the night following, the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good courage Paul: for as thou hast testified of mee in Hierusalem, so must thou beare witnesse also at Rome.

12 ¹⁰ And when the day was come, certaine of the Iewes made an assembly, and bound themselves with a curse, saying, that they would neither eat nor drinke, till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were moe then fortie, which had made this conspiracie.

14 And they came to the chiefe Priestes and Elders, and said, We haue bound our selues with a solemne curse, that we will eat nothing, vntill we haue slaine Paul.

15 Now therefore, ye and the 8 Councell, signifie to the chiefe captaine, that hee bring him forth vnto you to morow: as though you would know something more perfectly of him, and we, or euer he come nere, will be ready to kill him.

16 But when Pauls sisters some heard of their laying a wait, he went, and entred into the castell, and tolde Paul.

17 ¹¹ And Paul called one of the Centurions vnto him, and said, Take this yong man hence vnto the chiefe captaine: for hee hath a certaine thing to shew him.

18 So he tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine, and sayd, Paul the prisoner called me vnto him, and prayed me to bring this yoong man vnto thee, which hath something to say vnto thee.

19 Then the chiefe capitaine tooke him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to shew me?

20 And beſayd, The Iewes haue conſpired to deſire thee, that thou wouldſt bring forth Paul to ſhew him into the coſtell, as though they would inquire ſomewhat of him more perfectly :

21 But let them not persuade thee: for there lie in wait for him of them, more then forty men, which have bound themselves with a curse, that they will neither eat nor drinke, till they have killed him: and now are they ready, and wait for thy promise.

23 The chiefe captaine ther let the young tran depart, after hee had charged him to vtter it to no man, tunc he hadt shewed him these things.

23 And he called unto him two certaine Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred souldiers, that they may go to Caesarea, and horsemen threeſcore and ten, and two hundred with darts, at the third houre of the night :

24 And let them make ready an horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe vnto Felix the Gouverneur.

25 And he wrote an epistle in this maner :

26 13 CLAUDIUS Lysias vnto the most noble
Gouernour Fœlix sendeth greeting.

27 As this man was taken of the Iewes, and should haue bene killed of them, I came vpon them with the garison, and rescued him, perceiuing that he was a Romane.

28 And when I would haue knowne the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Councell.

29 There I perceived that he was accused of questions of their Law, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was shewed me; how that the Jewes layd wait for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commanded his accusers to speake before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the souldiers as it was commanded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Agripas:

32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to go with him, and returned vnto the Castell.

33 Now when they came to Caesarea, they delivered the epistle to the Gouvernour, and presented Paul also vnto him.

34 So when the Gouvernour had read it, he asked of what province he was : and when he understood that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will heare thee, said he, when thine accusers are also come, and commanded him to be kept in Herods judgement hall.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Tyrannus accuseth Paul: 10 He answereth for himself: 17 He preacheth Christ to the governor and his wife. 27 Felix hopeth, but in vain, to receive a bribe, 38 who going from his office leaveth Paul in prison.

NOW after these dayes, Ananias the hie Priest came downe with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certeine oratour, which appeared before the Cōuēnour against Paul.

2 And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that we have obtained great quietnesse through thee, and that many ^h woorthy things are done vnto this nation through thy providence,

3 We acknowledge it wholly, and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thanks.

5 Certainly we haue found this man a pestilent fellow, and a mouer of sedition among all the Iewes thorowout the world, and a chiefe mainteince of the sect of the Nazarites:

6 And hath gone about to pollute the Temple : therefore we tooke him , and would haue iudged him according to our Law :

7 But the chiefe captaine Lyfias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him out of our hands.

9 And the Iewes likewise affirmed, saying that it was so.
 10 Then Paul, after that the governour had beckoned vnto him that he should speak, answered, I do the more gladly answer for my selfe, forasmuch as I know that thou hast bene of many yerres a iudge vnto this nation,
 11 Seeing that thou mayest know, that there are but twelue dayes since I came vp to worship in Hierusalem.
 12 And they neither found mee in the Temple, disputing with any man, neither making vproug among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the city.
 13 Neither can they prouoe the things, whereof they now accuse me.
 14 But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way (which they call heresie) do worship I the God of my fathers, beleueing all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets,
 15 And haue hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselves look for also, shalbe both of iust and iniust.
 16 And herein I deniour my selfe to haue alway a cleare conscience toward God and toward men.
 17 A Now after many yerres, I came & brought almes to my nation and offerings.
 18 At what time, certaine Iewes of Asia found mee iurised in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.
 19 Who ought to haue bene present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.
 20 Or let these themselves say, if they haue found any iust thing in me, while I stood in the Council, 21 Except in this for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.
 22 Now when Felix heard these things, hee deferred them, and said, When I shall more perfectly know the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lyfias the chiefe Captaine, I will decide your matter.
 23 Then hee commanded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he should haue care, and that he should for bid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.
 24 And after certeine dayes, came Felix with his wife Druisilla, which was a Iewesse, and he called forth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.
 25 And as hee disposed of righteousnes & temperance, & of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I haue convenient time, I will call for thee.
 26 Hee hoped also that money should haue bene giuen him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore he sent for him the oftener, and commended with him.
 27 When two yerres were expired, Porcius

Festus came into Felix roomes: and Felix willing to get fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

When Festus was then come into the province, after three dayes hee went vp from Caesarea vnto Hierusalem.

Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him against Paul: and they besought him,

And desired fauour against him, that hee would send for him to Hierusalem: and they layd wait to kill him by the way.

But Felix answered, that Paul should be kept at Caesarea, & that he himselfe would shortly depart thither.

Let them therefore, sayd he, which among you are able, come downe with vs: and if there be any wickednesse in the man, let them accuse him.

Now when he had taried among them no more then ten dayes, he went downe to Caesarea, and the next daye fate in the iudgement seat, and commanded Paul to be brought.

Forasmuch as he answered, that he had neither offended any thing against the lawe of the Iewes, neither against the temple, nor against Cesar.

Yet Festus willing to get fauour of the Iewes, answered Paul and sayd, Wilt thou go vp to Hierusalem, & there be iudged of these things before me?

Then said Paul, I stand at Caesars iudgement seat, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes I haue done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.

For if I haue done wrong, or committed any thing woorthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliuer me to them: I appeale vnto Cesar.

Then when Festus had spoken with the Councell, he answered, Hast thou appealed vnto Cesar? vnto Cesar shalt thou go.

And after certeine dayes: King Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Caesarea to salute Festus.

And when they had remained there many dayes, Festus declared Pauls cause vnto the Kings, saying, There is a certaine man left in prison by Felix,

Of whom when I came to Hierusalem, the high Priests and Elders of the Iewes informed me, and desired to haue iudgement against him.

To whom I answered, that it is not the manner of the Romans for fauor to deliuer any man to the death, before that he which is accused, haue the accusers before him, and haue place to defend himselfe, concerning the crime.

they brought no crime of such things as I supposed :

9 But had certain questions against him of their owne ^dsuperstition, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive.

10 And because I doubted of such manner of question, I asked him whether he would goe to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things.

11 But because he appealed to be referred to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Cesar.

12 Then Agrippa said vnto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morrow, said hee, thou shalt heare him.

13 And on the morowe when Agrippa was come and Bernice with great pompe, and were entred into the Common hall with the chiefe capitaines and chiefe men of the cite, at Festus commandement Paul was brought forth.

14 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with vs, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Iewes have called vpon me, both at Hierusalem, and heere, crying, that he ought not to liue any longer.

15 Yet haue I found nothing worthy of death, that hee hath committed: neither hellesie, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him.

16 Of whom I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my Lord: wherefore I haue brought him forth vnto you, and especially vnto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue somewhat to write.

17 For me thinketh it unreasonable to send a prisoner, and not to shewe the causes which are laid against him.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Paul in the presence of Agrippa, & declareth his life from his childhood, to the calling, 13 with such effluie of words, 18 that almost he perswaded him to Christianity: 30 That he and his company depart doing nothing in Pauls matter.

1 Hen Agrippa said vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himselfe.

2 I thinke my selfe happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answer this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Iewes:

3 Chiefly, because thou hast knowledge of all customes, and questions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beseech thee to heare mee patiently.

4 And as touching my life from my childhood, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, knowe all the Iewes,

5 Which knewe me heretofore, euen from my Elders (if they would testifie) that after the most strait sect of our religion I liued a Pharise.

6 And nowe I stand and am accused for the hope of the promes made of God vnto our fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelve tribes instantly serving God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes.

8 Why should it be thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God should raise againe the dead?

9 I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things against the Name of Iesus of Nazareth.

10 Which thing I also did in Hierusalem: for many of the Sains I shut vp in prison, hauing receiued authoritie of the hie Priests, and when they were put to death, I gaue my sentence.

11 And I punished them throughout all the Synagogues, & compelled them to blaspheme, and being more madde against them, I persecuted them, euen vnto strange cities.

12 At which time, euen as I went to a Damascus with authoritie, and commission from the hie Priests, 13 At midday, O King, I saw in the way a light from heauen, ouerhailling the brightnesse of the sunne, shine round about me, and them which went with me.

14 So when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voyce speaking vnto me, & saying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke against prickles.

15 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand vp on thy feet: for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpose, to appoint thee this a minister and a witnesse, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from this people, and to the Gentiles, vnto whom now I send thee,

18 To open their eyes, that they may turne from darkenesse to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiveness of finnes, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

19 Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient vnto the heauently vision, 20: But shewed first vnto them of Damascus, and at Hierusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Iudea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turne to God, and doe works worthy amendment of life.

21 For this cause the Iewes caught me in the Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 Nevertheless, I obtained helpe of God, and continue vnto this day, witnessing both to small and to great, (saying none other things, then those which the Prophets and Moses did say should come,

23 To wit, that Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and should shew light vnto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 And as he thus answered for himselfe, Festus said with a loud voyce, Paul, thou art besides thy selfe, much learning doeth make thee madde.

25 But he said, I am not mad, O noble Festus, but I speake the wordes of truth and sobernesse.

26 For the King knoweth of these things, before whom also I speake boldly: for I am perswaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a corner.

27 O King Agrippa, becauseth thou the Prophets? I know that thou believest.

28 Then Agrippa said vnto Paul, Almost thou perswadest me to become a Christian.

29 Then Paul said, I would to God that not only thou, but also all that heare me to day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

30 And when he had thus spoken, the King

Chap. 23.

I am confounded, and allowed of thee saying: for he was not a sinner. By his own punishment. Chap. 24.

The end of the Gospel is to loue them which are brought to the knowledge of Christ, and are faithful and faithful in him being laid hold on by faith. Paul alledged God to be author of the office of his Apostleship, and his grace as a witness. Chap. 23. 26. and 24. Chap. 24. 20. Christ is the end of the Law, and the Prophets. To turne our hearts to Christ. Iohns not be such a King as the Iewes dreamed of, but one appointed to heare our sinnes, and the punishment of our sinnes. The first of them which are raised from the dead. Left yet, and that a small light left which should enlighten: and this is the light of the Gospel, which almost in all languages signifies sometimes death, and sometimes wisdom and salvation. The wisdom of God is made manifest to foolish, yet notwithstanding we foolishly as we know the truth of it secretly, and privately. Paul is here forgetting himselfe, that he is dead a prisoner to defend his cause, forgetteth not the office of his Apostleship. I would to God that not only thou, but also all that heare me to day, might be made as I am, my bonds except, to Paul is saluational quiet, and yet not dissatisfied.

round the gouernour, and Benice, and they that late with them.

20 And when they were gone apart, they talked betwene themselves, saying, This man doeth nothing worthe of death, nor of bonds.

21 Then said Agrippa vnto Felus, This man might haue bene loosed, if he had not appealed vnto Cesar.

CHAP. XXVII.

2 Paul 7. a foretelleth the perill of the voyage, 11 but he is not beleued, 12 They are tossed to and fro with the tempest, 21. 41 and suffer shipwracke: 39 Yet all safe and sound, 44 escape to land.

Now when it was concluded, that we should saile into Italie, they deliuered both Paul, and certaine other prisoners vnto a Centurion named Iulius, of the hand of Augustus.

2 And 4 we entred into a shipp of Adramy-tum, purposing to saile by the coastes of Asia, and launched forth, and had Aristarchis of Macedonia, a Thessalonian, with vs.

3 And the next day we arrived at Sidon: and Iulius courteously entreated Paul, and gaue him libertie to go vnto his friends, that they might refresh him.

4 And from thence we launched, & sailed hard by Cyprus, because the windees were contrary.

5 Then sailed we ouer the sea by Cilicia, and Pamphylia, and came to Myra, a citie in Lycia.

6 And there the Centurion found a shipp of Alexandria, sayling into Italie, and put vs therein.

7 And when we had sailed slowly many dayes, and fearee were come against Gnidium, because the winde suffered vs not, we failed hard by Candie, neere to Solomoe.

8 And with much adoe sayled beyond it, and came vnto a certaine place called the Iyre habens, neere vnto the which was the citie Lasea.

9 So when much time was spent, and sayling was now iopardous, because allo the 10 Fast was now passed, Paul exhorted them,

10 And said vnto them, Syrs, I see that this voyage will be with hurt & much damage, not of the lading and ship onely, but also of our liues.

11 Nethertheless the Centurion beleued rather the gouernour and the master of the shipp, then those things which were spoken of Paul.

12 And because the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many toke counsell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an haue of Candie, and lyeth toward the Southwest and by West, and Northwest and by West.

13 And when the Southerne winde blew softly, they supposing to attaine their purpose, loosed neerer, and failed by Candie.

14 But anon after, there arose by e a stormie winde called e Euroclydon.

15 And when the ship was caught, and could not resist the winde, we let her go, and were carried away.

16 And we ran vnder a litle yle named Claudia, and had much adoe to get the boate.

17 Which they tooke vp and vsed all helpe, vnderprieing the ship, fearing least they should haue fallen into Syrtis, and they brake saile, and so were caried.

18 The next day when we were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lighted on the shippe.

19 And the thirde day we cast out with our owne handes the tackling of the shippe.

20 And when neither sunne nor starres in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest lay vpon vs, all hope that we should be saued, was then taken away.

21 But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the mids of them, and said, Syrs, ye should haue hearkened to me, and not haue loosed from Candie: so should ye haue gained this hurt and losse.

22 But now I exhort you to be of good courage: for there shall be no losse of any mans life among you, saue of the shippe onely.

23 For there stood by me this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whome I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Cesar: and loe, God hath giuen vnto thee freely all that saile with thee.

25 Wherefore, sit, be of good courage: for I beleue God, that it shall be so as it hath bene told me.

26 Howbeit, we must be cast into a certaine land.

27 And when the fourteenth night was come, as we were carryed to and fro in the e Adriaticall sea about midnight, the slapens deemed that some countrey approached vnto them,

28 And founded, & found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a litle further, they founded againe, and found fifteene fathoms.

29 Then fearing lest they should haue fallen into some rough places, they cast foure ankers out of the sterne, and wished that the day were come.

30 Nowe as the mariners were about to flee out of the ship, and had let downe the boate into the sea vnder a colour as though they would haue cast ankers out of the fore-shipp, 31 Paul said vnto the Centurion and the souldiers, Except these abide in the shippe, ye can not be safe.

32 Then the souldiers cut off the ropes of the boate, and let it fall away.

33 And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meate, saying, This is the fourteenth day that ye haue taried, and continued fasting, receiuing nothing:

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meate: for this is for your safegard: for there shall not an haire fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, he tooke bread, and gaue thanks to God, in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they afo tooke meate.

37 Now we were in the shippe in all two hundred threcore and sixtie en foules.

38 And when they had eaten ynough, they lightened the ship, & cast out the wheat into the fra.

39 And when it was day, they knew not the countrey, but they spied a certaine creeke with a banke, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the shippe.

40 So when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed the ship vnto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoiued vp the maine saile to the winde, and drew to the shore.

41 And when they fel into a place, where it was fass meate, they thrust in the ship: and the forepart stucke fast, & could not be moued, but the hinderpart was broken with the violence of the waves.

God spaketh the wicked for a sin, for his chide and choises sake.

The promise is made effectual through faith.

We attaine and come to the promised and last destination through the midst of tempests and death is life.

For Pauls sake, which, that he, shall attend his own sake upon the full shore of Sin.

For they they do not receive from countrey.

There is some to loose meate, when some die, and an call confidence do not enforce me.

2 Paul with many other prisoners, & through the midst of many deaths, is brought to Rome, but yet by Gods owne hand as it were, and let forth as commanded was the world with many singular testimonies, 4. Cor. 1.25.

2 Which was an high hill of Candie, a Gods providence taketh not away the causes which God vouch as means, but rather ordereth and disposeth their signis vnto ones there when he openeth an extraordinary issue.

3 This is meant of the Iyre fish, which they kept in the shell of caput. When we read, Rom. 23. 27, which fell in the fourth month which we call October, and is not good for navigation, or sailing.

4 Men call them felons willingly when an insurre for of dangers, when they chole to followe their owne wisdomes, rather then Gods speaking by the mouth of his servants.

5 By Candie, from whose shore our ship was driven by that means, 6 Northwest winde, 7 The ende promise that none promise worse for themselves, then they which commit theprieles to be gouerned onely by their owne wisdomes.

12 There is no more violence vs. the Barbarians & the Gentiles than the Jews. 13 But the Centurion willing to save Paul, stayed them from this counsell, and commanded that they that could swimme, should cast them selves first into the sea, and goe out to land.

14 And the other, some on boardes, and some on certaine pieces of the ship: and so it came to passe that they came all safe to land.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The Barbarians carrie themselves Paul and his companions. 2 A viper on Pauls hande. 3 The soldiers in off without harme. 4 Publius, 9 and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Melita, 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul speaketh to the Jewes. 20 The cause of his coming: 23 He prayeth Iesus go two yeeres.

And when they were come safe, then they knew that the Isle was called a Melita.

2 And the Barbarians shewed vs no little kinnesse, for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery one, because of the present shewre, and because of the colde.

3 And when Paul had gathered a number of stickes, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heate, and leapt on his hand.

4 Now when the Barbarians saw the worme hang on his hande, they fynde among themselves, This man surely is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet b Vengeance hath not suffered to liue.

5 But he shook off the worme into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit they waited when he should haue swolne, or fallen down dead suddenly: but after they had looked a great while, and saw no inconvenience come to him, they changed their mindes, and said, That he was a God.

7 In the fame quarters, the chiefe man of the Isle (whose name was Publius) had possession: the same receiued vs, and lodged vs three dayes courteously.

8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sicke of the feuer, and of a bloodie fluxe: whom Paul entred in, and when he prayed, he layde his hands on him, and healed him.

9 When this then was done, other also in the Isle, which had diseases came to him, and were healed.

10 Which also did vs great honour: and when we departed, they laied vs with things necessarie.

11 ¶ Now after three moneths we departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the Isle, whose d badge was Caffor, and Pollux.

12 And when we arrived at Syracuse, we taried there three dayes.

13 And from thence we set a compassse, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South winde blew, and wee came the second day to Puteoli.

14 Where we found brethren, and were defired to tary with them seuen dayes, and so wee went toward Rome.

15 ¶ And from thence, when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meete vs at the Marker of Appius, and at the three tayernes, whom when Paul sawe, hee thanked God, and waxed bolde.

16 So when we came to Rome, the Centurion deliuered the prisoners to the generall Capitaine: but Paul was suffered to dwell by himselfe with a souldier that kept him.

17 ¶ And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Jewes together, and when they were come, hee sayde vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing against the people, or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the hands of the Romanes.

18 Who when they had examined me, would haue let me goe, because there was no cause of death in me.

19 ¶ But when the Jewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore haue I called for you, to see you, and to speake with you: for that hope of Israels sake, I am bound with this chaine.

21 Then they fynde vnto him, We neither receiued letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that shewed or spake any euill of thee.

22 But we will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this fekt, we knowe that euery where it is spoken against.

23 ¶ And when they had appoynted him a day, there came many vnto him into his lodgings, to whom hee expounded & testifying the kingdom of God, and perswading them those things that concerne Iesus, both out of the Lawe of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 ¶ And some were perswaded w things which were spoken, and some beleued not.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselves, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Elias the Prophet vnto our fathers, 26 Saying, Go vnto this people, and say, By hearing ye shall heare, & shal not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and not perceiue.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fatte, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes haue they winked, least they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and shoulde returne that I might heale them.

28 ¶ See it knowne therefore vnto you, that this saluation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall haue it.

29 ¶ And when he had saide these things, the Jewes departed, and had great reasoning among themselves.

30 ¶ And Paul remained two yeeres full in an house hired for himselfe, and receiued all that came in vnto him, 31 Preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concerne the Lord Iesus Christ, with all boldnesse of speech, without let.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAUL TO THE ROMANES.

CHAP. I.

1 We first sheweth on what authoritie this Apostles handeth, 25 Then he commendeth the Gospel, 16 by which God sheweth his power to those that are saved by faith, as but were guilty of wicked and unrighteous life: 26 For which his wrath is so worthily poured on them, so that they have bending to all kinds of sinne.

PAUL a servant of Iesus Christ called to be an Apostle, & put apart to preach the Gospel of God,

(Which he had promised afore by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures)

3 Concerning his Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord (which was made of the seed of Dauid according to the flesh,

4 And declared his mightily to be the sonne of God, touching the Spirit of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead)

5 By whom we have received grace and Apostleship (that I obedience might be given vnto the faith) for his name among all the Gentiles, 6 Among whom ye be also the called of Iesus Christ.

7 To all you that be at Rome beloued of God, called to be Saints: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.

8 First I thank my God through Iesus Christ for you all, because your faith is published throughout the whole world.

9 For God is my witness (whome I serue in my spirit in the Gospel of his Sonne) that without ceasing I make mention of you.

10 Always in my prayers, beseeching that by some meanes, one time or other I might haue a prosperous iourney by the will of God, to come vnto you.

11 For I long to see you, that I might bestow among you some spirituall gift, that you might be strengthened.

12 That is that I might be comforted together with you, through our mutual faith, both yours and mine.

13 Now my brethren, I would that ye should not be ignorant, how that I haue oftentimes pur-posed to come vnto you (but haue bin let hither-to) that I might haue some fruite also among you, as I haue among the other Gentiles.

14 I am deterred both to the Grecians; and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and to the vnwise.

15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you also here at Rome.

16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God vnto saluation to euery one that beleueth, to the Iew first, and also to the Grecian.

17 For by it the righteousnesse of God is reuelled from faith to faith: 7 as it is written, The iust shall liue by faith, 18 For the wrath of God is reuelled from heauen against all vngodlinesse, and vnrighteousnesse of men, which withholdeth the truth in vnrighteousnesse.

19 Forasmuch as that, which may be knowne of God, is manifest in them: for God hath shewed it vnto them.

20 For the inuisible things of him, that is, his eternal power & Godhead, are seene by creation of the world, being considered in his works, to the intent that they should be without excuse:

21 Because that when they knewe God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vaine in their thoughts, and their foolish heart was full of darkness.

22 When they professed themselves to bee wise, they became fooles.

23 For they turned the glory of the incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birdes, and foule, and of creeping things.

24 Wherefore also God gave them vp to their hearts lusts, vnto vncleannes, to defile their owne bodies betweene their felices:

25 Which turned the truth of God vnto a lie, and worshipped and serued the creature, forsaking the Creator, which is blessed for euer, Amen.

26 For this cause God gave them vp vnto vile affections: for euen their women did change the naturall vse into that which is against nature.

27 And likewise also the men left the naturall vse of the woman, and burned in their lust one to another, and man with man wrought filthy-nesse, and recieued in themselves such recompence of their error, as was meete.

to condemnation: Therefore must they needs seeke righteousnes in some other way. Against all kinds of vngodlinesse, & by much paine wrought of the heart to liue in many faces his, follow as though they being led thereby were able to come into fellowship with God: but their owne vnto might condemn them of much filthie life against God and men. Their vngodliness he proueth thereby that although all men haue a good cleare and euident place wherein to behold the euill which and almightie nature of God, euen in his creatures, yet haue they fallen away from those principles to make foules and foules of their owne braines in constituting and appointing the seruice of God. As further letters, & they fell out with God, and yet they acknowledge him as God by his works, & yet they do not honour him with that honour and service, which was made for his worshiping power and Godhead. As for the true Godly they took another, to the vngodliness of men he setteth forth first in this, that euen against nature following their lusts, they defiled themselves one with another, by the iust iudgement of God. The receipt of religion is the foundation of all mischiefs, & as a last iudgment, I reward for their desires.

16 The man that doeth in Rome, though some of them were not Romanes, yet the end of the Gospel is the second part of the Epistle, vnto the beginning of the 23. chapter. We see the whole end and purpose of the dispensation in this: that is to say, that there is but one way to attain vnto saluation (which is set forth vnto vs of God in the Gospel, without any difference of nations) and that is by faith in Christ, which is the only way to saluation.

17 The conclusion of the first proposition is taught in the Gospel: that we are justified before God by faith which increaseth continually and also leadeth to the life of God.

18 The conclusion of the second proposition, that is, that we are justified before God by faith which increaseth continually and also leadeth to the life of God.

19 The conclusion of the third proposition, that is, that we are justified before God by faith which increaseth continually and also leadeth to the life of God.

20 The conclusion of the fourth proposition, that is, that we are justified before God by faith which increaseth continually and also leadeth to the life of God.

21 The conclusion of the fifth proposition, that is, that we are justified before God by faith which increaseth continually and also leadeth to the life of God.

10 And if Christ be in you, the body is dead, because of sinne: but the Spirit is life for righteousness sake.

11 But if the Spirit of him that raised vp Iesus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raised vp Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortal bodies, by his Spirit that dwelleth in you.

12 Therefore brethren, we are debtors not to the flesh to live after the flesh:

13 For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye mortifie the deedes of the body by the Spirit, ye shall live.

14 For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.

15 For ye have not receiued the Spirit of bondage, to feare againe: but ye have receiued Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

16 The same Spirit beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God.

17 If we be children, we are also heires, euen the heires of God, and heires annexed with Christ: so if so be that we suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him.

18 For I count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glory, which shall be shewed vnto vs.

19 For the seruent desire of the creature waiteth when the sonnes of God shall be reueiled,

20 Because the creature is subiect to vanitie, no, of it owne wil, but by reason of him, which hath subdued it vnder hope,

21 Because the creature also shall be deliuered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God.

22 For wee know that euery creature groaneth with vs also, and travaileth in paine together vnto this present.

23 And not onely the creature, but we also which haue the first fruites of the Spirit, euen we doe sigh in our flesh, waiting for the adoption, even so for the redemption of our body.

24 For wee are saved by hope: but hope that is seene, is not hope: for howe can a man hope for that which he seeth?

25 But if we hope for that we see not, we doe with patience abide it.

26 Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what to pray as wee ought: but the Spirit it self maketh request for vs with sighs, which cannot be exprest.

27 But he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for Saints, according to the wil of God.

28 Also wee know that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to those that are called of his purpose.

29 For those which he knew before, he also predestinate to be made like to the image of his Sonne, that he might be the first borne among many brethren.

30 Moreouer whom he predestinate, them also he called, & whom he called, them also he iustificed, & whom he iustificed, them he also glorified.

31 What shall we then say to these things? If God be on our side, who can be against vs?

32 Who spared not his owne Sonne, but gave him for vs all to death, how shall he not with him give vs all things also?

33 Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? it is God that iustificeth.

34 Who shall condemne? it is Christ which is dead, yea, or rather, which is risen againe, who is also at the right hand of God, & maketh request also for vs.

35 Who shall separate vs from the loue of Christ? Who shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or perill, or sword?

36 As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all day long: we are counted as sheep for slaughter.

37 Neuertheless, in all these things we are more then conquerours through him whom we loued vs.

38 For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate vs from the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesus our Lord.

40 Which is by the Spirit of God, who is sealed by him, and hath the first fruits of the Spirit in our hearts.

41 Therefore we know that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to those that are called of his purpose.

42 Also wee know that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to those that are called of his purpose.

43 Who shall separate vs from the loue of Christ? Who shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or perill, or sword?

44 As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all day long: we are counted as sheep for slaughter.

45 Neuertheless, in all these things we are more then conquerours through him whom we loued vs.

46 For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

47 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate vs from the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesus our Lord.

48 Therefore we know that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to those that are called of his purpose.

49 Also wee know that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to those that are called of his purpose.

50 Therefore we know that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to those that are called of his purpose.

51 Therefore we know that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to those that are called of his purpose.

52 Therefore we know that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to those that are called of his purpose.

53 Therefore we know that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to those that are called of his purpose.

54 Therefore we know that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to those that are called of his purpose.

some embrace a Christ, who is the end of the Law. 15 He showeth that Moses foretold the calling of the Gentiles, 30 and blameth the hardness of the Jews.

20 Destroy not the worke of God for meates sake: ☿ all things in deed are pure: but ☿ is euill for the man which eateth with offence.

21 ☿ It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drinke wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or made weake.

22 ☿ Hailt thou a quaiſt? I haue it with thy ſelfe before God: bleſſed ☿ he that condemneth not himſelfe in that thing which he ſalloweth.

CHAP. XV.

☿ The ſtronger muſt impley their ſtrength to ſtrengthen the weaker, ☿ By Chriſtes example, ☿ who receiued ſheweth the weaker, ☿ ſo haue alſo the Gentiles, ☿ The cauſe why hee wrote this Epistle.

WHICH are ſtrong, ought to beare the infirmities of the weake, & not to ☿ pleaſe our ſelues.

2 Therefore let euery man pleaſe his neighbour in that that is ☿ good to edification.

3 ☿ For Chriſt alſo would not pleaſe himſelfe, but as it is written, ☿ The rebukes of them which rebuke thee, ſell on me.

4 ☿ For whatſoeuer things are written ☿ aforetime, are written for our learning, that we through patience, and comfort of the ☿ Scriptures might haue hope.

5 ☿ Now the God of patience and conſolation giue you that ye be ☿ like minded one toward another, according to Chriſt Ieſus,

6 That yee with one minde, and with one mouth may praife God, euen the Father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, 7 Wherefore receiue ye one another, as Chriſt alſo ☿ receiued vs to the glory of God.

8 ☿ Nowe I ſay, that Ieſus Chriſt was a miniſter of the ☿ circumciſion, for the ☿ trueth of God, to confirme the promiſes made vnto the fathers.

9 ☿ And let the Gentiles praife God, for his mercie, as it is written. ☿ For this cauſe I will ☿ conſiſte thee among the Gentiles, and ſing vnto thy Name.

10 And againe he ſaith, ☿ Reioyce, yee Gentiles with his people.

11 And againe, ☿ Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles, and laude ye him, all people together.

12 And againe Iſaias ſaith, ☿ There ſhall bee

a roote of Ieſſe, and he that ſhall liſe to reigne ouer the Gentiles, in him ſhall the Gentiles truſt.

13 ☿ Now the God of ☿ hope fill you with ☿ al ioye, and peace in beleeking, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghoſt.

14 ☿ And I my ſelfe alſo am perſwaded of you, my brethren, that ☿ ye alſo are full of goodneſſe, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admoniſh one another.

15 Neuertheleſſe, brethren, I haue ſomewhat boldly after a ſort written vnto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is giuen me of God,

16 That I ſhould be the miniſter of Ieſus Chriſt toward the Gentiles, miniſtring the Goſpel of God, that the ☿ offering vp of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being ſanctified by the holy Ghoſt.

17 ☿ I haue therefore whereof I may reioyce in Chriſt Ieſus thoſe things which pertaine to God,

18 For I dare not ſpeake of any thing, which ☿ Chriſt hath not wrought by mee, ☿ make the Gentiles obedient in word and deede,

19 With the ☿ power of ſignes and wonders, by the power of the ſpirit of God: ſo that from Hieruſalem, and round about vnto Illyricum, I haue cauſed to abound the Goſpel of Chriſt.

20 Yea, ſo I enforced my ſelfe to preach the Goſpel, not where Chriſt was named, leſt I ſhould haue built on another mans foundation.

21 But as it is written, ☿ To whom he was not ſpoken of, they ſhall ſee him, and they that heard not, ſhall vnderſtand him.

22 ☿ Therefore alſo I haue bene oft let to come vnto you:

23 But now ſeeing I haue no more place in theſe quarters, and alſo haue ☿ bene deſirous many yeeres agone to come vnto you,

24 When I ſhall take my iourney into Spaine, I will come to you: for I truſt to ſee you in my iourney, and to be brought on my way thitherward by you, after that I haue bene ſomewhat filled with your ☿ compaſſion.

25 But now goe I to Hieruſalem, to ☿ miniſter vnto the Saines.

26 For it hath pleaſed them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certaine diſtribution vnto the poore Saines which are at Hieruſalem.

27 ☿ For it hath pleaſed them, and their detters are they: ☿ ſo far if the Gentiles be made partakers of their ſpirituall things, their dutie is alſo to ☿ miniſter vnto them in carnall things.

28 When I haue therefore performed this, and haue ☿ ſaled them this ☿ fruite, I will paſſe by you into Spaine.

29 ☿ And I knowe when I come, that I ſhall

CHAP. XVI.

1 He commendeth Phoebe, 3 He sendeth greeting to many, 17 And warneth to beware of them which are the cause of diuision.

I Commende vnto you Phoebe our sister, which is a seruante of the Church of Cenchrea:

2 That yee receiue her in the name of the Lorde, as it becometh Saintes, and that yee assist her in whatsoever businesse shee needeth of your ayde: for she hath giuen hospitalitie vnto many, and to me also.

3 Greete Priscilla, and Aquila my fellowe helpers in Christ Iesus,

4 (Which haue for my life layde downe their owne necke, vnto whome not I only giue thanks, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles)

5 Likewise greete the Church that is in their house. Salute my beloued Epeneus, which is the first fruite of Achaia in Christ.

6 Greete Marie which bestowed much labour on vs.

7 Salute Andronicus and Iunia my cousins and fellowe prisoners, which are notable among the Apostles, and were in Christ before me.

8 Greete Amplias my beloued in the Lord.

9 Salute Vrbanus my fellowe helper in Christ, and Stachys my beloued.

10 Salute Apelles approved in Christ. Salute them which are of Aristobulus friends.

11 Salute Herodion my kinsman. Greete them which are of the friends of Narcissus which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, which women labour in the Lorde. Salute the beloued Persis, which woman hath laboured much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greete Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermes, Patrobas, Mercurius, and the brethren which are with them.

15 Salute Philologus and Iulias, Nereas, and his sister, and Olympia, and all the Saintes which are with them.

16 Salute one another with an holy kiss. The Churches of Christ salute you.

17 ¶ Nowe I beseech you brethren, marke them diligently which cause diuision and offences, contrarie to the doctrine which ye haue learned, and auoyde them.

18 For they that are such, serue not the Lorde Iesus Christ but their owne belies, & with a faire speach and flattering deceiue the heartes of the simple.

19 ¶ For your obedience is come abroad among all: I am glad therefore of you: but yet I would haue you a wise vnto that which is good, and a simple concerning euill.

20 ¶ The God of peace shall treade Satan vnder your feete shortly. The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you.

21 ¶ Timothyus my helper, and Lucius and Iason, and Sosipater my kinsmen, salute you.

22 I Tertius, which wrote out this Epistle, salute you in the Lord.

23 Gaius mine hoste, & of the whole Church saluteth you. Erastus the steward of the citie saluteth you, and Quartus a brother.

24 ¶ The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

25 ¶ To him nowe that is of power to establish you according to my Gospel, and preaching of Iesus Christ, by the reuelation of the mystrie, which was kept secrete since the worlde began:

26 (But nowe is opened, and published among all nations by the Scriptures of the Prophets, at the commandement of the euerglasting God for the obedience of faith)

27 To God, I say, onely wife, be praise through Iesus Christ for euer. Amen.

3 Simplicitie must be ioyned with wisdom. 4 Furnished with the knowledge of the truth, and wisdom, that you may embrace good things, and abstaine from the deceit & snares of false prophete, and resist infirmie in you, in that ye go to law one with another: 7 why rather suffer ye not wrong? why rather sustaine ye not harme?

8 Nay, ye your felues doe wrong, and doe harme, and that to your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the vnrighteous shall not inherite the kingdome of God? 10 Be not decciued: neither fornicatours, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wantons, nor buggers,

10 Nor theues, nor couetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shal inherite the kingdome of God.

11 And such were: some of you: but yee are washed, but yee are sanctified, but yee are iustified in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and by the Spirit of our God.

12 ¶ All things are lawfull vnto me, but all things are not profitable. I may doe all things, but I will not bee brought vnder the power of any thing.

13 Meates are ordeined for the belly, and the belly for the meates: but God shall destroy both it, and them. Now the body is not for fornication; but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath also raised vp the Lorde, and shall raise vs vp by his power.

15 Know ye not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? Shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? For God forbid.

16 Do ye not know, that hee which coupleth himselfe with an harlot, is one body? 17 for two, saith he, shalbe one flesh.

17 But hee that ioyned vnto the Lord, is one spirite,

18 ¶ Flee fornication: every sinne that a man doeth, is without the body: but he that committeth fornication, sinneth against his owne body.

19 Know ye not, that your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye haue of God? and ye are not your owne.

20 For ye are bought for a price: therefore glorifie God in your body, and in your spirite: for they are Gods.

CHAP. VII.

1 ¶ Justifying here of marriage, which is a remedy against fornication, to and may not be broken, 2. so he which every man is line conuined with his wife. 3. Hee flourish what the ends of virginity should be, 3. and who ought to marry.

NOW concerning the things whereof yee wrote vnto me, it was good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Neuerthelesse, to auoide fornication, let euery man haue his wife, and let euery woman haue her owne husband.

3 Let the husband giue vnto the wife due beneuolence, and likewise also the wife vnto the husband.

4 The wife hath not the power of her owne body but the husband: & likewise also husband hath not the power of his owne body, but the wife.

5 Defraud not one another, except it be with consent for a time, that ye may giue your felues to fasting and prayer, and againe come together that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

6 But I speake this by permission, not by commandement.

7 For I would that all men were euen as I my selfe am: but euery man hath his proper gift of God, one after this manner, and another after that.

8 Therefore I say vnto the vnmarried, and vnto the widowes, it is good for them if they abide euen as I doe.

9 But if they cannot abstaine, let them marrie: for it is better to marrie them, than to burne.

10 ¶ And to you that are married I command, not I, but the Lord, Let not your wife depart from her husband.

11 But and if he depart, let her remain vnmarried, or be reconciled vnto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 But to you that remain I speake, & not the Lord, If any brother haue a wife, let him cleaue not, if hee be content to dwell with him, let him not forsake her.

13 And the woman which hath an husbande that beleueeth not, if he be content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him.

touching the body, so that they may not defraude one another. 4. The aduersary exception, which the one side from the other by mutual consent. 5. That they may the better giue themselves to prayer, where in we will stand, but we are not to consider what is expedient, left by this long breaking off as it were from marriage, they be stirred up to incontinencie. 6. Doe nothing else. 7. Fifty he teacheth that marriage is not simply necessary for all men, but for them which haue not the gift of continencie, and that gift is by a peculiar grace of God. 8. 7. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 9 He answereth an objection: But the faithfull is defiled by the society of the vnsauithful. The Apostle denieth that, and prooueth that, the faithfull man with good confidence may vie the vessel of his vnsauithful wife: by this, that their children, which are borne of them, are accounted holy (that is, contained within the promise) for it is said to all the faithfull, I will be thy God, and the God of thy seed.

h The goalitie of the wife is of more force to cause their coupling together to be accounted holie, then the vnsauithfulness of the husband, to prophane the marriage.

i The faithfull is not sanctified, or made holy in his own person, but in respect of his wife, he is sanctified in her.

k To the faithfull husband.

l The place of judgment, and the opinion of others, should not make children to be baptised, and their opinion also, that make baptisme the very cause of saluation. For the children of the faithfull are holy, by vertue of the commandment, even before Baptisme, and baptisme is added to the state of their holinesse.

m He answereth to a question: what if the vnsauithfull forsake the faithfull? then is the faithfull free, (saith he, because he is forsoaken of the vnsauithfull. as if any such thing should arise, let any man upon pretence of this libertie, find some occasion to the vnsauithfull to depart, he giueth to vnderstand, that marriage contracted with an indelible ought peaceably to be kept, that if it be possible the infidel may be wonne to the faith.

n Tak on occasion by that which hee sayd of the bondage and libertie of matrimoine, he digresseth to a generall doctrine concerning the outward state and condition of many life, as Circumcision and vncircumcision, seruitude and libertie; warning euery man generally to line with a contented minde in the Lord, what state or condition fouer be in, because, that those outward things, as to be circumcised or vncircumcised, to be bond or free, are not of the substance (as they terme it) of the kingdom of heauen. n. Haab bound him to a certaine kind of life. 13 Notwithstanding he giueth vs to vnderstand, that in these examples all are equal of like fort: because that circumcision is not simply of it selfe to be desired, but such as are bound may desire to be free. Therefore herein only they are equal, that the kingdom of God consisteth not in them, therefore there are no hindrance to obey God. o He is said to gather his vnsauithfull, who by the helpe of a Christian, recurreth to an upper sinners; which is done by the drawing the sinner with an instrument to make it to couer the out, Coloss 3. 14. Tooke and 5. 24. ap. 1. Tim. 6. 1. p. Arbrough this call on were his vnsauithfull a calling for Christ. q He that is in state of a freeman, and is called to be a Christian. 1. Cor. 7. 29. 1. pet. 3. 19. r He sheweth the reason of the vnhelpefulness, because that he that desireth to be circumcised, maketh himselfe subiect to mans tradition, and not to God. And this may be much more vnderstood of superstitions, which sume do foolishly accompt for things indifferent. s A repetition of the generall doctrine. t He partly and from his heart, that your desires may be expressed to God. u He enioyneth virginities so many, yet he permitteth and prouideth for: for another respect, to wit, both for the necessity of the present time, because the faithfull could scarce abide in any place, and vie the commodities of this present life, and therefore such as were not troubled with families, might be the readier: and also for the cares of this life, which marriage draweth with it, of necessity, so that they cannot but haue their mindes distracted: and this hath place in women especially. v The Christians are confounded, thus I counsaile you. w It is I that make this which I am unable to graunte, and the word is, I am a man, yet I am not able to graunte it. x He hath obtained of the Lord to be such an one. y To remane a virgin. z For the vnsauithfull which the same are fully subiect vnto, who are continually iudged up and downe, so that their offences may drawe vs vnto marriage, more is that the vnsauithfull of the past vnsauithfulness to be.

14 For the vnsauithfull husband is sanctified to the wife, and the vnsauithfull wife is sanctified to the husband, else were your children vncleane: but now are they holy.

15 But if the vnsauithfull depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in subiection in such things: but God hath called vs in peace.

16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt haue thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt haue thy wife?

17 But as God hath called distributed to euery man, as the Lord hath called euery one, to let him walke, and so ordaine Lin all Churches.

18 Is any man called being circumcised? let him not: gather his vncircumcision: is any called vncircumcised? let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and vncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandments of God.

20 Let euery man abide in the same vocation wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a seruant? p care not for it: but if yet thou mayest be free, vie it rather.

22 For he that is called in the Lord, being a seruant, is the Lordes freeman: likewise also hee that is called being free, is Christes seruant.

23 Yee are bought with a price: be not the seruants of men.

24 Brethren, let euery man, wherein he was called, therein abide with God.

25 Nowe concerning virgins, I haue no commandment of the Lord: but I giue mine aduise, as one that hath obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithfull.

26 I suppose then this to be good for the present necessity: I meane that it is good for a man to be.

27 Art thou bound vnto a wife? seeke not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seeke not a wife.

28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgin marrie, shee sinneth not: neuerthelesse, such shall haue trouble in the flesh: but I spare you.

29 And this I say, brethren, because the time is short, hereafter that both they which haue wiues, be as though they had none.

30 And they that weep, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioycied not: and they that bye, as though they possessed not:

31 And they that vie this world, as though they vied it not: for the fashion of this world goeth away.

32 And I would haue you without care. The vnmarrid careth for the things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord.

33 But hee that is married, careth for the things of the worlde, how hee may please his wife.

34 There is difference also betwene a virgin and a wife: the vnmarrid woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in spirit: but she that is married, careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

35 And this I speake for your owne commoditie, not to tangle you in a snare, but that ye follow that, which is honest, and that ye may cleaue fast vnto the Lord without separation.

36 But if any man thinke that it is vncome for his virgin, if he passe the flower of her age, and neede so require, let him do what he will, he sinneth not: let them be married.

37 Neuerthelesse, hee that standeth firme in his heart, that he hath no neede, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that he will keepe his virgin, hee doeth well.

38 So then hee that giueth her to marriage, doeth well, but he that giueth her not to marriage, doeth better.

39 The wife is bound by the Law, as long as her husband p liueth: but if her husband be dead, she is at libertie to marrie with whom shee will, onely in the Lord.

40 But shee is more blessed, if shee so abide in my iudgement: and I thinke that I haue also the Spirit of God.

41 Ye are not to marrie, but to store them. saith what kinde of life is most commendable. 39 Now hee turneth himselfe to the Parents, in whose power and authority their children are, warning them that according to the former doctrine they should see what is meete and conuenient for their children, that they neither depart from the necessary remedie against incontinencie, nor continue them in marriage, whereas neither their will doth lende them, nor any necessitie vrgeth them. And againe he praiseth virginities, both of it selfe, and not in all. b His words may be so expounded, as it were, 1. Referred with himselfe. 2. That the vnsauithfull of his daung here vnsueth him not, for any other matter, but that he may safely beleeue a virginitie. 3. Prone to be vncircumcised for his children, and that may be done by reason of such conditions as are before mentioned. 4. That which he saith of a widower, he speaketh now of a widow, to wit, that the may marrie againe, but that shee thinke the fear of God, and yet he desireth both new and faithful, she remaine still a widow, as thalle voide of many care. 5. By the Law of marriage. 6. Rom 7. 2. 7. Rejoiceth, and in the feare of God. 8. 1. Cor. 7. 34.

CHAP. VIII.

From this place vnto the ende of the sixth Chapter, he writeth sheweth vnto us in the Greek prophane books, 18 14000 sheweth the abuse of Christian libertie, 21 and 14000 sheweth that Christian should be transported with charitie.

ANd ^aas touching things sacrificed vnto idols, wee knowe that wee ^a all haue knowledge:
knowledge ^b puffeth vp, but loue ^c edifieth.

3 Now, if any man thinke that hee knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing, yet as hee ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God , the same is knowne of him.

4. ^a Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed vnto ^d idoles, we know that an idole ^e is nothing in the world, and that there ^e none other God but one.

5 For though there be that are called gods, whether in heauen, or in earth (as there be many idole, and so their conscience being weake, is defiled.

8 ¶ But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God: for neither if we eate, haue we the more, neither if we eate not haue we lesse.

9 But take heede leaft by any meanes this power of yours be an occasion of falling, to them that are weake.

10 6 For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idoles temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weake, be boldened to eate those things which are sacrificed to idoles?

1 Before he proceeds any further in his familiar matter of things offered to idols, he would answer the cause of all such idolaters, and also take it in way: so will the Corinthian thought themselves not bound to depart from a society of these libertines for any man's preaching. Therefore he presents himself himself, but not as an example; and that in a manner almost needless. And yet he speaks fearfully of both, but first of his own person. if 14 When for my beloved, flee from idolatry.

15 I I speak as unto them which have understanding: judge ye what I say.

16 The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

17 For we are many, are one bread and one body, because we all are partakers of one bread.

18 Behold Israel, which is after the flesh: are not they which eat of the sacrifices partakers of the altar?

19 What say I then? that the idol is any thing? or that that which is sacrificed to idols, is any thing?

20 Nay, but that these things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils, and not unto God: and I would not that ye should have fellowship with the devils.

21 Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils. Ye cannot be partakers of the Lords table, and of the table of devils.

22 Doe we provoke the Lord to anger? are we stronger than he?

23 All things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but all things edify not.

24 Let no man seek his owne, but every man anothers wealth.

25 Whatsoever is sold in the shambles, eat ye, and aske no question for conscience sake.

26 For the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is.

27 If any of them which beleue not, call you to a feast, and if ye will goe, whatsoever is set before you, eat, aske no question for conscience sake.

28 But if any man say unto you, This is sacrificed unto idols, eat it not, because of him that shewed it, and for the conscience (for the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is)

29 And the conscience, I say, not thing, but of that other: for why should my libertie be condemned of another mans conscience?

30 For if I through Gods benefite be partaker, why am I cullspoken of, for that wherefore I give thanks?

31 Whether therefore ye eat, or drinke, or whatsoever ye doe, doe all to the glory of God.

CHAP. XI.

He blameth the Corinthians for that in their holy assemblies, a man doe pray having their heads covered, & women have braided, and because their meetings tended to confusion, as who mingled prophane language with the holy Supper of the Lords, which hee requires to be celebrated according to Christs institution.

Be ye followers of mee, euen as I am of Christ.

1 Nowe brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliued them to you.

2 But I will that ye knowe, that Christ is the head of every man: and the man is the womans head: and God is Christs head.

3 Euen as man prayeth or prophesyeth having any thing on his head, dishonoureth his head.

4 But every woman that prayeth or prophesieth bare headed, dishonoureth her head: for it is euen one very thing, as though the were shauen.

5 Therefore if the woman be not covered, let her also be shorne: and if it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her be covered.

6 For a man ought not to cover his head: for as much as hee is the image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.

7 For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.

8 For the man was not created for the womans sake: but the woman for the mans sake.

9 Therefore ought the woman to have power on her head, because of the Angels.

and make not onely of doctrine, but also of Ecclesiasticall men applying to the question propounded touching the comely apparell both of men and women in publique assemblies, hee declareth that the man is one degree beneath the man by the ordinance of God, and that the man is the image of Christ, that the glory of God ought to appeare in him for his preeminence in the face.

10 Therefore, as in that, that Christ is our head, so we ought to be gathered that if men doe either pray or preach in publique assemblies having their heads covered (which was then a signe of subiection) that they did not wear crowns themselves of their dignitie against Gods ordinance.

11 It appeareth that this was a positive Lawe serving only for the circumstances of the time that Paul lived in, by this reason, because in thes our dayes for a man to shewe bareheaded in an assembly, is a signe of insolence.

12 And in like sort hee concludeth that women which shew themselves in publique and ecclesiasticall assemblies without the signe and token of their subiection, that is to say, covered, shame themselves.

13 The first argument taken from the common sense of man, for so much as hath bene churched women, that it is dishonour for them to come abroad bare headed, saying that since hath given them thick and long haire, which they doe to dishonour their modestie, that they can in no wise abide to have it shaven.

14 The next kingdome of an obsequious man not men also have given ground: I protest with the Apostle, but there is another matter in it: For man was made to be lord and possessor, that the glory of God should appeare in his rule and authority: but the woman was made, that by profession of her obedience, she might more honour her husband.

15 And as Christ is the head of the Church, so the man is the head of the woman, and as Christ is the body of the Church, so the woman is the body of the man, and as Christ is the saviour of the Church, so the man is the saviour of the woman.

16 What this meaneth, that the man is the head of the woman, and as Christ is the head of the Church, so the man is the head of the woman, and as Christ is the saviour of the Church, so the man is the saviour of the woman.

1 If I may through Gods benefite save some measure, or that many, why should I through my fault, cause that benefite of God to turne to my blame?

2 I will therefore please all men in all things, not seeking mine owne profite, but the profite of many, that they might be saved.

4 Hee concludes, that he will only let his letters against the value bridges of the false apostles, and therefore will excuse himself, for that by their imposture, he was constrained to speak so much of these things as he did to wit, because that if his Apostleship were doubted, his doctrine must needs fall.
5 That finally he will be the 7. v. of Christ more and more: For the way for that no so-berness are the more dear Christ, as in these words is shown.

6 For not only take them patiently and with a good heart, but also take great pleasure in them.

7 Again he mentions the Corinthian writers of these things, whereby God had asked his Apostleship amongst them, and again he mentions his contention against them, howe farre he is from all contentions, and also howe he has affectioned to them, and that he is not in the least angry if they will appear, that he is in debt to them, as in the 12. v. of the 1. Cor.

8 Hee says, that he is not in debt to them, but in getting up his own back, that he might not let himself to be in debt.

for thee: for my power is made perfect through weakness. + Very gladly therefore will I reioyce rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Christ may dwell in me:

10 Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproches, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguish for Christs sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong.

11 I was a foole to boast my selfe: yee haue compelled me: for I ought to haue bene commended of you: for in nothing was I inferior vnto the very chiefe Apostles, though I be nothing.

12 The signes of an Apostle were wrought among you with all patience, with signes, and wonders, and great workes.

13 For what is it, wherein yee were inferior vnto other Churches, & except that I haue bene so flouthfull to your hinderance? forgiue me this wrong.

14 Behold, the third time I am ready to come vnto you, and yet will I not be flouthfull to your hinderance: for I seeke not yours, but youto for the children ought not to lay vp for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.

15 And I wil most gladly bestowe, and will be bestowed for your foules: though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loud.

16 But see it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was craftie, I tooke you with guile.

17 Did I pill you by any of them whom I sent vnto you?

18 I haue desired Titus, and with him I haue sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any thing? walked we not in the selfe same spirit? walked we not in the same stepes?

19 Y againe, thinke yee that wee excuse our felues vnto your wepake before God in Christ. But we doe all things, dearly beloued, for your edifying.

20 For I feare lest when I come, I shall finde you such as I would; and that I shall finde vnto you such as yee would not, and lest there be strife, enuying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, and discord.

21 I feare lest when I come againe, my God abase me among you, and I shall bewaile many of them which haue sinned already, and haue not repented of the vncleanness, and fornication, and wantonnes which they haue committed.

22 Hee patte away another most grieuous disorder, to wit, that he did subtilty and by others make gaine and profite of them. 23 Hee commends them for their contentions, as though he needed to defend himselfe: for he is guilty of nothing, but because it is become for them to doubt, nothing of his side line who instructed them. 24 As it became him to be true and sincerely, that professeth himselfe to be in Christ, that is to say, to be a Christian. 25 Having confirmed his authority vnto them heretofore thus sharply, and threatned them also like an Apostle, shewing that he will spare them hereafter, unless they repent, seeing that this is the third time that he hath warned them.

C. H. A. P. XIII.
Containing the thirteenth, a bee denounceth the sharper reuerence towards them, 5 who haue a perfect trial of the power of Christ in his Apostleship: 20. At length he playeth for these reproaches, 25 And wisheth them to persevere.

1 O this is the third time that I come vnto you: In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall euery word stand.

2 I tolde you before, and tell you before as though I had bene present the second time, so write I now being absent to them which heretofore haue sinned and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not spare.

3 Seeing that yee seeke experience of Christ, that speake in mee, which toward you is not weak, but is a mightie in you.

4 For though wee was crucified concerning our infirmities, yet doubt he through the power of God. And we no leaue are weak in him, but we shall liue with him, through the power of God toward you.

5 Prooue your felues whether yee are in the faith: examining your felues. Yee knowe yee not your owne felues, how that Iesus Christ is in you, except yee be reprobaes?

6 But I trust that yee shall knowe that wee are not reprobaes.

7 Nowe I pray vnto God that yee doe none euill, nor that we should seeme approved, but that yee should doe that which is honest: though wee be as reprobaes.

8 For wee can not do any thing against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For we are glad when wee are weak, and that yee are strong: this also we wish for, even your perfection.

10 Therefore write I these things being absent, lest when I am present, I should vse sharpnesse, according to the power which the Lord hath giuen me, to edification, and not to destruction.

11 Finally brethren, fare yee wel: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one minde: liue in peace, and the God of loue and peace shall be with you.

12 Greete one another with an holy kisse. All the Saints salute you.

13 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with with you all, Amen.

Christe body. 3 Hee mitteeth that sharpnesse, treading the way of the Christe body towards their faithfull Apostle, and willing to be made perfect: yet moreover, that he might not for his owne sake and offencem, in that he may ferre to their dissolution, which is the only way he that he should not judge, if that of things may be in good order, and in the way of the Church in their place, which haue beene in the place. 4 A briefe exhortation, but yet such as one as comprehenseth all the partes of a Christian mans life. 5 Hee salueth them familiarly, yet in commendation wilth well vnto them. 1 Cor. 13. 20.

THE

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAUL TO THE GALATIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 Straight after the Publication, & He reprehendeth the Galatians for receiving a Gospel, 15 which he received from God, before he had communicated with any of the Apostles.

PAVL an Apostle (not of men, neither by man, but by Jesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead)

2 And all the brethren which are with me, unto the Churches of Galatia:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ,

4 Which gave himselfe for our finnes, that he might deliver vs. 5 from this present evil world according to the will of God our Father,

6 To whom be glory for ever and ever, Amen.

7 I marvelle that ye are so foonc removed away into another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ,

8 Which is not another Gospel, save that there bee some which trouble you, and intend to pervert the Gospel of Christ.

9 But though that we, or an Angel from heaven preach unto you otherwise, then that which we have preached before unto you, let him be sacrificed,

10 As we said before, so I know againe, if any man preach unto you otherwise, then that ye have received, let him be sacrificed.

11 For now preach I mens doctrine, or Gods? or go I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the servant of Christ.

12 Now I certifie you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man.

13 For neither received I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ.

14 For ye have heard of my conversation in the Gospel, in this, that Christ by his early offering, gave us being chosen out from the world, by the free decree of God the Father, as Luke 1. 2. 4. Out of the world corrupte & wicked is without Christ.

15 The full part of the Epistle, might be written, that he is an Apostle, making inference to his chiefest dignity of Christ, and wholly agreeing with them, whose some the false apostles did shew. And he beginneth with childing, reprooving them of lightness of heart that they gave ease to as they unto them which persecuted them and drew them away to some Gospel.

16 He willeth the fathers to call the faith upon the full apostles, made after the time that were to be given them in the land, that it was not already done, but in doing.

17 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

18 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

19 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

20 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

21 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

22 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

23 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

24 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

25 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

26 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

27 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

28 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

29 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

30 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

31 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

time past, in the Jewish religion, howe that I persecuted the Church of God extremely, and waited it, 14 And profited in the Jewish religion about many of my companions of mine own nation, and was much more zealous of the traditions of my fathers.

15 But when it pleased God (which had separated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace)

16 To reuile his Sonne in me, that I should preach him among the Gentiles, immediately, I communicated not with flesh and blood:

17 Neither came I againe to Hierusalem to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned againe vnto Damascus.

18 Then after three yeeres I came againe to Hierusalem to visite Peter, and abode with him fifteene daies.

19 And none other of the Apostles sawe I, save James the Lords brother.

20 Nowe the things which I write vnto you, beholde, I witness before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I went into the coastes of Syria and Cilicia: for I was unknown by face vnto the Churches of Iudea, which were in Christ.

22 But they had heard onely some say, Hee which persecuted vs in time past, now preacheth the faith which before he destroyed.

23 And they glorified God for me.

24 And others, whose names (as I said before) the false apostles shewed to de-roy his Apostleship, as though he delivered another Gospel then the true Apostles did, and as though he were not of their number, which art to be excluded without exception: therefore Paul answereth that he began straightway after his calling to preach the Gospel at Damascus and in Arabia, and was not from that time in Hierusalem but onely fifteene daies, where he saw onely Peter and James and brethren, he began to teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the consent and approbation of the Churches of the Iewes, which knew him onely by name in the world, as he was, that there was there full of men, as I said upon in the world.

25 This is a kind of vnto, the doctrine of faith.

CHAP. II.

1 That the Apostles did nothing disagree from his Gospel, 3 he declareth by the example of Titus being uncircumcised, 12 and also by his aduocating the same against Peters dissimulation, 17 And so he passeth to the handling of our first institution by Christ.

2 Then I fourteen yeeres after, I went vp againe to Hierusalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also.

3 And I went vp by reuelation, and declared vnto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chiefe, left by any meanes I should runne, or had runne in vaine:

4 But neither yet Titus which was with me, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised.

5 To wit, for the false brethren which were craftily sent in and crept in priuily to spy out our liberty, which we haue in Christ Iesus, that they

6 might be made to see, that they were not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

7 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

8 He willeth them to be wiser than they are, that they are not mens Gospels, and therefore whatsoever their false apostles pretend which had the law, Moses and the Fathers, yet they are in error in every thing they say.

10 The first argument, the conclusion whereof is also the former verse, is of covetousness, which are accounted the works of the Law, that is to say, which value their righteousness by the performance of the Law. These five are blessed, which are of faith, that is, they which have righteousness by faith.

11 A proof of the former sentence proposition and the proposition of the argument is this: Curfed is he that fulfilleth not the whole Law.

12 In the second proposition with the conclusion, but not can fulfill the Law, Therefore no man is justified by the Law, or else, All unperfected which seek righteousness by the works of the Law, And therefore are damned also this manner of proof:

13 The second proposition, to wit, Righteousness & life are attributed to faith, Therefore no man is justified by the Law, & c. Heb. 9. 12, 13, 14. 14 Here is a reason showed of the former conclusion: Because the Law promitteth life to all that keep it, and therefore it is kept, it is justified and given life. But the Scripture smothering righteousness and life to faith, taketh it from the Law, leaving that faith is justified by imputation, and the Law by the performance of the works. Lev. 18. 5.

15 A reasoning of an objection. How then can they be blessed, whom the Law promitteth to be saved? Because Christ fulfilled the curse which the Law laid upon us, that we might be quit from it. 16 A proof of the answer by the testimony of Moses. Deut. 10. 1. Christ was crucified for us, because he bore the curse that was due to us, to make us partakers of his righteousness. 17 A conclusion of all that was said before in the handling of the life and first reason, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free blessing of Abraham in Christ, and also that the Jews themselves, of whose number the Apostle counteth himself, be cannot of issue that they smothered grace of the Gospel, which he cateth the Spirit, but only by faith. And the Apostle doth in several places apply the conclusion both to the one and the other, preparing himself a way to the next argument; whereby he doth lastly shew that one only seed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples, can so otherwise be enjoyed and so on together. But by faith in Christ. 18 The pattern forth two general rules before the next argument, which is the fourth in method: The one is, that it is not lawful to break covenants & contracts which are lawfully made: & according to Law, amongst men neither may any thing be added nor taken. The other is, that God did not make a covenant with Abraham, that hee would gather together his children, which consist both of Jews & Gentiles in one body (as appeareth by that which hath been said before) but he did not say that he would be the God of Abraham and of his seed, (which thing notwithstanding should have bene said, if he had been a diner feeder, as the Gentiles appear to do here) but that he would be the God of Abraham, and of his seed, & of one of his seed.

19 I will give an example which is common among you, that you may be assured you follow me much to Gods command as you do to mine. Mat. 23. 2. And ye will call it, Mat. 23. 2. 20 He putteth forth the summe of the fourth argument to wit, that both the Jews and Gentiles grow together into one body of the seed of Abraham, in Christ only, to all are one Christ, as in his dear word deuter. 10. ver. 14. Paul speaketh out of the apostles, that of two peoples, which grew together in one, in Christ.

21 The eighth argument taken of comparison, thus: If a mans covenant (being intencual) be firme and strong, much more Gods covenant. Therefore the Law was not given to abrogate the promise made to Abraham, which had respect to Christ, that is to say, the end whereof did hang on Christ. As which tended to Christ. 22 An enlarging of three former things: Moreover he sheweth that the promise made to Abraham was not confined with the prescription of lineage, neither of the sex, nor might be confined to the sex by birth, as the Apostle saith: We know that the promise was not abrogated by the coming of the Law, and therefore we receive the Law with the promise. Nat. 1. 18. The Apostle sheweth two, that cannot stand together, to wit, that the inheritance should both be given by the Law and also be promise: for the promise is free; whereby it followeth, that the Law was not given to fulfill, for by that means the promise should be broken; as by this most excellent means the right of the law, which is, that God should be glorified, when it is said, that by virtue of the covenant, if it was made with first-born, we should be justified, by that we may be blessed of Gods grace as he is.

10 For as many as are of the works of the Law, are under the curse: 11 for it is written, Cursed is every man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the booke of the Law, to do them.

12 And that no man is justified by the Law in the sight of God, it is evident: for the just shall live by faith.

13 And the Law is not of faith: but the man that shall do those things, shall live in them.

14 Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the Law, in a curse for vs, (for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on tree)

15 That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Iesus, that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.

16 Brethren, I speak as men do: although it be but a mans covenant, when it is confirmed, yet no man doeth it, or addeth any thing thereto.

17 Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, And to the seeds, as speaking of many: but, And to thy seed, as of one, which is I Christ.

18 And this I say, that the covenant that was confirmed afore of God in respect of Christ, the Lawe which was foure hundredth and thirtie yeeres after, can not disannull, that it should make the promise of none effect.

19 For if the inheritance be of the Lawe, it is no more by the promise, but God gave it freely vnto Abraham by promise.

20 Wherefore then stretcheth the Law? It was added because of the transgressions, for till the seed came, vnto the which the promise was made: and it was ordained by Angels in the hand of a Mediator.

21 Nowe a Mediator is not a Mediatour of one: 22 but God is one.

23 In the Lawe then against the promises of God? God forbid! For if there had bene a Law given which could have given life, surely righteousness should have bene by the Law.

24 But the Scripture hath concluded tall vnder sinne, that the promise by the faith of Iesus Christ should be given to them that believe.

25 But before faith came, we were kept vnder the Law, as vnder a garison, and thus vnto that faith, which should afterward be received.

26 Wherefore the Law was our schoolmaster to bring vs to Christ, that we might be made righteous by faith.

27 But after that faith is come, we are no longer vnder a schoolmaster.

28 For ye are all the sonnes of God by faith, in Christ Iesus.

29 For all ye that are baptized into Christ, have put on Christ.

30 There is neither Iew nor Grecian: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Iesus.

31 And if ye be Christs, then are ye Abrahams seed, and heires by promise.

32 Christ alone by himself, but coupled and joined together with his father.

33 A confirmation of the former answer to the objection: The Law was given by Angels, it being a greater error into all, and by Moses a Mediator comming between. Now they that are one, need no Mediator, but they that are twaine at the least, and that are at variance one with another. Therefore the Law it selfe and the Mediator were witnesses of the wrath of God, and not that God would by this meanes reconcile men to himselfe, and abolish the promise, or add the Law vnto the promise. Commendation of the promise, and the Law. 34 Calling away of objections, I shall now. 35 The promise and minister. 36 A calling away of objections, which have made a countenance, something is added to the covenant, or the former covenants are broken. This, sayeth the Apostle, commeth to passe in God, who is always one, and the selfe same, and like himselfe. 37 The conclusion vnto the manner of adding a question, and it is the same that was uttered before, verse 17, but proceeding on another rule: (to that the argument is new, and it is this: God is always like himselfe: Therefore the Law was not given to abolish the promise, but he should abolish it them if he gave life, for by that meanes it should suffice, and therefore it should abolish that institution which was promised to Abraham, and to his seed by faith. Nay it was rather given to bring to light the guiltiness of all men, to the end that all believers being in Christ justified, might be freely justified in him. By the word of Scripture, he meaneth the Law. Rom. 7. 12. 38 An answer, and what I say commeth from mine, in I carry one of the words, sheweth how a question again (the uncertainty of words): for all the words, promise, faith, (which might be taken for grace, are not the same, and not one of them can stand with deferring a law. 39 Now there followeth another handling of the second part of the question: The lawe whereof is this: Although the Law (that is, the whole commandment of Gods law according to the Law) do not fulfill, is it therefore abolished, seeing yet Abraham himselfe was circumcised, and his posterity kept all the law of Moses? Paul affirmeth that it ought to be abolished, because it was instituted to that end and purpose, that it should be as it were a schoolmaster and keeper to the people of God, vntill the promise appeared in deed, that is to say, Christ, and the Gospel manifestly published with great efficacy to the Spirit. 40 The only way we were kept vnder the Law, is to drive here, 41 Because grace changeth not the condition of sinners, be as dead that were alive by condition, and therefore being we are out of our bondage, we have no more need of a keeper and schoolmaster. 42 Vnto a general promise, left the law which the Law should be a further discipline bound with the law of the Law, by the commandment that should be common to all believers: because it is a knowledge of our sinfulness in Christ, as well to the Jewes as to the Gentiles, that by sinners all are made free by Christ, that is to say, that promise is made to Abraham and to his seed of every man. 43 The promise is given to all, which the Law should be a further discipline bound with the law of the Law, by the commandment that should be common to all believers: because it is a knowledge of our sinfulness in Christ, as well to the Jewes as to the Gentiles, that by sinners all are made free by Christ, that is to say, that promise is made to Abraham and to his seed of every man. 44 The promise is given to all, which the Law should be a further discipline bound with the law of the Law, by the commandment that should be common to all believers: because it is a knowledge of our sinfulness in Christ, as well to the Jewes as to the Gentiles, that by sinners all are made free by Christ, that is to say, that promise is made to Abraham and to his seed of every man. 45 The promise is given to all, which the Law should be a further discipline bound with the law of the Law, by the commandment that should be common to all believers: because it is a knowledge of our sinfulness in Christ, as well to the Jewes as to the Gentiles, that by sinners all are made free by Christ, that is to say, that promise is made to Abraham and to his seed of every man.

33 An objection which stich of the former answer: If the inheritance be not by the Lawe (as the least is) then why was the Lawe given, after that the promise was made? Therefore, faith is: An Apostle so reproueth the Law, as to teach them to looke vnto Christ, in whom at length the promise is: using all people together, should be fulfilled, and not that the Law was given to fulfill men.

34 That man might understandly discern covering of their sinnes, that they are saved by the only grace of God, which he bestoweth, and sheweth in Christ. 35 Vnto the promise was given, hee did not say that hee would be the God of Abraham, and of his seed, but that hee would be the God of Abraham, and of his seed, and of one of his seed. 36 A calling away of objections, which have made a countenance, something is added to the covenant, or the former covenants are broken. This, sayeth the Apostle, commeth to passe in God, who is always one, and the selfe same, and like himselfe. 37 The conclusion vnto the manner of adding a question, and it is the same that was uttered before, verse 17, but proceeding on another rule: (to that the argument is new, and it is this: God is always like himselfe: Therefore the Law was not given to abolish the promise, but he should abolish it them if he gave life, for by that meanes it should suffice, and therefore it should abolish that institution which was promised to Abraham, and to his seed by faith. Nay it was rather given to bring to light the guiltiness of all men, to the end that all believers being in Christ justified, might be freely justified in him. By the word of Scripture, he meaneth the Law. Rom. 7. 12. 38 An answer, and what I say commeth from mine, in I carry one of the words, sheweth how a question again (the uncertainty of words): for all the words, promise, faith, (which might be taken for grace, are not the same, and not one of them can stand with deferring a law. 39 Now there followeth another handling of the second part of the question: The lawe whereof is this: Although the Law (that is, the whole commandment of Gods law according to the Law) do not fulfill, is it therefore abolished, seeing yet Abraham himselfe was circumcised, and his posterity kept all the law of Moses? Paul affirmeth that it ought to be abolished, because it was instituted to that end and purpose, that it should be as it were a schoolmaster and keeper to the people of God, vntill the promise appeared in deed, that is to say, Christ, and the Gospel manifestly published with great efficacy to the Spirit. 40 The only way we were kept vnder the Law, is to drive here, 41 Because grace changeth not the condition of sinners, be as dead that were alive by condition, and therefore being we are out of our bondage, we have no more need of a keeper and schoolmaster. 42 Vnto a general promise, left the law which the Law should be a further discipline bound with the law of the Law, by the commandment that should be common to all believers: because it is a knowledge of our sinfulness in Christ, as well to the Jewes as to the Gentiles, that by sinners all are made free by Christ, that is to say, that promise is made to Abraham and to his seed of every man. 43 The promise is given to all, which the Law should be a further discipline bound with the law of the Law, by the commandment that should be common to all believers: because it is a knowledge of our sinfulness in Christ, as well to the Jewes as to the Gentiles, that by sinners all are made free by Christ, that is to say, that promise is made to Abraham and to his seed of every man. 44 The promise is given to all, which the Law should be a further discipline bound with the law of the Law, by the commandment that should be common to all believers: because it is a knowledge of our sinfulness in Christ, as well to the Jewes as to the Gentiles, that by sinners all are made free by Christ, that is to say, that promise is made to Abraham and to his seed of every man. 45 The promise is given to all, which the Law should be a further discipline bound with the law of the Law, by the commandment that should be common to all believers: because it is a knowledge of our sinfulness in Christ, as well to the Jewes as to the Gentiles, that by sinners all are made free by Christ, that is to say, that promise is made to Abraham and to his seed of every man.

Gen. 31. 10.

8 The conclusion of the former allegorie, that we by no means procure and call lawe againe: 11 The fruites of the Lawe

30 But what faith the Scripture? Put out the seruant and her sonne: for the sonne of the seruant shall not be heire with the sonne of the free woman.

31 Then brethren, we are not children of the seruant, but of the free woman.

32 Seeing that the children of the bondmaid shall not be heires,

CHAP. V.

2 Having declared that we come of the free woman, he sheweth the price of that freedom, 13 and how we should use the same, 26 that we may obey the Spirit, 19 and resist the flesh.

Stand fast therefore in the libertie wherewith Christ hath made vs free, and be not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage.

2 Beholde, I Paul say vnto you, that if ye be circumcised, Christ shall profite you nothing.

3 For I testifie againe to euery man, which is circumcised, that he is bound to keepe the whole Lawe.

4 Ye are abolished from Christ: whoeuer is iustified by the Lawe, ye are fallen from grace.

5 For we through the Spirit waite for the hope of righteousness through faith.

6 For in Iesus Christ neither circumcision auaileth any thing, neither vncircumcision, but faith which worketh by loue.

7 Ye did runne well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the truth?

8 It is not the perswasion of him that calleth you.

9 A little leauen doeth leauen the whole lump.

10 I have trust in you through the Lords, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but hee that troubleth you, shall beare his condemnation, whoeuer he be.

11 And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why doe I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slander of the crosse abolished.

12 Would to God they were euen cut off, which doe so disquiet you.

13 For brethren, ye haue bene called vnto libertie: not only vnto your libertie as an occasion vnto the flesh, but by loue serue one another.

14 For all the Lawe is fulfilled in one word, which is this, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

15 If ye bite and deuoure one another, take heed lest ye be consumed one of another.

16 Then I say, Wake in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lustes of the flesh.

17 For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary one to another, so that ye cannot doe the same things that ye would.

18 And if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not vnder the Lawe.

19 Moreouer the workes of the flesh are manifest, which are adulterie, fornication, vncleannesse, wantonnesse,

20 Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulations, wrath, contentions, seditions, heresies,

21 Enuie, murders, drunkennesse, gluttonie, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also haue tolde you before, that they which doe such things, shall not inherit the Kingdome of God.

22 But the fruite of the Spirit is loue, ioye, peace, long suffering, gentlenesse, goodnes, faith, 23 Meekenesse, temperancie: 12 against such there is no Lawe.

24 For they that are Christs, haue crucified the flesh with the affections and the lustes.

25 If we liue in the Spirit, let vs also walke in the Spirit.

26 Let vs not be desirous of vaine glorie, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

12 Ieldeth the great weaknesse of the golly, for that they are but in part regenerate, but he willeth them to remember that they are indued with the Spirit of Loue, which hath deliuered them from the seruice of sinne, and so of the Lawe, in so much as it is the virtue of fine, that they should not give themselves to lusts, 13 Rom. 13. 14. 1. Peter 2. 11. 1. For the flesh dwelleth euen in the regenerate man, but the Spirit reigneth, although not without great fight, as is largely set forth, Romans 7. 14. He feareth out that particularly, which he spake generally, recommending vs four chief effects of the flesh and opposing them to the fruits of the Spirit, that no man may pretend ignorance. 1. Therefore, they are worthy fruits of free will, but in force thereof as our will is made free by grace. 2. Letteth any man should obiect, that Paul played the Sophist, as one who vrging the Spirit, vtgnet nothing but that which the Lawe commandeth, he sheweth that hee requieth not that littell and outward obedience, but spiritual, which proceedeth not from the Lawe, but from the Spirit of Christ, which doeth beget vs againe, and must and ought to be the ruler and guide of our life. 1. If we be enticed with the quickning Spirit, which causeth vs to die to sinne, and to be vnto God, for vs sinne it is our desire, that is, by holiness of life. 2. How aduantageous becometh exhortations according as he knowe the Galatians subiect to diuers vices: and first of all hee willeth them to take heed of ambition, which causeth two fellowes, backbiting and enuie, out of which two it cannot be but many contentious mal neeides rise.

CHAP. VI.

1 None be entreated particularly of charitie towards such as offend, 4 towards the Ministers of the word, 10 and that which are of the household of faith: 12 Not let vs to sin which haue a counterfeite sale of the Lawe, 13 glorying in the martyring of the flesh, 14 and not in the crosse of Christ.

Brethren, if a man bee suddenly taken in any offence, whereof he is spirituall, restore such one with the spirit of meekenesse, considering thy selfe, lest thou also be tempted.

2 Be moderated and tempered by the spirit of meekenesse. 3 Through the meeknesse of Iesus Christ our Lord. 4 Which are reprober by the vnto of God Spirit. 5 Labour to follow that which is good in him. 6 This is a kinde of peace which the Ministers vs, going to vnto fleshly men, that all good gifts come from God. 7 He willeth the good, for they commonly are most apt to sinne, which haue gotten their owne infirmities.

13 The third part of this Epistle, shewing that the right way of Christian libertie consisteth in this, being deliuered and left at libertie from the seruice of sinne and of the flesh, and being obedient to the Spirit, we should serue vnto one another in such freedom through loue. 14 He propoundeth the loue of our neighbour, as a mark whereunto all Christ are ought to referre all their actions, and therein hee crite the testimony of the Lawe. 15 This cariche (14) may be restrained to the present table. 16 Let vs not be proud, 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100.

15 Hee willeth the good, for they commonly are most apt to sinne, which haue gotten their owne infirmities. 16 Let vs not be proud, 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100.

1 Another objection wherby he plainly willeth that iustification of works, and iustification of faith cannot stand together, because no man can be iustified by the Lawe, but he that doeth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And hee taketh the example of circumcision, because it was the ground of all the seruice of the Lawe, and was chiefly vnto of the lawe apostles. 2. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100.

2. 1. Corin. 1. 17. 2. That is, as he himselfe expoundeth it afterwards, ye are fallen from grace. 3. That is, lette be iustified by the Lawe, for in so much as man is iustified by the Lawe. 4. He principally compereth the new people with the olde, for it is certaine that they also did ground all their hope of iustification in faith and not in circumcision, but so, that their faith was wrapped in the external and ceremonial worship, but our faith is bare and content with spirituall worship. 5. Therefore, the Spirit, which regenereth faith. 6. He aduiceth a reason, for that now circumcision is abolished, seeing that Christ is exhibited vnto vs with full plentie of spirituall circumcision. 7. He maketh mention also of vncircumcision, least the Gentiles should please themselves in it, as the Lawe was due in circumcision. 8. The taking away of an obediens, if all that worship of the Law be taken away, wherein then shall we exercise our selues in charitie, faith Paul for faith, whereof we speake, cannot be idle, nay it bringeth to us daily fruits of charitie. 9. So is true faith distinguished from counterfeite faith, for charitie is not toyed with such as a false cause heere to ward our iustification with faith. 10. He gaue hee chid, that the Galatians, but with an admiration, and there withall a praise of their former state, to end that he may make them more ashamed. 11. He playeth the part of an Apostle with them, 12. with his authority, deying that that doctrine can come from God, which is contrary to his selfe. 13. 1. Cor. 1. 6. 14. He aduiceth this, that he may not seeme to contend upon a trifles, warning them diligently by a similitude which he borroweth of leuen, as Christ himselfe also did, not to suffer the partie of the Apostolical doctrine, to be infected with the least corruption that may be. 15. He mingeth the former reprobation, calling the flesh upon the false apostles, against whom he denounceth the horrible iudgement of God. 16. He willeth them to consider howe that hee seeketh not his owne profit in this matter, seeing that he could as easily be hated of men, if he would loue Iudasme with Christianity. 17. An example of a true Paulist inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory and loue of his flocke. 18. For they that preach the new faith vnto consciences alwayes to trouble.

in Now he cometh to length to the formal cause, that is to say, to the way in which he purposed in the Gospel, whereby God causeth that carnal counsell of his free recondemnation and satisfaction in his will, and putting in place of the Gospel all wisdom and satisfaction, he sheweth how excellent it is.

13 By which grace we are justified, and sanctified. 14 In perfect and found wisdom, as the Lord had opened unto us that wisdom, we would never have known as dreamed of our flesh.

15 Not only the election, but also the vocation proceeds of mere grace. 16 The Father choiceth and gave Christ, who in the best of all the elect unto himself, at that time which was convenient, according as he most wisely disposed all times from everlasting.

And Christ is he, in whom all the elect from the beginning of the world, (otherwise wandering and perished from God) are gathered together: of which some were then in heaven when he came into the earth (to wit such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and other being founded upon the earth were gathered together, and the latter daily gathered together. The faithful are said to be gathered together in Christ, because they are united together with him through faith, and become as it were one man. 19 He applyeth liberally the benefit of occasion to the believing Jews, going back to the very fountain, that even they also may not attribute their salvation, neither to themselves, nor to their back to any other thing, but to the only grace and mercy of God, both because they were called, and also because they were first called. 20 All things are attributed to the grace of God in such exception, and yet for all that we are not slack, for his grace leads us to will and to do as he doth things that are good, Philippi. 1. 2. 3. He speaketh of the Jews. 16 Now he maketh the Exposition: rather all the Gentiles equal to the Jews, because that notwithstanding they came last, yet being called by the same Gospel, they imbraced it by faith, and were saved by the same Spirit, which is the pledge of election, and the inheritance is little less, since that in them also the Word of God might shine forth, and be manifested. 17 That word which is truth in deed, because it cometh from God. 20 Thus a hundred kinds of speech taken of a flesh, which bring us to any thing, maketh a difference between those things that are accidental, and others that are not. 18 With that spirit, which breatheth not the Law, but the promise of free adoption. 19 Full and perfect. 17 He returneth to the former argument, concluding two things together of those things that went before: the first, that all good things come to us from God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, so that he may be prayed of us. The second, that all things (which he bringeth) to two heads, to wit faith and charity, are increased in us by certain degrees: so that we must desire an increase of his grace, from whom we have the beginning and of whom we hope for the end. 18 The causes of faith, are God the Father lighting our minds with his holy Spirit, that we may embrace Christ offered unto us in the Gospel, to the obtaining of everlasting life, and the setting forth of Gods glory. 19 Full of manifest. 20 For it is not enough for us to have known God, but we must know him every day more and more, that they might be called, you to hope for them by faith in Christ. 19 The excellency of faith is declared by the efficacy, because the mighty power of God is set forth and shewed therein. 20 Chap. 7. v. 25.

ding to his rich graces

8 12 Whereby he hath bene abundant toward vs in all wisdom and vnderstanding. 9 And hath opened vnto vs the mysterie of his will 13 according to his good pleasure, which he hath purposed in him.

10 14 That in the dispensation of the fulnesse of the times, he might gather together in one all things, both which are in heauen, & which are in earth, even in Christ:

11 15 In whom also we are chosen when we were predestinate according to the purpose of him, which worketh all things after the counsell of his owne will,

12 That wee, which first trusted in Christ, should be vnto the praise of his glorie:

13 16 In whom also ye have trusted, after that yee heard the 7 worde of truth, even the Gospel of your saluation, wherein also after that yee beleued, ye were sealed with the holy spirit of promise, 14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the redemption of that libertie purchased vnto the praise of his glory.

15 17 Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye haue in the Lorde Iesus, and loue toward all the Saints,

16 I caefe not to giue thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 18 That the God of our Lord Iesus Christ, the Father of glory, might giue vnto you the Spirit of wisdom, and reuelation through the acknowledging of him,

18 That the eyes of your vnderstanding may be lightened, that yee may knowe what the hope is of his calling and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints,

19 19 And what is the exceeding greatnes of his power toward vs, which beleue, according to the working of his mighty power, in whom all the elect from the beginning of the world, (otherwise wandering and perished from God) are gathered together: of which some were then in heaven when he came into the earth (to wit such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and other being founded upon the earth were gathered together, and the latter daily gathered together. 20 20 Which he wrought in Christ, when hee raised him from the dead, and set him at his right hand in the heauenly places,

21 Farre above all principallitie, & power, and might, and domination, and euerie Name, that is named, not in this world only, but also in that that is to come,

22 22 And hath made all things subiect vnder his feete, and hath giuen him ouer all things, so be the head to the Church,

23 Which is his body, even the fulnesse of him that filleth all in all things.

weakenesse of the flesh. 2 To be set on Gods right hand, is to be ordered of the fountain, which he hath ouer all creatures. 21 Every thing which is set on his right hand, is to be above all things by the power of his power or excellency. 22 That he should not think that that excellent glory of Christ is a thing whereunto we have sought to do, hee will esteeme that he was appointed of God the Father head of all the Church, and therefore the body must be joined to this head which otherwise should be a member without the members: which notwithstanding is not of necessity (seeing that the Church is rather quickened and fed by the only virtue of Christ, so farre off it is, that he receiveth the fulnesse of the eternal good will and pleasure of God, who vouchsafeth to ioyne vs to his Soane. 6 Justification that there is nothing but a faith in him. 6 For the last of Christ is set on towards the Church, that though hee doe fully satisfy all with all things, yet hee esteeme himselfe to be a member and vnder his head, which hee haue the Church bound to him as his body.

CHAP. II.

1 The better to set out the grace of Christ, he testifieth a comparison, calling them to mind, 2 that they were altogether captiue and alienate, 3 that they are saved by grace, 13 and brought were, 16 by reconciliation through Christ, 17 published by the Gospel.

And 14 you hath he quickened, that were dead in trespasses and finnes,

2 15 Wherein, in times past ye walked, & according to the course of this world, and after the prince that ruleth in the aire, even the spirit, that now worketh in the children of disobedience, 3 16 Among whom we also had our conversation in time past in the lusts of our flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the mind, & were by nature the children of wrath, as well as others.

4 17 But God which is rich in mercie, through his great loue wherewith hee loued vs,

5 18 Euen when wee were dead by finnes, hath quickened vs together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saved,

6 19 And hath raised vs vp together, and made vs sit together in the heauenly places in Christ Iesus, when dead, which are not regenerate, for as the immortality of them which are damned, is no life, in this lasting together of body and soule, in whom no life, but death in them which are not raised by the Spirit of God. 2 He prophecie of the death of death to win finnes. 3 He prophecie by the effects that all were spiritually dead. 4 The prophecie this could be universal in as much as all are sinners of Satan. 5 As the pleasure of the prince. 6 Men are therefore borne to Satan, because they are willingly rebellious against God. 7 They are called the children of disobedience, who are given to disobedience. 8 After that hee hath liberally condemned the Gentiles hee confideth that the Law was amongst whom hee numbereth himselfe, as not a whit better. 9 By the name of Jesus in the first place, he meaneth the whole man, which he divideth into two parts, into the flesh, which is the part that the Philistines were without reason, and into the thought, which they call reasonableness, so that hee knoweth nothing in man half dead, but can understand that the whole man is of nature the sonne of wrath. 7 The conclusion: All men were borne subject to the wrath and curse of God. 8 Men are said to be the children of wrath perfectly, that is in the joy, which is given to us by the indulgence of God, who is as a father with them. 9 Prophecie people which were not Gentiles. 8 Nowe hereof followed another member of the comparison, declaring our excellency, seeing that by the virtue of Christ we are delivered from that death and made partakers of eternall life, to the end that at length we may reioyce with him. And by diuine and kinde kinde hee beareth this into his right hand, that the efficient cause of this beneficence is the free mercie of God, and Christ himselfe is the material cause, and faith his instrument, which also is the free will of God, and the end is Gods glory. 9 To wit, as hee desireth to be known in Christ, so hee is not filled in vs, but only in him, in whose spirit we have beene brought to see the power of God, which hee worketh in vs, brought to see and that yet hee is certain, for we are as sure of that we are of, for we are of that we have received already.

20 The Apostle will test to be hold in our most glorious Christ with the eyes of faith, that most excellent power and glory of God, which of all the faithful are partakers, although it be as yet very dark in vs, by reason of the iniquitie of the flesh and the weakenesse of the flesh. 2 To be set on Gods right hand, is to be ordered of the fountain, which he hath ouer all creatures. 21 Every thing which is set on his right hand, is to be above all things by the power of his power or excellency. 22 That he should not think that that excellent glory of Christ is a thing whereunto we have sought to do, hee will esteeme that he was appointed of God the Father head of all the Church, and therefore the body must be joined to this head which otherwise should be a member without the members: which notwithstanding is not of necessity (seeing that the Church is rather quickened and fed by the only virtue of Christ, so farre off it is, that he receiveth the fulnesse of the eternal good will and pleasure of God, who vouchsafeth to ioyne vs to his Soane. 6 Justification that there is nothing but a faith in him. 6 For the last of Christ is set on towards the Church, that though hee doe fully satisfy all with all things, yet hee esteeme himselfe to be a member and vnder his head, which hee haue the Church bound to him as his body.

1 He declareth against the greatness of Gods good will, by comparing it with our miserable state wherein we are borne, with that dignitie wherewith we are redeemed by God the Father in Christ. So that hee denieth that condition in such sort that the faith, that touching spiritual matters we are not only borne halfe dead, but wholly and altogether dead. 20 Chap. 13. 20 There hee calleth them dead, which are not regenerate, for as the immortality of them which are damned, is no life, in this lasting together of body and soule, in whom no life, but death in them which are not raised by the Spirit of God. 2 He prophecie of the death of death to win finnes. 3 He prophecie by the effects that all were spiritually dead. 4 The prophecie this could be universal in as much as all are sinners of Satan. 5 As the pleasure of the prince. 6 Men are therefore borne to Satan, because they are willingly rebellious against God. 7 They are called the children of disobedience, who are given to disobedience. 8 After that hee hath liberally condemned the Gentiles hee confideth that the Law was amongst whom hee numbereth himselfe, as not a whit better. 9 By the name of Jesus in the first place, he meaneth the whole man, which he divideth into two parts, into the flesh, which is the part that the Philistines were without reason, and into the thought, which they call reasonableness, so that hee knoweth nothing in man half dead, but can understand that the whole man is of nature the sonne of wrath. 7 The conclusion: All men were borne subject to the wrath and curse of God. 8 Men are said to be the children of wrath perfectly, that is in the joy, which is given to us by the indulgence of God, who is as a father with them. 9 Prophecie people which were not Gentiles. 8 Nowe hereof followed another member of the comparison, declaring our excellency, seeing that by the virtue of Christ we are delivered from that death and made partakers of eternall life, to the end that at length we may reioyce with him. And by diuine and kinde kinde hee beareth this into his right hand, that the efficient cause of this beneficence is the free mercie of God, and Christ himselfe is the material cause, and faith his instrument, which also is the free will of God, and the end is Gods glory. 9 To wit, as hee desireth to be known in Christ, so hee is not filled in vs, but only in him, in whose spirit we have beene brought to see the power of God, which hee worketh in vs, brought to see and that yet hee is certain, for we are as sure of that we are of, for we are of that we have received already.

7 That hee might shewe in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace through his kindnesse toward vs in Christ Iesus.

8 For by his grace are wee saved through faith, and that not of your felues: it is the gift of God, 9 Not of works, least any man should boast himselfe.

10 For we are his workmanship created in Christ Iesus vnto good works, which God hath ordered, that we should walke in them.

11 Wherefore remember that yee being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and called vncircumcision of them, which are called vncircumcision in the flesh made with hands,

12 That ye were, I say, at that time without Christ, & were aliens from the common wealth of Israel, and were strangers from the covenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.

13 But now in Christ Iesus, ye which once were farre off, are made neere by the blood of Christ.

14 For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stoppe of the partition wall,

15 And abrogating through his flesh, the hatred, that is, the Lawe of commandments, which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twaine one new man in himselfe, for making peace,

16 And that hee might reconcile both vnto God in one body by his crosse, and so lay hatred there y, 17 And came, and preached peace to you which were a farre off, and to them y were neere.

18 For q through him wee both haue an entrance vnto the Father by one Spirit.

19 Now therefore yee are no more strangers and foreriners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the household of God,

20 And are built vpon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Iesus Christ himselfe being the chief corner stone, 21 In whom all the building coupled together groweth vnto an holy Temple in the Lord.

22 In whom ye also are built together to bee the habitation of God by the Spirit.

8 So then Grace, what is to say, the gift of God, and faith, that is, and with another, to which two there are contrary, to be saved by our works. Therefore when we are saved which which would bring together things of this contrary nature?

9 Hee taketh away especially and namely from our works the praise of iustification, seeing that the good works themselves are the effects of grace in vs.

10 Hee speaketh here of Grace, and of nature: therefore hee is the worker, not for good, but what they are is of grace.

11 Applying the former doctrine to the Gentiles, he sheweth that they were not only as the Iewes, by nature, but also after an effectual

But strangers and without God: and therefore they ought to much the rather remember that time for great a benefit of God, & You were called to you otherwise then Gentiles, that all the world might witness of your oneness with us. 12 Of the Iewes which were known from you by the marks of circumcision, the marks of the enenment, as the beginning of Christ, who was the root of all the people, as You had no right as to the common wealth of Israel, as Rom 9. 4. 11 Christ is the only body of the Iewes and Gentiles, whereby they are reconciled to God. 12 As by the ceremonies and worth appointed by the Lawe, the Iewes were deared from the Gentiles, so now Christ, having broken downe the partition wall, joineth them both together, both in himselfe, and betwixt themselves and to God. Whereby it followeth, that whosoever establisheth the ceremonies of the Lawe maketh the grace of Christ void of and of none effect. 13 As 1. 14. e Hee speaketh in the faculties of the Lawe, which requireth that true and iustice. For hee disposeth of death, and life, and life is in the crosse. 14 The preaching of the Gospel is an effectual instrument of this grace, common as well to the Iewes as to the Gentiles. q Christ is the gate as it were, y whom we come to the Father, and the holy Ghost is as it were our indweller who leadeth vs. 15 The conclusion? The Gentiles are taken into the fellowship of salvation. And hee describeth the excellencie of the Church, calling it the cite and house of God. 16 The Lotte comprehendeth the doctrine of salvation, first to the Prophets, & then to the Apostles, the rule whereof, and manner is in wra and iustice, in Christ? hereof that is in deede the true and Catholike Church, which is builded vpon Christ by the Prophets and Apostles, as a spiritual temple consecrated to God. 17 At the head of the building, for the foundations are all were the heads of the building. 18 That God is the workman not onely of the foundation, but also of the whole building.

CHAP. III.

13 Hee declareth that there be suffered many things of the Iewes: y because hee preached the mystrie touching the salvation of the Gentiles, & as Gods commandment. 12 Affe hee desired the Iewes not so fast for his afflictions: 13 And for this cause, hee prayeth vnto God, as that they may understand the great love of Christ,

For this cause, I Paul as the prisoner of Iesus Christ for you Gentiles,

2 If ye haue heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is giuen me to youward,

3 That is, that God by reuelation hath shewed this mystrie vnto mee (as I wrote aboue in fewe words,

4 Whereby when yee reade, yee may knowe mine vnderstanding in the mystrie of Christ)

5 Which in other ages was not opened vnto the sonnes of men, as it is now reueiled vnto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit,

6 That the Gentiles should be inheriters also, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel,

7 Whereof I am made a minister by the gift of the grace of God giuen vnto mee through the effectual working of his power.

8 Euen vnto mee the least of all Saints is this grace giuen, that I should preach among the Gentiles the vnsearchable riches of Christ,

9 And to make cleare vnto all men what the fellowship of the mystrie is, which from the beginning of the worlde hath bene hid in God, who hath created all things by Iesus Christ,

10 To the intent, that now vnto principalities and powers in heavenly places, might be known by the Church the manifold wisdom of God,

11 According to the c eternal purpose, which he wrought in Christ Iesus our Lord:

12 By whom we haue boldnesse and entrance with confidence, by faith in him.

13 Wherefore I desire, that yee faile not at my tribulations for your felues, which is your glory.

14 For this cause I bow my knees vnto the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ,

15 (Of whome is named the whole family in heaven and in earth)

16 That he might graunt you according to the riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened by his Spirit in the ginner man,

17 That Christ may dwell in your heartes by faith:

18 That yee, being rooted and grounded in loue, may be able to comprehend with all Saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

19 And to knowe the loue of Christ, which surpasseth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all fullnesse of God.

20 Vnto him therefore that is able to do exceeding abundantly aboue all that wee aske or thinke, according to the power that worketh in vs, 21 Be praise in the Church by Christ Iesus, throughout all generations for euer, Amen.

Children, ¹ obey your parents ² in the Lord: for this is right.
³ Honour your father and mother (which is the first commandment with promise)
⁴ That it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest live long on earth.
⁵ And ye, fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in instruction and information of the Lord.
⁶ Servants, be obedient unto them that are your masters, according to the Lord, with fear and trembling in singleness of your hearts as unto Christ.
⁷ Not with service to the eye as men please, but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart,
⁸ With good will, serving the Lord as not men.
⁹ And know ye that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, that same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free.
¹⁰ Ye masters do the same things unto them, putting away threatening: and know ye that even your master also is in heaven, neither is there respect of person with him.
¹¹ Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

¹² Put on the whole armour of God, ye may be able to stand against the assaults of the devil.
¹³ For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, and against the worldly governments, the princes of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness, which are in the high places.
¹⁴ For this cause take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to resist in the evil day, and having finished all things, stand fast.
¹⁵ Stand therefore, and your loynes girded about with verity, and having on the breast plate of righteousness, ¹⁶ And your feet shod with the preparation of the Gospel of peace.
¹⁷ Above all, take the shield of Faith, wherewith ye may quench all the fierce darts of the wicked.
¹⁸ And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.
¹⁹ And pray always with all manner prayer and supplication in the Spirit: and watch therewithal with perseverance and supplications for all Saints.
²⁰ And for me, that vicarance may be given unto mee, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel.
²¹ Whereof I am the ambassador in bonds, that therein I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.

²² Secondly, I beseech thee, my dear brother, to be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.
²³ Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to resist in the evil day, and having finished all things, stand fast.
²⁴ Stand therefore, and your loynes girded about with verity, and having on the breast plate of righteousness,

²⁹ And for me, that vicarance may be given unto mee, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel.
³⁰ Whereof I am the ambassador in bonds, that therein I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.

³¹ But that ye may also know mine affairs, and what I do, Tychicus my dear brother and faithful minister in the Lord, shall shew you of all things.
³² Whome I have sent unto you for the same purpose, that ye might know mine affairs, and that he might comfort your hearts.
³³ Peace be with the brethren, and love with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.
³⁴ Grace be with all them which love our Lord Iesus Christ, to them be immortalitie. Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE PHILIPPIANS.

CHAP. I.

¹ Having rejoiced in your joy and tender affection towards the Philippians, as be witnesses of our faith, so be witnesses of our love.
² And for this cause I have written unto you, as I have done unto the Thimotheus, which is now with me, and Paul.

Paul and Timotheus the servants of IESUS CHRIST, to all the Saints in Christ Iesus which are at Philippi, with the Bishops, and Deacons:
 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

³ I thank my God, having you in perfect memorie,
⁴ Always in all my prayers for you, praying with gladnesse
⁵ Because of the fellowship which ye have in the Gospel, from the first day unto now.
⁶ And I am persuaded of this same thing, that he hath begun shew good work in you, will performe it until the day of Iesus Christ.
⁷ As it becometh me so to indige of you all, because I have you in remembrance, that both in my bonds and in my defence, & confirmation of the Gospel you all were partakers of my grace.

⁸ As it becometh me so to indige of you all, because I have you in remembrance, that both in my bonds and in my defence, & confirmation of the Gospel you all were partakers of my grace.

And of all he commendeth their former doings, to exhort them to goe forward, which they have done, in the same fashion he referreth all things to the grace of God.

And of all he commendeth their former doings, to exhort them to goe forward, which they have done, in the same fashion he referreth all things to the grace of God.

And of all he commendeth their former doings, to exhort them to goe forward, which they have done, in the same fashion he referreth all things to the grace of God.

A God declareth his good will towards them, therewithal shewing
by what means chaity they may be confirmed, to wisely continuall prayer.

1 The inward what thing we ought chiefly desire, to wit, first of all, that we may increase in the true knowledge of God
so that we may be able to differ things that differ
one from another;
and also in chaity,
that even to the end we may give our selves to good works in deede,
to the glorie of God by Iesus
Christ.

2 If rightness be the true, and good works, the fruites, then must the Pastors be able to discuss, where they for that work are the cause of rightness.

3 He presenteth
the offence that might come by his persecution, whereby diuers things are to be discussed in his Apostleship. To whom he saith, whereof God hath blessed his importunate suffring will, hat-heth by that menne become more famous, and also despite of the Gospel by this occasion is greatly enlarged although now with like affliction in all men,
yet in deede.

4 For Christ
saith,
5 In the Emperors court,
6 The Gospel is called the word, to suffer the execution of it.

7 Not much a pure minde for whom will they desire no pure.

8 He sheweth by setting forth his own example, that the end of our afflictions is true ioy, and that through the vertue of the Spirit of Christ, which is girth to them that anker it. In vnder a gently colour and shew, for they made Christ a chieft for their ambition and envie.

9 We must continue true to the end, with great confidence, having nothing before our eyes but Christs glory aye, whether we live or die. 7 An example of a true shephard, who as heeth more account how he may profite his sheepe, then the death of any commodity of his own; whatsoever to be true in this mortal body. 8 Having first downe those things before, in manner of a preface, he descendeth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to content both in doctrine and in deede, and shewing that being thus knit together with their commune kinde, they continue through the strength of faith to beare all aduersities with patience, that they abide stedfastly in the profession of the Gospel. For the word of Christ is the word of life, and is the word of life, that shall abide and continue to the end.

8 For God is my recorder, how I long after you all from the very heart roote in Iesus Christ.
9 And this I pray, that your loue may abound, yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement,

10 That ye may allowe those things which are best, that ye may bee pure, and without offence vntill the day of Christ,

11 Filled with the 8 fruites of righteousness, which are by Iesus Christ vnto the glory and praise of God.

12 ¶ I would yee vnderstood, brethren, that the things which hath come vnto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospel,

13 So that my bandes in Christ are famous throughout all the iudgement hall, and in all other places,

14 Inasmuch that many of the brethren in the Lorde are boldened through my bandes, and dare more frankly speake the word.

15 Somepreache Christ euen through enuie and strife, and some also of good will.

16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention and not purely, supposing to adde more affliction to my bandes.

17 But the others of loue, knowing that I am set for the defence of the Gospel.

18 ¶ What then yet Christ is preached all maner ways, whether it be vnder a pretence, or sincerely; and I therein ioy: yea and will ioy.

19 For I know that this shall turne to my salu-ation through your prayer, and by the helpe of the spirit of Iesus Christ,

20 ¶ As I feruently looke for, and hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all confidence, as always, so now Christ shall be confidenced in my body, whether it be by life, or by death

21 For Christ is to me both in life, & in death advantage.

22 And whether to live in the flesh were profitable for me, and what to chuse I know not.

23 For I am distressed betweene both, desiring to be loofed and to bee with Christ, which is best of all.

24 Neuen thelesse, to abide in the flesh, is more needfull for you.

25 And this am I sure of, that I shall abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith,

26 That ye may more abundantly reioyce in Iesus Christ for mee, by my coming to you againe.

27 ¶ Only let your constancie be, as it be-cometh the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you or els be absent, I may heare of your matters that ye continue in one spirit, and in one mind, fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.

28 ¶ And in nothing feare your aduersaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of saluation, and that of God.

29 For vnto you it is given for Christ, that not only ye should beleue in him, but also suffer for his sake,

30 Having the same fight, which ye saw in me, and nowe heare so be in me.

God himselfe both of our saluation, & of the destruction of the wicked. In the prometh that his saying, that persecution is a token of our saluation, because it is a gift of God to suffer for Christ, which gift he bestoweth vpon his owne, as he doeth the gift of faith. 11 Now be the worth for what purpose he made mention of his afflictions.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth them about all things, 2 and that by the example of Christ. 19 He promyseth to send Tymarchus shortly vnto them, 25 and excepteth the long tying of Epaphroditus.

1 ¶ There be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of loue, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any compassion and mercie,

2 Fulfill my ioy, that ye bee like minded, having the same loue, being of one accord, and of one iudgement,

3 That nothing be done through contention or vainglory, but that in meeknesse of minde euery man esteeme other better then himselfe.

4 Lookoe not euery man on his owne things, but euery man also on the things of other men.

5 Let the same minde be in you that was euen in Christ Iesus,

6 Who being in the forme of God, thought it no robbery to be equal with God:

7 But he made himselfe of a seruant, & was made like vnto men, and was found in shape as a man.

8 He humbled himselfe, & became obedient vnto the death, euen the death of the crosse.

9 Wherefore God hath also highly exalted him, and given him a name above euery name, 10 That at the Name of Iesus should euery knee bow, both of things in heauen, and things in earth, and things vnder the earth,

11 And that euery tongue should confesse that Iesus Christ is the Lorde, vnto the glorie of God the Father.

12 ¶ Wherefore my beloved, as yee haue alwayes obeyed me, nor as in my presence only, but now much more in mine absence, so make an end of your own saluation with feare & trembling.

13 For it is God which worketh in you, both the will and the deed, vnto the good pleasure.

14 ¶ Do all things without murmuring and reasonings,

15 ¶ Christ that glorious and rarefying God knowes that he might rightly and fully not appear in the last of his life, but remaine with them as he did meet for God yet he chose rather to desire himselfe. 17 I knowe that he would be equal to the Father as there of necessity an equall, which Arise that Herodes detesteth; and of this cannot be compared with the Father, then is there a distinction of persons, which he belittles that herodes detesteth. 2. Hee brought himselfe from all things, and used nothing, 3. By taking our meaneest position, 4. Hee detesteth the same thing as Christ submitting, to teach us that meeknesse in the way of true praise and glory. 1. Digress and remane, and the meaneest will be. 2. The reuerence shall at length bee subiect to Christ. 3. Every man shall. The conclusion 1. We must go on to saluation with humilitie and subiection by the of our vocation. 2. Hee is to be made an end of this saluation, which is in the race of righteousness. 3. At the end there is ground of argument pride, for that we have nothing in vs more worthy, but in cometh of the gift of God, and is without vs, for we have no ability or power. 4. We will well (much less to do we) but only of the free meere of God. 5. We showe we no flatter, but yet we will well of nature, but yet we will hath made of our nature with a good will. 6. These detesteth the many a effect of pride, teaching vs, that it is far worse than all meaneest or toward hatred, and also from open consent and boasting.

9 We ought not to be distressed

saries are strong

are for the sake of the name of the Lord, and they are certain

14 & Luke the beloved physician greeteth
you, and Demas;

15 Salute the brethren which are of Laodicea, and Nymphas, and the Church which is in his house.

17 And say to Archippus: Take heed to the ministry, that thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfill it.

18 The salutation by the hand of me Paul. Remember my bands. Grace be with you. Amen.

¶ Written from Rome to the Colossians, and sent by Tychicus, and Onesimus.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE THESSA- LONIANS.

CHAP. I.

¶ He therefore beginneth with thanksgiving, & to put them in minds that whatsoever was wrought in them, is came of Gods goodnesse: & that they are ensamples unto others,

PAVL, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, & in the Lord Iesus Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3. Wee giue God thanks alwayes for you all, making mention of you in our prayers.

3 ^a Without ceasing, remembering your effectuall faith, and diligent loue, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Iesus Christ, in the sight of God, even our Father.

4. Knowing, beloved brethren, that yee are elect of God.

5 ³ For our Gospel was not vnto you in word only, but also in power, and in the holy Ghost, and in ^b much assurance, as ye knowe after what manner we were among you for your sakes.

6 † And ye became followers of vs, and of the Lord, and receiued the word in much affliction, with ^c ioy of the holy Ghoſt,

7 So that ye were as ensamples to all that beleeue in Macedonia and in Achaia.

8 For from you founded out the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely, but your faith also which is toward God, spread abroad in all quarters, that wee neede not to speake any thing.

9 For they themselves shew of vs what manner of entering in we had vnto you, and how ye turned to God from idoles, to serue the liuing and true God.

to And to looke for his sonne from heauen, whom he raised from the dead, euen Iesus which deliuereth vs from e that wrath to come.

things, that there followed very great fruits of his preaching, of the holy Ghost, that certain assurance which was wrought in their hearts, as appeared by their willing hearing of the Cross. An life came to that day, they embraced the Gospel with great such that they were an example to all their neighbours, to to come thence to sit in the mid-care, as Phil. 2. 15 which

CHAP. II.

1 Hee declareth home faithfully how preached the Gospel vnto them, 4 making neither gaine, nor praise of men: so and be proueth the same by their owne testimony: 14 that they did come iustly: here professions of their conuery men: 17 that he desired very much to see them.

FOR ¹ye your selues know, brethren, that our entrance in vnto you was not in vaine.

2. ² But euen after that wee had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated at ϕ Philippi, (as ye knowe) we were bolde in α our God, to speake vnto you the Gospel of God; with much striving.

3 For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor by uncleanness, nor by guile.

4. 4 But as we were ^e allowed of God, that the Gospel should be committed ^{unto} us, so we speake, not as they that please men, but God, which ^e approueth our hearts.

5 Neither yet did we euer vse flattering words, as ye knowe, nor coloured couerousnesse; God is record.

6 Neither sought we prayſe of men, neither of you, nor of others, when we might have bene chargeable as the Apoſtles of Chriſt.

7 But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children.

8 6 Thus being affectioned toward you, our good will was to haue dealt vnto you, not the Gospel of Gd onely, but also our owne soules; because ye were deare vnto vs.

9 For we remember, brethren, & our labour and trauaile: for we laboured day and night, because wee woulde not bee chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospel of 10 Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily and iustly, and vblameably wee behaued our selues among you that beleeue

11 ⁹ As ye know howe that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought every one of you (as a father his children)

12 1^o That ye would walke worthy of God, who hath called you vnto his kingdome and glorie.

13 ¹¹ For this cause also thanke wee God without ceasing, that when yee receiued the word of God, which yee heard of vs, yeereceiued it not as the word of men, but as it is in deede the word of God, which also worketh in you that beleue.

 rather then to be chargeable to his sheepe. 8 Adler 10. 34.

¶ Jude 6.

10 He openeth the bowels of all our comfort, to wit, that in afflictions we suffer the will of the wicked for righteousness, which we may behold as it were in a glass the reason of that ingrat to count, and the end thereof well acceptable to vs, and melt sharpe to his enemies.

¶ 1 Apoc. 1: God shall therefore be well worthy to punish the vauil, and will doe away the milities of his people, he constraineth them also by the way, by this means, that the condition here of this present fate and the flate to come, is common to him with them.

¶ 1. Thess. 4: 14. ¶ 1. A most glorious description of the second coming of Christ, to be set against all the glories of the godly, and the triumphs of the wicked. ¶ 6. There is no knowledge of God vnto saluation, without the Gospel of Christ. ¶ 7. The children of God shall be counted by the faith which they haue in the Gospel, which is promised vnto them by the Apostles. ¶ 8. Seeing that we haue the make bet weust remembeth that we got vnto vs. And we got vnto, by certain degrees of cautes: first by the free lone and good pleasure of God, by vertue whereof all other infatuor causes worke: from thence proceedeth the free calling to Christ, and from calling faith, whereupon followeth both the glorifying of Christ in vs, and vs in Christ. ¶ 9. By (calling) be meant not the very acts of calling, but that illu (some thing) whereunto we are called, which is the glory of that heavenly long desire. ¶ 10. Which he determined long since, vpon your graces and mercifull good will towards you. ¶ 11. So then, faith is an excellent worke of God in vs: and we be here plainly that the Apostle teacheth nothing to set will to make it checkmate with God working therein the Papists dream.

¶ 3 ¶ Which is a manifest token of the righteous iudgement of God, that yee may be counted worthy of the kingdome of God, for the which ye also suffer.

¶ 6 ¶ For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you, ¶ 7 And to them which are troubled, rest ¶ 4 with vs, ¶ 5 when the Lord Iesus shall shew himselfe from heauen with his mightie Angels,

8 In flaming fire, rendring vengeance vnto them, ¶ 6 that doe not know God, and which obey not vnto the Gospel of our Lord Iesus Christ,

9 Which shall be punished with euertlasting perdition from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power,

10 When he shall come to be glorified in his Saintes, and to be made maruellous in all them that beleuee (7 because our testimonie toward you was beleueed) in that day.

¶ 11 ¶ Wherefore, we also pray alwayes for you, that our God may make you worthe of, b this calling, and fulfill ¶ 4 all the good pleasure of his goodnesse, and the ¶ 4 worke of faith with power,

12 That the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ may be glorified in you, and yee in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ,

¶ 1. A most glorious description of the second coming of Christ, to be set against all the glories of the godly, and the triumphs of the wicked. ¶ 6. CHAP. II.

¶ 1. He sheweth that the day of the Lord shall come, till there be a departure from the faith, ¶ 2 and Antichrist be re- uincid, ¶ 3 whose destruction he setteth out, ¶ 4 and thereupon exhorteth to constancie,

¶ 1. Nowe we beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ, and by our assembling vnto him,

¶ 2 That yee be not suddenly moued from your minde, nor troubled neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter, as is wont from vs, as though the day of Christ were at hand.

¶ 3 Let no man deceiue you by any means; for that day shall not come, except there come a departing first, and that ¶ 2 that man of sinne be disclosed, ¶ 4 whose the sonne of perdition, shipped: ¶ 4 so that he doth sit as God in the Temple of God, shewing himselfe that he is God.

¶ 5 Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I told you these things ¶ 1

¶ 6 And now ye know what withholdeth, that he might be reueiled in his time.

¶ 7 ¶ For the mysterie of iniquitie doeth already worke: ¶ 7 onely he which now ¶ 8 withholdeth, shall let it be taken out of the way.

¶ 8 ¶ And then shall ¶ 1 that wicked man be reueiled, ¶ 4 whose the Lord shall ¶ 5 consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall abolish with the brightnesse of his coming.

¶ 9 ¶ Euen him whose coming is by the effectuall working of Satan, with all power, and signes, and ¶ 10 lying wonders,

¶ 10 And in all deceiuablenesse of vnrighteousnesse, among them that perish, because they receiued not the loue of the truth, that they might be saued.

¶ 11 And therefore God shall send them strong delusion, that they should beleuee lyes, ¶ 12 That all they might be damned which beleueed not the truth, but ¶ 10 had pleasure in vnrighteousnesse.

¶ 13 ¶ But we ought to giue thanks alway to God for you, brethren beloued of the Lord, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to saluation, through ¶ 1 sanctification of the Spirit, and the ¶ 2 faith of truth, ¶ 14 Whereunto he called you by our Gospel, to obtaine the glory of our Lord Iesus Christ.

¶ 15 ¶ Therefore, brethren, stand fast, & keepe the instructions, which ye haue bene taught, either by word, or by our Epistle.

¶ 16 Now the same Iesus Christ our Lord, and our God, euen the Father which hath loued vs, and hath giuen vs euertlasting consolation and good hope through grace, ¶ 17 Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in euery worde and good worke.

4. Regard must be had also to the Pastors and Deacons wives.

g They that have more wines then war, at one time, must neither be called to be ministers, nor to be Deacons.

However and often supposing to add to their hour, speakers first of all should be so much aware of negligence. rate, modest, barbarous, apt to reach.

3 Not giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthy lucre, but gentle, no fighter, not couetous, 4 One that can rule his owne house honestly hauing children vnder obedience with all honesty

5 For if any cannot rule his owne houle, how shall he care for the Church of God?

6 He may not be a yongscholler, lest he being puffed vp fall into the d^d condemnation of the deuill.

7 He must also be well reported of, euen of them which are without, lest he fall into rebuke and the snare of the deuill.

8 3 Likewise must e Deacons be graue, no double tongued, not giuen vnto much wine, nei ther to filthy lucre.

9 + Having the f myfterie of the faith in pure conscience.

10 And let them first be proued: then let them minister, if they be found blamelesse.

11 *Likewife their wiues must be honest, not euill speakers, but sober, and faithfull in all things

13 5 Let the Deacons be the husbands of one wife, and such as can rule their children well, and their owne housholdes.

13 For they that haue ministred wel, get them selues a good & degree, and ^b great libertie in the faith, which is in Christ Iesus.

14. ^aThese things write I vnto thee, trusting to come very shortly vnto thee.

15 But if I tary long, ⁊ thou mayest yet know how thou oughtest to behaue thy self in ⁊ 7 house of God, which is the church of the liuing God, the i pillar and ground of truth.

16 ³ And without controuersie, great is ⁴ mysterie of godlinesse, which is, God is manifested in the flesh, ⁵ iustified in the Spirit, seene of Angels, preached vnto the Gentiles, belceued on in the world, and receiued vp in glory.

3 3 Forbidding to marrie, and commanding to abstaine from meates 4 which God hath created 5 to be receiued 6 with giuing thanks of them which beleue and know the truth.

4. 7 For every creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving.

5 ⁸ For it is sanctified by the word of God, and prayer.

6.9 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Iesus Christ, which hath bene nourished vp in the words of faith, and of good doctrine, which thou hast continually followed.

7 ¹⁰ But cast away prophane, and olde wines fables. ¹¹ and exercise thy selfe vnto g godlines.

8 12 For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godlines is profitable vnto all things, which hath the promise of the life present, and of that that is to come.

9 ¹³ This is a true saying, and by all means worthy to be received.

10 For therefore we labour and are rebuked, because we trust in the living God, which is the Saviour of all men, specially of those that beleeue.

13 14 Let no man despise thy youth; but be ye to them that beleue, an ensample, in wordes, in conuersation, in loue, in spirit, in faith and in purenesse.

13 ¹⁵ Till I come, giue attendance to reading, to exhortation, and to doctrine.

14 Despise not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophetic with the laying on of the hands of the companie of the Eldership.

15 These things exercise, and giue thy self vnto them, that it may be seene howe thou profitest among all men.

16 Take heede vnto thy selfe, and vnto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou shalt both ^hsaue thy self, & them that heare thee.

CHAP. V.

2 Having let downe a manner howe to rebuke all degrees, 3 her carefullnes of widows, who then were chosen for the service of the Church: 4 When her cometh to i. d. d. d. 23 and greates fourtimes touching the health of the body.

R Ebuke not an Elder, but exhort him as a father, and the younger men as brethren,

3 The elder women as mothers, the younger as sisters, with all purentie.

3 Honour widows, which are widows in deed.

4 But if any widow have children or nephews, let them learne first to shew godlinesse 4 toward their owne house, and 5 to recompense their kinned: 6 for that is an honest thing and acceptable before God.

5 And she that is a widow in deed and left alone, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.

6 But shee that liueth in pleasure, is dead, while she liueth.

7 These things therefore wame them, of that they may be blamelesse.

8 If there bee any that prouideth not for his owne, and namely for them of his household, he denieth the faith, and is worse then an infidell.

9 Let not a widow be taken into the number before threefore yere olden, that hath bene the wife of one husband,

10 And well reported of for good workes: if she haue nourished her children, if she haue lodged the strangers, if she haue washed the Saints feet, if she haue ministered vnto them which were in aduersitie, if she were continually giuen vnto every good worke.

11 But 4 refuse the younger widows: for when they haue begonne to waxe wanton against Christ, they will marrie, 12 Having damnation, because they haue broken the first faith.

13 And likewise also being idle they learne to goe about from house to house: yea they are not onely idle, but also prakers and busybodies, speaking things which are not comely.

14 I will therefore that the younger women marrie, and beare children, and gouerne the house, and giue none occasion to the aduersarie to speake euill.

15 For certayne are alreadie turned backe after Satan.

16 If any faithfull man or faithfull woman haue widows, let them minister vnto them, and let not the Church be charged, that there may be sufficient for them that are widows in deepe.

17 ¶ The Elders that rule well, let them be had in double honour, especially they which labour in the worde and doctrine.

18 For the Scripture faith, ¶ Thou shalt not mouell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: and, ¶ The labourer is worthe of his wages.

19 Against an Elder receiue none accusation, but vnder two or three witnesses.

20 Them that sinne, rebuke openly, that the reft also may feare.

¶ I charge thee before God and the Lord Iesus Christ, and the elect Angels, that thou observe these things, without preferring one to another, and doe nothing partially.

23 Lay handes 1 suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other mens sinnes: keepe thy selfe pure.

23 Drinke no longer water, but vse a little wine for thy stomackes sake, and thine often infirmities.

24 Some mens sinnes are open before hand, and goe before vnto iudgement: but some mens follow after.

25 Likewise also the good workes are manifest before hand, and they that are otherwise, cannot be hid.

the manner of the Congregation, the other did befall that, attend vpon preaching and prayer, to and for the Congregation.

¶ The second rule: Let no woman be admitted againe an Elder, but vnder two or three witnesses.

16 The third rule: Let the Elders be considered be rebuked openly, that they may be an example to other.

CHAP. VI.

¶ He strengthen the duties of women: 10 and what a multitude shall come out of them: 11 and having spoken fourtimes of rich-men, he once againe forbiddeth Timothy so to couple himselfe with wanton habillings.

Let 4 with seruants as are vnder the yoke, L count their masters wordie of all honour, that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not euill spoken of.

3 And they which haue beleeuing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren, but rather doe seruice, because they are faithfull, and beloued, and partakers of the benefice. 4 These things teach and exhort.

And this is the first rule: Let seruants that are come to the faith, and haue beloued to their masters, shew them notwithstanding with great diligence.

3 The reason: Ieul God should forme by the doctrine of the Gospel to bring vnto men to rebellion and all wickednesse.

2 The second rule: Let not seruants that are come to the faith, and haue also masters of the same profession and religion, and shew the name of brotherhood, but let them be as much to their masters as to God.

¶ Let this be sufficient, that a teaching they shew them to be obedient to our Lord Iesus Christ, and to the doctrine of the Gospel.

¶ A general conclusion: that their things ought not euill to be simple taught, but with all earnestness be diligently taught into their hearts.

14 Now he gi. with rules, and somewhat he ought to becom humble with the Elders, that is to say, with the Pastours and such as haue the gouernance in the discipline of the Church, which is president of their congregation.

CHAP. II.

1 The better to set out performance in the Christian warfare, he taketh similitudes of some soldiers, and of some husbandmen. 10 He sheweth that his bonds are for the profit of the Saints: 15 Therefore warreth Timothy to abide the word of truth aright: 17 to beware of the examples of the wicked, 22 and to do all things modestly.

Thou therefore, my sonne, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Iesus.

2 And what things thou hast heard of me, by many witnesses, the same deliuer to faithful men, which shall be able to witness thereto also.

3 Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good souldier of Iesus Christ.

4 No man that warreth, entangleth himselfe with the affaires of this life, because he would please him that hath chosen him to be a souldier.

5 And if any man also strive for a mastrie, he is not crowned, except he strive as he ought to doe.

6 The husbandman must labour before he receive the fruites.

7 Consider what I say: and the Lorde giue thee vnderstanding in all things.

8 Remember that Iesus Christ made of the seede of Dauid, was rayed againe from the dead according to my Gospel,

9 Wherein I suffer trouble as an euill doer, euen vnto bonds: but the worde of God is not bound.

10 Therefore I suffer all things, for the elects sake, that they might also obtaine the saluation which is in Christ Iesus, with eternal glory.

11 It is a true saying, For if wee be^s dead together with him, wee also shall liue together with him.

12 If we suffer, we shall also reigne together with him: as if we denie him, he also will denie vs.

13 If we beleeue not, yet abideth hee faithful: he cannot denie himselfe.

14 Of these things put them in remembrance, and protest before the Lord, that they strive not about wordes which is to no profite, but to the perverting of the hearers.

15 Studie to shewe thy selfe approoued vnto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, diuiding the word of truth aright.

16 Stay prophane and vaine babblings: for they shall encrease vnto more vngodlinesse.

17 And their word shall fret as a canker: of which sort is Hymeneus and Philetus, 18 Which as concerning the truth haue erred from the marke, saying that the resurrection is past already, and doe destroy the faith of certaine.

19 But the foundation of God remaineth sure, and hath this seale, The Lord knoweth who are his: and, Let every one that calleth on the Name of Christ, depart from iniquitie.

1. In prison as an euill doer, yet there is no cause, why therefore I should gaine about to derogate credit from his Gospel, seeing that notwithstanding God will bless his ministerie, may rather, that example of this discipline and patience did sendy wayes confirme the Church in the hope of a better life. 2. The fourth admonition: we ought not to contend upon wordes and questions, which are not only vnprouitable, but also for the most part hurtfull: but rather vpon this, how we may come on felicitie to all manner of patience, and to the alio with Christ (that is to say, for Christes Name) because that is the place in way to the most glorious life: as conueniently did fasting away the word of truth, not part of the truth of God, although by such means they goe more to their destruction to themselves. 3. Rom. 8. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100.

1 The conclusion of the former exhortation, which hath added vnto it a declaration, how that they do not keepe that worthy thing that is committed into them which keepe it to themselves, but they rather which doe most freely communicate it with other, to the ende that many may be partakers of it without any mans losse or hindrance. 10 When many were vs, which can beare witness of these things. 11. Another admonition: That the Ministerie of the word is a spiritual warfare, which no man can so trauaile without, he may please his captain, vnder his iugle and part with all hindrances which might draw him away from it.

1 With figures of these things, we often compare the things which we are to do in this life.

2 The third admonition. The ministerie is like to a game or an iugle, wherein man strive for the victory, and as the victor is crowned with life, he likewise shall be liuice according to the lawes which are prescribed by the yower in hand and painful.

3 Another simile, tode treading to the same rule: no man may looke for the harvest, unless hee first take pains to sow the seed, and sow his ground.

4 All these things cannot be understood, and much lesse practised, unless we aske of God and he giue vs vnderstanding.

5 He confirmeth plainly two principles of our faith, which are always affirmed of hereticks, the one whereof, to wit, that Christ is the true Messias, made man of the seede of Dauid) is the ground of our saluation: and the other is the highest part of it, to wit, that he is risen againe from the dead.

6 The taking away of an occasion: Truth is is, that hee is kept in prison as an euill doer, yet there is no cause, why therefore I should gaine about to derogate credit from his Gospel, seeing that notwithstanding God will bless his ministerie, may rather, that example of this discipline and patience did sendy wayes confirme the Church in the hope of a better life. 2. The fourth admonition: we ought not to contend upon wordes and questions, which are not only vnprouitable, but also for the most part hurtfull: but rather vpon this, how we may come on felicitie to all manner of patience, and to the alio with Christ (that is to say, for Christes Name) because that is the place in way to the most glorious life: as conueniently did fasting away the word of truth, not part of the truth of God, although by such means they goe more to their destruction to themselves. 3. Rom. 8. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100.

11 The taking away of an oblation: it is no dishonour to the good man, that he hath not in a great house all vessels of one sort and for one service, but we must looke to this that we be found vessels prepared to honour.

12 Rom. 9. 21.

13 By these words I meant the execution of the matter; for the confessor in that we put our vessels, it is not to be attributed to day will that it is in, but to God, who freely and nobly worketh in us good for our official will.

14 Returning to the matter from whence he digressed verse 16, he warneth him to exercise himselfe in weightie matters, and such as pertain to godliness.

15 The first admonition: We must labour all things, that we haue intercelle of inside both in teaching all men, and also in calling them backe which have gone out of the way.

16 To winne them through our patient bearing with them, but not to please them or excuse them in their wickedness.

17 He meaneth such as did not yet see the truth,

18 The second admonition: we may get hope for any Church in this world without expectation, but there shall be rather great abundance of good wicked men, and in the very persons of the Church, which notwithstanding shall make a show and compassure of great holiness and chastitie.

19 The third admonition: we must make us constant, fathers of right in how far.

20 We must use daily with such men as rest in the truth, but in such a way, as is profitable, but of a patient mind, (which thing is signified by their fathers which hee pointed out here being) but we must rather turn away from them.

21 2d. Tim. 3. 1.

22 He aduerteth a comfort: The Lord will at length punish all that are wicked.

23 That we be not deceived by such hypocrites, we must seeke to the virtues of the holy tenants of God, and we must not be afraid of persecution which they suffer willingly, and which always followeth true godliness.

24 But we must especially hold fast the doctrine of the Apostles, the doctrine of the life, that we are saved through faith in Christ Jesus.

20 Notwithstanding in a great house are not onely vessels of gold & of silver, but also of wood and of earth, and some for honour, and some vnto dishonour.

21 If any man therefore purge him selfe from these, hee shall be a vessel vnto honour, sanctified, and meete for the Lord, and prepared vnto every good worke.

22 Flee also from the lustes of youth, and follow after righteousness, faith, loue, and peace, with them that call on the Lord with pure heart, 23 And put away foolish & vnlearned questions, knowing that they engender strife.

24 But the seruant of the Lord must not strue, but must bee gentle toward all men, apt to teach, suffering the rebuke,

25 Instructing them with meekenesse that are contrary minded, prouing if God at any time will giue them repentance, that they may acknowledge the truth,

26 And come to amendment out of the snare of the deuil, of whom they are taken prisoners, to doe his will.

27 The first admonition: We must labour all things, that we haue intercelle of inside both in teaching all men, and also in calling them backe which have gone out of the way.

28 To winne them through our patient bearing with them, but not to please them or excuse them in their wickedness.

29 He meaneth such as did not yet see the truth,

CHAP. III.

1 Hee foretelleth the dangerous times that are to come: 2. but with the certain hope of victory, 3. hee encourageth him to the combat, 4. setting out especially the trial of sound doctrine.

1 His know alle, that in these last dayes shall come perillous times.

2 For men shall be louers of their owne selues, contentious, boasters, proud, cursed speakers, disobedient to parents, vnthankfull, a vnholie,

3 Without naturall affection, truce breakers, false accusers, intemperate, fierce, no louers at all of them which are good,

4 Traitors, headie, high minded, louers of pleasures more then louers of God,

5 Hauing a shew of godlinesse, but haue denied the power thereof: 6 turne away therefore from such.

6 For of this sort are they which creepe into houses, and leade captive simple women laden with finnes, and led with diuers lustes;

7 Which women are euer learning, & are neuer able to come to the acknowledging of the truth.

8 As for Iannes and Iambres withstoode Moses, so doe these also resist the truth, men of corrupt mindes, reprobate concerning the faith.

9 But they shall preuaile no longer: for their madness shall be euident vnto all men, as theirs also was.

10 But thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of liuing, purpose, faith, long suffering, loue, patience,

11 Persecutions, and afflictions which came vnto me at Antiochia, at Iconium, and at Lystra, 12 The Lord will at length punish all that are wicked. 13 That we be not deceived by such hypocrites, we must seeke to the virtues of the holy tenants of God, and we must not be afraid of persecution which they suffer willingly, and which always followeth true godliness. 14 But we must especially hold fast the doctrine of the Apostles, the doctrine of the life, that we are saved through faith in Christ Jesus.

which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord deliuered me.

12 Yea, and all that will liue godly in Christ Iesus, shall suffer persecution.

13 But the euill men and deceiuers shall waxe worse and worse, deceiuing, and being deceiued.

14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned, and which are committed vnto thee, knowing of whom thou hast learned them:

15 And that thou hast known the holy scriptures of a child, which are able to make thee wise vnto saluation, through the faith which is in Christ Iesus.

16 For the whole Scripture is giuen by inspiration of God, and is profitable to teach, to conuince, to correct, and to instruct in righteousness, 17 That the man of God may bee absolute, being made perfect vnto all good works.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He chargeth him to preache the Gospel with all diligence, 2. in that so miserable times: 3. That his death is hard at hand, 4. yet so, that as a conqueror, hee shall haue to a glorious triumph. 5. He foretelleth the cause why hee writeth for Timothee, 6. even by reason of this present state.

1 Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Iesus Christ, which shall iudge the quicke and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdomes,

2 Preach the worde: be instant, in season and out of season: impute, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine.

3 For the time will come when they will not suffer wholesome doctrine, but hauing their eares itching, shall after their owne lusts get them an heape of teachers,

4 And shall turne their eares from the truth, and shall giue place vnto fables.

5 But watch thou in all things: suffer aduersitie: doe the worke of an Euangelist: 6 cause thy ministerie to be thoroughly liked of.

6 For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.

7 I haue fought a good fight, and haue finished my course: I haue kept the faith.

8 For henceforth is layde vp for mee the crowne of righteousness, which the Lord the righteous iudge shall giue me at that day: and not to me onely, but vnto all them also that loue that his appearing.

9 Make speede to come vnto me at once:

10 For Demas hath forsaken mee, and hath embraced this present world, & is departed vnto Thessalonica. Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus vnto Dalmanata.

11 Only Luke is with me. Take Marke and bring him with thee: for he is profitable vnto me to minister.

12 And Tychicus haue I sent to Ephesus.

13 The cloke that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the bookes, but specially the parchments.

14 Alexander the coppermith hath done me much euill: the Lord reward him according to his works.

15 Hee death to be offered, and set free before them as a conqueror, hee shall haue to a glorious triumph. 16 Hee foretelleth the cause why hee writeth for Timothee, 17. even by reason of this present state.

16 At my first answering no man assisted me, but all forsooke me: I pray God, that it may not be laid to their charge.

The second Epistle written from Rome vnto Timotheus, the first Bishop elected of the Church of Ephesus, when Paul was presented the second time before the Emperour Nero.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO TITVS.

CHAP. I.

¶ He sheweth what kind of men ought to be chosen Ministers:
to how vaine holdeth mensures should be stopped: 12 and through this occasion be toucheth the nature of the Cretians, 14 and the Lewes who put belisfe in outward things.

PAUL a servant of God, and an Apostle of Iesus Christ, according to the faith of Gods elect, and the acknowledging of the truth, which is according vnto godlines,

1 Vnto the hope of eternal life, which God cannot lye, hath promised before the world began:

2 But hath made his word manifest in due time through the preaching, which is committed vnto mee, according to the commandment of God our Saviour:

3 To Titus my natural sonne according to the common faith, Grace, mercie, and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ our Saviour.

4 For this cause left I thee in Creta, that thou shouldst continue to rekeiffe the things that remaine, and shouldst ordaine Elders in every cite as I appointed thee,

5 If any be vineprouceable, the husband of one wife, hating faithfull children, which are not shamed of riot, neither are disobedient.

6 For a Bishop must be vineprouceable, as Gods steward, not froward, not angrie, not wine to wine, no striker, not giuen to bulchelluere,

7 But herberous, one that loueth goodnesse, kind, righteous, holy, temperate,

8 Holding fast that faithfull word according to doctrine, that he also may be able to exhort with wholesome doctrine, and conuince

the erring. ^{¶ He sheweth the rule of faith, 4. Every and of his more liberallitie. ¶ Rom 16.21. 1 Cor. 12.13. 1 Tim. 3.1. 1 Pet. 1.1. 1. 2. 3. This word is no other where to be found, but in the preaching of the Apostles, and of the Church. ¶ The word (Cretians) sheweth that only people a pre-eminence of faith and hope of life. ¶ The Apostle toucheth the Cretians to heare Titus, by setting forth his constant and agreement with him in the faith, and therewithall sheweth by what speciall note we may distinguish true ministers from false. ¶ There is but one way of salvation, common both to the Passions, and the Rocks. ¶ The first admonition, to ordaine Elders in every cite. ¶ 1 Tim. 3.1. 2. This word is proper to heare and care, which hold not about the peler. ¶ The second admonition, what traits-pastors (whome hee comprehended vnder the word Elders) ought to be of, and what vertues they ought to haue. ¶ 1 Pet. 1.10. the Lord hath given the word of his gifts. ¶ 2. The third admonition, to appoint a Bishop, and call to people. ¶ 1 Pet. 1.10. of a sound conscience, and of a sound example of moderation. ¶ The third admonition, The Passions must hold fast that doctrine, which the Apostles delivered, and pertaineth to salvation, leaving all curious and vaine matters. ¶ The fourth admonition: To appoint the knowledge of true doctrine, vnto which commeth in two things, to wit, in guarding them which shew themselves to be true, and casting out the false.}

them that lay against it.

10 For there are many disobedient & vaine talkers and deceiuers of mindes, chiefly they of the Circumcision,

11 Whose mouthes must bee stopped, which subuert whole houses, teaching things, which they ought not, for filthy luces sake.

12 One of themselues, euen one of their owne prophets said, The Cretians are alwayes liars, euill beastes, slow bellies.

13 This winnesse is true: wherefore conuince them sharply, that they may be found in faith,

14 And not taking heede to Jewish fables and commandmentes of men, that turne away from the truth.

15 Vnto the pure are all things pure, but vnto them that are defiled, and vnbeleeuing, is nothing pure, but euen their mindes and con-sciences are defiled.

16 They profess that they know God, but by works they deny him, and are abominable & disobedient, vnto every good worke reprobate.

¶ Epimenides, who was counted a Prophet amongst them. Take vnto Cretians, who exceed in his first books of discretion. ¶ Roughly and plainer, and purer about the faith with them. ¶ 1 Tim. 3.1. 11 He that weareth in few words, that puritie in silence not in any external worship, and that that is according to the whole (as in difference of meates & washings and other such things which are shadowes) but in the mind and conscience: and whoeuer teach otherwise, knowe not is true religion in deeds, and alwaies are nothing left then that they would seeme to be. ¶ Rom. 1.20. ¶ If our mindes and consciences be true, we shall be true in all things in our before regenerate men.

CHAP. II.

¶ He sheweth out the duties of family persons and flours, 6 and willeth him to instruct the Church in matters. 11 He sheweth the arguments from the end of four redemptions, 12 which is, that we are truly and verily.

BE speake thou the things which become wholesome doctrine,

2 That yelder them be watchfull, graue, temperate, found in the faith in loue and in patience,

3 The elder women likewise, that they be in such behauiour as becommeth holinesse, nor false accusers, nor subiect to much wine, but teachers of honest things,

4 That they may instruct the young women to bee sober minded, that they together their husbands, that they loue their children,

5 That they be temperate, chaste, keeping at home good and subiect to the Lord, but backbiters, that the word of God be not blasphemed.

6 Exhort young men likewise, that they bee sober minded.

7 In all things shew thy selfe as an example of good works.

by the Lord, and afterward was confirmed vnto vs by 4 them that heard him,

4. God bearing witness thereto, both with signes & wonders, and with diuers miracles, and gifts of holy Ghost, according to his owne will?

5. For he hath not put in subiection vnto the Angels the world to come, whereof we speake.

6. But 4 one in a certaine place witnessed, saying, What is man, that thou shouldest bee

minckill of him? or the sonne of man, that thou wouldest consider him?

7. Thou hast made him a little inferior to the Angels thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and hast set him about the workes of thine hands.

8. Thou hast put all things in subiection vnder his feete. And in that he hath put all things in subiection vnder him, he left nothing that should not be subiect vnto him. 5 But were yet see not all things subdud vnto him,

6. But we see Iesus crowned with glory and honour, which was made little inferior to the Angels, through the suffering of death, that by

Gods grace he might taste death for all men.

10. For it became him, for whome are all these things, and by whome are all these things,

11. seeing that hee brought many children vnto glory, 12. that he should consecrate the Prince of their saluation through his afflictions.

13. For he that sanctified, and they which are sanctified, are all of one: wherefore he is not my brethren: in the middes of the Church will I sing praises to thee.

14. And againe, 4 I will put my trust in children which God hath giuen me.

14. Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, hee also himselfe likewise rooke part with them, that he might destroy through death, him that had the power of death, that is, the deuil.

15. And that he might deliuer all them, which for feare of death were all their life time subiect to bondage.

16. For he in no sorte tooke on him the Angels nature, but he tooke on him the seede of Abraham.

17. Wherefore in all things it becometh him to be mercifull, and to his brethren, that he might be mercifull, and a faithfull high Priest in things concerning God, that he might make reconciliaafflicted not for his sins, but for his sins, and obtained his requite, and of-ficed himselfe for all his.

needs matters.

7 To deliver him
from death, i. He learned in death what it is to have a Father, whom a man must rely on. The other part of the first compensation: But Christ was conserue of God the Father as the author of our saluation, and his Priest for ever, and therefore he is so man, that notwithstanding he is farre above all men. i. Look Chap. 3. 10. 6 A digestion, vntill he come to the beginning of 9 He hath tasted of the good word of God, and of the powers of the world

to come,

10 If they fall away, should be renewed again by repentance: seeing they 4 crucified
again to themselves the Sonne of God, & make a mocke of him.

11 For the earth which drinketh in the raine that cometh out vpon
it, & bringeth forth

ende is to be burned.

13 But beloued, wee haue perswa-ded our felues better things of you, and such as accompanye saluation, though we thus speake.

14 For God is not vnrighteous, that he should forget your worke,
and labour of loue,
which ye shewed toward his Name, in that ye haue ministered
vnto the Saints,
and yet minister.

15 And we desire that every one of you shew the same diligence, to the full assurance of hope vnto the ende.

16 That ye be not slothfull, but followers of them, which through faith and patience inherite the promises.

17 For when God made the promise to Abraham, because he had no greater to sweare by,
he sweare by him-
selfe.

18 Saying, & Surely
I wil abundantly bless thee, and multiply thee maruclously.

19 And so after that hee had taried patiently, he enioyed the promise.

20 For men verely sweare by him that is greater than themselves,

one of the way, because that he also is 3 compassed with infirmities.

3 And for 3 fannes like he is bound to offer for sinnes, as well for his owne part, as for the peoples.

4 3 And no man taketh this honor vnto him
selfe, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5 So Likewise Christ tooke not to himselfe this honor to be made the hie Priest, but he that sayd vnto him, & Thou art my Sonne, this day begate
I thee, Gens. 22. 18.

6 As he also in another place speaketh, y. Thou art a Priest for euer, after 4 order of Melchisedec.

7 4 Who in the 2 daies of his flesh did offer vp prayers and supplications, with strong crying and teares vnto him, that was able to 5 saue him from death, and was also heard in that which he feared.

8 And though he were the Sonne, yet 1 learned he obedience, by the things which he suffered.

9 5 And being 2 consecrate, was made 7 author of eternall saluation vnto all them that obey him:

10 And is called of God an hie Priest after the order of Melchisedec.

11 6 Of whom we haue many things to say, which are hard to be vttered, because ye are dull of hearing.

12 7 For when as concerning the time ye ought to be teachers, yet haue ye neede againe that we teach you what are the first principles of the word of God: and are become such as haue neede of milke, and not of strong meate.

13 3 For euery one that vseth milke, is inexpert in the word of righteousness: for he is a babe.

14 But strong meate belongeth to them that are of age, which through long custome haue their m 15 wits exercised, to discern both good and euill.

16 To deliver him

5 And haue tasted of the good word of God, and of the powers of the world to come,

6 If they fall away, should be renewed againe by repentance: seeing they 4 crucified againe to themselves the Sonne of God, & make a mocke of him.

7 For the earth which drinketh in the raine that cometh out vpon it, & bringeth forth herbs meeete for them by whome it is dressed, recei-ueth blessing of God.

8 But that which beareth thornes and briers, & is reproved, and is neere vnto cursing, whose ende is to be burned.

9 4 But beloued, wee haue perswaded our felues better things of you, and such as accompanye saluation, though we thus speake.

10 5 For God is not vnrighteous, that he should forget your worke, and labour of loue, which ye shewed toward his Name, in that ye haue ministered vnto the Saints, and yet minister.

11 And we desire that every one of you shew the same diligence, to the full assurance of hope vnto the ende.

12 6 That ye be not slothfull, but followers of them, which through faith and patience inherite the promises.

13 7 For when God made the promise to Abraham, because he had no greater to sweare by,
he sweare by himselfe.

thee, and multiply thee maruclously.

1 Peter 3.18.

the newe Testament, that through \diamond death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called, might receive the promise of eternall inheritance.

16 \dagger For where a Testament \dagger death must be the death of him that made the Testament.

17 \dagger For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is aliue.

18 \dagger Wherefore, neither was the first ordeined without blood.

19 For when Moses had spoken euerie precept to the people, \dagger according to the Lawe, he tooke the blood of calves and of goates, with water and purple wooll and hyssope, and \dagger sprinkled both the booke, and all the people, 20 \dagger Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed you to.

21 Moreouer, he sprinkled likewise \dagger Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministring vessels.

22 And almost all things are by the Law purged with blood, and without the shedding of blood is no remission.

23 It was then necessary, that the \diamond similitudes of heauenly things should be purified with such things: but the heauenly things themselves are purified with better sacrifices than these.

24 \dagger For Christ is not entred into the holy places that are made with handes, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuarie: but is entred into very heauen, to appeare now in the sight of God for vs.

25 \dagger Not that he should offer himselfe often, as the hie Priest entred into the Holy place, euerie yeere with other blood, 26 \dagger For then must he haue often suffred since the foundation of the world: but now in the \dagger end of the world hath he bene made manifest, once to put away \dagger sinne by the sacrifice of himselfe.

27 And as it is appointed vnto men that they shall \dagger once die, and after that cometh the iudgement:

28 So \dagger Christ was once offered to take away the finnes of \dagger many, \dagger and vnto them that looke for him, shall hee appeare the second time without sinne vnto saluation.

C H A P. X.

1 He proueth that the sacrifices of the Law were superfluous, because they were yearly renewed: 2 That the sacrifice of Christ is one, and perpetuall, 3 hee proueth by \dagger Daniels testimony: 4 Then he addeth an exhortation, 5 and finally sheweth them that receive the grace of Christ, 36 In the end hee proueth patience, 38 that cometh of faith.

FOR \dagger the Lawe hauing the shadowe of good things to \dagger come, and not the very image of the things, can neuer with those sacrifices, which they offer yeere by yeere continually, sanctifie the consciences therunto.

2 For would they not then haue ceased to haue bene offered, because that \dagger offerers once purged, should haue had no more conscience of sinnes?

3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance againe of sinnes euerie yeere.

4 For it is vnpossible that the blood of bulles and goates should take away sinnes.

5 \dagger Wherefore when hee \dagger cometh into the world, hee faith, \dagger Sacrifice & offering thou wouldest not: but a \dagger body hast thou ordeined me.

6 In burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou hast had no pleasure.

7 Then I said, Loe, I come (in the beginning of the booke it is written of me) that I should do thy will, O God.

8 Abooue, when hee said, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou wouldest not haue, neither hast pleasure therein (which are offered by the Lawe)

9 Then sayd he, Loe, I come to doe thy will, O God, hee taketh away the \dagger first, that hee may stablish the second.

10 By the which will we are sanctified, euen by the offering of the body of Iesus Christ once made.

11 \dagger And euerie Priest \dagger standeth daily ministering, and oft times offereth one manner of offering, which can neuer take away sinnes:

12 But this man after hee had, offered one sacrifice for finnes, \dagger a sacrifice for euer at the right hand of God, 13 \dagger And from henceforth tarieth: till his enemies be made his footstool.

14 For with one offering hath hee consecrated for euer them that are sanctified.

15 \dagger For the holy Ghost also beareth vs record: for after that hee had sayd before,

16 \dagger This is the Testament that I will make

11 Attention why the Testament must be established by the death of the Mediator, because this Testament both the condition of a Testament or gift, which is made effectual by death, & therefore that it might be effectual, it must needs be that hee that made the Testament should die.

12 Gal. 3.15.

13 There must be a proportion betweene those things which purifie, & those which are purified: Vnder the Lawe all those figures were earthly, the Tabernacle, the booke, the vessels, the sacrifices, although they were the figures of heauenly things. Therefore it was requisite that all those should be purified with some matter and ceremony of the same nature, to wit, with the blood of beasts, with water, wooll, hyssope. But vnder Christ all things are heauenly, an heauenly tabernacle, an heauenly sacrifice, an heauenly people, an heauenly doctrine, and heauen is selfe is set open before vs for an everlasting habitation. Therefore all these things are sanctified in like sort, to wit, with that eternall offering of the quickening blood of Christ. \dagger See Rom. 6.10. \dagger See Heb. 9.14. \dagger The similitudes of heauenly things were earthly, & therefore they were to be purified with earthly things, as with the blood of beasts, and wooll, and hyssope. But vnder Christ all things are heauenly, & therefore they could not but be sanctified with the offering of an heauenly blood.

14 An other double comparison: The Leuitical hie Priest entred into the Sanctuarie, which was made in decree by the commandment of God; but yet with mens hands, that it might be a pattern of another more excellent, to wit, of the heauenly palace. But Christ entred euen into heauen himselfe. Again, he appeared before the Arke, but Christ before God the Father himselfe. 15 An other double comparison: The Leuitical hie Priest offered other blood, but Christ offered his owne: hee euerie yeere once iterated his offering: Christ offering himselfe but once, abolished sinne altogether, both of the former ages & of the ages to come. 16 An argument to proue \dagger Christs offering ought not to be repeated. Seeing \dagger sinnes were to be purged from the beginning of the world, & it is proved \dagger sinnes cannot be purged, but by the blood of Christ: hee must needs haue shed his offering, since the beginning of the world. But a man can die but once: therefore Christs oblation which was once done in the latter dayes, neither could nor can be repeated. Seeing then it is so, surely the vertue of it extendeth both to sinnes \dagger yet were before and to sinnes that are after his coming. \dagger In the latter dayes. \dagger That whole verse of vs. \dagger The speech of the natural state and condition of man: For as for Lazarus, or certain other that died truly, that was no vsuall thing but extraordinary, and as for them that should change their changing is a kinde of death. \dagger See 1 Cor. 15.51. \dagger See Rom. 8.1. \dagger Peter 1.38. \dagger Thus the generall promise is restrained to the elect onely: and we haue to steele the testimony of our children, not in the secret counsel of God, but in the effects that our faith worketh, and so we must climb up from the lowest step to the highest, there to finde such comfort as is most certain, and shall neuer be wounded. 16 Sheweth by the way hee fetcheth out Christ as Iudge, partly to terrifie them, which doe not rectifie themselves in the only oblation of Christ once made, & partly to keepe the faithfull in their doctrine, that they goe not backe.

11 Hee proueth that a priuilege oblation. Why then were those sacrifices offered? The apostle answereth, first touching that yearly sacrifice which was the solemnity of all, wherein (saith he) there was made euerie yeere a remembrance againe of all former sinnes. Therefore that sacrifice had no power to sanctifie: for to what purpose should those sinnes which are purged be repeated againe, and therefore should new sinnes come to be repeated euerie yeere, if those sacrifices did absolutely sinne? A sacrifice which are earthly things, which were offered in the Tabernacle, and exhibited in Christ. A conclusion following of those things that went before, and comprehending also the other sacrifices. Seeing that the sacrifices of the Law could not doe it, therefore Christ himselfe offered himselfe for our sinnes, and his sacrifice is offered in the flesh, ministered evidently that God requireth not in the sacrifice, but in the obedience of his Sonne our hie Priest, in which obedience he offered up himselfe once for his Father for vs. \dagger The Sonne of God is said to come into the world, when hee made man. \dagger See Heb. 10.5. \dagger It is said for our sinnes in the Hebrew text, These things pleased mine eare; through that, thou hast made me obedient and willing to suffer. That is, the sacrifice, to establish the second that is the will of God. 3 A conclusion with the other part of the comparison: The Leuitical hie Priest requieth the same sacrifices daily in his Sanctuary: whereupon it followeth that neither the first sacrifice, neither those offerings, neither those hie Priests could take away sinnes. But Christ having offered one sacrifice once for the finnes of all men, and sanctified his owne for euer, sitteth at the right hand of the Father, having all power in his hands. \dagger See Heb. vnto them after those dayes, faith the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their heart, and in their mindes I will write them.

17 And their finnes and iniquities will I remember: no more.

18 Nowe where remission of these things is, there is no more offering for sinne.

19 Seeing therefore, brethren, that by the blood of Iesus we may be bolde to enter into the Holy place,

20 By the newe and liuing way, which hee hath prepared for vs, through the vaile, that is, his flesh:

21 And seeing we haue an hie Priest, which is ouer the house of God,

22 Let vs draw neere with a true heart in assurance of faith, our hearts being pure from an euill conscience,

23 And washed in our bodies with pure water, let vs keepe the profession of our hope, without waivering, (for he is faithfull that promised)

24 And let vs consider one another, to prouoke vnto loue, and to good workes,

25 Not forsaking the fellowship that we haue among our selues, as the manner of some is: but let vs exhort one another, and that so much the more, because ye see that the day draweth neere.

26 For if we sinne willingly after that we haue receiued and acknowledged that truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for finnes, 27 But a fearefull looking for of iudgement, and violent fire, which shall deuoure the adulteraries.

28 He that despiseth Moses Law, dieth without mercy: vnder two, or three witnesses:

29 Of howe much sorer punishment suppose ye shall hee bee worthy, which treadeth vnder foote the Sonne of God, and counteth the blood of the Testament as an vnholy thing, wherewith he was sanctified, and doeth despite the Spirit of grace?

30 For we know him that hath sayd, Vengeance belongeth vnto mee: I will recompense, faith the Lord. And againe, The Lord shall iudge his people.

31 It is a fearefull thing to fall into the hands of the liuing God.

32 Nowe call to remembrance the dayes that are past, in the which, after ye had receiued light, ye endured a great fight in afflictions, 33 Partly while ye were made a gazing stocke both by reproches and afflictions, and partly while ye became companions of them which were so tossed to and fro.

34 For both ye sored with mee for my bonds, and suffered with Ioy the spoiling of your goods, knowing in your selues howe that ye haue in heauen a better, and an enduring substance.

35 Cast not away therefore your confidence which hath great recompence of reward.

36 For ye haue neede of patience, that after ye haue done the will of God, ye might receiue the promise.

37 For yet a very little while, and he that shall come, will come, and will not tary.

38 Now the iust shall liue by faith: but if any withdrawe himselfe, my soule shall haue no pleasure in him.

39 But wee are not they which withdrawe our selues vnto perdition, but followe faith vnto the confutation of the foule.

CHAP. XI.

He declareth in the whole Chapter, that the Fathers, which from the beginning of the world were approoued of God, obtained salvation no other way then by faith, that the lawes may knowe that by the same way, they also may come vnto the Fathers in an holy vniou.

Now faith is the ground of things which are hoped for, and the euidence of things which are not seene.

2 For by it our elders were well reported of.

3 Through faith wee vnderstand that the world was ordered by the word of God, so that the things which wee see, are not made of things which did appeare.

4 By faith Abel offered vnto God a greater sacrifice then Cain, by the which hee obtained witnesseth that hee was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: by the which faith also he being dead, yet speaketh.

5 By faith was Enoch translated, that hee should not see death: neither was he found: for God had translated him: for before he was translated, he was reported of, that he had pleased God.

6 But without faith it is vnpossible to please him: for he that cometh to God, must beleue that God is, and that hee is a rewarder of them that seeke him.

7 By faith Noe being warned of God of the things which were as yet not seene, moued with reuerence, prepared the Arke to the saving of his household, through the which Arke hee condemned the world, and was made heire of the righteousness, which is by faith.

8 By faith Abraham, when hee was called, obeyed God, to goe out into a place, which he should afterward receiue for inheritance, and hee went out, not knowing whither he went.

9 By faith he abode in the land of promise, as in a strange country, as one that dwelt in tents with Isaac and Iacob heires with him of the same promise.

10 For he looked for a citie hauing a foundation, whose builder and maker is God.

11 Through faith Abraham also receiued strength to conceiue seede, and was deliuered of a childe when hee was past age, because hee iudged him faithfull which had promised.

CHAP. I.

4 He entreateth of patience, & of faith, 10 and of lowliness of minde in rich men. 13 That temptations come out of God for our triall, 17 because he is the author of all goodnesse. 21 What we maye the word of life must be received.

IAMES a seruant of God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ, to the twelue Tribes, which are ¹ scattered abroad, salutation.

2 My brethren, count it exceeding ioy, when yee fall into diuers temptations,

3 ⁴ Knowing that the ⁵ trying of your faith bringeth forth patience,

4 And let patience haue her perfect worke, that ye may be perfect & entier, lacking nothing.

5 If any of you lacke ⁶ wisdom, let him aske of God, which giueth to all men liberally, and reprobeth no man, and it shalbe giuen him.

6 But let him alke in faith, and ⁷ wauer not: for he that wauereth, is like a waue of the sea, toft of the winde, and caried away.

7 Neither let that man thinke that hee shall receive any thing of the Lord.

8 A double minded man is ⁸ vnstable in all his wayes.

9 Let the brother of ⁹ lowe degree reioyce in that he is exalted:

10 Again hee that is ¹⁰ rich, in that hee is made lowe: for as the flower of the grasse, shall he ¹¹ vanish away.

11 For ¹² when the sunne is risen with heate, then the grasse withereth, and his flower falleth away, and the goodly shape of it perisheth: euen so shall the rich man wither away in ¹³ all his wayes.

12 Blessed is the man, that endureth ¹⁴ temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crowne of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that loue him.

13 Let no man say when he is ¹⁵ tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with euill, neither tempteth he any man.

14 But every man is tempted, when hee is drawn away by his owne concupiscence, and is enticed.

15 Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth ¹⁶ sinne, and sinne when it is finished, bringeth forth death.

16 Erre not, my deare brethren.

17 Every good giuing, and euery perfect gift is from aboue, and cometh downe from the ¹⁷ Father of lightes, with whom is no variableness, neither ¹⁸ shadowe of turning.

18 ¹⁹ Of his owne will begate he vs with the worde of truth, that we should be as the ²⁰ first fruites of his creatures.

19 Wherefore my deare brethren, let euery

Every man is the author of their temptations to himselfe, and not God: for wee become about in our belomes that wicked corruption, which taketh occasions by what meanes soeuer, to stirre vp euill motions in vs, whereunto at length proceede wicked doings, & in conclusion followeth death the full reward of them. m. When he is tempted to do euill. 13 Here is a reason shewed, why God cannot be the author of euill doings in vs, because he doth not see euill. n. Try from temptations in this place all euill sinnes. 14 Another reason taken of contraries: God is the author of all goodnes, and so that he is alwayes like himselfe: how then can he be thought to be author of euill? o. From him who is the fountaine and author of all goodnesse. p. The earth on which we stand is the fruit of his, manifest by many kindes of increase, wealth, heauie, dayes, manerly, yeres, by day and darkness. 16 The fourth part concerning the excellencie & fruit of the worde of God. The summe is this: we must haue the worde of God most carefully and diligently, seeing it is the word, whereby with God of his free fauour and loue hath begotten vs into him selfe, picking vs out of the number of his creatures. And the Apostle condemneth two faultes, which doo greatly misle vs in this matter. 20 wit, loe that we do please our felices, that we had rather speake our felices, then heare God speaking: yet we misse and are angry when we are reprobated: against which faultes, hee letteth vnto the former: to wit, howe we maye to liue prosperously, which is plentiful of all things: to wit, so, that no man there please himselfe, but be so much the more voyde of pride. i. Who hath all things at his will.

 true & lively faith, And the proposition of this place is this faith which bringeth els this they are not justified by faith, which they not the effects of faith. ¶ The first reason taken of a similitude: If a man say to one that is hungry, Sell thy bread, and yet giveth him nothing, this shall not be true charity: If a man say to be rich, and bringeth forth no workes of his faith, this shall not be a true faith.

 reason taken of an absolute: If every man were the true faith whereby we are justified, the devils should be justified, for they hate that, but yet notwithstanding they tremble, and are not justified thereto, neither is that faith true faith.

5 Ye haue liued in pleaſure on the earth, and in wantonnes. Ye haue been nouriſhed y^e hearts, as in a day of ſlaughter.

6 Ye haue condemned & haue killed the iuſt, and he hath not reſiſted you.

7 Bee patient therefore, bretheren, vnto the coming of the Lord. 3 Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, & hath long patience for it, vntill he receive the former, and the latter raine.

8 Be ye alſo patient therefore and ſettle your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nere.

9 ¶ Grudge not one againſt another, bretheren, leaſt ye be condemned: 5 behold, the iudge ſtandeth before the doore.

10 ¶ Take my bretheren, the Prophets for an example of ſuffering aduerſitie, and of long patience, which haue ſpoken in the Name of the Lord.

11 Behold, we count them bleſſed which endure. Ye haue heard of the patience of Iob, and haue known what the end the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitifull and mercifull.

12 ¶ But before all things, my bretheren, ſwear not, neither by heauen, nor by earth, nor by any other other: but let your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay, leaſt ye fall into condemnation.

13 ¶ Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray. Is any merie? Let him ſing.

14 ¶ Is any ſicke among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and anoint him with oyle in the Name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith ſhal ſaue the ſicke, and the Lord ſhal raiſe him vp: & if he haue committed ſinnes, they ſhalbe forgiven him.

16 ¶ Acknowledge your faultes one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed: 12 for the prayer of a righteous man availeth much, if it be ſeruent.

17 ¶ Helias was a man ſubiect to like paſſions as we are, and hee prayed earnestly that it might not raine, and it rained not on the earth for three yeeres and fixe moneths.

18 And he prayed againe, and the heauen gaue raine, and the earth brought forth her fruit.

19 ¶ Bretheren, as if any of you hath erred from the truth, and ſome man hath converted him,

20 Let him know that he which hath converted the ſinner from going aſtray out of his way, ſhall ſaue a ſoule from death, and ſhal haue a multitude of ſinnes.

entirely, to what phyſicians eſpecially we muſt goe, when we are diſeaſed, to wit, to the prayers of the Elders, which then ſhallo cure the body (ſuch much as the gift of healing was then in force) and take away the chiefſt ſinnes of ſickneſſes and diſeaſes, by obteyning for the ſicke through their prayers exhortations, remiſſion of ſinnes. ¶ 12. ¶ This was a ſigne of the gift of healing: and now ſeruing men have the gift no more, the ſigne is no longer viſible. ¶ 13. ¶ By calling on the Name of the Lord. ¶ 14. ¶ The husbandman waiteth for the fruit, for diſpoſe are for the moſt part ſinners becauſe of ſinnes. ¶ 15. ¶ Becauſe God pardoneth their ſinnes which confeſſe and acknowledge them, and not theirs which iuſtifie themſelves, therefore the Apoſtle addeth, that we ought freely to confeſſe one to another touching theſe inward diſeaſes, that we may helpe one another with our prayers. ¶ 16. ¶ He commendeth prayer by the effectes that come of them, that all men may vnderſtand that there is nothing more effectfull then they are, ſo that they proceede from a true miſericordie. ¶ 17. ¶ King. 17. and 18. 15. ¶ 18. ¶ The taking away of an obſtacle from theſe repreſentations is not condemned, ſeeing that on the contrary prayer is nothing more acceptable to God then to call into the way, a brother that was wandring out of the way. ¶ 19. ¶ Math. 18. 15. ¶ 20. ¶ He called him backe from his way.

charitie: now be proceedeth to a generall exhortation, the first member whereof is, that wee see all these both of foy etc and also opera malice.

2 The second,
that being newly begotten & borne of the new fidele
of the vncorrupt
word, drawing and sucking greedily
the same worde as milke, we should mole and more as it were growe up in that spiritual life. And he calleth it, Syncrete, not onely because it is a most pure thing, but also that we should take heede of them which corrupt
it. ¶ As becometh new men. 3 He commendeth that spiritual nourishment for the sweetnesse and profit of it. ¶ Or, doe tell us. 4 He goeth on forward in the same exhortation, but with another kind of borrowed speech, alluding to the Temple. Therefore he saith, that the companion of the faithful is as it were a certaine holy and spiritual building, builded lively stones, the foundation whereof is Christ, as lively stones fastening all that are loved vnto him with his living veritas, and knitting them together with himselfe, although this is not expressly be neglected or omitted. ¶ Going forward in the same similitude he com-mendeth by power to Priests, placed to this end in that spiritual temple, that wee should keepe him with a spiritual worship, that is, his holinesse and righteousness:
but as the temple, so is the Priesthood built vpon Christ, in whom onely all our salvations are accepted. ¶ Rom. 1. 6. He proboeth it by the testimony of the Prophet Esai. ¶ Esai. 58. 16. row. 9. 33. 7 By setting the most blessed condition of the believers, and the most miserable of the rebellious one against the other, he pricketh forward the obedience and triumph over the other also presenteth an infection, which ariseth hereof, that those do more in this doctrine of the Gospel, then they which are chiefe amongst the people of God, as were at that time Peter wither the things, the Priests, and Elders, & Scribes:
Therefore he warneth first of all that there is no cause why any man should be misliked at this their Rebellion: as though it were a strange matter, seeing wee have bene forewarned in this before, that it should so come to pass: moreover, that it pleased God to clepe and make certaine to this same purpose, that the Sonnes of God might be glorified in their full commendation: Thirdly, for that the Lord of Christ is hereby set forth greatly, whereas notwithstanding Christ remaineth the true head of his Church, and they that thinke at him, cast downe and overthrow themselves, and not Christ. Fourthly, although they be cō-trary to this end and purpose, yet their fall and decay is not to be attributed to God, but to their owne obstinate Rebellion, which toucheth not our Gods decree, and our salvation thereof at their condemnation, and in the true and proper, and manifest declaration. ¶ 2 Pet. 2. 1. Esai. 58. 16. row. 9. 33. 7

¶ 2 Pet. 2. 1. Esai. 58. 16. row. 9. 33. 7

¶ Herefore, ¶ 1 laying aside all maliciousnesse, and all guile, and dissimulation, and envie, and all euill speaking,

2 ¶ As a new borne babes desire that sincere milke of the worde, that yee may growe thereby,

3 ¶ Because yee ¶ haue tasted that the Lord is bountifull.

4 ¶ To whome comming as vnto a liuing stone disallowed of men, but chosen of God and precious,

5 ¶ Yee also as liuely stones, be made a spiritually house, a holy ¶ Priesthood to offer vp spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God by Iesus Christ.

6 ¶ Wherefore also it is contained in the Scripture, ¶ Beholde, I put in Sion a chiefe corner stone, clef and precious: and hee that belieueth therein, shall not be ashamed.

7 ¶ Vnto you therefore which beleeue, it is precious: but vnto them which be disobedient, the ¶ stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner,

8 ¶ And a ¶ stone to stumble at, and a rocke of offence, cuen to them which stumble at the worde, being disobedient, vnto the which thing they were cōtinued:

9 ¶ But yee are a chosen generation, a royall ¶ Priesthood, an holy nation, a people set at li-berie, that yee should shewe forth the vertues of him that hath called you out of darkenesse into his maruelous light,

10 ¶ Which in time past were not a people, yet are now the people of God: which in time past were not vnder mercie, but now haue obtained mercie,

11 ¶ Dearly beloued, ¶ I beseech you, as strangers and pilgrims, ¶ 1 abstaine from fleshly lustes, ¶ 2 which fight against the soule,

13 ¶ And haue your conseruation honest among the Gentiles, that they which speake ill of you as of euill doers, ¶ 4 may by your ¶ good workes which they shall see, glorie God in the day of ¶ visitation.

13 ¶ ¶ Therefore submit your selues vnto all manner ordinance of man ¶ 15 for the Lordes sake, ¶ 16 whether it bee vnto the King, as vnto the superiour,

14 ¶ Or vnto gouernours, as vnto them that are sent of him, ¶ 15 for the punishment of euill doers, and for the prayse of them that doe well.

15 ¶ For so is the will of God, that by well doing yee may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men,

16 ¶ As free, and not as hauing the libertie for a cloke of maliciousnesse, but as the seruants of God.

17 ¶ ¶ Honour all men: ¶ 1 loue ¶ brotherly fellowship: feare God: honour the King.

18 ¶ ¶ Seruants, be subiect to your masters with all feare, not onely to the good and courtous, but also to the froward.

19 ¶ ¶ For this is thankes worthy, if a man conscience. 13 The fourth argument, taken of the profits of duty, by by this meane also we provide for our good name and estimation, which we compell them at length to change their minds, which spake ill of vs. ¶ 16 314. 24 The fifth argument, which also is of great force ¶ Because the power of God is greatly set forth by that meane, which by example of our holiness, euen the most prophane men are brought vnto God, and become Christians him. ¶ 21 ¶ 22 ¶ 23 ¶ 24 ¶ 25 ¶ 26 ¶ 27 ¶ 28 ¶ 29 ¶ 30 ¶ 31 ¶ 32 ¶ 33 ¶ 34 ¶ 35 ¶ 36 ¶ 37 ¶ 38 ¶ 39 ¶ 40 ¶ 41 ¶ 42 ¶ 43 ¶ 44 ¶ 45 ¶ 46 ¶ 47 ¶ 48 ¶ 49 ¶ 50 ¶ 51 ¶ 52 ¶ 53 ¶ 54 ¶ 55 ¶ 56 ¶ 57 ¶ 58 ¶ 59 ¶ 60 ¶ 61 ¶ 62 ¶ 63 ¶ 64 ¶ 65 ¶ 66 ¶ 67 ¶ 68 ¶ 69 ¶ 70 ¶ 71 ¶ 72 ¶ 73 ¶ 74 ¶ 75 ¶ 76 ¶ 77 ¶ 78 ¶ 79 ¶ 80 ¶ 81 ¶ 82 ¶ 83 ¶ 84 ¶ 85 ¶ 86 ¶ 87 ¶ 88 ¶ 89 ¶ 90 ¶ 91 ¶ 92 ¶ 93 ¶ 94 ¶ 95 ¶ 96 ¶ 97 ¶ 98 ¶ 99 ¶ 100

CHAP. V.

1 He warneth the Elders not to usurpe authoritie over the Church, 2 willow: the younger sort to be taught, and to be imit. 8 to be sober and watchfull to resist the cruell asinities.

1 He describeth peculiarly by the office of the Elders, that is to say, of them that have the care of the Church.

2 He vouchsafeth the circumstance of the confidence of some persons to wit, that he as their companion commeth with them not of matters which he knoweth not, but wherein he is as well experienced as any, and proueth vnto them no other condition but that which he himselfe hath fulfilled before them, and doth fill take the same paines, and also hath one ielle same hope together with them.

3 The first rule: He that is shephard, let him feede the flocke. 4 He saith may offer for the quick and the dead, and sing psalms fords in a strange tongue, (sings).

4 The second: Let the shephard consider, that the flocke is not his, but Gods. 5 The third: Let the shephards inuade either mens flockes, but let them feede that which God hath committed vnto them. 6 Let the shephards gouerne the Church with the word, and example of godly and voblemable life, not by constraint, but willingly, not for filthy lucre, but of a ready minde, not as lordes ouer Gods portion and heritage, but as his ministers. 7 Which is the chief man as of men, or their cruelty. He warneth them to cast their eyes continually vnto that chief shephard, and the crowne which is laid up for them in heauen. 8 He commendeth may peculiar Christian vertues, and especially modestie: which aduocational all vs stand in need of, but especially the younger sort, by reason of the vntowardnes and pride of that age.

THE SECOND EPISTLE GENERAL OF PETER.

CHAP. I.

3 Having spoken of the bountifullnes of God, 4 and a fith vnto vs of faith, 6 He exhorteth them to holiness of life, 11 and that they count may be the more effectually, 12 the sheweth that his death as hard, 16 and thus himselfe dispothe power of Christ, as he opened vnto them.

1 A salutation, wherein he giueth them to vnderstand that he dealeth with them as Christs embassadour, and otherwise agreeeth with them in one litle false faith which is grounded vpon the righteousness of Iesus Christ, vnto God and Saviour.

2 In that that God flowing in his promise, toward himselfe faithfull, and therefore faith vnto vs. 3 Faith is the acknowledging of God and Christ from whence all our blessings issue, and flows. 4 Christ strengtheth himselfe vnto vs plainly in the Gospell, and that by his onely power, and giueth vs all things which are requisite both to eternall life, wherein he hath appointed to glorify vs, and also to godlines, in that he doth faithfull vs with true verities. 6 He sheweth of Christ, whom he matcheth God, and the onely Saviour, 7 vnto all them, 8 vnto the faithfull of our religion, to be led by Christ as the Father as we were by the hand.

18 The conclusion: Seeing the gods are not affected by chance, but by the will of God, they ought not to despair, but goe forward notwithstanding in the way of holiness and well doing, commending themselves to God that faithfull Creator, that is to say, their Father.

lowliness of minde: 9 for 4 God resisteth the proud, and giueth grace to the humble.

6 Humble 4 your felues therefore 10 vnder the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time.

7 7 Cast all your care on him: for he careth for you.

8 8 Be sober, and watch: for 2 your aduersarie the deuil as a roaring lyon walketh about, seeking whom he may deuoure:

9 Whom resist stedfast in the faith, 12 knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren which are in the world.

10 10 And the God of all grace, which hath called vs vnto his eternall glory by Christ Iesus, after that ye haue suffered a litle, make you perfite, confirme, strengthen and stablish you.

11 To him be glory and dominion for euer and euer, Amen.

12 12 By Sylluanus a faithfull brother vnto you, as I suppose, haue I written briefly, exhorting and testifying howe that this is the true grace of God, wherein ye stand.

13 13 The Church that is at Babylon elected together with you, salutech you, and Marcus my sonne.

14 Greete ye one another with the 2 kisse of loue. Peace be with you all which are in Christ Iesus, Amen.

15 Luke 21. 31. 32 The persecutions which Satan stretch vp are as a sinne vnto vs proper to any one man, but from old and ancient time common to the whole Church, and thus fare we must suffer that patiently, wherein we haue faith, and many fellows of our confides and combats.

16 16 Amongst your brethren which are dispersed throughout the world. 17 He teacheth vs as it were which is the former exhortation with a solemn prayer, againe willing them to abide in the strength of his hands, of whom they had the beginning, and a hope to haue the accomplishment of the will of God the Father in Christ Iesus, in whom we are sure of the glory of eternall life.

18 18 Continuance and perseverance in the doctrine of the Apostles, is the onely ground and foundation of Christian strength. Now the summe of the Apostles doctrine, is saluation freely giuen of God. 19 Familiar salutations. 20 In that famous case of Adriaen, Peter the Apostle of the circumstance was, 21 Remembrance of the circumstance, 22 Remembrance of the circumstance, 23 Remembrance of the circumstance.

that hath called vs vnto glory and vertue.

4 4 Whereby most great and precious promises are giuen vnto vs, that by them ye should be partakers of this 2 diuine nature, in that ye flee the corruption, which is in the 1 world through lust.

5 5 Therefore giue euery diligence thereunto: 6 to ignore more ouer vertue with your faith: and with verue knowledge:

6 6 And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godlinesse:

7 7 And by these things shall ye escape the corruption that is in the world which dwelleth in lust. 8 8 By the same nature he teacheth us the substance of God, but the creating of those qualities, whereby the image of Gods is reformed in vs. 9 9 In that the power of corruption, was laid by place out of vs by the creating of those qualities, whereby the image of Gods is reformed in vs.

10 10 Having laid the foundation (that is, using declared the causes of our election), and especially of our sanctification, now he begetteth to exhort vs to give our minds wholly to the true life of grace And he begetteth with faith, without which nothing can please God.

11 11 He teacheth vs as he hath taught with verue, that is to say, with godly knowledge, being layd with the knowledge of Gods will, without which there is no faith, neither any true verue. 12 12 Supplicate for support one another in the grace of God, and in the same manner, whereby of our sanctification, now he begetteth to exhort vs to give our minds wholly to the true life of grace.

7 And with godlinesse, brotherly kindnesse: and with brotherly kindnesse, loue,

8 7 For if these things be among you, and abound, they will make you that ye neither shall be idle, nor vnfruitfull in the knowledge of our Lord Iesus Christ:

9 For he that hath not these things, is blinde, and can not see farre off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old finnes.

10 Wherefore, brethren, giue rather diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things ye shall neuer fall.

11 For by this means an entring shall be mislified vnto you abundantly into the euangelizing kingdome of our Lord and Sauour Iesus Christ.

12 Wherefore I will not bee negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance of these things, though that ye haue knowledge, and be stablished in the present truth.

13 For I thinke it meete as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stirre you vp by putting you in remembrance, 14 Seeing I know that the time is at hand that I must lay downe this my tabernacle, euen as our Lord Iesus Christ hath shewed me.

15 I will endeavour therefore alwayes, that ye also may be able to haue remembrance of these things after my departing.

16 For we followed not deceivable fables, when we opened vnto you the power, and commanding of our Lord Iesus Christ, but with our eyes wewh his maiestie:

17 For he receiued of God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voyce to him from that excellent glory: This is my beloued Sonne, in whome I am well pleased.

18 And this voyce we heard when it came from heauen, being with him in the Holy mount.

19 We haue also a most sure word of the Prophets, to the which ye doe well that yee take heede, as vnto a light that shineth in a darke place, vntill the day dawne, and the day starre arise in your heartes.

20 So that ye first know this, that no prophetic of the Scripture is of any private interpretation.

21 For the prophetic came not in olde time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the holy Ghost.

Be there were false prophets also among the people, euen as there shalbe false teachers among you: which priuily shall bring in damnable heresies, euen denying the Lorde, that hath bought them; and bring vpon themselves swift damnation.

2 And many shall follow their destructions, by whom the way of truth shall be euil spoken of.

3 And through couetousnes shall they with fained words make merchandise of you, whose condemnation long since relecth not, and their destruction slumbereth not.

4 For if God spared not the Angels that deliuered them into hell, and delivered them into chains of darknes, to be kept vnto damnation:

5 Neither hath spared he the olde world, but faued it: Noe the eight persons a preacher of righteousness, and brought in the flood vpon the world of the vngodly.

6 And: turned the cities of Sodome and Gomorreh into ashes, condemned them and owerthrew them, and made them an ensample vnto them that after should liue vngodly.

7 And deliuered iust Loth vexed with the vncleynly conuersation of the wicked:

8 (For he being righteous, and dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soule from day to day with their vniawfull deedes.)

9 The Lord I knoweth to deliuer the godly out of temptation, and to reserue the vniuirt vnto the day of iudgement vnder punishment.

10 And chiefly them that walke after the flesh, in the lust of vncleannesse, and desife gouernement, which are bold, and stand in their owne conceite, and feare not to speake euill of them that are in dignitie.

11 Whereas the Angels which are greater both in power and might, giue not railing iudgement against them before the Lord.

12 But these, as natural brute beasts led with sensualityte and made to be taken, and destroyed, speake euill of those things which they know not, and shall perish through their own corruption,

13 And shall receiue the wages of vngodlinesse, as they which count it pleasure dayly to liue deliciouly. Spottes they are and blotches, delighting themselves in their deceiunges, in feasting with you,

earth, which should be appointed to torment the soules of the wicked in. 2 And the worm with darkness, as it were with chains: and by darkness if he murthereth that most miserable state of life that is full of horror. 3 Which was before the flood: that God made a new world, but because the world was filled with wickedness. 4 For he created not the part of an hundredth and twenty years to make the wicked bold by word and deed, what word of God heaped vpon their heads. 5 Which was fester to be laid and turned his euer. 6 He had a troubled soule, and long was he sorrowfully grieved, vntill a painfull life. 7 He hath bene long afflicted by the law and the lawning the righteous. 8 He goeth to another sort of corrupt men, which notwithstanding are within the bolome of the Church, which are wickedly giued and dolefully speake euill of the authoritie of Magistrates, which the Angels themselves that minister before God do not dislike. 9 A true and lively description of the Romish church (as they call it). 10 Princes and great men, let they neuer so high in authority. 11 A lively painting out of the fine persons, wherein they are compared to bralls which are made to snare themselves to destruction, while they giue themselves to fill their bellies. 12 For there is no greater ignorance then in these men, although they most impudently find fault with those things which they know not: and it shall come to passe that they shall deliuey themselves as bralls with those pleasures wherein they are delighted, and dishonest and debile the companie of the godly. 13 Made in the ende, to be a praye to whome: I do not, shall men willingly call themselves into Satans snare, in their owne wicked manners shall bring them to destruction. 14 Or, like rocks, in when as he being a member of the Christians in the holy language which the Church teacheth, they might come by that means to be true members of the Church, yet they are iudged and blotted

As in times past there were two kinds of prophets, the one true, the other false, so Peter foretelleth them, that there shall be some true and some false teachers in the Church, in so much that Christ himselfe shall be denied of some, which notwithstanding call him redeemer, under the Law, while the Law, and which of the Law was never standing. 2 There shall not only be heresies, but also many followers of them. 3 Conuincingly for the most part is a compend of breuety and maketh merchandise of you of foules. 4 They will deliuey you and fill you with false doctrine as a fire. 5 A comfort for the godly God who call the Angels that tell away from him, heading into the darkness of hell, as long to be iudged: and who destroyed the olde world with the flood, and prebened Noe the eight persons, as he saved Sodome and Sord Loth, will deliuey his elect from such errors, and will vterly deliuey those vngodly. 6 Iak. 4. 11. 7. 8. So the Grecians called the deep dangerous vnder the earth, which should be appointed to torment the soules of the wicked in. 2 And the worm with darkness, as it were with chains: and by darkness if he murthereth that most miserable state of life that is full of horror. 3 Which was before the flood: that God made a new world, but because the world was filled with wickedness. 4 For he created not the part of an hundredth and twenty years to make the wicked bold by word and deed, what word of God heaped vpon their heads. 5 Which was fester to be laid and turned his euer. 6 He had a troubled soule, and long was he sorrowfully grieved, vntill a painfull life. 7 He hath bene long afflicted by the law and the lawning the righteous. 8 He goeth to another sort of corrupt men, which notwithstanding are within the bolome of the Church, which are wickedly giued and dolefully speake euill of the authoritie of Magistrates, which the Angels themselves that minister before God do not dislike. 9 A true and lively description of the Romish church (as they call it). 10 Princes and great men, let they neuer so high in authority. 11 A lively painting out of the fine persons, wherein they are compared to bralls which are made to snare themselves to destruction, while they giue themselves to fill their bellies. 12 For there is no greater ignorance then in these men, although they most impudently find fault with those things which they know not: and it shall come to passe that they shall deliuey themselves as bralls with those pleasures wherein they are delighted, and dishonest and debile the companie of the godly. 13 Made in the ende, to be a praye to whome: I do not, shall men willingly call themselves into Satans snare, in their owne wicked manners shall bring them to destruction. 14 Or, like rocks, in when as he being a member of the Christians in the holy language which the Church teacheth, they might come by that means to be true members of the Church, yet they are iudged and blotted

8 An argument taken of contraries: The deuil is the author of sinne, and therefore he is of the deuil, or is ruled by the inspiration of the deuil this seuerth sinne: and if he be the deuil's sonne, then is he not Gods Sonne: for the deuil and God are so contrary the one to the other, that even the Same of God was sent to destroy the works of the deuil. Therefore on the contrary side, whoeuer resisteth sinne, is the Sonne of God, being borne againe of his Spirit and new created, in sanctification of obedience: he is nowe separated from the Sonnes of sinne. *1. is righteous.

8 He that committeth sinne, is of the deuil: for the deuil sinneth from the beginning: for this purpose was made manifest that Sonne of God, that he might loose the works of the deuil.

9 Whosoever is borne of God, sinneth not: for his sinne remaineth in him, neither can hee sinne, because he is borne of God.

10 In this are the children of God knowne, and the children of the deuil: whosoever doeth not righteousness, is not of God: neither he that loueth not his brother.

11 For this is the message, that yee heard from the beginning, that we should loue one another, 12 Not as Cain which was of that wicked one, and slew his brother: and wherefore slew he him? because his owne workes were euill, & his brothers good.

13 Marueile not, my brethren, though this world hate you.

14 We know that we are translated from death vnto life, because we loue the brethren: she that loueth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 Whosoever hateth his brother, is a man-slayer: and ye know that no manslayer hath eternall life abiding in him.

16 Hereby haue wee perceived loue, that he layd downe his life for vs: therefore we ought also to lay downe our liues for the brethren.

17 And whosoever hath this worldes good, & seeth his brother haue neede, and shutteth vp his compassion from him, howe dwelleth the loue of God in him?

18 My little children, let vs not loue in word, neither in tongue only, but in deede and in truth.

19 For thereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall before him assure our hearts.

20 For if our heart condemne vs, God is greater then our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 Beloued, if our heart condemne vs not, then haue wee boldnesse toward God.

22 And whatsoever we aske, wee receiue of him, because wee keepe his commandements, and doe those things which are pleasing in his sight.

23 This is then his commaundement, that wee beleue in the Name of his Sonne Iesus Christ and loue one another as he gaue commaundement.

24 For he that keepeth his commandements, dwelleth in him, and hee in him: and hereby wee knowe that he abideth in vs, euen by that Spirit which he hath giuen vs.

CHAP. III.

Having spoken somewhat touching the trying of Spirits: For I have spoken after the world, and I come after God: I see remembrance to charity, 1. 19 and by the example of God he exhorts to brotherly love.

Dearely beloued, beleue not euery spirit, but trie the spirits whether they are of God: for many false prophets are gone out into this world.

2 Hereby shall ye knowe the Spirit of God, & euery spirit which confesseth that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh, is of God.

And euery spirit that confesseth not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this is the spirit of Antichrist, of whom ye haue heard, how that he should come, and now already he is in this world.

3 Little children, ye are of God, and haue overcome them: for greater is he that is with you, then he that is in this world.

4 They are of this world, therefore speake they of this world, and this world heareth them.

5 We are of God, & he that knoweth God, heareth vs: he that is not of God, heareth vs not. Hereby know we the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.

6 Beloued, let vs loue one another: 7 for loue cometh of God, and euery one that loueth, is borne of God, and knoweth God.

8 Hee that loueth not, knoweth not God: for God is loue.

the Spirits of God which are altogether to be followed, first impure spirits which are to be eschewed. 1. This is spoken by the figures Antichrist, and as if he had sayd, Beloue not euery one that sayeth that he hath a gift. The holy Spirit is the gift of a Prophet. 2. He giueth a certaine and perpetuall rule to know the doctrine of Antichrist, to wit, if either the diuine or humane name of Christ, or the true uniting of them together be denied: or if he beid iust may be, be derogated from his office who is our only King, Prophet, and calling his Priest. 3. Hee speaketh simply of the doctrine, and not of the person. 4. The true Christ, as he is true man, hee confesseth the elect with a small force of victorie: but yet so, that he teacheth them that they fight not with their owne vertue, but with the vertue and power of God. 5. Hee bringeth a reason why the world receiue these teachers more willingly than the true: to wit, because they breathe out nothing but that which is worldly: which is contrarye also to know the doctrine of Antichrist. 6. Hee rethorize rather than his doctrine and the doctrine of his followers, is the assured word of God, which of necessity we haue boldly to set against all the mouthes of the world, and thereby discouer the truth from false doctrine. 7. John 6. 47. A true Prophet against whom are set false prophets, that is, such as are the teachers, and leadeth where they will. 8. Hee returneth to the commending of brotherly love and charity. 9. The first reason: Because it is a very diuine thing, and therefore very meete for the finnes of God: so that whosoever is voyde of it, can not be saide to knowe God aright. 10. A confirmation: for it is the nature of God to loue men, whereof wee haue a most manifest proofe aboue all other: is that of his only first and infinite good will towards vs, his enemies, hee deliuered vnto death, not a common man, but that his owne Sonne, yes his only begotten Sonne: in the end that he being reconciled through his blood, might be made partakers of his everlasting glory. 1. Truth be calld God, Love, be calld sonne: then if he had sayd that he loueth vs in finity.

that beleeue in the Name of \S onne of God, that ye may know that ye haue eternall life, & that ye may beleeue in the Name of that Sonne of God.

14 And this is that assurance, that wee haue in him, & that if we aske any thing according to his will, he heareth vs.

15 And if we knowe that he heareth vs, whatfoeuer we aske, we knowe that he haue the petitions, that we haue desired of him.

16 If any man see his brother sinne a sinne that is not vnto death, let him aske, and he shall giue him life for them that sinne not vnto death. \S There is a sinne vnto death: I say not that thou shouldest pray for it.

22 Because we do not yet in effect observe that which we hope for, the Apostle joyntly in occasion of prayer with faith, which he will haue to proceede from faith, and assured to be conceived in heart, but that nothing be sought but that which is agreeable to the will of God: and such prayers cannot be vaile. \S Chap. 3.22. 17. We haue to make prayers not only for our selves, but also for our brethren which doe sinne, that their sinnes be not vnto them, to death: and yet he excepteth that sinne which is neuer forgiven, or the sinne against the holy Ghost, that is to say, an vnwillall and willfull falling away from the knowne truth of the Gospel. \S This is a sinne which is forgiven, it is him that forgives him, and he will forgive him being so desired. \S Math. 18. 31. marke 3. 19.

17 All vnrighteousnesse is sinne, but there is a sinne not vnto death.

18 We know \S whose ever is borne of God, sinneth not: but he \S is begotten of God, keepeth himselfe, and that wicked one toucheth him not.

19 We knowe that we are of God, and this whole world lieth in wickednesse.

20 But we know \S that sinne of God is \S come, & hath giue vs a mind to know him, which is true: & we are in him \S it is true, that is, in \S his son Iesus Christ: this same is \S very God, and \S eternal life.

21 Little children keep your selues from idols, Amen.

borne of God, that is to say, made the sonnes of God in Christ, and being indwelt by his Spirit, they doe not sinne finne, neither are deadly committed of sinne. Every man must particularly apply to himselfe the general promise: for we may certainly persuade our selves, that whereas all the world is now in lawless, are freely made the sonnes of God, by the finding of Iesus Christ his Sonnes vnto, of whom we are enlightened with the knowledge of the true God, and enlightning life. \S Luke 24.45. \S The sinners of Christ is most plainly proved in this place. 19 He expresseth a plaine precept of taking heed of idols which he saith against the only true God, that with this scale as it were he might scale vp all the former doctrine.

23 The taking away of an oblation, considered as iniquity is comprehended under \S name of sinne, but yet we must not despise these sinne, because every sinne is not deadly, and without hope of remedie. 17 A reason why not all say rather why no for is mortal to lower to be, because they be borne of God, that is to say, made the sonnes of God in Christ, and being indwelt by his Spirit, they doe not sinne finne, neither are deadly committed of sinne. Every man must particularly apply to himselfe the general promise: for we may certainly persuade our selves, that whereas all the world is now in lawless, are freely made the sonnes of God, by the finding of Iesus Christ his Sonnes vnto, of whom we are enlightened with the knowledge of the true God, and enlightning life. \S Luke 24.45. \S The sinners of Christ is most plainly proved in this place. 19 He expresseth a plaine precept of taking heed of idols which he saith against the only true God, that with this scale as it were he might scale vp all the former doctrine.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF IOHN.

1 This Epistle is written to a woman of great reputation, 4 who brought up her children in the fear of God: 6 he exhorts her to continue in Christian charity, 7 that she communicate not with Antichrists, 10 but avoide them.

ELDER to the \S elect Lady, and her children, \S whom I loue in the truth: and not I only, but also all that haue knowledge in the truth,

2 For the truths sake which dwelleth in vs, and shall be vs for euer.

3 Grace be with you, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ the Sonne of the Father, with \S truth and loue.

4 I reioiced greatly, that I found of thy children walking in \S truth, as we haue receiued a commandment of the Father.

5 And now beseech I thee, Ladies, (not as writing a new commandment vnto thee, but that same which we had from the beginning) that we \S loue one another.

6 We haue loued one another which the Lorde hath commanded, and also especially in wholesome and sound doctrine. which alone is delivered vnto vs: for the commandment of God is a found and sure foundation both of the rule of manners, and of doctrine, and their cannot be sepaied the one from the other. \S According as the truth directeth them. \S Iohn 15.12.

7 6 And this is that loue, that we should walke after his commandments. This commandment is, that as ye haue heard from the beginning, ye should walke in it.

7 7 For many deceiuers are entred into this worlde, which confesse not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh. He that is such one, is a deceiver and an Antichrist.

8 8 Lookoe to your selves, that wee lose not the things which we haue done, but that we may receiue a full reward.

9 Whofoeuer transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, hee hath both the Father and the Sonne.

10 5 If there come any vnto you, and bring not this doctrine, \S receive him not to house, neither bid him, God speede.

11 For he that biddeth him God speed, is partaker of his euill deedes. Although I had many things to write vnto you, yet I would not write with paper and ynke: but I trust to come vnto you, and speake mouth to mouth, that our ioy may be full.

12 The sonnes of thine eldest sister greeue thee, Amen.

1 Antichrist is fighting against the people and rulers of Christ, which reside on the Church in the time of the Apostles. 4 He that maketh transgressors of the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, hee hath both the Father and the Sonne. 10 5 If there come any vnto you, and bring not this doctrine, \S receive him not to house, neither bid him, God speede. 11 For he that biddeth him God speed, is partaker of his euill deedes. Although I had many things to write vnto you, yet I would not write with paper and ynke: but I trust to come vnto you, and speake mouth to mouth, that our ioy may be full. 12 The sonnes of thine eldest sister greeue thee, Amen.

THE THIRD EPISTLE OF IOHN.

1 Hee commendeth Gaius for hospitality, 9 and reprehendeth Diotrophes for vainglory: 10 he exhorteth Gaius to continue in well doing: 12 and in the end commendeth Demetrios.

ELDER vnto the beloued Gaius whom I loue in the truth, \S Beloued, I wish chiefly that thou prosperedst and farest well as thy soule prospereth.

3 For I reioiced greatly when the brethren came, and testified of the truth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the truth.

4 I haue no greater ioy then \S these, that is, to hear that my sonnes walke in veritie.

5 Beloued, thou doest faithfully, whatfoeuer thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers,

6 Which bare witness of thy loue before the Churches. Whom if thou bringest out of your iour-ney as it becometh according to God, thou shalt doe well,

7 Because that for his Names sake they went forth, and tooke nothing of the Gentiles.

8 We therefore ought to receiue such, that we might be \S helpers to the truth.

9 I wrote vnto the Church: but Diotrophes which loueth to haue the preeminence among them, receiuech vs not.

10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance his deedes which he doeth, prating against vs with malicious wordes, and not with content, neither hee himselfe receiuech the brethren, but forbiddeth them that would, and thrusteth them out of the Church.

11 Beloued, follow not that which is euill, but that which is good: he that doeth well, is of God: but he that doeth euill, hath not \S bene God.

¶ I HAVE NOT THOUGHT GOOD TO PUT FORTH any such thing as yet, upon the Revelation, as I have upon the former bookes: notwithstanding I liked well to let downe in the meane season that, that I wrote a few years since, concerning the authoritie of this booke. And this is it.

BECAUSE some men have of long time doubted of the authoritie of this booke, I will in few words confute those arguments, which are commonly brought to this purpose; and after the same owne opinion, and what I thinke, and I will rectifie the arguments in such order, as Erasmus hath painfully and diligently gathered them together: whole iudgements seemeth to me so vacant in this point, (as it is also in many other) that no man can readily tell what opinion he was of, save that after much advice he seemed to bend this way, that he is of opinion, that this booke is of some authoritie, though not of so good as the rest of the bookes which we receive without any gainesaying. Therefore let vs heare what he saith. Hierome writeth, fith he, that the Grecians in his time did not receive the Revelation. Dorotheus Bishop of Tyrus and Martyr, in his abridgement of lives recordeth that Iohn wrote his Gospel in the Ile of Patmos; but maketh no mention of this booke. Athanasius a Grecian in his catalogue doth not say that this is Iohns worke. Dionysius of Alexandria, as Eusebius reporteth his wordes, in the seventh booke of his Ecclesiasticall historie, thinke that this booke was written of some other Iohn, who was a goodly man. Eusebius himselfe doth thinke this booke in divers places of his historie, that he doth not thinke it to be Iohns: but allegeth one Caius that was a good Christian, in the fourth booke of his historie, who saith it was written of one Cerinthus an heretike. Let this be the first argument which I answer in this sort. If we weigh the reasons that mooved those men to reject this booke, then we shall see to be vnderstandedly they did it. Again, as some did reject it, so did the most that receiue it: inso much that Epiphanius reckoneth them amongst heretikes that did reject it: as for Iustine the Philosopher, and Irenaeus
Bishop of Lyons, which were both Martyrs, and did not onely allow it, but also wrote commentaries vpon it, I will not speake of them.
As for that that is alleged of Dorotheus, it is to no great purpose, for that he is thought to reject it, because he spake not of it. As touching Athanasius, Erasmus himselfe witnesseth that it is doubtful whether that worke be his or no. Concerning Dionysius we will weigh by and by what he saith, when we come to consider of his reasons. As for Caius (what man I neuer heare of) he is easily to be refused even by Dionysius his wordes in the third booke of the Ecclesiasticall historie. As for Eusebius, I make no account of him, for there are none learned, but finde waste of iudgement in him. Now let vs come to the other argument. Hierome writeth (saith he) that certaine very well learned men found great fault, and spake sharply against the whole matter of this booke, as though there were nothing in it worthie the grauite of an Apostle, but onely a common historie of things shadowed with certaine darke figures and hard kind of speeches. And moreover, that in the very sentences themselves there was nothing that becometh the grauite of an Apostle. Which I answer in this sort: What learned men neuer these were, they are greatly to be blamed, in that they durst be so bold to speake of such of this booke, which no doubt is very true, if those things be excepted, which are translated word for word out of the Prophets. Basil Gregorie, Cyrill, Epiphanius, Irenaeus, Hippolyte, were not of this iudgement, which thought not onely as Dionysius of Alexandria did, that some goodly man wrote this booke, but also plainly vouched it to be Iohn the Apostle, which no doubt they would neuer haue done, if they had found no resemblance of the grauite of an Apostle in it. And whether of their shall I count for the better learned? whether these men, which have giuen record both of their singular godliness, and excellent learning by publishing many wordes, or those men rather, whose onely names are scarcely heard of: and the reasons they vse, give sufficient proofe how learned they were? They lay thereupon no grauite in this writer, and yet he hath taken every whit almost word for word out of the Prophets: they lay he hath put adde a common historie, but how can that be, seeing (as few things onely except) he meaneth no relation of things past, but foretelling things to come? And therefore they do not onely not speake that, that is true, but so not so much as any piece of resemblance of truth.

Now let vs come to the third argument: Hee is very curious (saith one) in setting downe his owne name, as though he should indite an obligation, and not write a booke, which is not onely not vied of any of the Apostles, but is also vnderstood of himselfe: for in this Gospel where he intreateth a great deale more modest matters, than these are, hee neuer nameth himselfe, but onely paymeth it out by some such names as these, The disciple whom Iesus loved. And Paul when he is enforced to speake of his Revelations, setteth out the matter vnder another mans person. And yet this man, while hee describeth the secret conference which hee had with Angels, hee saith done with these kind of wordes, I Iohn. This reason mooued Dionysius of Alexandria to thinke, that some other man wrote this booke. But what weaker, and slenderer coniectures are these? little did these good men consider, that it was one thing to write an historie, and another to set downe a prophesie: for the truth of an historie hangeth not so much vpon the credite of the writer, as vpon other circumstances: but a prophesie, because it foretelling things to come, standeth vpon the authoritie of him that reveleth it, and his that preacht it, so that it is of inuestigate to place vs to vnderstand, both from whence the foretelling came, and who reue-led it, and who wrote it. Whereupon we see, that not onely in the bestowing of prophesies, but also almost in every kind of writing, there is something to certifye it downe as the Name of God who spake it, and the name of the Prophet who wrote it. Take for example, onely this Prophet Ezechiel, who maketh mention of his name; at the last an hundred times. And so was it requisite for him to doe, that hee might not seeme to seke farther corners to hide himselfe in as the talie prophets did. And what I doe we neede find from the seventh Chapter downe, that almost in every verse he repeateth his owne name, and saith, I Daniel. And how oft downe by Ezechiel repeateth these wordes, Ezechiel the sonne of Amos? But Iohn did not so in his Gospel. I grant: for hee wrote an historie, wherein that befall him, which befall to none other of the disciples: for he was occasioned to speake many things of himselfe. Nay, Paul also did not so in deede he did so, in any place where he handled not his visions purposely, but whensoever he voucheth the excellencie of his miracles, how boldly and how magnificently doeth hee call himselfe that Paul which was appointed to bee an Apostle, not of men, nor by men, but by Iesus Christ? And howe when he reporteth such his great combats, doeth hee take vpon him another mans person? Nay let vs goe further, Iohn saith it is not to be found (saith I) by drawing Iohns five verses in all this worke: and these words (I Iohn) but onely on this, to wit, chap. i. verse 8. and yet with an explication added to it which may suffice abundantly to resolve any suspicion of pride: and againe, chap. i. verse 1. and chap. xii. verse 8. in both which places he repeateth onely simply what hee saith, to the ende that no man might doubt of the truth of his prophesie. Therefore, to make an ende of this reason in few words, that argument which Dionysius maketh, is not onely vaine, but also argueth waight of skill, and it is deede very vnderstande: say, I may say more, and far truely (without any vaine to say, as the Lord is witness) that this was too vnderstandedly spoken, where he saith, that the Evangelist is as curious in his often repeating of Iohn, as if he had bene writing an obligation, and no booke.

Nowe to the fourth argument: In all the Greeke copies that I haue seene, (saith hee), it was not intimated the Revelation of Iohn the Evangelist, but of Iohn the diuine, which is sufficient to proue it was Iohn the Evangelist: for all that are learned knowe that hee was by excellencie, and by a perogative as it were, called by this name the Diuine of all the olde writers, because neuer man wrote so plainly and diuinely of the diuinitie of Christ as hee did. As for the other Iohn, who I thinke was a countreyman, was not called by this excellent name Diuine, but an Eldre.

Nowe for the fifthness of his stile, and speech, which that Dionysius of Alexandria groweth by three reasons as Nicetas recordeth, Ecclesiasticall cap. 3. firstly by the whole course and nature of his wordes, secondly, that where as the Gospel and Catholike Epistle of Iohn, agree in very many points, this booke hath not one word like. Lastly, because Iohn had an excellent gift of speech, but this man is very clownish, barbarous, and tripped off in his language. To the first I answer, that it is so diuers a matter, it is so manifest for vs diuers a kind of stile: for in the historie of the Gospel, and in the Epistles, though hee spake as hee was mooued by the holy Ghost, yet he spake what his minde ledde him: and heree hee is the writer of such things as he heard and were declared him.
In the other hee sometime maketh report of the historie, and sometime teacheth, but in this hee speaketh of things to come, and in such order of words as it is appointed: And shall we make then that hee hath not one selfe same kind of sentences? Nay, what writer was there that was not so? There are not many things diliered in him in the very wordes of the olde Prophets, even in the sense that Ezechiel, Daniel, Zacharie, Elisha, and other spake wright by the direction of the selfe same Spirit, which spake the selfe sense in so old time? And therefore it is no marvell that hee hath not so refined a kind of speech, as happily they would desire, seeing hee swaured neither in speech, nor in doctrine, from the Prophets which wrote in the Hebrew tongue: and therefore there is little cause of suspicion that it should be any counterfeit worke stile except (as the Church.

Nowe to the sixth Argument, which seemeth to charge him that hee hath forgotten the herzie of the Chilianes, whereupon some thought that Cerinthus made this booke and inttered it vpon some of the Apostles, but for mine owne part, though I grant

CHAP. II.

a John is commended to write those things, which the Lord hath secretly to the Churches of Ephesus, & of the Smyrnaeans, & of Pergamus, & of Thyatira, & that they keep those things which they received of the Apostles.

Vnto the Angel of that Church of Ephesus write, These things saith he that holdeth the seven starres in his right hand, and walketh in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks.

1 I know thy workes, and thy labour and thy patience, & how thou canst not beare with them, which are euill, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, & are not, & hast found the liars.

2 And thou wast burdened and hast patience, and for my names sake hast laboured and hast not fainted.

3 Nevertheless, I have some what against thee, because thou hast left thy first loue.

4 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and doe the first works: or els I will come against thee shortly, & will remove thy candlesticke out of his place, except thou amend.

5 But this thou hast, that thou hatest the workes of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.

6 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches, to him that ouercometh, will I giue to eate of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the Paradice of God.

7 ¶ And vnto the Angel of the Church of the Smyrnaeans write, These things saith hee that is first, and last, which was dead and is aliue.

8 I know thy workes and tribulation, and poertie (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemie of them, which say they are Iewes, & are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

9 Fear none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: behold, it shall come to passe, that the deuill shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried, and ye shall haue tribulation ten dayes: beethou faithfull vnto the death, and I will giue thee the crowne of life.

10 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith to the Churches. He that ouercometh shall not be hurt of the second death.

11 And to the Angel of the Church, which is at Pergamus write, This saith he which hath that sharpe sword with two edges.

12 I know thy workes and where thou dwellest, even where Satans throne is, & thou keepest my Name, and hast not denied my faith, even in those dayes when Antipas my faithfull martyr was slain among you, when Satan dwelleth.

13 But I haue a few things against thee, because thou hast there those that maintaine the doctrine of Balaam, which taught Balac to put a stumbling blocke before the children of Israel, that they should eate of things sacrificed vnto Idoles, and commit fornication.

14 Euen so hast thou them, that maintaine the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which thing I hate.

15 Repent thy self, or els I will come vnto thee shortly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

16 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches. To him that ouercometh, will I giue to eate of the Manna that is hid, and will giue him a white stone, and in the stone a newe name which no man knoweth sauing he that receiveth it.

17 ¶ And vnto the Angel of that Church which is at Thyatira write, These things saith the sonne of God, which hath his eyes like vnto a flame of fire, and his feete like fine brasse.

18 I know thy workes and thy loue, and thy seruice, & faith, and thy patience, and thy workes, and that they are moe at the last, then at the first.

19 Notwithstanding, I haue a few things against thee, that thou sufferest the woman Iezabel, which calleth her selfe a prophetesse, to teach and to deceiue my seruants to make them commit fornication, and to eate meates sacrificed vnto idoles.

20 And I gaue her space to repent of her fornication, and she repented not.

21 Behold, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit fornication with her, into great affliction, except they repent them of their workes.

22 And I will kill her children with death: & all the Churches shall know that I am he which search the reins and hearts: and I will giue vnto euery one of you according vnto your workes.

23 And vnto you I say, rest of them of Thyatira, As many as haue not this learning, neither haue knowne the deepnesse of Satans (as they speake) I will put you vnto none other burden.

24 But that which ye haue already, holde fast till I come.

25 For he that ouercometh and keepeth my workes vnto the end, to him will I giue power ouer nations, 26 And he shall rule them w a rod of yron: and as the vessels of a porter, shall they be broken.

27 Euen as I received of my Father, so will I giue him the morning starre.

28 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith to the Churches.

CHAP. III.

a The first Epistle sent to the Pastors of the Church of Sardis, 7 of Philadelphia, 12 and of the Laodiceans, 16 that they be not slacke w a my, 20 but continue to further Gods glory.

And write vnto the Angel of that Church which is at Sardis, These things saith he that hath the seven spirites of God, and the seven starres, I know thy workes: for thou hast a name that thou livest, but thou art dead.

1 Be awake, and strengthen the things which remaine, that are ready to die: for I haue not found thy workes perfect before God.

2 Remember therefore, how thou hast received, & heard, & hold fast & repent: if therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what houre I will come vnto thee.

3 Notwithstanding thou hast a fewe names yet in Sardis, which haue not defiled their garments: and they shall walke with mee in white: for they are worthy.

4 He that ouercometh shall be clothed in white aray, and I will not put out his name out of the booke of life, but I will confesse his name before my Father, and before his Angels.

5 Let him that hath an eare, heare, what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches.

6 ¶ And write vnto the Angel of the Church which is of Philadelphia. These things saith he that is Holy, and True, which hath the key of David, which openeth and no man shutteth, and shutteth and no man openeth.

7 I know thy workes: behold, I haue set before thee an open doore, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my Name.

b the house of David is the Church, and the continuall promise of Daniels

9 Behold, I will make them of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themselves Jewes, & are not; but do lie: beholde, I say, I will make them, that they shall come and worship before thy feet, and shall know that I have loved thee.

10 Because thou haſt kept the word of my patience, therefore I will deliver thee from the house of temptation, which will come vpon all the world, to trie them that dwell vpon the earth.

11 Beholde, I come ſhortly: holde that which thou haſt, that no man take thy crowne.

12 Him that ouercometh, will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God, and he ſhall goe no more out: and I will write vpon him the Name of my God, and the Name of the citie of my God, which is the new Hieruſalem, which cometh downe out of heauen from my God, and I will write vpon him my new Name.

13 Let him that hath an care, heare what the Spirit ſaith vnto the Churches.

14 And vnto the Angel of the Church of the Laodiceans write, Theſe things ſaith Amen, the faithfull and true witneſſe, that beginning of the creatures of God.

15 I know thy workes, that thou art neither colde nor hot: I would thou wert colde or hot.

16 Therefore, becauſe thou art luke warme, and neither colde nor hot, it will come to paſſe, that I ſhall ſpue thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou ſayeſt, I am rich and increaſed with goods, & haue need of nothing, and knoweſt not how thou art wretched and miſerable, and poore, and blinde, and naked.

18 I counſell thee to buy of me golde tried by the fire, that thou mayeſt be made rich: and white raiment, that thou mayeſt be clothed, and that thy filthie nakedneſſe doe not appeare: and anoynt thine eyes with eye ſalue, that thou mayeſt ſee.

19 As many as I loue, & I rebuke and chaſten: be zealous therefore and amend.

20 Beholde, I ſtand at the doore, and knocke. If any man heare my voice and open the doore, I will come in vnto him, and will ſup with him, and he with me.

21 To him that ouercometh, will I grant to ſit with me in my throne, euen as I ouercame, and ſit with my Father in his throne.

22 Let him that hath an care, heare what the Spirit ſaith vnto the Churches.

CHAP. IIIII.

1 Another viſion concerning the glory of Gods Maieſtie: 8 which a magnificat of the four beaſts, 10 and the ſeuen and twenty Elders.

After this I looked, and beholde, a doore was open in heauen, and the firſt voyce which I heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with me, ſaying, Come vp hither, and I will ſhewe thee things which muſt be done hereafter.

2 And immediately I was rauſed up in the ſpirit, and beholde, a throne was ſet in heauen, and one ſate vpon the throne.

3 And he that ſate, was to looke vpon, like vnto a iasper ſtone, & a ſardine, & there was a rainbow round about the throne, in ſight like to an emerald.

4 And round about the throne were ſoure and twenty ſeates, and vpon the ſeats I ſaw ſoure and twenty Elders ſitting, clothed in white raiment, and had on their heads crownes of golde.

5 And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thunders, and voyces, and there were ſeuen lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the ſeuen ſpirits of God.

6 And before the throne there was a ſea of glaſſe like vnto chryſtal: and in the middles of the throne, and round about the throne were ſoure beaſtes full of eyes before and behind.

7 And the firſt beaſt was like a lion, and the ſecond beaſt like a calfe, & the third beaſt had a face as a man, & the fourth beaſt was like a flying eagle.

8 And the ſeuen beaſts had each one of them ſixe wings about him, and they were full of eyes within, and they ceaſed not day nor night, ſaying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, Which Was, and Which Is, and Which Is to come.

9 And when thoſe beaſts gaue glory, and honour, and thanks to him that ſate vpon the throne, which liueth for euer and euer,

10 The ſoure and twenty Elders fell downe before him that ſate on the throne, and worſhipped him that liueth for euermore, and caſt their crownes before the throne, ſaying, 11 Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receiue glory, & honor, & power: for thou haſt created all things, & for thy wilke ſake they are, & haue bene created.

CHAP. V.

1 The book ſealed with ſeven ſeales: 2 which none could open, 3 that Lambe of God 4 a thought worthy to open, 12 come by the conſent of all the companies of beaues.

And I ſaw in the right hand of him that ſate vpon the throne, a booke written within, and on the backſide, ſealed with ſeuen ſeales.

2 And I ſaw a ſtrong Angel which preached with a loud voice, Who is worthy to open the booke, and to looſe the ſeales thereof?

3 And no man in heauen, nor in earth, neither vnder the earth, was able to open the booke, neither to looke thereon.

4 Then I wept much, becauſe no man was found worthy to open, and to reade the booke, neither to looke thereon.

5 And one of the Elders ſaid vnto me, Weepe not: beholde, & ſee a Lion which is of the tribe of Iuda, the root of Dauid, hath obtained to open the booke, and to looſe the ſeuen ſeales thereof.

6 Then I beheld, and loe, in the middles of the throne, & of the ſoure beaſts, & in the mids of the Elders ſtood a lambe as though he had bin killed, which had ſeuen hornes, & ſeuen eyes, which are the ſeuen ſpirits of God, ſent into all the world.

7 And he came, and tooke the booke out of the right hand of him that ſate vpon the throne.

8 And when he had taken the booke, the ſoure beaſts and the ſoure and twenty Elders fell downe before the Lambe, hauing euerie one harpes and golden vials full of odours, which are the prayers of the Saints,

9 And they ſung a new ſong, ſaying, Thou art worthy to take the booke, and to open the ſeales thereof, becauſe thou waſt killed, and haſt redeemed vs to God by thy blood out of euery kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation.

10 And haſt made vs vnto our God: Kings, and Priests, and we ſhall reigne on the earth.

11 Then I beheld, & I heard the voyce of many Angels round about the throne, and about the beaſts & the Elders, and there were a ten thouſand times ten thouſand, and thouſand thouſands.

12 Saying, a loud voice, Worthy is the Lambe which was killed, to receiue power, & riches, & wiſdom, & ſtrength, & honour, & glory, and praife.

13 And

6 Every beaſt had ſixe wings.

7 God is ſaid to beare glory, honour, kingdome, and ſuch like given him, when we godly, and truely ſee forth that which is proper to him.

13 And all the creatures which are in heaven, & on the earth, & vnder the earth, & in the sea, & all that are in them, heard I, saying, Praise, & honor, and glory, and power be vnto him, that sitteth vpon the throne, and vnto the Lambe for euermore.

14 And the four beasts sayd, Amen, and the four and twenty Elders fell downe and worshipped him that liued for euermore.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Lambe opened the first scale of the booke, 2 the second, 3 the third, 4 the fourth, 5 the fifth, 6 the sixth, and there arise warre, famine, pestilence, & death, earthquakes, and diuers strange fights in heauen.

After, I beheld when y^e Lambe had opened one of the scales, & I heard one of y^e four beasts say, as it were the noise of thunder, Come and see.

Therefore I beheld, & loe, there was a white horse, and he that sat on him, had a bowe, and a crowne was giuen vnto him, and he went forth conquering that he might ouercome.

And when he had opened the second scale, I heard the second beast say, Come and see.

And there went out another horse, that was red, & power was giuen to him that sat thereon, to take peace fro the earth, & that they should kill one another, & there was giuen vnto him a great sword.

And when he had opened the third scale, I heard the third beast say, Come and see: Then I beheld, and loe, a blacke horse, and he that sat on him, had balances in his hand.

And I heard a voice in the mids of the four beasts say, A measure of wheate for a penie, and three measures of barley for a penie, and oile, and wine hurt thou not.

And when he had opened the fourth scale, I heard the voice of y^e fourth beast say, Come & see.

And I looked, and behelde, a pale horse, and his name that sat on him was Death, and Hell followed after him, and power was giuen vnto them ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with beasts of the earth.

And when he had opened the fifth scale, I saw vnder the altar the soules of them, that were killed for the word of God, and for the testimony which they maintained.

And they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, Lord, which art holy & true: dost not thou iudge and avenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth?

And long white robes were giuen vnto eueryone, and it was said vnto them, that they should rest for a litle season vntill their fellowe seruants, and their brethren that should be killed euen as they were, were fulfilled.

And I beheld when he had opened the sixth scale, and loe, there was a great earthquake, and the sunne was as blacke as a sackcloth of haire, and the moone was like blood.

And the staries of heauen fell vnto the earth, as a fig tree casteth her greene figs, when it is shaken of a mightie winde.

And heauen departed away, as a scrolle, when it is rolled, and euery mountaine and yle were mooued out of their places.

And the Kings of the earth, and the great men, and therich men, and the chiefe captaynes, and the mightie men, and euery bondman, and euery free man, hid themselves in denes, and among the rocks of the mountaines.

And said to the mountaines & rocks, Fall on vs, & hide vs from the presence of him that sitteth on the throne, & fro the wrath of the Lambe.

For the great day of his wrath is come, and who can stand?

CHAP. VII.

The Angels comming to hurt the earth, 2 are stayed outside the Altar of the Lord 3 of all vnto were sealed 4, 13 Such as suffered persecution for Christs sake, 16 how great felicity, 17 and 18.

And after that, I saw four Angels stand on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the winds should not blow on the earth, neither on y^e sea, neither on any tree,

And I saw another Angel come vp from the East, which had the scale of the liuing God, and he cried with a loud voyce to the four Angels to whome power was giuen to hurt the earth, and the sea, saying,

Hurt ye not the earth, neither the sea, neither the trees, till we haue sealed the seruants of our God in their fore heads.

And I heard the number of them, which were sealed, and there were sealed an hundredth and foure and fourtie thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel.

Of the tribe of Iuda were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Reuben were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Gad were sealed twelue thousand.

Of the tribe of Aser were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Nephthali were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Manasses were sealed twelue thousand.

Of the tribe of Simeon were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of y^e Leui were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Issachar were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Zabulon were sealed twelue thousand.

Of the tribe of y^e Ioseph were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Benjamin were sealed twelue thousand.

After these things I beheld, and loe a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations & kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, & before the Lambe, clothed with long white robes, and palmes in their hands.

And they cried with a loud voyce, saying, Saluation cometh of our God, that sitteth vpon the throne, and of the Lambe.

And all the angels stood round about the throne, and about the Elders, & the four beasts, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God, Saying, Amen, Praise, and glory, and wisdom, and thanks, and honour, and power, and might, be vnto our God for euermore, Amen.

And one of the Elders spake, saying vnto me, What are these which are arrayed in long white robes? and whence came they?

And I said vnto him, Lord, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they, which came out of great tribulation, and haue washed their long robes, & haue made their long robes white in the blood of the Lambe.

Therefore are they in the presence of the throne of God, & stande him day and night in his Temple, and he that sitteth on the throne will dwell among them.

They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more, neither shall the sunne light on them, neither any heate.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the opening of the fourth seale, 2 the Saints prayes are offered up with colours. 3 The seven Angels come forth with trumpets. 4 The first Angel, and fire falleth on the earth. 5 The sea is turned into blood, 10, 11 the waters were bitter, 12 and the floures are darkened.

And when he had opened the fourth seale, there was silence in heauen about halfe an houre.

2 And I saw the seven Angels, which were given seven trumpets.

3 Then another Angel came and stood before the altar hauing a golden censer, and much odours was given vnto him, that he should offer with the prayers of all Saints vpon the golden altar, which is before the throne.

4 And the smoke of the odours with the prayers of the Saints, went up before God, out of the Angels hand.

5 And the Angel tooke the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth, and there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and earthquake.

6 Then the seven Angels, which had the seven trumpets, prepared themselves to blow the trumpets.

7 So the first Angel blew the trumpet, and there was haile and fire, mingled with blood, & they were cast into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all greene graffe was burnt.

8 And the second Angel blew the trumpet, and as it were a great mountaine, burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood.

9 And the third part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of shippes were destroyed.

10 Then the third Angel blew the trumpet, and there fell a great flarre from heauen, burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters.

11 And the name of the flarre is called wormewood, therefore the third part of the waters became wormewood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the sunne was smitten, and the third part of the moone, and the third part of the starres, so that the third part of them was darkened: and the day was made thicke, that the third part of it could not shine, and likewise of the night.

13 And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying through the middes of heauen, saying with a loud voyce, Wo, wo, wo to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the sound of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blow the trumpets.

CHAP. IX.

1 The first Angel bloweth his trumpet, 2 and flieth locusts come out. 3 The first Angel is woe, 10 and bringeth forth his plague, so to death of multitudes.

And the fifth Angel blew the trumpet, and I saw a flarre fall from heauen vnto the earth, and to him was given the key of the bottomlesse pit.

2 And he opened the bottomlesse pit, and there arose the smoke of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace, and the sunne, and the ayre were darkened by the smoke of the pit.

3 And there came out of the smoke Locusts vpon the earth, and vnto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth haue power.

4 And it was commanded them, that they should not hurt the graffe of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but onely those men which haue not the seale of God in their foreheades.

5 And to them was commanded that they should not kill them, but that they should be vexed fure moneths, & that their paine should be as the paine that cometh of a scorpion, when he hath stung a man.

6 Therefore in those dayes shall men seeke death, and shall not finde it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flie from them.

7 And the forme of the locusts was like vnto horses prepared vnto battel, and on their heads were as it were crownes, like vnto golde, and their faces were like the faces of men.

8 And they had haire as the haire of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of Lyons.

9 And they had habbergions, like to habbergions of yron: & the found of their wings was like the found of charres when many horses run vnto battel.

10 And they had tailes like vnto scorpions, and there were stings in their tailes, and their power was to hurt men fure moneths.

11 And they haue a king ouer them, which is the Angel of the bottomlesse pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greeke he is named Apollyon, that is, destroying.

12 One woe is past, and beholde, yet two woes come after this.

13 ¶ Then the sixth Angel blew the trumpet, and I heard a voyce from the four homes of the golden altar, which is before God.

14 Saying to the sixth Angel, which had the trumpet, Loose the four Angels, which are bound in the Great riuier Euphrates.

15 And the foure Angels were loosed, which were prepared an houre, at a day, at a watch, and at a yere to slay the third part of men.

16 And the number of horsemen of warre were twentie thousand times tenne thousand: for I heard the number of them.

17 And thus I saw the horses in a vision, & them that sat on them, hauing fire habbergions, and of Jacinth, and of brimstone, and the heads of the horses were as the heads of Lyons: and out of their mouthes came fourth fire and smoke and brimstone.

18 Of these three was the third part of men killed, that is, of the fire, and of the smoke, and of the brimstone, which came out of their mouthes.

19 For their power is in their mouthes, and in their tailes: for their tailes were like vnto serpents, and had heads, where with they hurt.

20 And the remnant of the men which were not killed by these plagues, repented not of the works of their hands: that they should not worship devils, and idoles of golde & of silver, and of brasie, and of stone, and of wood, which neither can see, neither heare, nor go.

21 And they repented not of their murder, and of their fornicie, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

CHAP. X.

1 Another Angel appeareth clothed with a cloud, 2 holding a bowe open, 3 and crieth out. 4 A voice from heauen commandeth silence to take the heauens: so to earth.

sunne, and his feet as pillars of fire.

3 And hee had in his hand a little booke open, and he put his right foot vpon the sea, and his left on the earth.

3 And cried with a loud voyce, as when a lyon roareth: and when he had cried, seven thunders vttered their voices.

4 And when the seven thunders had vttered their voices, I was about to write : but I heard a voice from heauen saying vnto me,^a Seale vp those things which the seven thunders haue spoken, and write them not.

5 And the Angel which I saw stand vpon the sea and vpon the earth, ^b lift vp his hand to heauen.

6 And ſware by him that lieth for euermore, which created heauen, and the things that therein are, and the earth, & the things that therein are, and the ſea, and the things that therein are, that ^{the} time ſhould be no more.

7 But in the dayes of the voice of the seventh Angel, when he shall beginne to blow the trumpet, euē the mysterie of God shalbe finished, as he hath declared to his seruants the Prophets.

8 And the voice which I heard from heauen, spake vnto me againe, and said, Go and take the litle booke which is opē in the hand of the Angel, which standeth vpon the sea and vpon the earth.

9 So I went vnto the Angel, and sayd to him, Giue me the litle booke. And he said vnto me, Take it, and eate it vp, and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth as sweet as hony.

10 Then I tooke the litle booke out of y^e Angels hand, & ate it vp, & it was in my mouth as sweet as hony; but when I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

11 And he sayd vnto me, Thou must prophesie againe among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many kings.

CHAP. XL

2 The temple is commanded to be measured 3 The Lord stirreth up two witnesses, 7 whom the beast murdereth, 9 and no man saveth them. 11 God raiseth them to life, 13 and callsthem up to heaven. 15 The wicked are terrified 16 by the trumpets of the four great Angel: The resurrection, 18 and indignement is described.

THen was given me a reed, like unto a rod, and the Angel stood by, saying, Rise and mete the Temple of God, and the altar, and them that worship therein.

3 But the court which is without the temple
b cast out, and mete it not: for it is giuen vnto the Gentiles, and the holy citie shall they treade vnder foot, two and fortie moneths.

3 But I will giue power vnto my two witnesses, and they shall prophesie a thousand two hundred and threescore dayes, clothed in sackcloth.

4 These are two olive trees, and two candlesticks, standing before the God of the earth.

5 And if any man wil hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouthes, and deuoureth their enemies : for if any man wil hurt them, thus must he be killed.

6 These haue power to shut heauen, that it raine not in the dayes of their prophesying, and haue power ouer waters to turne them into blood, and to finite the earth with all maner plagues, as often as they will.

7 And when they have finished their testimony, the beast that cometh out of the bottomless pit, shall make war against them, and shall overcome them and kill them.

8. And their corpses shall lie in the streets of the great city, which ^dspiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where our Lord also was crucified.

9 And they of the people and kinreds, and tongues, and Gentiles shall see their corpses three dayes and an halfe, and shall not suffer their carcases to be put in graues.

10 And they that dwell vpon the earth, shall reioyce ouer them and be glad, and shall send giftes one to another: for these two Prophets vexed them that dwelt on the earth.

11 But after three dayes & an halfe, the spirit of life coming from God, shall enter into them, and they shall stand vp vpon their feet: and great feare shall come vpon them which saw them.

12 And they shall heare a great voice from heauen, saying vnto them, Come vp hither. And they shall ascend vp to heauen in a cloud, and their enemies shall see them.

13 And the same houre shall there be a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the city shall fall, and in the earthquake shall be slaine in number seven thousand : and the remnant were sore feared, and gave glory to the God of heauen.

14 The second woe is past, and behold, the third woe will come anon. by confessing his Name.

15 And the seventh Angel blew the trumpet, and there were great voices in heauen, saying, The kingdomes of this world are our Lords, and his Christes, and he shall reigne for euermore.

¶ 6 Then the foure and twenty Elders, which sate before God on their seats, fell vpon their faces, and worshipped God.

17 Saying, We giue thee thanks, Lord God almighty, Which art, and Which wast, and Which art to come: for thou hast receiued thy great might, and hast obtained thy kingdome.

18 And the Gentiles were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead; that they should be iudged, and that thou shouldst giue reward vnto thy seruants the Prophets, and to the Saints, and to them that feare thy Name, to small and great, and shouldst destroy them, which destroy the earth.

19 Then the Temple of God was opened in heauen, and there was scene in his Temple the Arke of his couenapt: and there were lightnings, & voyces, and thundrings, and earthquake, and much haile.

CHAP. XIII.

1 A woman, 3 apparish in a willing with child, 4 whoſt child the dragon would devour, 7 but Michael our ſumourſ him, 9 and caſt him out, 12 and the more he iſt down and vanquiſhed the more fiercelly he exerciſeth his ſubilities,

And there appeared a great wonder in heauen:
A woman clothed with the sun, and the moone was vnder her feet, and vpon her head a crowne of twelue starres.

3 And she was with childe, and cried traouling in birth, and was pained ready to be deliuered.

3 And there appeared another wonder in heaven for beholde, a great red dragon hauing seven heads, and ten hornes. and seven crownes vpon his heads :

4 And his taile drew the third part of the flares of heauen, and cast them to the earth. And the dragon flood before the woman, which was ready to be deliuered, to deuoure her childe, when she had brought it forth.

5 So she brought forth a man childe, which should rule all nations with a rod of yron: and that her childe was taken vp vnto God & to his throne.

6 And the woman fled into wilderness where he hath a place prepared of God, that they should see her there a thousand, two hundred and threescore

threecore dayes.

7 And there was a battell in heauen, Michael and his Angels fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought and his angels.

a They were all out, so that they were neuer found in heauen any more.

8 But they prevailed not, neither was their place found any more in heauen.

9 And the great dragon, that old serpent, called the deuill and Satan, was cast out, which deceiueth all the world: he was euen cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

*b He is said in the Scripture

10 Then I heard a loud voyce in heauen, saying, Now is saluation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast downe, which accused them before our God day and night.

11 But they overcame him by that blood of that Lambe, and by that worde of their testimony, and they b loved not their liues vnto the death.

12 Therefore reioyce, ye heauens, and yee that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the sea: for the deuill is come downe vnto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time.

13 And when the dragon sawe that he was cast vnto the earth, he persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man childe.

14 But to the woman were giuen two wings of a great Eagle, that she might flie into the wilderness, into her c place, where she is nourished for a time, and times, and halfe a time, from the presence of the serpent.

15 And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that he might caufe her to be caried away of the flood.

16 But the earth holpe the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed vp the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth.

17 Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made warre with the remnant of her seede, which keepe the commandments of God, and haue the testimony of Iesus Christ.

18 And I stood on the sea fand.

CHAP. XIII.

a The beast with many heads is described, & which draweth the most part of the worlds industrie. 11 The other beast rising out of the earth, 15 giueth power vnto him.

And I sawe a beast rise out of the sea, hauing seven heads, and ten hornes, and vpon his hornes were ten crownes, and vpon his heads the name of blasphemie.

2 And the beast which I sawe, was like a Leopard, and his feete like a beares, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gaue him his power and his throne, and great authoritie.

3 And I sawe one of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondered and followed the beast.

4 And they worshipped the dragon which gaue power vnto the beast, and they worshipped the beast, saying Who is like vnto the beast! who is able to warre with him!

5 And there was giuen vnto him a mouth, that spake great things and blasphemies, and power was giuen vnto him, to doe two and fourtie moneths.

6 And he opened his mouth vnto blasphemie against God to blasphemie his Name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heauen.

7 And it was giuen vnto him to make warre with the Saints, and to overcome them, & power was giuen him over euery kinred, and tongue, and nation,

8 Therefore all that dwell vpon the earth, shall worship him, whose names are not written in the booke of life of that Lambe, which was slaine from the beginning of the world.

9 If any man haue an eare, let him heare.

10 If any leade into captiuitie, he shall goe into captiuitie: d if any kill with a sword, he must be killed by a sword: here is the patience and the faith of the Saints.

d Gen. 9 & Math. 23. 34

11 And I beheld another beast coming vp out of the earth, which had two hornes like the Lambe, but he spake like the dragon.

12 And he did all that the first beast could doe before him, and hee cauled the earth, and them which dwell therein, to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.

13 And he did great wonders, so that hee made fire to come downe from heauen on the earth, in the sight of men.

14 And deceiued them that dwell on the earth by the signes, which were permitted him to doe in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the image of the beast, which had the wound of a sword, and did liue.

15 And it was permitted to him to giue a e spirite vnto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speake, and should caufe that as many as would not worship the image of the beast, should be killed.

e To giue life, as Lambs and wounds caused the wonders that Angels wrought.

16 And he made all, both small and great, rich and poore, free and bond, to receiue a f marke in their right hand or in their forehead,

f The mark of the name of the beast.

17 And that no man might buy or sell, save hee that had the marke, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name.

18 Here is wisdom. Let him that hath wit, count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man, and his number is sixe hundredth threecore and fowe.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Lamb standeth on mount Zion, 4 with his chaffe worships peri. 6 One Angel preacheth the Gospel: 8 another forth-teth the fall of Babylon: 9 the third warneth that the beast be awarded, 13 A voyce from brazen pronounceth them happy, who die in the Lord, 16 The Lords sickle is thrust into the bar-neth, 18 and into the vintage.

Then I looked, and lo, a Lambe stood on mount Zion, and with him an hundredth, fourtie and foure thousand, hauing his fathers name written in their forehead.

2 And I heard a voyce from heauen, as the found of many waters, and as the sound of a great thunder: and I heard the voyce of harpers harping with their harpes.

3 And they sing as it were a newe song before the throne, and before the foure beastes, and the Elders: and no man could learne that song but the hundredth, fourtie and foure thousand, which were bought from the earth.

4 These are they which are not defiled with women: for they are virgins: these follow the Lambe whither soeuer hee goeth: these are bought from men, being the first fruites vnto God, and to the Lambe.

5 And in their mouthes was found no guile: for they are without spot before the throne of God.

6 ¶ Then I sawe another Angel flie in the midst of heauen, hauing an euerlasting Gospel, to preach vnto them that dwell on the earth, and to euery nation, and kinred, and tongue, and people,

7 & saying with a loud voyce, Feare God, and 16 And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrew Arma-gedon.

17 ¶ And the ſeuen Angel powred out his viall into the ayre: and there came a loud voyce out of the Temple of heauen from the throne, ſaying, It is done.

18 And there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightninges, and there was a great earthquake, ſuch as was not ſince men were vpon the earth, euen ſo mightie an earthquake.

19 And the great citie was diuided into three partes, and the citie of the nations fell: and that great Babylon came in remembrance before God, & to giue vnto her the cup of the wine of the fierceneſſe of his wrath.

20 And euery yle fled away, and the mountaines were not a found.

21 And there fell a great haile, like 6 talents, out of heauen vpon the men, & men blaſphemed God, becauſe of the plague of the haile: for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

CHAP. XVII.

¶ That great where is deſcribed, 2. with whom the kings of the earth committeth fornication, 6. She is drunk with the blood of ſaints, 7. The myſterie of the woman and the beaſt that carrieth her, expounded, 11. their deſtruction, 12. The Lambe without.

¶ Then there came one of the ſeuen Angels, which had the ſeuen vials, and talked with mee, ſaying vnto me, Come: I will ſhewe thee the 2. damnation of the great whore that ſitteth vpon many waters,

3 With whom haue committed fornication the Kings of the earth, and the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication.

3 So he caried me away into the wildeſſe in the Spirit, and I ſawe a woman ſit vpon a 6 ſcarlet coloured beaſt, full of names of blaſphemie, which had ſeuen heads, and ten hornes.

4 And the woman was arrayed in purple & ſcarlet, and gilded with golde, and precious ſtones, and pearles, and had a cup of golde in her hand, full of abominations, and filthines of her fornication.

5 And in her forehead was a name written, A myſterie, that great Babylon, that mother of whore-domes, and abominations of the earth.

6 And I ſaw 7 woman drunken with the blood of ſaintes, and with the blood of the Martyrs of Ieſus: and when I ſawe her, I wondred with great marueile.

7 Then the Angel ſayde vnto mee, Wherefore marueileſt thou? I will ſhewe thee the myſterie of that woman, and of that beaſt, that beareth her, which hath ſeuen heads, and ten hornes.

8 The beaſt that thou haſt ſeene, was, and is not, and ſhall aſcend out of the bottomleſſe pit, & ſhall goe into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth, ſhall wonder (whoſe names are not written in the booke of life from the foundation of the worde) when they behold the beaſt that was and is not, and yet is.

9 Here is the mind that hath wiſedome. The 7 ſeuen heads, are ſeuen mountaines whereon the woman ſitteth: they are alſo ſeuen kings.

10 Five are fallen, and one is, and another is not yet come: and when he cometh, he muſt continue a ſhort ſpace.

11 And the beaſt that was, and is not, is euen the eight, and is one of the ſeuen, and ſhall goe into deſtruction. ¶ And the ten hornes which thou ſaweſt, are tenne kings, which yet haue not received a kingdome, but ſhall receive power, as Kings at one houre with the beaſt.

13 Theſe haue one minde, and ſhall giue their power, and authoritie vnto the beaſt.

14 Theſe ſhall fight with the Lambe, and the Lambe ſhall overcome them: ¶ for he is Lorde of Lordes, and king of kings: and they that are on his ſide called, and choſen, and faithfull.

15 And he ſaid vnto me, The waters which thou ſaweſt, where the whore ſitteth, are people, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.

16 And the tenne hornes which thou ſaweſt vpon the beaſt, are they that ſhall hate the whore, and ſhall make her deſolate and naked, and ſhall eat her fleſh, and burne her with fire.

17 For God hath put in their heartes to fulfill his will, and to do with one conſent for to giue their kingdome vnto the beaſt, vntill the wordes of God be fulfilled.

18 And that woman which thou ſaweſt, is that great citie, which reigneth ouer 7 kings of the earth.

CHAP. XVIII.

¶ The horrible deſtruction of Babylon a ſecond time, 12. 13. 14. The marchants of the earth, who were enriched with the pompe and luxuriance of it, wept and wailed: 20. But all the earth reioyces for their iuſt vengeance of God.

¶ And after theſe things, I ſaw another Angel come downe from heauen, hauing great power, ſo that the earth was lightened with his glory,

2 And he cried out mightily with a loud voyce, ſaying, ¶ It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon that great citie, and is become the habitation of deuils, and the holde of all foule ſpirits, and a cage of euery vnclen and hatefull bird.

3 For all nations haue drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the Kings of the earth haue committed fornication with her, and the marchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleaſures.

4 And I heard another voyce from heauen ſay, Goe out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her finnes, and that ye receive not of her plagues:

5 For her finnes are 2 come vnto heauen, and God hath remembered her iniquities.

6 Rewarde her, euen as ſhe hath rewarded you, and giue her double according to her works: and in the cup that ſhe hath filled to you, fill her 7 double.

7 In as much as ſhe glorified her ſelfe, and liued in pleaſure, ſo much giue you to her torment and ſorrow: for the faith 16 in her heart, 16 being a queene, and am: 6 no widow, and ſhall 4 ſee no mourning.

8 Therefore ſhall her plagues come at 6 one day, death, and ſorrow, and famine, and ſhe ſhall be burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a ſtrong Lord.

9 And the Kings of the earth ſhall bewaile her, and lament for her, which haue committed fornication, and liued in pleaſure with her, when they ſhall ſee that ſmoke of that her burning.

10 And ſhall ſtand aſſaie off for ſea 6 of her torment, ſaying, A alas, that great citie Babylon, that mightie citie: for in one houre is thy iudgement come.

11 And the marchants of the earth ſhall weep and wail, becauſe they ſhall ſee that ſmoke of their ware any more.

12 The ware of golde, and ſiluer, and of precious stone, and of pearles, and of fine linnen, and of purple, and of silke, and scarlet, and of all manner of Thync wood, and of all vessels of yuorie, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brasse, and of yron, and of marble.

13 And of cinnamon, and odours, & ointments, and frankincense, and wine, & oyle, and fine flour, and wheate, and beastes, and sheepe, and horses, and chariots, and servants, and foules of men.

14. (And the fapples that thy soule lusted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were faine and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt find them no more)

15 The marchants of these things, which were waxed rich, shal stand a farre off from her, for feare of her torment, weeping and wayling.

16 And saying, Alas, alas, that great citie, that was clothed in fine linnen purple, and skarlet, and gilded with golde, and precious stones, and pearles.

17 For in one houre to great riches are come to defoliation. And every shipmaster, and all the people that occupie shippes, and shipmen, and whosoever traffike on the sea, shall stand a farre off.

18 And crie, when they see that smoke of that her burning, saying, What citie was like vnto this great citie?

19 And they shall cast dust on their heades, and crie, weeping, and wayling, and say, Alas, alas, that great citie, wherein were made rich al that had ships on the sea by her costlinesse: for in one houre she is made desolate.

20 O heauen, reioyce of her, & ye holy Apostles and Prophets: for God hath punished her to be reuenged on her for your sakes.

21 Then a mightie Angel tooke vp a stone like a great milstone, & cast it into the sea, saying,
With such violence shal that great citie Babylon be cast and shalbe found no more.

22 And the voyce of harpers, and musicians, and of pipers, and trumpeters (shalbe heard no more in thee, and no craftsman, of whatsoeuer craft he be, shall be found any more in thee: and the sound of a millstone shalbe heard no more.

23 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: and the voice of the bridegrome and of the bride shall be heard no more in thee: for thy merchants were the greatest men of the earth: and with thine enchantments were deceived all nations.

24 And in her was found the blood of the Prophets, and of the Saints, and of all that were flaine upon the earth.

CHAP. XIX.

3 The heavenly company praise God for avenging the blood of his servants on the whore. 9 They are written blood, that are called to the Lamb's supper. 10 The Angel will not be worshipped.
11 The warrior King of Kings appeareth from heaven.
12 The battell, 10 wherein the beast is taken, 11 and cast into the burning lake.

And after these things I heard a great voyce of a great multitude in heaven, saying, a Halleluiah, saluation, and glorie, and honour, and power bee to the Lord our God.

3. For true and righteous are his judgements; for he hath cōdemned that great whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornication; and hath avenged the blood of his servants (heat) by her hand.

3 And againe they sayde, Hallelu-iah: and that her smoke rose vp for euermore.

4 And the foure and twenſe Elders, & the foure beaſts fell downe, and worſhipped God that ſate on the throne, ſaying, Amen. Halcky-ah.

§ Then a voyce came out of the throne, saying, Prayse our God, all ye his seruants, and ye that feare him, both small and great.

6 And I heard like a voyce of a great multitude, and as the voyce of many waters, and as the voyce of strong thunders, saying, Hallelu-iah : for the Lord that God that almighty God hath reigned.

7. Let vs be glad and reioyce, and giue glory to him: for the marriage of that Lambs is come, and his wife hath made her selfe ready.

8: And to her was graunted, that she shoulde be arayed with pure fine linnen and shining, for the fine linnen is the ^b righteoufnes of Saints.

9 Then he saide vnto me, Write, & Blessed are they which are called vnto the Lambes supper. And he said vnto me, These words of God are true.

10 And I fell before his feet, & to worship him: but he said vnto me, See thou doe it not: I am thy fellow seruant, and one of thy brethren, which haue the * testimonie of Iesus, Worship God: for the testimonie of Iesus is the Spirit of prophecie.

13 And I saw heauen open, and beholde, a white horse, and hee that sat vpon him, was called Faithfull and true, and he iudgeth and fighteth righteously.

13 And his eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crownes: and hee had a name written that no man knew but himselfe.

13 And hee was clothed with a garment dipt in blood, and his name is called THE VOICE OF GOD.

14. And the hosts which were in heauen, followed him vpon white horses, clothed with fine linnen white and pure.

15 And out of his mouth went out a sharpe sword, with it he should smite the heathen: for he shall rule them with a rod of yron: for he is that treadeth the wine presse of the fiercenesse and wrath of almightie God.

16 And he hath vpon his garment, and vpon his thigh a name written, THE KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.

17 And I sawe an Angel stand in the sunne, who cried with a loud voyce, saying to all the fowles that did flie by the middes of heauen, Come, and gather your selues together vnto the supper of the great God.

18 That yee may eate the flesh of Kings and the flesh of his Captaines, and the flesh of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, & of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all freemen, and bondmen, and of small and great.

19 And I saw the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their hostes gathered together to make battel against him that sate on the horse, and against his armie.

20 But the beast was taken, and with him ſ falſe prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceiued them that receiued the beaſts mark, and them ſ worſhipped his image. Theſe both were a liue caſt into a lake of fire burning with brimſtone.

21 And the remnant were slain with the sword of him that sitteth upon the horse, which commeth out of his mouth, and all the fowles were filled full with their flesh.

• Journal of the American Medical Association, 2000; 283: 2669-2675

And I saw an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the key of the bottomles pit, and a great chaine in his hand.

And he tooke the dragon that olde serpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and he bound him a thousand yeeres:

And cast him into the bottomles pit, and he fast him vp, and sealed the dore vpon him, that he should decieue the people no more, till the thousand yeeres were fulfilled: for after that he must be loosed for a little season.

And I saw 4 seats: and they fate vpon them, and iudgement was giuen vnto them, and I saw the soules of them that were beheaded for the witness of Iesus, and for the word of God, & which did not worship the beast, neither his image, neither had taken his marke vpon their foreheade, or on their handes: and they liued, and reigned with Christ a thousand yere.

But the rest of the dead men shall not liue againe, vntill the thousand yeeres be finished: this is the first resurrection.

Blessed and holy is he, that hath part in the first resurrection: for on such the second death hath no power: but they shall be the Priests of God and of Christ, and shall reigne with him a thousand yere.

And when the thousand yeeres are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison,

And shall goe out to decieue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth: euē Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell, whose number is, as the sand of the sea.

And they went vp into the plaine of the earth, and they compassed the tents of the Saints about: and the beloued citie: but fire came downe from God out of heauen, and deuoured them.

And the deuill that decieued them, was cast into a lake of fire and brimstone, where that beast and that false prophet are, and shall be tormented euē day and night for euermore.

And I saw a great white throne, and one that fate on it, from whose face fled away both the earth and heauen, and their places was no more found.

And I saw the dead, both great & small stand before God: and the booke were opened, and another booke was opened, which is the booke of life, & the dead were iudged of those things, which were written in the booke, according to their workes.

And the sea gaue vp her dead, which were in her, and death and hell deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: and they were iudged every man according to their workes.

And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire: this is the second death.

Whosoever was not found written in the booke of life, was cast into the lake of fire.

CHAP. XXI.

He that writeth vpon Hierusalem descending from heauen, & the bride the Lambes wife, & the German building of the citie, is: & the first wall precious stones: 22 which temple the Lambes.

And I saw: a new heauen, and a new earth: for the first heauen, and the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea.

And I Iohn saw the holy citie new Hierusalem come downe from God out of heauen, prepared as a bride trimm'd for her husband.

And I heard a great voice out of heauen, saying, Behold, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them: and they shall be his people, and God himselfe shall be with them.

And God shall wipe away all teares from their eyes: and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, neither crying, neither shall there be any more paine: for the first things are passed.

And he that fate vpon the throne, said, Hold, I make all things newe: and he said vnto me, Write: for these wordes are faithfull and true.

And he said vnto me, It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end: I will giue to him that is thirstie, of the well of the water of life freely.

He that ouercommeth shall inherite all things, and I will be his God, and he shall be my people.

But the fearful, and vnbelting, and the abominable and murderers, and whoremongers, and forcerers, and idolaters, and all liars shall haue their part in the lake, which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death.

And there came vnto me one of the seven Angels, which had the seven vials full of the seven last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come: I will shew thee the bride, the Lambes wife.

And hee carried mee away in the spirit to a great and an hie mountaine, and he shewed me that great citie, that holy Hierusalem, descending out of heauen from God,

Hauing the glory of God: and her shining was like vnto a stone most precious, as a Jasper stone cleare as crysfall.

And had a great wall and hie, and had twelue gates, and at the gates twelue Angels, and the names written, which are the twelue tribes of the children of Israel.

On the East part there were three gates, and on the North side three gates, and on the South side three gates, and on the West side three gates.

And the wall of the citie had twelue foundations, and in them the Names of the Lambes twelue Apostles.

And he that talked with me, had a golden reed, to measure the citie withall, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

And the citie lay square, and the length is as large as the breadth of it, and he measured the citie with the reede, twelue thousand furlongs: and the length, and the breadth, and the height of it are equall.

And he measured the wall thereof, an hundred forty and foure cubits, by the measure of man, that is, of the Angel.

And the building of the wall of it was of Iasper: and the citie was pure golde, like vnto cleere glasse.

And the foundations of the wall of the citie were garnished with all manner of precious stones: the first foundation was Iasper: the second of Saphire: the third of Chalcodonie: the fourth of an Emeraude:

The fifth of a Sardonyx: the sixth of a Sardius: the seventh of a Chrysolite: the eighth of a Beryl: the ninth of a Topaze: the tenth of a Chrysolite: the eleventh of a Iacynth: the twelfth an Acheryst.

And the twelue gates were twelue pearles, and euery gate is of one pearle, and the street of the citie is pure golde, as shining glasse.

And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God almightie and the Lamb are the Temple of it.

a For indignation was committed to the church, as to men: but they were to be led: not that they were office: was given vnto them.

A briefe Table of the interpretation of the proper names which are chiefly found in the Olde Testament, wherein the first number signifieth the chapter, the second the verse.

Whereas the wickedness of time, and the blindness of the former age hath bene such, that all things altogether have bene abused and corrupted, so that the very right names of persons of the holy men named in the Scriptures, have bene forgotten, and now seeme strange unto vs, and the names of persons that should ever have some godly aduancements in them, and should be memorials and mark of the children of God recited into his household, have bene hereby also changed, and made the signes and badges of idolatrie and bestiall superstition: we haue now set forth this Table of the names that be most used in the Olde Testament, with their interpretations, as the Hebrew importeth, partly to call backe the godly from the abuse, when they shall know the true names of the godly Fathers, and what they signifie, that their children now named after them, may haue testimonies by their very names, that they are within that faithfull familie that in all their doings had euer God before their eyes, and that they are bound by these their names to serue God from their infancy, and haue occasion to praise him for his works wrought in them, and their fathers, but chiefly to restore the names to their euergiste, whereby many places of the Scriptures and secret mysteries of the holy Ghost shall better be understood, we haue meddled rarely with the Greeke names, because their interpretation is vncertaine, and many of them are corrupted from their originall, as we may also see these Hebrew names (as in the margin of this Table, which haue bene corrupted by the Grecians, Now for the other Hebrew names that are not here interpreted, let not the diligent Reader be carefull: for he shall finde them in places most conuenient amongst the annotations: as least so many as may seme to make for any edification, and vnderstanding of the Scriptures.
